Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897 (Act III of 1897), the Governor is pleased to prescribe the following temporary regulations for the prevention and control of cholera, and for the medical inspection, isolation, observation and surveillance of persons suffering from, or suspected Notices.

3. If in any case the District Health Officer considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of cholera he may forthwith take such step as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reason why such work has been carried out.

4. If any measure which the District Health Officer has, by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice, the District Health Officer shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Provided that where the conditions, which led the District Health Officer to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the persons in possession of the property, the Board may pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The Board may recover all expenses incurred by the District Health Officer in carrying out the measure under regulation 4 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

6. The Board shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations :

Provided that no person shall receive any compensation for anything done or suffered under these regulations, if he has failed to carry out an order issued under these regulations within the time specified in the order and to the satisfaction of the District Health Officer.

8 (7) If information has not already been given under regulation 7, the medical practitioner called in to attend upon any case of cholera shall forthwith give notice of the case by special messenger to the nearest Sanitary Inspector or rural medical officer and by post to the District Health Officer and the cost of such messenger in each case shall be defrayed by the Board.

order the patient to observe isolation and may order the nearest relative in attendance on the patient, or the occupier of the house in which the patient is staying to arrange for the isolation of the patient in such a manner and for such a time as may be approved by the District Health Officer, or the Sanitary Inspector.

He shall not direct the patient to be removed from the house unless it is in his opinion impossible to make proper arrangements for his isolation therein.

12. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may order that any person, who has in his opinion been exposed to infection from cholera, shall take such drugs in such quantities as may be specified by the District Health Officer, or Sanitary Inspector or shall submit himself to anti-cholera inoculation within a time to be specified in the order.

14. The Board shall provide free of charge suitable places, with necessary attendants, medicine, diet and other necessities for persons isolated under regulation 11: Provided that a private individual may provide places certified by the District Health Officer as being fit for the purpose of such isolation.

18. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may forbid any person who has been a patient or who has, to his knowledge, been in contact with a patient, to act as vendor of any article for such period as may be specified in the order.

18A. No person shall carry or permit to be carried in a public conveyance a patient except in the case where a patient is carried with proper precautions to a hospital.

19. No person shall sell any article which has been in contact with a patient until it has been disinfected to the satisfaction of the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

19A. No person shall expose in any street, shop, bazar, or any public place any clothing, bedding or other article which has been in contact with a patient or shall cause or suffer such articles to be carried in any public conveyance, but nothing in this regulation shall apply to a person who transmits with proper precautions against spreading the disease any such article for the purpose of having the same disinfected.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of reference No. 5139Lab., dated the 7th September 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Bengal Potteries, Limited, 45, Tangra Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Bengal Potteries Workers' Union, 35B, Wellington Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

For the Company: Sri A. C. Mitra, Counsel, instructed by Messrs. Mukherjee and Biswas, Solicitors.

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, instructed by Swadesh Gupta, General Secretary.

AWARD.

The order of reference relates to the Union's demand for bonus for the year 1949. The Union's case in brief is that the Company having paid bonus to the workers every year without any reference to loss and profit at least for the last few years, varying from one month's pay to four months' pay and dearness allowance, bonus has been an implied condition of service of the workers; but that in spite of huge profits earned by the Company in the years 1948 and 1949 no bonus was paid during the Pujas of 1949. The Union accordingly claims 3 months' pay as bonus for 1949 for all workers.

A preliminary objection has been raised by the Company that a vast majority of the workmen in the employment of the Company are not members of the Bengal Potteries Workers' Union and as such they cannot be represented by the said Union. The Company also pleads that bonus was never a condition of service, express or implied; that bonus was formally mooted as an after-thought for the purpose of putting pressure on the Company to reinstate 11 workers who had been discharged; that all the workmen at present employed by the Company were newly employed on or after the 1st of August 1949, and as such are not entitled to any bonus according to the practice of the Company, and that bonus being an ex-gratia payment depended upon substantial profit. No bonus is payable to the workmen for the year 1949 inasmuch as there was no substantial profit in that year.

The ex-gratia theory of bonus has long been exploded in industrial Courts. Whenever an industry earns substantial profit, the workers have been held to have had some contribution in the profit earned and Tribunals consistently held that whenever an industry earns substantial profit, the management has a moral obligation to pay the workers a share of the profit as bonus, especially when the workers have not been given a living wage.

The bonus takes the form of a deferred wage when the workers' wages are below the target of a living wage, it takes the form of a profit sharing bonus when it is linked with the profits earned; and when it is not so linked it is in the nature of a customary bonus. But when an industry is either running at a loss or has earned insignificant profit, Industrial Tribunals cannot reasonably direct payment of any bonus in the form of a deferred wage or customary bonus. Any such direction is likely to react adversely on the industry itself and ultimately on the workers. The Company have filed a number of documents to show whether the wages paid to the workers by the Company compare favourably with those paid to the workers of other pottery industries in the Indian Dominion, amounts of bonus paid to the workmen in different years and the principles followed for such payments and balance sheet. The comparative charts which are serial Nos. 1 and 2 in the list of document clearly indicate that the wages paid to the workers of this Industry are much more than those prevalent in the Bombay Potteries and Tile Works, Limited, Parsuram Pottery Works Co., Ltd., Bengal Porcelain Co., Ltd., and Government Porcelain Factory, Bangalore. These charts were not disputed by the Union. The minimum wages including dearness allowance were Rs. 58-8 per mensem for a month of 26 working days. Besides the present Company have a Contributory Provident Fund and bonus appears to have been paid very liberally whenever a substantial profit was earned. The circulars declaring bonus for 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1950, clearly indicate that workers with less than 6 months' service in a year were not entitled to any bonus, according to the practice of the Company. I have worked out an abstract of the profit and loss account of the Bengal Potteries, Limited, from 1946 to 1949 from the balance sheets filed before me indicating how the profits were applied. This is Annexure A to this award. Profit in a year was calculated after payment of all dues of the workers including bonus declared in the particular year. The Company have also filed a comparative chart of the production, profit and bonus paid in different years from 1941 to 1949. This is serial No. 7 in the list of documents. On a scrutiny of the balance sheets, I find that dividend declared on the profit of a year and paid out of the balance of the profit carried over to the next year were shown in the balance sheet of the next year. Thus the dividend indicated in the balance sheet of 1946 was paid out of the accumulated profits of the previous years that were carried over to 1946. Similarly the dividend declared on the profit of 1948 was paid out of the accumulated profits up to 1948 was shown in the balance sheet of 1949. It may be noted that the dividend which was declared in 1948 was only 2½ per cent. of the share value. It may also be noted that the value of a share was originally Rs. 10 which was subsequently reduced to Rs. 2-8. Thus a dividend of 2½ per cent. on the present value of a share works to 625 per cent. on the original value of a share. The total amount paid as dividend was only Rs. 1,18,899-9 whereas the amount of bonus paid to the workmen on the profit of that particular year was Rs. 1,38,293-11-6. It will be seen that a further sum of Rs. 95,321-6 was paid as bonus in the year 1949 out of the accumulated profits of the previous years carried over to the year 1949. In 1948 no dividend was paid, or in other words no dividend was declared in the year 1947.

In the year 1948, the Company paid interim bonus in about September 1948. The payments were made according to the practice of the Company on the length of service of the workers. Calculations were made about the length of service of the workers up to 30th September 1947. But as the bonus was to be on the profit of 1948, it was made clear that those who would complete the requisite qualifying period of service on the 31st December 1948 would be entitled to some additional payments. These additional payments were made in March 1949. At that time the workers agitated for additional bonus, and the workers were paid additional bonus at the rate of one month's basic wages. This is clear from the evidence of Mr. Bhagat, Managing Director of the Company. Although payments were made in 1949, the payments were made on the basis of the profits up to 1948. Thus the profit of Rs. 6,40,275-13 was applied in the following way:—

Commission to the Manager and the Managing Agents ...	83,639	15	11
Depreciation ...	3,04,826	0	0
Reserve ...	1,00,000	0	0
Dividend at 2½ per cent. on the present value of share ...	1,18,899	9	0
Total ...	6,07,865	8	11

Thus out of the profit of 1948 only Rs. 32,910-4-1 was left. From the previous year Rs. 3,830-3-2 was carried over. The total amount of profit at the end of 1948 that was carried over to 1949 was Rs. 36,740-7-3. The profit in 1949 after deducting the commission of Manager and managing agents and depreciation was only Rs. 15,738. The managing agents relinquished their commission of Rs. 31,864-4-6. Thus at the end of the year 1949 the company had only Rs. 84,342 and odd. The bonus which was paid in 1949 was on account of the year 1948. We are not very much concerned with the question whether this additional bonus was paid out of the profit of 1948 or 1949. We get from Mr. Bhagat that bonus at one month's wages to the workers would amount to about Rs. 90,000. The workers had their due share of bonus out of the profits of 1948. The profit earned by the Company in 1949 was an insignificant amount. I do not propose to allow the workers any bonus on the profits of 1949. The workers should be fair and reasonable and they cannot expect that each and every pie in the hands of the management should go to the workers and should not be spent for improvement and other necessary costs of the industry. Such an idea of the workers is detrimental to the industry itself, on the prosperity of which depends the improvement of the service conditions of the workers. If the workers are actuated with such an idea, the industry will in no time collapse resulting in a large-scale unemployment. This should be avoided by all means.

Bonus was never a service condition of the employees of the Company. It is clear that whenever there was substantial profit some bonus was paid to the workers. This bonus was not fixed. The amount varied according to the intensity of the agitation as also the funds available for distribution. My attention was drawn to the fact that in 1947 the Company incurred some loss; and that in spite of this fact some bonus was paid to the workmen. We are told by the Managing Director that the Company was closed for a pretty long time in 1947 on account of the strike of the worker. This caused heavy loss to the industry. The workers demanded pay for the strike period. On principle the management rejected the demand. But out of sympathy to the workers some compensation was paid in the shape of bonus. What Mr. Bhagat says has not been disputed by the Union. Bonus was paid in 1947 under special circumstances. It may be said that this was partly coerced by the workers and was partly prompted by sympathetic attitude of the management to the workers who by reason of their own fault had been out of employment for about three months or so, 15 days' wages were paid as bonus in that particular year. The Union has not been able to point out if in any other year bonus was paid in spite of loss.

As the Union has failed to establish its claim for bonus for the workers for the year 1949, I do not propose to discuss the other objections taken by the Company.

In the result, it is ordered that the Union's claim for bonus be rejected.

By order of the Governor,

ORDER.

No. 7363Lab.—21st December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5509Lab., dated the 4th November 1949, the industrial disputes between the employers of Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., 53, Gowkhana Road, Serampore, and Eastern Belting Works, Ltd. (Kansai Daon Tola), Chatugunj, Sheoraphuli, and their workmen, c/o. Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji, Serampore Congress Office, Serampore, Hooghly, were referred for adjudication to Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.);

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), Serampore Belting Mazdoor Union, on behalf of the workmen of Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., made a complaint in writing before the said Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted his award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by Serampore Belting Mazdoor Union on behalf of Pramatha Dass and Dhananjoy Chatterji against Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., in connection with an industrial dispute between the Company and their workmen referred for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5509Lab., dated the 4th November 1949.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.PRESENT:

SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (RETD.), Chairman.

For the complainants: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, and Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji, President, and Sri Dhananjoy Chatterji, Secretary of the Union.

For the Company: Sri B. Roy Choudhury, Counsel, and Sri J. N. Lahiri, Managing Director.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint, dated 27th September 1950, under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented by Serampore Belting Mazdoor Union on behalf of two persons named Pramatha Dass and Dhananjoy Chatterji against Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., 53, Gowkhana Road, Serampore. An industrial dispute between Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., and their workmen was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5509Lab., dated the 4th November 1949, and the award in connection with that adjudication proceeding was published in the Calcutta Gazette by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 6369Lab., dated the 8th November 1950. The petition of complaint was originally filed by five persons, three of whom have since withdrawn their complaint and this Tribunal is now called upon to deal with the complaints of only Pramatha Dass and Dhananjoy Chatterji. The main allegations in the complaint are that Pramatha was wrongfully dismissed on 21st August 1950, and Dhananjoy was wrongfully suspended on 22nd September 1950. It appears that Dhananjoy was subsequently dismissed with effect from the date of suspension by a definite order on 12th October 1950. The facts of suspension and dismissal are not denied by the Company. The position therefore is that the orders of suspension and dismissal took effect during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings, and the Company did not seek or obtain the express permission in writing of the Tribunal in that behalf. It is clear therefore that by its action the Company contravened the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act and the employees concerned are entitled to make the complaint.

2. The learned Advocate for the Union has contended that since it is found that the discharge was illegal by reason of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act having been contravened, the Tribunal should automatically direct that the discharged employees be reinstated, without entering into the merits relating to the propriety or otherwise of the discharge. This aspect of the matter has been elaborately dealt with in paragraph 2 of my award, dated 29th November 1950, in connection with a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made by one Becharam Kundu against the same Company, and it is not necessary for me to go into the reasoning in detail. I am definitely of opinion that section 33A does not lay down any automatic rule of procedure regarding the restoration of the previous state of things and the Tribunal is called upon to apply its mind fully and carefully to all the facts and circumstances relating to the subject matter of a complaint, and it is open to the Tribunal to give an award under section 33A in any manner which it may consider to be just and proper in the light of the particular circumstances. The employers' action in the present case was undoubtedly illegal by reason of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act having been contravened. It is, however, necessary to determine the extent to which the employers' action might be justified apart from the question of its illegality. It will be up to the Company to establish that its action, though illegal, was justified wholly or partially in view of the particular circumstances. I shall, therefore, proceed to go into the facts and circumstances relating to each of the two persons Pramatha and Dhananjoy.

3. I shall first deal with the case relating to Pramatha Dass. The case against him as put forward by the Company is that shortly after 8 p.m. on 19th August 1950 Jog Bahadur, a durwan of the Company, suspected Pramatha, while inside the factory, to be in possession of some stolen article in his pocket, and the durwan challenged him and wanted to search his person, and Pramatha protested and dropped a hank of yarn out of his pocket and engaged himself in a scuffle with the durwan in course of which Pramatha hit the durwan on the abdomen and thereupon the durwan fell down, and at the instance of a Supervisor the Manager turned up and held an investigation and drove Pramatha out and the employee was formally dismissed on 21st August 1950 on account of his having beaten the durwan. The case put forward on behalf of Pramatha Dass, on the other hand, is that on the date in question a durwan of the factory began to search his person without any reason and found nothing, and he did not beat the durwan and later a Supervisor and the Manager came and turned him out of the factory without any justifying ground whatsoever, and he was not given any charge-sheet or any opportunity to explain the circumstances before his final dismissal on 21st August 1950. Several witnesses have been examined on both sides with regard to the alleged incident. On the side of the Company a Supervisor Sital Chandra Sanyal (D.W. 2) has related the version of the Company's case, and he claims to have seen Pramatha drop a hank of yarn out of his pocket and strike a fist blow on the durwan's abdomen. This supervisor, however, submitted a report (Ext. H) shortly after the incident, and this report would rather indicate that the witness did not see the whole incident and went up there when the main incident had already occurred. In any case, however, the Supervisor found Jog Bahadur, durwan, suffering from the effects of being struck, and there is nothing to indicate that Pramatha was roughly handled by the durwan at any stage. A worker named Manindra Chanda (D.W. 5) and another durwan named Sew Pujan Singh (D.W. 6) have given evidence on the side of the Company to the effect that Pramatha dropped a hank of yarn from his pocket when the durwan wanted to search his person and that Pramatha hit the durwan on the abdomen. Two witnesses named Bhandul (P.W. 2) and Lakshman (P.W. 3) have supported Pramatha (P.W. 1) as regards the complainant's case that the durwan searched Pramatha's person and found nothing and Pramatha did not beat the durwan. On considering the evidence on both sides, I am satisfied that there was an incident inside the factory shortly after 8 p.m. on 19th August 1950, in course of which durwan Jog Bahadur wanted to search the person of Pramatha on suspicion, and there was a scuffle between Pramatha and the durwan, and Pramatha dealt a blow on the durwan's abdomen which caused the latter some amount of pain. I come to this conclusion in spite of the position that the principal witness Jog Bahadur, durwan, has not been available for examination, he being on leave. The circumstances relating to the origin of the incident, however, remain obscure. The story of the alleged theft of a hank of yarn is not mentioned at all in the Supervisor's report (Ext. H). There are material discrepancies as to the part of the workman's garment which was supposed to contain the stolen property. Jog Bahadur, durwan, would be the best person to speak with precision on the subject of the reasons of suspicion which led him to proceed to search the person of the workman. In the light of the state of the evidence adduced before me, it is difficult to find with any degree of certainty that the origin of the trouble was necessarily a matter of theft of hank of yarn by the workman concerned. There are, however, no reasons for thinking that the durwan's action in proceeding to challenge the workman and search his person was unjustified. The position is that the exact reasons of suspicion entertained by the durwan cannot be ascertained. I am, however, satisfied on the evidence that the durwan had proper reasons for suspecting Pramatha, and in challenging him and proceeding to search his person the durwan was performing his normal duties. There is no indication to the effect that the durwan bore Pramatha any grudge for any other reason. Under these circumstances the conduct of Pramatha in preventing the durwan from performing his normal duty by taking the extremely rash step of striking the durwan on the abdomen was a serious act of discipline and was wholly unjustified. It is not a fact that the Company took the step of dismissing Pramatha out of an ulterior motive or on account of his being a member of the Executive Committee of the Union. It is, however, noticeable that the authorities of the Company did not give a proper charge sheet to the workman or any proper opportunity to him to explain the circumstances, and the workman was, practically speaking, summarily dismissed on 21st August 1950 or rather on 19th August 1950. The Company should have observed the right procedure before passing an order of dismissal. In any case, however, the question before me is whether the manner in which the authorities of the Company exercised their discretion in dealing with the case was correct under the particular circumstances. When the guilt of an employee is established, as it has been established in the present case, the degree of punishment to be inflicted under the particular circumstances of a particular case cannot always be determined by a process of precise weighing in scales of gold, and a certain amount of reasonable allowance must necessarily be given in favour of the discretion to be exercised by the management. The question before me is whether the punishment of dismissal in this particular case can be said to have been unnecessarily harsh. The Company has brought to my notice certain previous instances of disciplinary action taken against Pramatha Dass. The position was that Pramatha had already created by his ways and methods an unfavourable impression in the mind of the employer. Then came this incident of major misdemeanour in so far as the workman unjustifiably beat a durwan on duty. The employer might have inflicted a lesser punishment if he chose to do so. But the question before me is whether the punishment of dismissal actually inflicted was necessarily unreasonable or inappropriate. On giving very careful thought to all aspects of the matter I am unable to hold that the action actually taken was unreasonable or inappropriate. I would therefore decline to interfere with the order of dismissal. The result is that there can be no order of reinstatement. The next question is whether there should be any order regarding payment of compensation to the dismissed workman. First of all the Company contravened the provisions of section 33 by reason of not obtaining the express permission in writing of the Tribunal with regard to the order of dismissal. This was quite wrong on the part of the Company. Next I feel that there are some mitigating circumstances in so far as the origin of the trouble and the reasons of suspicion entertained by the durwan cannot be ascertained with any degree of accuracy. Under these circumstances I am disposed to hold that a reasonable amount of compensation should be paid by the Company to the dismissed workman Pramatha Dass.

4. I next proceed to deal with the case of Dhananjoy Chatterji. This relates mainly to an incident of assault on a Supervisor named Bibhuti Bhusan Mukherji which is said to have taken place shortly after 11 a.m. on 21st September 1950 on a road outside the factory. The Company's case is that the Supervisor Bibhuti Bhusan Mukherji had occasionally reprimanded Dhananjoy and others for unreasonably low production and had reported against them on the basis that they had adopted a "go slow" policy, and Dhananjoy and others had sometimes threatened to teach him a lesson and on the morning of 21st September 1950 they entered into a conspiracy to beat the Supervisor after the closing hour, and when he was going home after 11 a.m. on a cycle, he was caught hold of on the road and was beaten at random with fists by Dhananjoy and others, and the Supervisor with several injuries on his person was taken in a rickshaw to the hospital where he was detained for 5 or 6 days, and before the doctor the Supervisor named Dhananjoy and others as his assailants. The Company has also brought to the Tribunal's notice that disciplinary action was taken against Dhananjoy Chatterji on some previous occasions. It appears that Dhananjoy was suspended from 22nd September 1950 in consequence of the incident of 21st September 1950 and later an enquiry was held by the Visiting Labour Adviser of the Company with notice to the employee, and a final order of dismissal was passed on the basis of the report of enquiry on 12th October 1950. The case put forward by the Union on behalf of the complainant Dhananjoy is that he has been victimised because of his Union activities as the Secretary of the Union, and the incident relating to the alleged assault on the Supervisor Bibhuti Bhusan Mukherji on 21st September 1950 has been entirely concocted out of an ulterior motive. It appears that the Supervisor Bibhuti Bhusan Mukherji brought a proceeding under section 107, Cr.P.C., against Dhananjoy and others and similarly one Indu Bhusan Bhattacharjee (D. W. 4), a weaver of the factory, brought another proceeding under section 107, Cr.P.C., against Dhananjoy and others, and both the proceedings were ultimately dropped by the Magistrate. In Bibhuti's proceeding the police found that there was no further apprehension of the breach of the peace and in Indu Bhusan's proceeding the petitioner was absent on the date fixed and the matter was filed. Under the particular circumstances I am not disposed to attach much importance one way or the other to these proceedings under section 107, Cr.P.C., which are very often terminated with the remark that the parties have been warned and there is no further apprehension of the breach of the peace. Bibhuti Bhusan Mukherji appears to have brought a specific case of assault against Dhananjoy and others with regard to the incident of 21st September 1950, and that case is said to be still pending for decision before the Magistrate. This Tribunal is called upon under the circumstances to come to its own findings about the incident on the basis of the evidence placed at its disposal. It should be realised, however, that the proceeding before me is not a criminal proceeding and the standard of proof required for the purposes of the proceeding before this Tribunal is not the same as the standard of proof which would be demanded by a criminal court for proving a criminal charge beyond all reasonable doubt. I must make it clear therefore that whatever may be the outcome of the decision of this Tribunal with regard to the incident should not in any way affect the course of the criminal trial which is still pending, and which is expected to be disposed of on its own merits in the light of the criminal law. The question before me is whether the charge of assault on the Supervisor Bibhuti Bhusan Mukherji on 21st September 1950 at a place outside the factory has been established as against the complainant Dhananjoy, who has denied the charge altogether. With regard to this matter, the principal witness is of course the alleged victim Bibhuti Mukherji (D. W. 1). He has related the Company's case which has been stated above. As regards the allegation of low production, we have got practically the solitary evidence of the Supervisor Bibhuti, and in the absence of documentary materials it is difficult to come to an affirmative finding on the subject. There is, however, no reason for disbelieving the Supervisor when he says that he used to pull up Dhananjoy and other workers owing to their low production, irrespective of the question as to whether the conclusion arrived at by the Supervisor was right or wrong. The Supervisor has said that Dhananjoy and others sometimes threatened to teach him a lesson presumably owing to the manner in which he was exercising his functions as a Supervisor. The witness has further said that he even found Dhananjoy and another write warning notes for Bibhuti on the wall. This part of Bibhuti's evidence is supported by Indu Bhattacharjee (D. W. 4) who says that he found Dhananjoy and some others conspiring in the factory on the morning of 21st September 1950 for beating Bibhuti Mukherji on that day. Bibhuti (D. W. 1) has said that Indu Bhattacharjee informed him on that morning about such a conspiracy. Bibhuti says that without minding this report he left his place of work and was proceeding on a cycle as usual towards his house and he was confronted on the way by Dhananjoy and others, and Dhananjoy abused him and he protested and thereupon Dhananjoy and others beat him with fists at random and he received several injuries necessitating his removal to the hospital. Ajoy Kumar Sanyal (D. W. 3) claims to have seen this occurrence of assault and his evidence generally supports the evidence of Bibhuti. D. W. 3, Ajoy, has said that after Bibhuti fell down Dhananjoy kicked him once and the witness got Bibhuti into a passing rickshaw and took him to the hospital. Ajoy appears to be a tenant of the Managing Director of the Company, but there are no good reasons for discarding his evidence as entirely unworthy of credit. It appears from the medical certificate given by the Assistant Surgeon of Walsh Hospital, Serampore, that the injured person Bibhuti stated before the doctor shortly after the incident that the injuries on him were due to his being assaulted by Dhananjoy Chatterji and others. Indu Bhusan (D. W. 4) claims to have seen Bibhuti being taken to the hospital in a rickshaw shortly after the occurrence. It appears that Dhananjoy did not attend the factory on the following day, 22nd September 1950. He says that his absence was due to his illness. It seems to me that Dhananjoy's absence from work on the following day is rather significant. He was suspended, presumably as a measure of security, from 22nd September 1950. In this case the Company took the regular step of launching an investigation into the charges conducted by the Visiting Labour Adviser (D. W. 8). It appears that Dhananjoy was given adequate notice of the investigation and he got the opportunity of being heard in defence. On the materials placed at my disposal I come to the finding that the complainant Dhananjoy Chatterji and others had been annoyed with the Supervisor Bibhuti Bhusan Mukherji owing to the latter's having exercised his functions as a Supervisor with a certain amount of strictness and there was a conspiracy for beating the Supervisor on 21st September 1950, and Dhananjoy Chatterji and some others did cause hurt to Bibhuti Bhusan Mukherji while he was proceeding on a cycle after having finished his work at the factory after 11 a.m. The assault appears to me to have been of a drastic and cowardly character inasmuch as several persons attacked one man, and as a consequence of the assault the victim was badly hurt, his detention in the hospital for a few days becoming necessary. The question has been raised as to whether this act of assault on a Supervisor outside the factory is necessarily an act of major misdemeanour or of indiscipline. If I were to hold that an assault on a Supervisor inside the factory would be a major misdemeanour, but such assault would not amount to a major misdemeanour if it was designed to be committed outside the factory, the position would lead us into absurdities. This assault obviously took place in relation to the working of the factory, there having been no suggestion at all about any kind of private grudge unconnected with the working of the factory. In my opinion where an assault on a Supervisor or any other employee of the factory is committed by another employee in connection with matters relating to the factory, such an act has the effect of seriously undermining the discipline of the factory, irrespective of the question as to whether the incident took place inside or outside the factory. The present incident of assault was obviously committed out of a motive of revenge arising directly out of the working of the factory, and the fact that the place of the incident was outside the factory is of no consequence whatever. The assault committed by Dhananjoy Chatterji and others was clearly an act of serious indiscipline amounting to a major misdemeanour. I do not think that the story of assault has been concocted on the side of the Company for the purpose of victimising a person who happens to be Secretary of the Union. Certain previous instances of disciplinary action having been taken against Dhananjoy have been brought to my notice, but they are not of very great importance for our present purposes. The crucial point is the question of assault on 21st September 1950, and I find that the charge of assault on the Supervisor has been brought home to the complainant Dhananjoy Chatterji. In a case like this the only conclusion can be that the order of dismissal is justified. In this case, however, the Company committed an illegal act by not obtaining the express permission of the Tribunal during the pendency of the original adjudication proceeding, and I hold that even in this case a small amount of compensation is called for.

5. In conclusion, I direct that the complainant Pramatha Dass shall be paid by the Company compensation to the extent of three months' total emolument, and the complainant Dhananjoy Chatterji shall be paid compensation to the extent of half month's total emolument, within one month from the date on which this award becomes enforceable. The expression "total emolument" shall mean the average total emolument including the basic wages, the dearness allowance, and any other benefit in the nature of food grain concession or food allowance and excluding overtime wages, bonus or other benefits during the last two months of service of each particular workman, inclusive of authorised leave, on full remuneration.

S. N. MODAK,

Chairman.

The 7th December 1950.

By order of the Governor,

D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 7361Lab.—21st December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 3137Lab., dated the 10th June 1950, the industrial dispute between Bengal Waterproof Works, Ltd. (Head Office: 32, Theatre Road, Calcutta), and its workmen represented by Bengal Waterproof Workers' Union, Agarpara, 24-Parganas, was referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, the Assistant Secretary, Bengal Waterproof Workers' Union, Agarpara, 24-Parganas, on behalf of the workmen of Bengal Waterproof Works, Ltd., made a complaint in writing before the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, alleging that the said company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted his award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act of 1950, filed by Sri Panchanan Sarker, Assistant Secretary, Bengal Waterproof Workers' Union, against Messrs. Bengal Waterproof Works, Limited.

The original reference out of which this case has arisen was made under Government order No. 3137Lab., dated the 10th June 1950, of the Government of West Bengal.

AWARD.

This case relates to the notice to show cause why the employees named Sashi Das, Kalipada Dey and Basudev Manna should not be discharged for alleged absenting from duty without authorised leave. They have shown cause to the Company explaining why they could not attend to their duties. They have taken illness as the ground for their absence. The Company in its written statement did not accept the said explanation. The Company also filed cases under section 33 of the Act for permission to discharge these workmen. Those cases under section 33 of the Act have been disposed of as not maintainable after the publication of the award of the main case. In the present case the only point for decision is whether there has been any alteration of the service condition to the prejudice of the workmen during the pendency of the main dispute. As the case was taken up for hearing, the Company's lawyer has stated in writing in the margin of the order-sheet that the Company is willing to pay wages of these three workmen till the publication of the award without any prejudice to the Company's claim or contention. The learned Advocate on the side of the employees did not think it worthwhile to proceed with the case in the face of the Company's stand set forth above. So I find there is no evidence on either side. As the employees are getting leave during their absence, I cannot say that there has been any prejudicial alteration of the service condition. I call upon the workmen concerned to join their duties without delay and the Company to allow them to return to their works. With this direction I dispose of the case under section 33(A). The award is passed accordingly.

G. PALIT,

District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

The 11th December 1950.

By order of the Governor,

D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 7373Lab.—21st December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 3634Lab., dated the 4th July 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. K. P. Das & Co., Ltd., previously known as Howrah Engineering Co., 43, Circular Road, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Howrah Zilla Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Congress, 43, Baikuntha Chatterji Lane, Howrah, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherji, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherji, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. K. P. Das & Co., Ltd. (previously known as Howrah Engineering Co.), 43, Circular Road, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Howrah Zilla Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Congress, 43, Baikuntha Chatterji Lane, Howrah.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJI, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

for the Company: Sri D. N. Basu, Advocate, Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader, and Sri Gopal Chandra Das, Manager of the Company.

for the Union: Sri Nirmal Ch. Mitra, Pleader, Sri Sailendra Nath Mitra, Pleader, and Sri Kanai Lal Banerjee, President of the Union.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 3634Lab., dated Calcutta, the 14th July 1950, the above industrial dispute was referred to me for adjudication.

The workers placed their demands in writing and the complaint was that there had been dismissal of 16 workers—some within the period of conciliation proceedings. The Union wants reinstatement of the workers. They also want revision of pay, dearness allowance and sick leave.

The Company submits written statement and alleges that theirs is a small concern and that they have all along tried to maintain happy and cordial relations with their employees within the resources of the Company. Even during the last Tribunal proceedings before Sri S. K. Halder, I.C.S., the Company settled various matters of dispute with the workers and further offered lump sum of money as a gesture of goodwill and for the sake of industrial peace, but in spite of the same and the assurances given by the workers in the presence of the then Tribunal, the workers were found not to work in a spirit of goodwill and adopted "go slow" tactics, with the result that there was a considerable fall in production.

In spite of financial difficulties, the Company, in the expectation of better business and production, agreed to the proposal of the Union regarding pay, dearness allowance and other financial commitments, as agreed in the previous award. Even after the expiry of the award, the Company considered the desire of the workers and further gave a flat increment of dearness allowance of Rs. 3-12 per month to each worker, but there was neither any improvement in the business; nor increase in production. Naturally the Company's cost of production became very high.

The Company further alleges that due to depression and loss in business, it was thought necessary to retrench some workers and accordingly notice was given on 6th December 1949, informing the workers that it was not possible for the Company to maintain all the workers, and so gradually the Company retrenched 15 persons purely on financial grounds. There was neither victimization nor unfair labour practice in retrenching these 15 workers.

Regarding pay, dearness allowance and sick leave, the Company is not in a position to make any improvement for the present; nor is financially capable to introduce any substantial improvement by revision of the existing pay and dearness allowance.

Issues Nos. 1 and 2.

Before any revision of pay and dearness allowance is made, it is better to refer to the award of Sri S. K. Haldar, I.C.S., Adjudicator, dated 28th August 1948. It appears that regarding these vital issues, both parties had submitted an agreement, by which the pay and dearness allowance was substantially revised. It is better to quote the observations of the Tribunal in this connection:—

“Both parties have agreed before me that these issues are all covered by the agreement, dated 2nd December 1947, which is filed along with the terms of the settlement. These issues relate to the minimum basic pay, scales of pay, dearness allowance, leave and holidays, double pay for work on Sundays or holidays, discharge, retrenchment, etc., and first-aid facilities. A look at the terms of the agreement, dated 2nd December 1947, will convince any one that all these questions are covered thereby. When parties have accepted the terms of this agreement, I have no hesitation in making my award accordingly. The agreement, dated 2nd December 1947, will form a part of my award.

Apart from the above issues, the Company agreed as a gesture of goodwill to donate the sum of Rs. 400 to be distributed equally among all the workman, and in response to this gesture the workers assured the Company in my presence that they would behave properly, maintain discipline, be regular in their attendance and help to speed up production."

The demand of the Union is that the universal basic pay of Rs. 55 should be accepted and minimum dearness allowance according to the wages at the rate of Rs. 31 up to the basic pay of Rs. 50 per month should be allowed.

The agreed compromise by which the pay and dearness allowance was fixed barely two years ago is sought to be revised, and unless an exceptional case is made out, it cannot be said that the agreed pay and dearness allowance was low. The cost of present living index is not so high as to justify the revision sought for. From the statement submitted by the Company, it appears that except some 15 workers, the minimum wages paid by the Company is Rs. 55, which is the minimum fixed by the Major Engineering Tribunal of the Government of West Bengal, to which I had been a party.

The case of some 15 workers getting slightly less than Rs. 55 can easily be passed over on account of the following considerations:—

Firstly, since the last award of Sri Haldar, there has not been any material change in the circumstances justifying revision of the pay. On the other hand, the paying capacity of the concern (now a limited company since 1949, it having been formerly a private concern known as the Howrah Engineering Co.) has materially deteriorated, so much so that the audit report of the Chartered Accountant for the year ending 31st December 1949, which was produced before me, shows a loss of over Rs. 23,000. The financial position for the year 1950 is still more gloomy. The latest audit report by the Chartered Accountant is sought to be criticised on grounds flimsy and unconvincing. There has not been any such evidence placed before me justifying the statement of the Union that the account is a cooked one. Unless some positively strong and convincing arguments going to the root of the case showing inherent contradictions or absurdities of the audited report of the Chartered Accountant are forthcoming, it will be idle to speculate that the account is a faked one.

Secondly, it is found that the workers are paid for full 30 days including Sundays, although they do not work on Sundays. Under the Factories Act of 1948, each worker is required to put in 48 hours' work each week, but in this concern, workers put in only 46 hours' work per week. Calculating this, it appears that in every month the workers do work only for 25 full days.

The last Major Engineering Tribunal laid down in their award (dated 3rd July 1949) that the workers in each workshop must put in 48 hours' work.

Considering all the circumstances, I am not inclined to give any further revision of pay and dearness allowance. If in future the financial position of the Company improves, the total wages of the unfortunate 15 or 16 workers should be brought to the minimum level of Rs. 55, which is being enjoyed by their other fortunate brothers.

Issue No. 3.

In this workshop the Company allows 12 days as festival holidays. Moreover, the workmen are entitled, according to the last Factories Act, statutory holidays amounting to 14 or 15 days in the year.

According to the Major Engineering Tribunal of 1948, the total number of holidays including festival holidays was fixed for 22 days only in a year. I find that in this factory, the workers have at least 27 such holidays besides Sundays, for which they are paid, although no work is done. The existing days of leave are quite sufficient and need no revision.

The Union made no definite prayer regarding sick leave. The Commission also did not enlighten as to the period of sick leave, or if there is any sick leave at all granted to the employees. I direct that the Company should grant such leave as per award of the Major Engineering Tribunal of 1948 of the Government of West Bengal.

Issue No. 4.

The Union seeks reinstatement of 15 workers mentioned in the schedule and alleges that the Company by notices, dated 19th January 1950 and 3rd March 1950, terminated the services of these workers. It is also stated that the Company had served a general notice on 6th December 1949 intimating the workers that 50 per cent. of them will have to be retrenched and that the retrenchment operation would commence from the first day of January 1950. It is not suggested by the Union that these workers have been victimized for their union activities. In other words, no unfair labour practice has been imputed to the employer. It is stated that the Company pleads that these workers are to be retrenched on account of paucity of work and financial stringency is a false one. The employer urges that in December 1949, the management found that due to depression and loss of business it was necessary to retrench some workers. Accordingly, a notice was given on 3rd December 1949 informing the workers that it was not possible for the Company to maintain all the workers. The notice runs as follows:—

“It is hereby notified for information of the labourers that there being a slump in business, and some stores remaining unpaid and so undelivered in the Pakistan Dominion owing to the changing circumstances in the country, and also there being no satisfactory progress by the workers in manufacturing the stores the Company have been suffering heavy loss. It is therefore not practicable for the Company to maintain all the workers.

Under the circumstances the management have decided to have retrenchment in labour according to need by about 50 per cent which will commence from the 1st of January 1950.”

The Company did not all on a sudden retrench 50 per cent. of the workers but cautiously proceeded and at first terminated services of 4 workers on 19th January 1950. Then on 30th March 1950, some 11 workers were retrenched. In dispensing with the services of the unwanted men, the principle “last come first go” was followed and it was suggested that any unfair discrimination had been made by the Company. On reviewing the financial position of the Company from the audited report it appears that the net loss on 31st December 1949 was over Rs. 23,000. It would be idle to brush aside this report of the Chartered Accountant as a faked one.

The next point urged was that all these workers having been discharged during the conciliation proceedings, the discharge was illegal. As regards this, I may point out that these workmen had been retrenched when the amended Industrial Disputes Act, as modified up to 1st July 1950, had not me into force. Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act before amendment ran thus:—

“No employer shall during the pendency of any conciliation proceedings or proceedings before a Tribunal, in respect of any industrial dispute, alter to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in such dispute, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the commencement of such proceedings, nor save with the express permission in writing of the conciliation officer, Board or Tribunal, as the case may be, shall he during the pendency of such proceedings, discharge, dismiss or otherwise punish any such workman, except for misconduct not connected with the dispute.”

It thus appears that old section 33 prohibits discharge, dismissal, or any other punishment during the pendency of a conciliation proceeding or proceeding before a Tribunal. This certainly does not refer to retrenchment. It does not at all apply to retrenchment where there are bona fide needs of the business. But if the retrenchment had been motivated with a view to punish some workers, or for unfair labour practice, then certainly the workers can have redress of their grievances. In this case, I am of opinion that the retrenchment complained of was effected solely as an economy measure to avoid recurring losses of the Company and that, as these retrenchments have been effected before the present amendment, I am afraid, the workers can have no remedy.

Regarding compensation, the Company alleges that the same has been granted as per standing orders. There is no denial to such statement. The retrenchment being bona fide and the dismissals not having been made as a result of unfair labour practice, nor illegal, no further compensation can be claimed.

Judging all the circumstances, I am of opinion that the retrenchment as bona fide, and as such, I cannot direct the reinstatement of the workers. If, however, the financial position of the Company improves and the Company makes new recruitment, then I direct that the Company should in the first place invite the retrenched workers to join the concern, if by that time the workers be not otherwise employed, or remain untraced.

Summary of the recommendations.

Regarding pay and dearness allowance, no review is allowed. But I direct that the Company should raise the minimum wages to the standard of Rs. 55, including pay and dearness allowance as soon as its financial position improves.

Regarding sick leave, the Company is directed to follow the directions given in the Major Engineering Tribunal of the Government of West Bengal in 1948.

Regarding retrenchment, no reinstatement or compensation is allowed. The Company is directed to take in these discharged workers first in case of future recruitments.

Lastly, the Company had already offered compensation of one month's salary to the workers. There has been no complaint that such compensation as not been allowed.

P. R. MUKHERJEE,

Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., 18, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta-1, and their workmen in connection with the case of Sri S. Nagaswami of P-75/B, Lake Road, post office Rash Behari Avenue, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of reference No. 4600Lab., dated Calcutta, the 19th August 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., 18, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and their workmen in connection with the case of Sri S. Nagaswami of P-75/B, Lake Road, post office Rash Behari Avenue, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader and
Sri V. D. Subbayya, an officer of the Company.

For the petitioner: The petitioner himself.

AWARD.

The dispute was over the resignation tendered by one Sri S. Nagaswami under the following circumstances. The employee-complainant was appointed by Messrs. Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., from 19th December 1947, and that learning on 1st February 1950 that contrary to the earlier promises made by the Directors of the Company, the complainant had not been given any increment from 1st January 1950. So, he gave them on 1st February 1950 one month's notice of resignation. Upon receipt of notice of resignation, the Company informed the petitioner on 2nd February 1950, that they had accepted his resignation with immediate effect, and directed him not to attend the office from 3rd February 1950. Upon the petitioner's claiming salary up to 28th February 1950 in lieu of notice, the management refused to pay the amount on the plea that he was not entitled to the same.

The employee alleges that he was quite prepared to work during the entire period of notice, but as the Directors asked him not to attend office, and that he would not be paid for the whole month, he did not attend office from 3rd February 1950.

The employee claims—

- (a) one month's salary inclusive of dearness allowance from 1st February 1950 to 28th February 1950,
- (b) proportionate bonus.

The Company files a written statement opposing the claim mainly on the ground that it is not an industrial dispute, and that Sri Nagaswami by his letter, dated 1st February 1950, submitted his resignation, the Company waived the right to compel Nagaswami to remain in its service.

at the end of the notice period and accepted the resignation forthwith. He was not entitled to get full salary for the month of February. The claim of bonus is also opposed on the ground that it is an ex gratia payment payable only to those employees who remain in service at the time when the same is declared.

Points for Adjudication.

1. Is it an industrial dispute?
2. Is Nagaswami a workman and entitled to represent the case?
3. Is the workman entitled to get any wages for the full month of February and proportionate bonus, as claimed?

Issue No. 1.

The Company opposed the arguments on the point of maintainability on the following three grounds:—

It was urged in the first place that the employee being a Supervisor, is not a workman within the meaning of Industrial Disputes Act.

As regards this, there is not a single whisper in the written statement at the applicant had been a Supervisor. On the other hand, the employee has given evidence that his work was mainly clerical, though he was supervisor in Store Section. He further says that in all departments, he worked under the Head Clerk, who was superior to him. This evidence is unchallenged and as such, the contention that he is a Supervisor is refuted.

It was urged in the next place that the petitioner was not entitled to present the case himself, and that he being an individual workman, and the case having not been taken up by any Union, it is not at all an industrial dispute.

On this point, there was an elaborate discussion by the Judges of the Hon'ble High Court of Madras. The Kandan Textiles, Ltd. versus the Industrial Tribunal (1) Madras and others. (Reported in the Indian Labour Journal, Volume 1, Part VI, August 1949 at page 270.) The learned Chief Justice made the following pertinent observations:—

"I must confess that the language of the definition of 'industrial dispute' is so wide that giving the words their ordinary meaning, even a dispute between an employer and one of the workmen or between one workman and another workman which is connected with one or other of the matters mentioned therein would fall within the definition."

It was also contended that the other workers not having supported the case with the petitioner, it is not an industrial dispute.

This contention also has no force inasmuch as the order of reference clearly states that there exists an industrial dispute between Messrs. Snow White Food Products Co. and their workmen. This order of reference mainly raises a presumption about the existence of the industrial dispute, which is not at all repudiated by any evidence on the side of the management. This is the view expressed by the All-India Industrial Tribunal (Bank Disputes), by Judges Mr. K. C. Sen, Mr. J. N. Majumdar and Mr. N. Chandrasekhar Aiyer at page 9, paragraph 32.

Regarding the representation, it was contended that the worker ought to have been represented by some Union. This contention has no basis, according to section 36 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (as modified by the Act of 1950), there is no bar to workman representing his case personally before the proceedings under the Act. Section 36 of the Industrial Disputes Act lays down procedure for representation. It does not require the workman conducting his case personally.

Issue No. 2.

The facts are that the employee demanded Rs. 200 per month from 1 January 1950, and expressed his unwillingness to continue in service of the Company at the lesser salary, which he was drawing at that time. He wrote a letter, dated 1st February 1950, to the effect that in case the management turns down the request, he would be reluctantly compelled to tender his resignation. The relevant portion of the letter runs thus:—

“Please treat this application as giving you from date one month notice of resignation of my service in this Company.”

He worked on 1st and 2nd February 1950. The Company informed him on 2nd February 1950, that they accepted his resignation with immediate effect.

The contention of the Company was that after tendering resignation, it had no right to remain in their service, if they choose to waive their right for notice by compelling him to remain in their office for one month. To give one month's notice is his obligation, but it is not a right to remain in service for one month, as he claims now.

Let us examine this contention. In my opinion, the employee was asking the Company to grant him basic salary of Rs. 200 per month from the month of January 1950, and in case the Company does not see the way to pay at that rate, his resignation may be accepted to be effective by the end of February. The Company did not send any reply in writing to him; nor did it inform him if they were prepared to grant him any increased salary. The letter of resignation was conditional and was to be effective after one month. The worker expressed his definite view to work till the end of February and the Company could not terminate the service earlier. But all on a sudden the Company informed him that they had accepted his resignation with immediate effect and directed him not to attend office from 3rd February 1950. In my opinion, the Company had hastily and arbitrarily compelled the employee to leave the service forthwith when his intention was to work up till the end of February 1950. By this, the worker was unjustly deprived of his salary. If the Company wants to put an end to the service of this employee forthwith, they can do so after giving him full pay for the month of February. This is equity and fair justice.

Regarding bonus, the Company admittedly has given one month's salary to the staff as bonus on 1st April 1950 for the six monthly period 1st October 1949 to 31st March 1950. This statement in the petition is not challenged by the Company. Now the question is if after resigning the service in February, the petitioner is entitled to the bonus declared on April 1950. The bonus is granted on the principle that the workers materially contribute to the profit by their hard labour, and as such, the petitioner is in equity entitled to the bonus claimed. There is no evidence produced before me to prove that there is any standing rule of the Company that bonus will not be given to a workman who leaves the service before the declaration of bonus. The petitioner is entitled to claim proportionate bonus, that is, 5/6th of one month's salary. It is, therefore, ordered that the petitioner will be entitled to full one month's pay plus dearness allowance for the month of February 1950 (less any amount drawn), and that, he will be further entitled to 5/6th of his monthly salary as bonus. The Company is directed to pay the amount within one month from the date when the award becomes enforceable.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 11ab, dated the 12th June 1950, this industrial dispute between Messrs. Smith Stanistreet & Co., Ltd., 18, Convent Road, Entally, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Smith Stanistreet Workers' Union, 35B, Wellington Street, Calcutta, regarding certain matters specified in a schedule, was referred to me as an industrial tribunal for adjudication. It appears that some industrial disputes between the same parties were previously adjudicated upon, and three awards have already been given on recent occasions by Sri P. K. Sarkar, Judge, Industrial Tribunal. For purposes the relevant previous awards are the first award which was issued by order No. 228Lab., dated 28th January 1948, in the Calcutta Gazette of 12th February 1948, and the third award published by order No. 2718Lab., dated 6th June 1949, in the Calcutta Gazette of 23rd June 1949. After the publication of the third award the Company applied to the High Court at Calcutta and secured a rule involving an order of prohibition against the implementation of the award, but this rule was eventually discharged. It was expected that things would settle down peacefully after the third award, but the expectation was unfortunately not fulfilled. Strife between the parties soon began to arise, and the employees went on strike from 10th August 1949. They attended at the business premises refrained from working up to 23rd August 1949 from which date they were locked out. On 31st August 1949 a settlement is said to have been reached in consequence of certain negotiations. The Union claims that terms of settlement were finally determined on 31st August 1949, alleges that the Company failed to give effect to the important terms regarding reinstatement and absorption of discharged employees. The Company on the other hand, contends that the Union became unhelpful in the matter of providing the requisite scheme for giving effect to the process of reinstatement and absorption on the basis of reduction of working hours and wages, and no agreement between the parties was reached in the end. Any way the parties proceeded on 31st August 1949 on the basis that it was a settlement, and the strike was called off on and from 1st September 1949. Meanwhile in pursuance of a resolution passed by the Canteen Managing Committee, the canteen under the management of the Company was dissolved, and notices of discharge, dated 17th October 1949, were served on the members of the canteen staff. On 18th October 1949 the Union declared a strike with effect from 19th October 1949 on the ground that the Company had failed to comply with the Union's request regarding reinstatement of retrenched workers and stoppage of further retrenchments. On 31st October 1949 the Company promulgated a notice to the effect that the premises of the establishment would remain closed until further notice. The Company felt that many of the employees were willing to return to work, and individual and collective appeals to the employees for rejoining under adequate protection, if necessary, were made to the employees. On 1st December 1949 the Company intimated to the absent employees that in consequence of their absence from duty without leave since 18th October 1949 they had committed a breach of contract terminating their employment with the Company, and the employees were asked to come and receive the wages due to them and were further told that it was open to them to apply for re-employment by 10th December 1949 at the latest, and the question of their re-employment without break of service would be sympathetically considered. The Company's case is that this being a pharmaceutical concern the establishment could not be allowed to remain closed indefinitely, and after having waited for the old employees to come back up to 10th December 1949 it began to take new hands in order to save the concern from being ruined and in the interest of its many customers. It appears that some of the old employees did come back and rejoin duty under the Company, while many others did not. The present industrial dispute has arisen out of the non-employment of those old employees who failed to offer themselves for re-employment in time and subsequently found themselves thrown out of employment altogether. The points for decision as specified in the schedule given in the order of reference are as follows:—

- (1) Whether the workers who were in employment on 18th October 1949 and have not been re-employed so far (that is to say, up to 12th June 1950, the date of reference) should get any compensation.
- (2) Whether the Company should appoint those ex-workers in future vacancies.

It will appear therefore that no question of reinstatement of the discharged employees arises in the present proceeding. The Union submitted at the first a written statement without specifying the persons involved in this proceeding, and the Company submitted a written statement in reply, stating among other things, that the whole matter was vague and indefinite inasmuch as the names of the persons concerned were not mentioned either in the order of reference or in the Union's written statement. The Union, under these circumstances, asked by this Tribunal to submit a definite list of the persons concerned before the matter could be proceeded with further.

The Union in due course submitted a list of 238 names in the first instance and subsequently two other names by a separate petition, dated 17th November 1950. The Company in due course submitted an additional written statement in reply with reference to the specific persons named in the Union's

2 It is not necessary for me to go into the details of the past history of the differences which have arisen between the parties from time to time. I propose to come to certain findings which are relevant for our present purposes. The facts are that a strike was started on 10th August 1949, and subsequently the employees were locked out for a few days, and on 31st August 1949 both sides accepted what was considered to be a satisfactory settlement and normal work was resumed from 1st September 1949. Unfortunately, however, differences over the enunciation and interpretation of the terms of settlement soon began to arise. It appears that the representatives of the parties who participated in the negotiation failed to sign a common document incorporating the terms of settlement on 31st August 1949 or at any time, and it cannot be said, under the particular circumstances, that there was at any time a real union of minds of the parties as to the terms of settlement or the manner of their implementation. The so-called settlement of 31st August 1949 therefore fizzled out most largely. For our purposes in the present proceeding, it is useful to take in particular, of clause 3 of the draft agreement which was on the following lines: "The Company agrees to absorb those members of the casual and subordinate staff and those workers who are either dismissed or on voluntary unemployment since June 1, 1949, on the basis of reduction of hours of work and a pro rata cut in total emoluments of the workers, casual and subordinate staff. These personnel to be absorbed within 15 days from date." The Company understood this to mean that the process of absorption would be governed by the condition that a scheme of reduction in the hours of work together with a pro rata cut in total emoluments would first be formulated and the initiative in putting forward proposals in that direction was to be taken by the Union, and if all these things were done in time, the process of absorption would be completed within fifteen days. The Union, on the other hand, understood the clause to mean that the personnel concerned was to be absorbed unconditionally within fifteen days and then the question of reduction in working hours and wages was to be considered. The parties being the best judges of what they meant when they drafted the clause, I do not wish to apportion blame for an unfortunate breakdown of the settlement. I can only say that both the interpretations were possible in the light of the conversations which took place between the parties, and each side may be credited with honesty in its own interpretation. The resultant factor is that the Company never agreed to reinstate and absorb the discharged personnel without any condition. The Company can therefore contend, as it has contended, that as the conditions supposed to have been agreed upon were not fulfilled, the process of absorption could not be given effect to. The Union's strike notice, dated 18th October 1949, defined the reasons for declaration of strike on 19th October 1949 to be the Company's failure to comply with the Union's request regarding reinstatement of retrenched workers and stoppage of their retrenchment. Nothing else is stated in the strike notice. It has however been argued before me that the reasons of the strike which were stated on 19th October 1949 were (1) the non-implementation of the settlement of 31st August 1949, particularly of the undertaking to absorb the discharged personnel, (2) the dissolution of the canteen, (3) the failure of the Chairman of the Works Committee (Employer's representative) to convene an emergency meeting of the Works Committee as per a requisition notice dated 15th October 1949, issued by certain representatives of the employees, (4) the discharge of the canteen staff with effect from 19th October 1949. Among these, reason (1) and reason (4) may be covered, respectively, by the two branches of the reasons of strike set forth in the notice, and reasons (2) and (3) may be said to be associated with reason (1). The grievances of the Union leading to the declaration of the strike on 19th October 1949 were the facts that the discharged personnel was absorbed in spite of negotiations and of a supposed settlement and that the Company still persisted in a policy of retrenchment in so far as it decided to abolish the canteen and to discharge the canteen staff as being surplus to the requirements.

3. I shall now proceed to analyse these two main reasons of the strike and to find whether the strike of 19th October 1949 was provoked by unfair labour practice on the part of the Company or it arose merely out of a current labour dispute, and whether the strike was justified wholly or partially. Before taking up that task I may incidentally refer to the question of the legality of the strike, in so far as the Company referred to the strike, in its written statement and in some of its previous correspondence, as an illegal strike. In course of the hearing before me the learned advocate for the Company very wisely refrained from contending that it was an illegal strike, and without going into details I come to the finding that it was not an illegal strike. Let me next examine whether the strike was provoked by any unfair labour practice on the part of the Company. It is not necessary for me to go into the events prior to 31st August 1949 on which date a settlement was seemingly arrived at by the parties. The Company contends that it could not give effect to the proposed process of absorption of discharged personnel as the Union was unhelpful inasmuch as the latter failed to come forward with any scheme of reduction of working hours and wages. Whatever might be the view point of the Union as regards the question of absorption within 15 days, I am unable to say, under the particular circumstances, that the failure of the Company to absorb the discharged personnel amounted to an unfair labour practice as it appears to have been due to a breakdown in the negotiations which did not appear to have culminated at any stage in a real agreement. A breakdown in negotiations, however, kept the old labour dispute alive and possibly aggravated the bitterness in the minds of the employees. A general feeling of frustration was possibly in the air. In this atmosphere on 16th September 1949 the Canteen Committee decided to dissolve the canteen on the footing that a Contractor would be asked to take over the work. It appears that an assurance was given in the committee meeting the effect that "with regard to the personnel and establishment matter the canteen, the Company would decide and the Works Committee of the Union would always be there to ensure fair treatment" (see Exhibit 1). In fact, however, the employees of the canteen were served on 17th October 1949 with notices of discharge with effect from 19th October 1949 and they were so discharged. As regards the requisition notice (Exhibit 2) dated 15th October 1949, for a meeting of the Works Committee, one of the matters on the agenda being "Canteen Committee's decision and staff", the Company's case is that the requisition meeting was held on 19th October 1949, but the employees' representatives failed to attend, and the Union's case is that the employees' representatives were not informed at all. This aspect of the matter does not appear to be of great importance. The position for the time being was that the Canteen Committee including the employees' representatives came to a decision about the abolition of the canteen, and in the process of implementation of that decision, the employees attached to the canteen became surplus to the requirements and they were discharged from 19th October 1949. It does not appear, however, that the Company made any arrangement for giving fair treatment to the discharged employees in conformity with the assurance given in the Canteen Committee meeting. The discharge notice was given by the Company on 17th October 1949, and the strike notice was given by the Union on 18th October 1949. The sequence of events indicates that the atmosphere was already charged with a feeling of frustration owing to the breakdown of the negotiations in respect of the tentative settlement of 31st August 1949 and the discharge notice, dated 17th October 1949, in respect of the canteen staff served to set the whole thing ablaze, and the Union decided to launch the strike with dramatic suddenness. As the Canteen Committee composed of representatives of both sides decided rightly or wrongly to abolish the canteen, the Company's action in proceeding to give effect to that decision led to retrench the canteen staff which became surplus to the requirements and not indeed amount to an unfair labour practice. In the result, I find that the strike of 19th October 1949 was not provoked by any unfair labour practice on the part of the Company, but the Union launched the strike and decided to use the weapon of strike for resolving the industrial disputes which were persisting from before and which were created by the Company's action in retrenching the canteen staff. I have already held that the strike was legal. In my opinion, the strike was based on justifying causes, and the Company failed to handle the situation wisely and tactfully. Precipitate action on the part of the Company was unhappily met by precipitate counter-action on the part of the Union. The unwise and tactless action on the part of the Company in discharging the canteen employees without making any satisfactory alternative arrangement for them undoubtedly gave rise to fresh industrial disputes. But the disputes, both old and new, could have been settled peacefully and helpfully, from the point of view of all concerned, including the employees, by having recourse to the machinery of consultation and arbitration. However irritating the Company's action was, the Union was not wise in losing patience and deciding to wield the weapon of strike all on a sudden, without giving any breathing time either to the Company or to the authorities of the Government. In this connection I refer to the principles which I enunciated in paragraph 3 of my order in the case of Union North Jute Mill, as published by Government of West Bengal order No. 5421ab., dated the 25th September 1947 (see page 4—Awards made by Tribunals in West Bengal during 1947). In the application of those principles, while I hold that the strike of 19th October 1949, was legal and was based on certain justifying causes in view of the unwise and tactless handling of the situation by the Company, I find that the strike was not fully justified, in so far as it was declared with unnecessary haste without trying to have the disputes resolved through the machinery provided under the Industrial Disputes Act, and much misery for the employees could have been averted if the Union had seen its way to exercise a certain amount of patience.

4. I may now proceed to make a survey of the course of events since the commencement of the strike on 19th October 1949 and discuss the allegations and consequences thereof. The strike continued till the Company notified closure of the premises of the establishment on 31st October 1949 and presumably a lock-out commenced. The Company's case was that the lock-out was declared because of certain incidents of violence and intimidation in which some of the workers participated. Some correspondence dealing with allegations of violence and intimidation has been placed before me. But in the absence of any evidence to prove these allegations, I am unable to hold that some of the employees on strike indulged in acts of violence or intimidation. Any way the strike appears to have merged in a lock-out declared by the Company on 31st October 1949. The Company issued appeals individually and collectively to the employees requesting them to return to work and assuring them that safe transport would be provided to loyal employees who wished to come. A notice, dated 4th November 1949, containing a statement of the misdemeanours alleged to have been committed by the employees is said to have been issued to them individually asking for explanations by 10th November 1949. Various conferences with the authorities of the Government appear to have been held from time to time. The appeals made by the Company to the employees did not, however, bear any fruit. The Company became naturally anxious to restart the working of the establishment as early as possible, as indefinite closure meant serious injury to the Company and much inconvenience to the customers of this pharmaceutical concern. Eventually the Company issued a notice, dated 1st December 1949 (Annexure L to the Company's statement), to each individual employee stating that by reason of his remaining absent from duty without leave since 18th October 1949 he had committed a breach of his contract terminating his employment with the Company, and asking him to come and receive the wages, etc., due to him, and also inviting him to make an application for re-employment. On 10th December 1949, the assurance being given that the question of re-employment without break of service would be sympathetically considered. There was some response to these notices, and those employees who offered themselves for employment were re-employed. As the majority of the employees failed to respond to the Company's appeal within a reasonable time, as fixed by the Company, the vacant places, which it was necessary to fill up for the purpose of running the concern in a normally efficient manner, were filled up by new recruits. In due course a dispute arose about the re-employment of and the payment of compensation to the old employees who were not re-employed. The order of reference giving rise to the present adjudication proceeding was passed on 12th June 1950. The scope of the reference does not cover the question of reinstatement of the unemployed persons. It will be seen that the main issue as defined in the order of reference relates to the subject of compensation in respect of the employees who were in employment on 18th October 1949 and who were not re-employed up to 12th June 1950, and there is another incidental issue regarding the appointment of the ex-employees in future vacancies. Although this Tribunal is not called upon to consider the question of reinstatement, the question of compensation must be approached in the light of certain principles, and it will have to be determined whether any compensation should be paid by the Company, and, if so, what should be the basis of assessment of the compensation. These aspects of the question must necessarily be governed by the particular circumstances of the case and the findings relating to the legality and justifiability of the strike which commenced on 19th October 1949. I have already held that the strike was legal and it was based on certain justifying causes arising from certain unwise and tactless acts committed by the Company, but the strike was launched with unnecessary haste and cannot be said to have been fully justified, in so far as no attempt was made in the first instance to utilise the machinery of conciliation or adjudication under the Industrial Disputes Act. As I have already indicated, the Company's act of retrenching the canteen staff in an abrupt manner without paying heed to the assurance of a satisfactory alternative arrangement as given in the Canteen Committee meeting served as a match stick to set the whole thing ablaze in an atmosphere which had already become tense in view of the previous breakdown of negotiations since 31st August 1949. In acting as it did, the Company evinced a lamentable lack of imagination and regard for its own assurances in connection with the Canteen Committee's decision for abolishing the canteen. The Company was indeed entitled to effect retrenchment of the canteen staff. But I am of opinion that the manner in which the retrenchment was done was not reasonable under the particular circumstances.

bringing about the strike the Company must therefore be held to have been partially responsible, although its action cannot be held to have amounted to unfair labour practice. In my opinion the haste with which employees decided to launch a strike was also not quite reasonable or justified under the particular circumstances. The conclusion must therefore be that both sides must share the blame for what has happened in consequence of the strike. As regards the right of the employer to employ new recruits after issuing an order of discharge of the striking employees on account of their long absence from work, my attention has been drawn on behalf of the Company to a passage on page 850, section 318, of Ludwig Teller's "The Law Governing Labour Disputes and Collective Bargaining", which runs as follows: "The Supreme Court of the United States has held it that an employer who has committed no unfair labour practice, and whom a strike has been declared is not obliged to cease the conduct of his business, but may employ others to take the place of the strikers and may promise to retain such employees in his employ even after the termination of the strike; under such circumstances the employer's obligation to reinstate extends only to such of the striking employees whose places have not been filled during the strike." The principles of law as discussed in Teller's book are undoubtedly based on the law prevalent in the United States of America, which would not necessarily govern the decisions of an Industrial Tribunal in this country. The statutes of this country, however, do not lay down any specific law on the subject. This Tribunal would therefore consider the matter on a reasonable basis consistently with the law prevalent in this country and may accept such principles as may appear to be reasonable and proper. It appears to me that the principle enunciated in the passage which I have just quoted from Teller's book is sound and proper and is not inconsistent with any law or rule prevalent in this country. While we are not concerned in the present case with the question of re-instatement of the old employees in the places which are now occupied by new recruits, the principle which I have just indicated will necessarily have some bearing on the question of assessment of compensation. There is another aspect which should be borne in mind. The Company appears to have been extremely anxious for some time to effect substantial retrenchment in the number of its employees, owing to what is stated as a marked fall in business arising out of various factors. The trouble has apparently arisen out of a policy of retrenchment. I do not say that the Company was not entitled to effect retrenchment for genuine reasons. But retrenchment must always be effected on a basis of business, and it should be avoided whenever possible. It appears that in consequence of the strike the Company has ultimately succeeded in reducing the size of its labour staff and thus carrying out a policy of substantial retrenchment in actual practice. Practically speaking, therefore, the outcome of this strike has in a sense redounded to the benefit of the Company, and it appears that the Company has fully utilised the opportune strike in achieving its ends by keeping the obstinate old workers at bay. From this point of view, among others, which I have already indicated, the Company cannot be relieved of its liability to pay substantial compensation to the employees who stand discharged, and who for practical purposes, been retrenched, even though the declaration of the strike was hasty and the strike cannot be said to have been definitely provoked by any unfair labour practice on the part of the Company.

I shall next proceed to examine which of the persons mentioned in the list submitted by the Union come within the scope of the reference. In the light of the wording of issue No. 1 in the schedule appended to the order of reference I hold that in order to be eligible for being considered to be within the scope of the reference, the particular employee must satisfy two conditions, namely, (1) he must have been in employment of the Company on 18th October 1949, and (2) he must not have been in the employment of the Company by way of re-employment up to 12th June 1950, the date of reference. As already indicated the Union submitted 240 names of persons who were alleged to come within the scope of the reference. The Company has submitted in its supplementary reply an analysis of names furnished by the Union, dividing them into different groups Nos. 1 to (i). It is agreed that the two names mentioned in group (i) were not entered in the Union's lists. So we are really called upon to deal with 238 names. As regards 180 names included by the Company in group (a) of the reference. As regards the persons included in group (b) under heading "personnel re-employed", Nos. 181 to 200 in the Company's analysis, I find that some of them do not come within the scope of the reference inasmuch as they were re-employed before 12th June 1950, while others who were re-employed after 12th June 1950 do come within the scope of the reference. There are 8 persons in the latter category and they have been shown with serial Nos. 1 to 8 in Appendix C to this award. As regards group (c) under the heading "personnel re-appointed temporarily or discharged later", I find that those who were appointed temporarily before 12th June 1950 but were discharged after that date do not come within the scope of the reference, but those who were appointed and discharged before or after 12th June 1950 come within the scope of the reference. There are six persons in the latter category and they have been shown with serial Nos. 185 to 190 in Appendix A to this award, in continuation of the names under group (a) shown with serial Nos. 1 to 180 in Appendix A to this award. As regards group (d) it appears that the persons with serial Nos. 210 to 218 were placed on involuntary unemployment, and I hold that they do not come within the scope of the reference. I also find that serial No. 226, Laku, a sweeper attached to the canteen, who was not in employment on 18th October 1949 but having been dismissed on 30th November 1948, does not come within the scope of the reference. As regards canteen employees, shown as serial Nos. 219 to 225 in group (d), I find that they were in employment on 18th October 1949 and were discharged on 19th October 1949 and were not re-employed up to 12th June 1950, and they come within the scope of the reference. These seven canteen employees have been shown in Appendix B to this award. As regards group (e) including two persons named Brijnandan Singh and Shyamapada Chakraborty who are described as having worked during the strike and having been discharged afterwards, I find that the reasons of their discharge have been satisfactorily proved, and they were in employment on 18th October 1949 and were not re-employed up to 12th June 1950, and they come within the scope of the reference. These two persons under group (e) have been shown with serial Nos. 191 and 192 in Appendix A to this award. As regards one person named Ramlal shown in group (f), I find that he was on involuntary unemployment and he subsequently resigned in February 1950 and he does not come within the scope of the reference. As regards group (g) showing two persons named Sridhan and Sarkar it appears that they resigned and left their jobs of their own accord, and I find that they do not come within the scope of the reference. As regards group (h) the Company has agreed that two persons named Nareish Ghosh and Biswajit should have been shown under group (a), and these two persons have accordingly been shown with serial Nos. 181 and 182 in Appendix A to this award. As regards three other persons in group (h), it appears that they were not in the employment of the Company during the relevant period. I find that they do not come within the scope of the reference. As regards the two persons named Sunil Bhattacharya and Gunraj shown by the Union in its application, dated 17th November 1950, the Company has agreed hey should be included under group (a), and on the finding that they come within the scope of the reference, I have shown them with serial Nos. 183 and 184 in Appendix A to this award.

6. I take up the cases of the 8 persons shown in Appendix C first. It appears that they have been re-employed by the Company after 12th June 1950, the date of reference. These persons have already been reinstated, and I do not think that any monetary compensation is called for so far as they are concerned. Their services should, however, be regarded as continuous, and the period of non-employment should count as leave without pay.

7. The real problem is with regard to the persons shown in Appendix A and Appendix B. As regards the 7 canteen employees shown in Appendix B, they stand on a somewhat different footing from the persons shown in Appendix A, in so far as the former were discharged in pursuance of a policy deliberately adopted by the Company before the commencement of the strike, while the latter were discharged in consequence of circumstances which arose out of the strike. It may be noted further that the canteen employees were discharged with effect from 19th October 1949 in spite of the Company's assurance given in the Canteen Committee meeting held on 6th September 1949 to the effect that some satisfactory alternative arrangement would be made for the canteen staff. The Company's failure to make a satisfactory alternative arrangement should, under the circumstances, be taken serious notice of, and the compensation payable to the canteen employees should be fairly substantial in view of the state of unemployment into which they were suddenly thrown without any fault of their own. I have therefore decided that the compensation payable to the discharged canteen employees should be higher than the compensation payable to the persons included in Appendix A. There is absolutely no reason why the gratuity payable to the discharged employees in accordance with the previous awards and the employer's contribution to the Provident Fund, in addition of course to the employees' contribution to that Fund, should not be paid to the respective ex-employees of the canteen. I notice from one of the letters written by the Company to the authorities of the Government that the Company is likely to raise the plea that with regard to the disposal of the employer's contribution to the Provident Fund the authorities were the Trustees of the Provident Fund and not the Company. There is absolutely no reason why the Company should not be able to induce the Trustees of the Provident Fund to part with the employer's contribution in respect of the ex-employees of the canteen, as they were deliberately retrenched. As regards the persons mentioned in Appendix A to this award, the question seriously arises as to whether the gratuity which would normally be payable to them in accordance with the provisions of the previous awards, and the employer's contribution to the Provident Fund, in addition of course to the employees' contribution, should be ordered to be paid to these persons also as a part of the compensation. In the light of the findings I have arrived at in the preceding paragraphs of this award with regard to the actual responsibility of the Company for bringing about the strike and the nature of the discharges subsequently effected in consequence of circumstances arising out of the strike, and in view of the fact that the Company has managed to achieve its end of effecting substantial retrenchment in its labour staff through the instrumentality of this unfortunate strike, and the discharges amount, for practical purposes, to retrenchment, I am of opinion that full benefits in respect of gratuity payable in accordance with the previous awards and the employer's contribution to the Provident Fund, in addition to the employees' contribution, should be made available to the ex-employees mentioned in Appendix A, as a part of the compensation payable to them. The possible plea that a direction regarding the payment of the employer's contribution to the Provident Fund should not be made in the absence of the Trustees of the Provident Fund does not deserve any serious consideration. The Company should be able to induce the Trustees of the Provident Fund to part with the employer's contribution in favour of the ex-employees under Appendix A also, and if the Company fails to induce the Trustees in that direction, the Company should pay compensation to the extent of the employer's contribution out of its own funds. Then arises the question of assessing some amount of compensation in respect of the ex-employees under Appendix A and Appendix B from the standpoint of the period of unemployment. I have decided that the ex-employees under Appendix A should be given two months' total emolument and the ex-employees under Appendix B should be given six months' total emolument, on the lines indicated below in addition to the gratuity and the employer's contribution to the Provident Fund (apart of course from the employees' contribution).

8 I make my award under issue No. 1 by giving the following directions:—

(a) As regards the 192 persons shown in Appendix A to this award and the 7 persons shown in Appendix B to this award, the Company shall pay to each the amount of gratuity which would normally be payable to them in accordance with the previous awards and also the amount of the employer's contribution to the Provident Fund in respect of each of the employees, in addition of course to the employee's contribution to the Provident Fund.

(b) As regards each of the 192 persons mentioned in Appendix A, the Company shall pay further compensation to the extent of two months' total emolument.

(c) As regards each of the persons mentioned in Appendix B, the Company shall pay further compensation to the extent of six months' total emolument.

(d) The expression "total emolument" shall mean the average basic wages (not including overtime wages, bonus or other benefits) plus the average dearness allowance, during the last three months of service inclusive of authorised leave, on full wages.

(e) If any of the abovementioned 199 persons has already been paid the gratuity or the employer's contribution to the Provident Fund or any further amount of compensation in lieu of notice or otherwise such amounts shall be deducted from the amounts directed to be paid in preceding clauses of this paragraph of the award, and the net amount thus arrived at shall constitute the amount of compensation payable under this award.

(f) All amounts payable under the preceding clauses of this paragraph of the award shall be paid within one month from the date on which the award becomes enforceable.

(g) All wages, etc., which may have still remained unpaid and which do not form any part of the compensation proper, shall also be paid simultaneously, if not earlier.

9. As regards issue No. 2 the Company has agreed that it is prepared to re-employ unemployed ex-employees in future vacancies if they are available, and I direct that this shall be done.

By order of the Governor,

ORDER.

7383Lab.—23rd December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4567Lab., dated the 17th August 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., Hazra Road, Calcutta, and its workers of the Konnagar Depot represented by Allen Berry Mazdoor Congress, 26A, Deodar Street, Calcutta, and Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union, 26A, Deodar Street, Calcutta, referred for adjudication to Sri M. C. Banerji, District Judge; and whereas the said Sri M. C. Banerji, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute; and now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, CALCUTTA.*PRESENT:

SRI MATISH CHANDRA BANERJI, District Judge, Tribunal.

Industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., 62, Hazra Road, Calcutta, and its workers of the Konnagar Depot represented by Allen Berry Mazdoor Congress, 26A, Deodar Street, Calcutta, and Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union, 26A, Deodar Street, Calcutta.

AWARD.

The Government of West Bengal in the Department of Labour by order 467Lab., dated 17th August 1950, referred, under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry and Co., Ltd., 62, Hazra Road, Calcutta, and workers of the Konnagar Depot represented by Allen Berry Mazdoor Congress, 26A, Deodar Street, Calcutta, and Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union, 26A, Deodar Street, Calcutta, to me as the Tribunal for adjudication.

Notices were issued on both the parties and they filed written statements in support of their respective cases.

Messrs. Allen Berry & Co. is a firm of automobile engineers with its head office and main workshop at 62, Hazra Road, Calcutta. The Company was originally owned by Europeans but was purchased by Messrs. Dalmia about 5 years ago. The Company purchased a considerable stock of heavy automobile stores, cars and trucks from the Disposals Department of the Government of India in 1946. Reconditioning of old military vehicles and selling them in the market was one of the chief business of the Company, although at their workshop at Hazra Road, they also undertake repairs of motor vehicles, assemblage of parts of automobiles and sale of cars imported from abroad. The Company opened several depots for keeping the disposal vehicles and parts and also started workshops at these depots for reconditioning these vehicles with a view to their sale in the market. Depots with workshops were thus opened at Jodhpur (Tollygunge), Warah and Sodepur, which were all closed one after another. A new depot and workshop were opened at Konnagar in the beginning of 1948 for the purpose of stacking vehicles. In December 1949 the Company started workshop at Konnagar for the purpose of reconditioning some vehicles, mainly the jeeps. The Sodepur Depot was closed in April 1950.

The Company closed its workshop at Konnagar on 29th July 1950 discharged the workmen there, 149 in number, by a notice, dated 28th July 1950. The employees of the Konnagar workshop were affiliated to A. Berry Mazdoor Congress and Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union. These Unions representing the workmen objected to the closing of workshop and discharge of the workmen and approached the Labour Directorate for a conciliation of the dispute. The Labour Directorate failed to effect any settlement and submitted a report to the Government under section 12(4) of the Act recommending a reference of the dispute to the Tribunal. The reference, as mentioned above, was thereafter made for adjudication of this dispute.

The Unions in their joint written statement assailed the closure of workshop at Konnagar as an illegal lock-out designed with the ulterior purpose of paralysing the Unions and claimed for orders for an immediate termination of the lock-out and reopening of the workshop with compensation for the period of non-employment of the workmen. In the alternative the Unions claimed for the discharged workmen all arrears wages, Provident Fund dues including the employer's contribution, bonus for 1949-50, compensation for termination of service amounting to 12 months' emoluments and an assurance of priority in choice in case of recruitments in future vacancies.

The Company in its reply stated that they were not actuated by a motive of unfair labour practice in closing the workshop or discharging the employees, that had the Company not taken this drastic measure for reducing expenditure and restoring financial equilibrium, the entire company including all other depots and workshops would have met with a financial break down leading to a total unemployment of all the employees of the Company. The Company, therefore, state that the closure of the depot as workshop at Konnagar was justified by the needs of the business. It further stated that after the closure of the workshop a large number of workmen approached the Company and came to a settlement with them to accept termination of service on receipt of compensation according to the terms of the agreement, dated 5th April 1950, with the discharged Sodepur staff and that 79 out of 149 workmen received such compensation and accepted the termination of their employment. A copy of the agreement regarding the terms of retrenchment of workmen of Sodepur Depot appears as Annexure A of the Company's written statement. The Company aver that the compensation proposed by them was fair and just and the Union claim in this proceeding was unworthy of support.

On 20th September 1950 the Unions filed an application for a direction on the Company to pay full wages for the period of closure till the date of the award with provision for readjusting the same in the final award, way of an interim relief, in view of the pecuniary difficulties of the workmen. The Unions stated that a large body of workmen had since set their claims with the Company on receipt of 3 months' emoluments or merely to poverty and unless the rest of the workmen were allowed interim relief as desired, they would be compelled to come to terms with the Company under pressure of financial strain to the detriment of their just rights as claimed in this proceeding. The application was heard in the presence of both the parties on 27th September 1950 and an interim award was made on 5th October 1950 directing the Company to pay 2 months' emoluments (basic pay and dearness allowance) to each of the employees who had not received compensations from the Company in satisfaction of termination of service within 7 days from the date of the order. The Company appealed against this interim award to the Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal. 1 judgment, dated 13th November 1950, the Hon'ble Tribunal dismissed appeal and upheld the interim award. The interim award of this nature is made Appendix "A" of this award. The parties were also notified after the receipt of the record and the judgment of the Hon'ble Tribunal.

The appearances for the parties were as follows:—

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, assisted by Sri Asoke Das Gupta, Secretary, Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union, Sri Mani Chakravarty, Assistant Secretary, Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union, Sri Ghanteswar Patra, Vice-President, Allen Berry (Hazra Road) Mazdoor Congress, Sri Sudhir Burman, Secretary, Allen Berry (Hazra Road) Mazdoor Congress and others.

For the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, Sri N. C. Roy, Chief Accountant, Sri D. D. Chadda, Labour Officer of the Company and others.

ISSUES.

(a) Has there been a lock-out of the Konnagar Depot of the Company?

(b) Is the lock-out lawful and justified?

(c) Should the Depot be reopened? Are the employees entitled to any relief if it is reopened?

In case the Depot does not reopen, are the employees entitled to any of the following reliefs:—

(b) Compensation for termination of employment.

(c) Bonus for 1949-50.

(d) Priority in case of future recruitment.

DECISIONS.

Issue No. 1.—(a), (b) and (c).

The Unions characterised the closure of the Konnagar workshop as an unlawful and unjustified lock-out as it would appear from the following extract in written statement:—

"That the Company's action and effects amount to lock-out and the reasons advanced by the Company in justification of their conduct in their notice of the 28th July are false pretext with a motive to release a hell of terror in the minds of workmen of the Company and thus to break the Unions who have been agitating and agitating for the legitimate grievances of the workmen since their inception. Under the circumstances, the Company should come forward with convincing materials to justify their lock-out and in the event of their failure to establish a sure case the Tribunal may kindly be pleased to hold the lock-out illegal, unnecessary and unjustified and award....."

It appears that the Unions put forward the plea that the closure of the workshop was designed to paralyse the trade union activities of the workmen and the Unions and unless the Company succeeded in establishing sufficient justification for such closure the Company should be considered to have declared an illegal and unjustified lock-out. It is, therefore, necessary to determine if the closure of the workshop amounted to a lock-out under the Industrial Disputes Act, if it was illegal and lastly if it was unjustified.

Under the present Act the closing of a place of employment or a suspension of work or refusal by employer to continue to employ one or more persons employed by him irrespective of any other consideration, amounts to a "lock-out" under section 2(1) of the Act. The question has been discussed in my award on the industrial dispute between Messrs. S. J. Ltd., 23, Convent Road, Calcutta, and Spence, Ltd., Workers' Union, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta, published in the Calcutta Gazette, 3rd February 1949. The closure of Konnagar Depot was, therefore, a "lock-out" under section 2(1) of the Act. A "lock-out" has been defined as illegal and punishable only under certain specified circumstances. Section 22 prohibits strikes and lock-outs in a public utility service under certain circumstances and section 23 enacts a general prohibition of strikes and lock-outs in certain circumstances in other concerns. Section 23 runs as follows:—

"No workman who is employed in any industrial establishment shall go on strike in breach of contract and no employer of any workman shall declare a lock-out—

- (a) during the pendency of conciliation proceedings before a Board and seven days after the conclusion of such proceedings;
- (b) during the pendency of proceedings before a Tribunal and six months after the conclusion of such proceedings; or
- (c) during any period in which a settlement or award is in operation in respect of any of the matters covered by the settlement or award."

There is no question of the clauses (b) and (c) being in operation in the present case. It is stated in the written statement of the Union that a conciliation proceeding between the Company and the workmen of Konnagar Workshop was pending before the Labour Commissioner, Government of West Bengal, with effect from 11th February 1950 and that Sri E. Banerji, Assistant Labour Commissioner, was to inspect the Konnagar Depot on 1st August 1950 at 3 p.m. in connection with that conciliation proceeding. The closure of the workshop was made with effect from 29th July 1950 by a notice, dated 28th July 1950. The conciliation proceeding before the Conciliation Officer was, therefore, pending when the closure was declared. Section 23(a) does not prohibit the declaration of a lock-out by an employer during the pendency of conciliation proceedings before a Conciliation Officer but it prohibits a lock-out during the pendency of conciliation proceedings before a Board and 7 days after the conclusion of such proceedings. Conciliation proceedings by Conciliation Officers are governed by section 12 of the Act and conciliation proceedings by a Board are governed by section 13 of the Act. It is, therefore, clear that section 23 of the Act does not prohibit a lock-out when it is declared during the pendency of a conciliation proceeding before a Conciliation Officer under section 12 of the Act. The lock-out in question was not, therefore, illegal in the sense, that it was prohibited by section 23 of the Act.

The next point for consideration is if the lock-out by way of closing the workshop was unjustified or unfair. Under the American Law there are some rights and practices of the management, which have got recognised as management functions, which could be exercised without the prior sanction of the Union or without prior arbitration. One of these is "met" operation". Fixing of the size of the working force has been recognised by numerous decisions in the American Courts as a management function in the category of "methods of plant operation". (Management functions in Collective Bargaining by Ludwig Teller, pages 34 to 49). The cited author states at page 56 as follows: "Business cannot be run by interested third parties. It must be run by persons vitally interested in the conduct of business, responsible for mistakes. It is submitted that in the absence of express agreement to the contrary the right of initiating management functions should carry with it the right to have the initiated functions exempted by arbitrators and upheld in the absence of showing a lack of agreement or bad faith. By good faith is meant the desire to run business in line with the needs of business. Bad faith would be shown by evidence of an intention of the employer to deprive the Union or employees of the fruits of the agreement, whether directly or indirectly whether through discrimination or by other means. Management errors of judgment would not be open to scrutiny by the arbitrator. The scope of arbitration should be limited to enquiry into employer's good faith in exercising the given decision." The same author in his treatise on Industrial Disputes and Collective Bargaining at page 859 discusses the effect of the Wagner Act on the total closure of a plant as follows:—

"A shut down or removal of plant involves discrimination consisting of mass discharges where the purpose of the shut down or removal is to effect a lock-out as the means of expressing hostility to union activity, organisation or the obligation to bargain collectively. Where, on the other hand, the shut down or removal is the reflection of economic necessity or otherwise occasioned by reasons unrelated to union hostility there is no violation of the Act."

The principles mentioned above have been generally followed also in the determination of the management labour relations. The instances justifying employee's right to reinstatement as generally decided in the Industrial Tribunals in India has been discussed in this annual's award in the industrial dispute between Messrs J. K. Eastern Stores, Ltd., and allied concerns and their workmen published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 2nd November 1950. The nature of bad faith in refusing reinstatement of a discharged employee as generally accepted in management labour relations in India is a desire for victimisation to curtail union activity or the pursuit of an ulterior motive unrelated to the case alleged. If the closure of the workshop and the consequent discharge of workmen is intended to be a means of expressing hostility to union activity or organisation it is considered to be an instance of victimisation to curtail union activity; if on the other hand, the closure or the consequent discharge is as a result of some ulterior purpose it is considered to be an instance of unfair labour practice and in case of either of these kinds of bad faith on the part of the employer being proved, the employee is entitled to reinstatement. It, therefore, appears that if the closure of the workshop and the discharge of the workmen there was a result of bad faith or in other words if it was prompted by the purpose of victimisation to curtail union activities or any ulterior purpose, the closure of the workshop will be unjustified and unfair. If, on the other hand, the closure of the workshop was a reflection of an economic necessity it will be justified and upheld in this proceeding.

The Union's case is that this closure was prompted by a desire to commit victimisation and unfair labour practice in regard to the workmen, whereas the company averred that they had to close the workshop for reducing expenditure with a view to restoring financial equilibrium and in order to avoid a total collapse of the whole industry involving other centres. The decision of this question will be made in the light of the following circumstances that transpired during the pendency of the present proceedings.

It is an admitted fact that Sri Ram Krishna Dalmia is one of the principal shareholders of this Company and it appears to me that he is in a position to formulate policies to be followed by the Company. It is also admitted by the representatives of the Company that the daily Bengali newspaper "Satyayug" is an organ under the control of Sri Ram Krishna Dalmia. The Union filed the "Satyayug" published on Monday, the 15th October 1950 (Ext. 1), and the issue of "Illustrated Weekly of India", dated 21 October 50 [Ext. 1(a)], which show that in a meeting at the Hazra Road Centre of the Company on 14th October 1950 Sri Ram Krishna Dalmia declared that 58 of the recently discharged employees of the Konnagar Depot would be reinstated and that he invited the employees to increase production in full co-operation with the management. It also appears from the statements of the parties at the time of the hearing that Sri Dalmia promised to re-employ these 58 men for a period of 3 months at the first instance and that at the end of such period the question of their retention for a further period would be considered in view of financial considerations. It is evidence that at present there are only 58 men as the remnant of 149 employees in the workshop who did not amicably accept the termination of employment according to the terms offered by the employers. These men have been shown in the list Ext. 2. At the time of the hearing of the case the representatives of the Company were not willing to abide by the promise of Sri Dalmia on the ground that the Union claimed compensation for the period of non-employment as also compensation in lieu of termination of employment if it occurred, which, it is claimed by the Company, were not conceded to by Sri Dalmia over and above the promise of re-employment for a period of 3 months. The representatives of the Union stated that the question of compensation for the period of non-employment or in case of termination of employment was never raised before Sri Dalmia by either party and the promise of re-employment of the 58 men was not contemplated by Sri Dalmia to be subject to any condition as alleged. The newspaper reports referred to above do not give any indication as suggested by the Company before me. Although, however, no agreed settlement has been arrived at between the parties, the promise of Sri Dalmia in itself has significance of its own. It appears to me that the promise of Sri Dalmia enunciates that the reinstatement of the residue of 58 workmen of Konnagar Workshop is a practicable proposition in view of the financial implications involved in such a step. The Union did not claim any relief for the rest of 149 workmen at the concluding stage of this proceeding. Accepting the Company's case that 149 workmen of Konnagar Depot were discharged for an economic necessity and also the proposition involved in Sri Dalmia's promise that the residue of the 58 workmen of the workshop could be reinstated for a minimum period of 3 months, it appears to me fair and reasonable that the Company should re-employ these 58 men as per Ext. 2 forthwith and it is awarded accordingly. The Company's representative stated to me that the Company may employ them as a separate unit in the Calcutta centre of the Company. It is, therefore, directed that the Company may reinstate these 58 men either at the Konnagar Depot or at their Calcutta Centre at Hazra Road or Park Street. This order of reinstatement shall come into operation on the expiry of 15 days from the date of the publication of this award.

The next question is as to the Union's claim of compensation for the period of non-employment since 29th July 1950. The Union claims that these 58 workmen should be allowed compensation for the period of on-employment from 29th July 1950 to the date of re-employment, in view of the fact that they were put to great hardship owing to their sudden discharge. The claim of the Union extends to the total emoluments for the period of non-employment from 29th July 1950. The Company opposed the claim and pressed that if they were reinstated in view of Sri Dalmia's promise, the workmen were not entitled to any compensation for the period of non-employment, inasmuch as, the declaration of Sri Dalmia did not contemplate the payment of any compensation. The matter, however, has to be considered from a different angle. The period of non-employment of the workmen was doubtlessly one of involuntary unemployment, for which they are entitled to compensation in accordance with the award of Sri S. K. Sen, J.C.S., in the industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., and their workmen published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 24th June 1948. In this award, however, the workmen of the Konnagar Workshop are not parties as that workshop was not in existence at that time. I have no doubt that the principles enunciated by Sri Sen in the award mentioned above is applicable to the present body of workmen of the Company. These principles are based on the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal of 3 Judges which was published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, dated 2d July 1948. According to this award a compensation equal to 50 per cent. of the basic wages and the dearness allowance is payable to the workmen for a period of 30 days in each half year under some conditions. In the present case the workmen were out of employment since 29th July 1950 and the promise of Sri Dalmia made on 15th October 1950 had been redeemed notwithstanding this period of non-employment of the workmen would have been reduced considerably.

It appears from the statement of both the parties that the workmen of the Company in the Calcutta Centres and also the workmen still now employed in the Konnagar Depot were paid bonus to the extent of one month's basic pay before the Pujas in 1950. It is, therefore, claimed by the workmen that they were entitled to the bonus paid to all workmen before the Pujas in the first part of October 1950 and they were entitled to this amount although they were discharged at the end of July 1950. This claim appears to me to be justified.

Considering all the facts and circumstances of the case, I am of opinion that the 58 workmen mentioned in the list Ext. 2, who will be reinstated, should receive from the Company by way of compensation for the period of non-employment from 29th July 50 till the date of re-employment mentioned in this award, a sum equivalent to emoluments (basic pay and dearness allowance) for one and half months at the rates received by them at the date of their discharge and it is awarded accordingly. It is also awarded that these workmen shall get bonus for 1950 to the extent of one month's basic pay.

It has been mentioned above that by interim award, dated 5th October 50, this Tribunal directed the Company to pay two months' emoluments (basic pay and dearness allowance), to some employees including the men in the list Ext. 2, within 7 days from the date of the order. I am informed by both the parties that out of this sum only the basic wage for one month as paid to the workmen on 17th October 1950 in partial obedience to the interim award made on 5th October 1950. The amount so paid shall be deducted from the sums awarded above. It is, therefore, awarded that the Company shall pay to each of the 58 employees mentioned above a sum as allowed above reduced by the amount that was paid after the date of the interim award and in pursuance thereof on 17th October 1950. These payments shall be made within three weeks of the date on which this award becomes enforceable.

As it is not certain whether the employment of these employees will be terminated after any definite period, I do not consider, in view of the circumstances of this case, that a decision, as to any compensation that any of these employees may or may not be entitled to on termination of employment, is either possible or proper. No award, therefore, is made on that question.

Issue No. 2.—(a), (b), (c) and (d).

In view of the award of issue No. 1 a decision of this issue is unnecessary. This issue is not, therefore, answered. The question of bonus in clause (c) has, however, been decided along with Issue No. 1 above.

APPENDIX A.

Interim Award.

Order No. 7, dated 5th October 1950.—The dispute arose out of the closure of the Workshop at Konnagar Depot of the Company on 29th July 1950 and the consequent discharge of 149 workmen employed at that place. The Company, as disclosed in its notice, dated 28th July 1950, purported to take the action by way of closure of the workshop, owing to unfavourable financial position of the Company and the uneconomic working of the depot. The workmen are represented by two Unions. The Unions, on the other hand, assailed the action of the Company as an affront to it and as a retaliation for the trade union activities of the workmen. The parties filed written statements as called for by the Tribunal and issues were framed on 20th September 1950.

By an application, dated 20th September 1950, the Unions claimed wages for the discharged workmen for the period from the date of the closure of the Depot till the date of the award, by way of an interim relief, in view of the pecuniary difficulties of the workmen. The Unions stated that a large body of workmen have since settled their claims with the Company on receipt of three months' emoluments, owing merely to poverty and unless the rest of the workmen were allowed an interim relief as desired, they too would be compelled to come to terms with the Company under pressure of financial difficulties, to the detriment of their just rights claimed in this proceeding. The application of the Unions was filed by Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

Sri J. K. Ghosh, Pleader, representing the Company, opposed application and characterised it as a step to founder the Company's attempt at amicable settlement with the workmen. The Company's written statement discloses that 79 out of a total of 149 workmen agree to abide by the terms of settlement, arrived at on 5th April 1950, between the Company and their workmen of the Sodepur Depot, who were similarly thrown out of employment on a closure of that workshop and that 70 persons have since received such compensation and left the Company's service amicably.

The application was taken up for hearing on 27th September 1950.

Heard the learned lawyers for the parties. It appears to me that it is not possible for the Tribunal to make an award or see it enforced by the Pujas, which is an occasion for extra expense for all. The questions at issue involve payment of compensation on the claim of reinstatement being decided affirmatively or negatively. I do not find any objection to allowing some compensation in an interim order, pending final decision on the points at issue.

giving my best consideration to the matter, I direct that the Company pay two months' emoluments (basic pay and dearness allowance) to each of its employees, who have not received compensations from the Company on termination of service, within 7 days from date. The Company and the Unions be informed through their lawyers and directly.

ANNEXURE.

The matter of reference No. 5410Lab., dated the 20th September 1950, concerning the industrial dispute between Messrs. Jessop & Co., Ltd., 13, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta-1, and their employees represented by Jessop's Employees' Union, 32, College Row, Calcutta-9.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Dr. J. K. Bose, Chief Labour Adviser to the Indian Engineering Association.

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

AWARD.

The industrial dispute mentioned above has been sent to me for adjudication. It relates to claim of bonus for 1949 of the subordinate staff of the Company referred to above.

The Union's case is that the Company is as old as 1887 and is under Indian management. The strength of its employees at the head office and the factory stands at 4,000. The subordinate staff of the Company includes the durwans, bearers, jamadars, peons, sircars, dufftries, drivers, messengers, khansamas, watermen, etc. The Employees' Union was created in 1946 and it was subsequently registered. The Company gave one month's salary as bonus in 1947. It did not, however, grant the Puja bonus for 1948. The matter was referred to the Tribunal presided over by Mr. K. Sarkar by Government order No. 3630Lab., dated the 1st October 1948.

The said Tribunal granted Puja bonus for 1948 both to the clerical and the subordinate staff. The award was published on the 9th December 1948.

1948 in the Calcutta Gazette. The question of attendance bonus of Company was mooted before the Mercantile Tribunal. The award published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 23rd June 1949. It aimed giving the said bonus to the menials also. The Company, however, did not implement the said award in respect of the subordinate staff. There was an agitation accordingly for the Puja bonus of 1949. The matter was referred to the Tribunal presided over by Sri S. C. Chakravorty by Government order No. 578Lab., dated the 4th February 1950. The award published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 27th April 1950. The learned Tribunal granted one month's pay as Puja bonus for 1949, on the principle laid down by him and his colleagues of the Mercantile Tribunal. The Company, however, paid the Puja bonus for 1949 to the clerical staff and not to the subordinate staff. Accordingly there was again agitation on this matter. The dispute for bonus for 1949 in respect of the subordinate staff has been referred to this Tribunal by Government order No. 5401Lab. dated the 20th September 1950.

The Company's objection to the above claim is that there is no pressure behind it. The Company contends that the bonus for 1947 was paid under duress. The Company had to pay the bonus for 1948 under the Tribunal award of Sri P. K. Sarkar. The Company's objection consists in saying that the Mercantile Tribunal's award as well as the award of Sri S. C. Chakravorty did not refer to the subordinate staff. The award of Sri S. C. Chakravorty was based on the award of the Mercantile Tribunal which in turn was limited in scope only in respect of the clerical staff. The subordinate staff was bound by the award of the Engineering Tribunal presided over by Sri S. K. Sen. This award did not grant bonus to subordinate staff. Besides, on the merits the Company contends that the claim of bonus cannot be maintained, because the Company has raised wages while the wages of the subordinate staff and also dearness allowance in excess of the provision contained in the award of the Engineering Tribunal.

Coming to the facts of the present case I am clearly of opinion that the stand taken by the Company in the present case can hardly be sustained. Sri P. K. Sarkar could not persuade himself to accept that a private Company like Messrs. Jessop & Co., Ltd., could have been forced to payment under duress in 1947. I also find eye to eye with him on this matter. The Company may have reluctantly paid the said bonus, but not under panic but certainly not under duress. Sri P. K. Sarkar also put down the objection of the Company on the score of the Engineering Tribunal having already decided the matter by refusing the claim of the subordinate staff. I find as Sri P. K. Sarkar also did find, that the said Tribunal kept the matter open and for good reasons. It did not have before it the full facts in respect of the Engineering Companies in general and the Company in particular. What the Tribunal did decide was that in view of the comparable profits in the past years the Company should be liable to grant bonus in the future. It did not specify the number of years required in this connection to uphold the claim of bonus.

Regarding the award of the Mercantile Tribunal and of the award of Sri S. C. Chakravorty, I find that the Mercantile Tribunal had before it only the clerical staff of this Company. So the Company cannot be surprised if it did not implement the award in respect of the subordinate staff on the ground of its being ultra vires to that extent. Sri S. C. Chakravorty was also a member of the Mercantile Tribunal and was under the impression that he was granting bonus to the subordinate staff by his separate award. So he was rather surprised when he found that the Company evaded the operation of the award concerning bonus in respect of the subordinate staff. The learned Tribunal observes: "I was surprised when some Union people ame and complained to me that bonuses were not being paid to subordinate staff. Some days after this, one of the Directors of the Company came to see me over this matter. He pointed out to me that in the earlier part of the award of 1949 we decided that this would not bind the subordinate staff who were then being governed by the award of the Engineering Tribunal. This practically made nugatory all that we awarded for subordinate staff". So the position clearly before me is this that there has been no decision as yet in respect of the bonus of the subordinate staff for the year 1949. My freedom of decision in this respect is accordingly unfettered. I only find that the subordinate staff was rather unfortunate in not having the bonus for 1949 though the two successive Tribunals wanted to award it. The company does not plead before me in its written statement that its financial position has since deteriorated. There is no evidence before me in this respect. So if the bonus was paid in past years, viz., 1947 and 1948, there can be no reason why the bonus would be refused in respect of 1949 to the subordinate staff. This is one aspect of the matter.

I come next to the other aspect of the matter, viz., that the Company has raised the wages and the dearness allowance since the award of the Engineering Tribunal and as such the claim for bonus for 1949 in respect of the subordinate staff must fail. I do not find any force in this contention sufficient to defeat the claim. The present minimum basic rates for peons, urwans and bearers is Rs. 30 per month in place of Rs. 25 per month in the Engineering Tribunal's award. The Company grants dearness allowance of Rs. 42 per month at a flat rate in place of dearness allowance of Rs. 25 per month and Rs. 35 per month respectively in respect of wages below and above Rs. 50 per month. This is what I get in the written statement of the Company. There is nothing to show that the subordinate staff did waive their claim for bonus in respect of this slight rise in wages and dearness allowance. This also is not equivalent to the amount the subordinate staff would otherwise get as bonus. Coming to the merits of the matter I find no reason why the Company should make this discrimination between the clerical staff and the subordinate staff. Each in its own way contributes its humble mite to the general production. The subordinate staff may not have contributed in the matter of production as much as the clerks. But there can be no point in totally refusing the claim of bonus to the subordinate staff on the merits while the clerks receive it. The subordinate staff comprise generally the lowest paid workers. As such, their claim for bonus is certainly stronger than in the case of their more fortunate brethren who get higher wages.

So, considering the matter from all its aspects I award the claim of bonus for the year 1949 to the subordinate staff both at the head office and the factory under this Company equivalent to one month's wages during a bonus year. This must be paid within one month of the award coming into operation.

ORDER.

No. 7375Lab.—23rd December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 3359Lab., dated the 21st June 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Chittagong Engineering and Electric Supply Co., Ltd., 1, Gangaram Palit Lane, post office Dharamtolla, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly, 28/11B, Library Road, Calcutta-26, was referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an Industrial Dispute between Messrs. Chittagong Engineering and Electric Supply Co., Ltd., 1, Gangaram Palit Lane, post office Dharamtolla, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly, 28/11B, Library Road, Calcutta-26.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the employees: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate.

Present for the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, assisted by Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader.

1. By order No. 3359Lab., dated the 21st June 1950, the Government of West Bengal constituted a Tribunal of one Judge under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act (Act XIV of 1947) and referred the said dispute to me for adjudication. The reference was received on the 22nd June 1950. The employee files written statement on the 10th July 1950. The Company files written objection on the 24th July 1950. Issues were framed on the 3rd August 1950. There was a preliminary hearing on the 17th August 1950 in respect of issues 1 and 2. The case was adjourned for final hearing on evidence. The case was taken up for trial on the 13th November 1950. It was concluded on the 16th November 1950.

2. The following issues were framed:—

1. Is the dispute in question an industrial dispute?
2. Is Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly a "workman" under Industrial Disputes Act, 1947?
3. Is the order of suspension and dismissal of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly justified, or was it passed mala fide? Is he entitled to reinstatement and/or to compensation?

AWARD.

3. The employee's case is that he joined the firm of Chittagong Engineering and Electric Supply Co., Ltd., as far back as 24th July 1932 as an Accountant on a monthly salary of Rs. 50. On the 17th April 194

as promoted to the post of the Chief Accountant on a salary of Rs. 965 per month. He drew dearness allowance of Rs. 50 per month and rent allowance of Rs. 60 per month. Besides, he was granted Rs. 12 grant allowance. On the 18th of February 1949 a Committee of Enquiry was set up for enquiring into the affairs of the Company including the accounts matters. On demand by the said Committee the Chief Accountant, Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly, submitted a written statement on the 26th March 1949. On the 9th May 1949, he was suddenly placed under suspension by order of the Managing Director immediately after the latter's return from Chittagong. Sri Satish Ganguly had left in his drawer Rs. 185 and was locked up. He moved the Enquiry Committee about the matter of suspension and also prayed that the drawer might be kept under lock and key. On the 25th May 1949, the Managing Director got the suspension rescinded. He was deputed to Rangpore for the closing of the accounts there. On the 9th June 1949 he returned from Rangpore after completion. On the 12th June 1949 he received orders of the Managing Director to go to Rajshahi and Sirajganj for the closing of accounts there. He was not able to go there for ill health and stayed away under the permission of Mr. Das, the member of the Enquiry Committee. In the presence of Mr. Das, the Managing Director was about to assault him. Then on the 31st of July the Managing Director was persuaded to call him back to office on the intervention of the Auditor of the Company. Sri Satish Ganguly resumed his duties. He continued till he fell ill on the 7th September 1949. On the 9th of September 1949 he applied to the Managing Director for leave on the ground of eye troubles. He got his eye troubles attended by Dr. N. K. Munshi. He forwarded the medical certificate in support of his ill health from Dr. Munshi on the 24th September 1949. The certificate was countersigned by the office doctor. He, however, got no sanction about his leave being sanctioned, though he had to his credit 75 days' leave account more than 75 days' leave. On the 1st October 1949 he went out to Jamshedpur for a change under medical advice. He got his eye troubles treated by Dr. S. Banerjee there. On the 12th November 1949 he sent a letter to the Company enclosing a medical certificate. On the 14th November 1949 he received a letter from the Managing Director, Sri K. K. Sen, asking him to explain why his service should not be discontinued. He sent an explanation. On the 29th November 1949, he received a letter from the Company to the effect that his service has been terminated on the 16th October 1949. On the 24th November 1949 he sent a letter to the Labour Commissioner claiming wages and allowances, etc. On the 11th September 1949, he received an order of transfer to Chittagong from the Managing Director. It was, of course, not possible for him to go there because of his eye troubles. Thus there is no wilful violation of service. So he claims reinstatement in service with compensation.

The Company has taken two legal objections, viz., (1) that Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly was not a "workman" as defined in the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947, and (2) that the dispute in question is not an industrial dispute. Besides the above, the Company contends that the order of suspension and ultimate dismissal of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly was perfectly justified in the circumstances. Sri Ganguly is said to have sided with Rai Bahadur U. L. Roy who was the Superintending Director and tried to oust the Managing Director Sri K. K. Sen from his post. He was suspended because he started spreading false allegations against the Managing Director also regarding the financial position of the Company. Sri K. K. Sen had gone to Chittagong and on his return on the 7th May 1949, he dismissed Sri Ganguly with effect from the 10th May 1949. As Sri Ganguly had apologised, Sri K. K. Sen was persuaded to rescind the said order. On the 6th June 1947 the Board of Directors decided to shift the Head Office from Calcutta to Chittagong, and an order was passed on the 14th September 1949 transferring the staff in the Accounts Department including Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly from Calcutta to Chittagong. Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly avoided compliance with this direction on various pretexts. The Company issued a charge sheet on the 24th November 1949 against Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly. He showed cause which was found to be unsatisfactory. So his service was terminated. Accordingly, the Company resists the claim of reinstatement and compensation by Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly.

Issue No. 3.

4. This issue is taken up first for the sake of convenience. Regarding the order of suspension of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly it was the contention of the Company that he was spreading false allegations against the Managing Director, Sri K. K. Sen and in respect of the financial position of the Company. Sri K. K. Sen came back from Chittagong on the 7th of May 1949, and he suspended Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly by a letter, dated the 9th May 1949, with effect from the 10th of May 1949. The Secretary of the Company, Sri Khitish Chandra Das (Imp. O. P. W. No. 5, deposed in the present case. He does not have any personal knowledge as to what allegations Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly had been making against Sri K. K. Sen falsely, or in respect of the financial position of the Company. So practically we are left guessing about the point. He further says that Sri K. K. Sen suspected that Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly was siding with Rai Bahadur U. L. Roy to oust him from office. That is also given by the Secretary as a reason for this order of suspension. Thus it is clear that Sri K. K. Sen had also a motive in the matter. We have got in evidence that Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly deposed before the Enquiry Committee in which he exposed certain matters concerning Sri K. K. Sen. I find that the original order of suspension is not traceable in the Company. Thus it appears to be absolutely hasty order from Sri K. K. Sen directly on his return from Chittagong. So I have no hesitation in finding that this order of suspension is absolutely unwarranted. Besides, Sri K. K. Sen had ultimately to rescind it when Sri N. N. Das, one of the Directors, and Sri U. C. Majumdar, Auditor of the Company, had intervened. The Secretary does not say that the order of suspension was rescinded because Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly had apologised to Sri K. K. Sen as stated in the written statement of the Company. This only indicates that the order was wrong and passed out of personal grudge, otherwise these two responsible persons would never have intervened on behalf of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly. It was rescinded only when pressure was brought to bear on Sri K. K. Sen.

Regarding the order of dismissal I must say that it is more unjust and perhaps more unwarranted than the above. The grounds urged in the written statement of the Company underlying this dismissal are that Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly tried to avoid his transfer to Chittagong on various pretexts. He was given charge sheet on the 23rd November 1949 as annexure "C". As his explanation was unsatisfactory, the Company, by its letter, dated the 29th November 1949, terminated his service. I get evidence that on the 9th September 1949 Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly made an application for short leave because of his eye troubles. This is in exhibit 4. He had to work strenuously at this time and neglected his eye troubles which, however, became very serious. His face got swollen and his eyes practically closed down. On the 19th of September 1949 he did not attend to his office and made his formal leave application in exhibit 4A. Then he got his eye troubles examined by Dr. N. K. Mukherjee.

eminent eye specialist of R. G. Kar Medical College. This medical certificate was forwarded to the Managing Director on the 24th September (exhibit 5). It shows that the office doctor also countersigned the certificate. But it appears that no order sanctioning the leave was issued to Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly. Not that no leave was due to Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly contends that more than 75 days' leave was to his credit in his leave account. The Secretary of the Company, Satish Chandra Das Gupta, O.P.W. No. 5, could not contradict this. When he went to Jamshedpur under medical advice for a change, he sent a certificate from Dr. S. Banerjee who treated his eye troubles there. On the 1st November 1949 he addressed the letter to the Company enclosing a medical certificate from the attending Doctor S. Banerjee, marked exhibit 6. Dr. Nihar Kumar Munshi has also countersigned it. Thus it is clear that Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly did not rest content with mere making an application but took care to back it up by medical certificates from several doctors during his illness. Now, what does the Company do? The Company by its order (exhibit 7) says that the medical certificate submitted by him did not appear to be helpful in the matter. He had been exempting himself from duties indefinitely without sanction of any leave and he had failed to report to the head office at Chittagong on transfer. He was asked to explain within three days why his service should not be terminated immediately. This dated the 23rd November 1949. Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly explained the circumstances by his letter (exhibit 8). Then the Company by its letter (exhibit 9), dated the 29th November 1949, ordered that as he failed to carry out the office orders, dated the 14th November 1949, regarding his transfer to Chittagong and as he had no leave to his credit, his service is terminated with effect from the 16th November 1949. He was allowed leave from the 1st October to the 15th November for sickness reported by him. I do not know how to characterise this order. Not only is it most arbitrary and whimsical than what one usually comes across, but in the circumstances of the case it appears absolutely vindictive, to say the least. Satish Babu was the Chief Assistant of the concern. He had put in more than two decades of service in the Company. He must have had a brilliant record of service, as he rose to this exalted position from the rank of a petty clerk on a monthly salary of Rs. 50. He is submitting certificates after certificates in support of his illness from very eminent doctors. I do not see what was the reason for the Company to discredit either the genuineness of the illness or the bona fides of these certificates. Dr. Munshi has deposed before me. He is an eminent ophthalmic surgeon of R. G. Kar Medical College, Calcutta, holding both local and foreign degrees. I do not see why the Company after the Managing Director could not find these certificates to have been helpful in the matter as stated in exhibit 7. If medical certificates were not helpful in support of illness, I do not see what else could be. In the circumstances I find that it was not possible for Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly to have joined at Chittagong. From what I have stated previously I find that there is a lot of force in Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly's contention that Sri K. Sen was trying his best to get him away from Calcutta lest he expose him more before the Enquiry Committee. He might have done an eye sore to Sri K. K. Sen. He was sent to Rangpore on 26th May 1949 (vide exhibit 3). He was sent to Sirajganj branch under an order, dated 12th June 1949 and next he was transferred to Chittagong. Of course, his transfer to Chittagong might be accounted for by the exigencies of the Company's affairs as there is a previous resolution in record on this point. But to insist on Sri Ganguly's joining there in the face of his acute eye troubles can never be justified. In the background set forth, Sri K. Sen wanted to turn this inability of Ganguly to join at Chittagong to his own personal ends. He utilised this as an opportunity to sack Srijut Ganguly, a faithful servant of the Company. So in the circumstances, I find that the order of dismissal, as well as the order of suspension are absolutely unwarranted and uncalled for and as such unjustified.

Coming to the latter part of the issue, I have to find that under I I am not in a position to grant any of the reliefs claimed, either reinstatement or compensation. Why I cannot do it will be clear from my finding on the other two issues. I make no secret of the fact that I would have granted both these reliefs but for my hands having been fettered by law. This issue is thus disposed of.

Issue No. 2.

5. Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly is said to be not a "workman" defined in section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes, Act, 1947, because (1) he does not do clerical work, (2) he is not a workman discharged during the dispute in question. From the evidence that I have got, I am inclined to hold that Satish Babu's work was substantially of a supervisory character. He might have made entries here and there in some journals but for the greater part, what he did was not the function of a clerk. He admits that he is entitled to first class travelling allowance during his inspection. I was given first class travelling allowance for his Rangpore inspection. When he visited the branch offices, he did so just to close the accounts in much what an officer does. He drew a salary of Rs. 265 per month, besides dearness allowance of Rs. 50 and house rent allowance of Rs. 60 and further Rs. 12 as servant allowance per month. This indicates that he ranked more as an officer than a clerk of the Company. He was in charge of all correspondences in the Accounts Department. He prepared statements for submission to the Income-tax Department. Three assistants used to work under him. He used to operate on the Bank on behalf of the Company on various occasions. He signed for the Managing Director in orders (vide exhibit B and B1). He refrained from putting his signature in the Attendance Register of clerks for over a year (vide exhibit D). He used to sign the pay-order of the employees along with the Managing Director and the Secretary and the Superintending Director. He gave payment orders also. He operated on the Comilla Bank (vide exhibit E). So I am of opinion that he does not answer the requirements stated in the first part of the definition of "workman".

I also find that he does not answer the second ingredient of the definition. He was discharged and subsequent to that, this dispute has been brought over his discharge. So it can never be said that he was discharged during the dispute in question. The second part of the definition evidently stands for being a saving clause to the employees who are discharged during the dispute just to enable them to bring up the same as an industrial dispute. At least the employers may not steal a march over the employees by discharging them in course of the dispute, this saving clause might have been used in the definition. So the issue is thus answered.

6. Industrial dispute has been defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. I had occasion to bring out the implication and scope of industrial dispute in my award between Messrs. East India Produce Co. Ltd., and Sitala Prasanna Roy. The definition resolves itself under three distinct heads. These are, viz., (1) parties to the dispute, (2) subject-matter of the dispute, and (3) the origin of the dispute.

Regarding parties to the dispute, it is clear that the dispute must be between employers on the one hand and workmen on the other besides other matters. These employees must be men in service. They may include also workmen who have been discharged during the pendency of the dispute. In Arthur Trevor Harries, the Hon'ble Chief Justice of Calcutta, in Indian Paper Pulp Co., Ltd., held "A dispute must be between employers and workmen and not between employers and dismissed workmen though an explanation is made in the definition of workmen in the case of workmen discharged during a dispute. If a dispute has commenced and during such dispute, workmen are discharged, a dispute between such workmen and their employers will be an industrial dispute.....; If the discharge causes a dispute, then obviously, a dispute has not arisen until the moment or after the discharge". So if the present dispute is between the Company on the one hand and Sri Satish Ganguly on the other, then it cannot be said to be a dispute as defined above. There is another difficulty also involved. An industrial dispute must necessarily be a collective dispute. The use of the word 'dispute' in the definition is not without its significance. In this connection I must say that I differ from the observation in this respect by my esteemed colleague Sri M. C. Banerjee in his award in Hukumchand Jute Mill and its employees reported in the Industrial Law Journal in July 1950. I am, however, supported by the award of Sri P. R. Mukherjee in the case of Atlas (India), Limited, reported in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 14th April 1949, at pages 623-24. He has also remarked that a dispute starting after the discharge is not an industrial dispute and as such, it cannot be converted into an industrial dispute unless certain special circumstances intervene into existence in connection with such discharge. What are those special circumstances we get from other awards? Lord Shaw in Conway v. Wade (1909) A.C. 506 observes "An individual dispute originally may come to be a subject in which sides are taken and may develop into a question of general aspect containing the characteristics of a trade dispute until it reaches that stage, I cannot hold that a trade dispute necessarily becomes an industrial dispute. I am only to say that a trade dispute is not much different from an industrial dispute. The concept of the latter is much wider in scope. The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Mack observes "Industrial Disputes Act was never intended to provide a machinery for redress of dismissed workman or even a group of workmen who may be simultaneously punished or dismissed. They cannot by joining in a demand for reinstatement create an industrial dispute or their dismissal. If such dismissal, however, of an individual workman is taken up by a workers' union or a substantial body of workmen who continue in employment and espouse his cause, an industrial dispute may arise". This gives a clear picture about the whole scope of industrial dispute, so far as the parties to it are concerned. There may be an individual dispute. That is not an industrial dispute by itself. If a Union or substantial body of men take up this case of an individual, then it may be converted into an industrial dispute. The reason is also not far to seek. A dispute of an individual does not threaten the peace of the industries, but to itself. But it threatens the peace if it assumes proportion and other people in employment in the industry concerned take up this issue. The peace of the industry as a whole is then in jeopardy. It is then that the industrial dispute is contemplated to have arisen. Sri A. Das Gupta has said further in his award in the Joint Steamer Co. and its workmen reported in the Calcutta Gazette of 22nd September 1949 at pages 1733-34. The named adjudicator observes that the industrial dispute does not arise even when the workmen take up the cause of an officer unless it is a dispute of their own and for good reasons. Otherwise the workmen will dominate the supervisory staff. This, also, refers to the tail-end of the definition, I mean, the origin of the dispute. I shall refer to it presently more in detail. So far as the parties to the industrial disputes are concerned in the above view, I must find on the evidence that this element is wanting in the present case.

Regarding the second element in the definition, I must say that the subject-matter here does answer the requirement. The dispute certainly relates to the non-employment of the employee in question.

Regarding the third element of the definition, I must say that it has been ignored in some awards with the result that a confusion has been created. What is meant by the tail-end of the definition is that the industrial dispute may have its origin in the dispute of an individual. He may or may not be a workman. The individual may be a clerk or he may be an officer. So the dispute of an officer can also be an industrial dispute provided it becomes a collective dispute by being espoused by any Union or a body of men in employment in the industry concerned. So in the present case it does not very much matter whether Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly is an officer or whether he was discharged during the dispute. It is not required that the original dispute must be of a "workman". Had it been so, the definition would have been in place of "of any person" or "of any of them". That being not there, it is free to construe and I am disposed to think that it admits of such construction, that the original dispute may be of any person irrespective of whether he is a workman or not. So this element is answered in the present case.

In conclusion, therefore, I find that the present case is not an industrial dispute, because the first element of the definition is found wanting though the other two elements are there. All the three elements of the definition must co-exist. I only refer to the remark of the Conciliation Officer and the Labour Commissioner in this respect. The Conciliation Officer remarks "This is an individual's dispute and the dispute is not supported by a Union. Sri Ganguly who used to be the Chief Accountant was not a member of any Union". The Labour Commissioner observed "The application has not come through any Union and strictly speaking he is not a workman. . . . Although he is not a workman, this is a dispute within the meaning of the Act". The Company has led evidence that other employees of the concern have not espoused the cause of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly (vide exhibit J). They have also deposed to this effect. The learned Advocate of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguly does not say that his case has been taken up by any Union or by any number of persons in employ of the Company. So it is a pure individual dispute and as such not an industrial dispute.

Before I leave this matter I may meet the objection whether this Tribunal is competent to question the existence of the industrial dispute when the same is contained in the order of reference. There may be a presumption attaching to such an order as held under the award of the Barak Tribunal. But that is a rebuttable presumption. That has been amply rebutted here as discussed by me with reference to evidence. The observation in the award of the Kandan Textiles also is on the same line. So this issue is answered in the negative. In the result, the claim of the employee fails.

AWARD.

In pursuance of the orders of reference Nos. 2931Lab., dated the 2nd June 1950, and 3668Lab., dated the 6th July 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, adjudication proceedings were started immediately on receipt of the references for settlement of the disputes under section 33A. There was a joint award and the award was submitted to the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, on 24th November 1950. It was published under Government of West Bengal order No. 7205Lab., dated the 13th December 1950. The disputes which were the subject-matters of the aforesaid references were over the dismissal of six workmen. The present petition of complaint was filed on 27th October 1950, whereas obviously the adjudication proceedings started under the aforesaid references were pending, inasmuch as the award had not then been published.

The Union alleges that during pendency of the adjudication proceedings as aforesaid, the management retrenched 71 workmen illegally and without any justification in contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950. It has been further alleged that in retrenching workmen, senior men were discharged in preference to junior men presumably for the reason that these junior men were not either members of the Union or had dissociated with the Union; and that with the exception of the members of the Union, all other members of the Union have been discharged in preference to all non-Union members of the staff. The Union contends that the retrenchment of 71 workmen was an instance of victimisation and unfair labour practice and prays that they may be reinstated with wages for the period of forced unemployment.

A preliminary objection has been taken by the management. The management pleads that the retrenchment was effected in pursuance of the direction given in the award published in the Calcutta Gazette on 25th August 1950 under Government of West Bengal order No. 4633Lab., dated the 25th August 1950; that in effecting this retrenchment, the Company only implemented the said award and that as such the retrenchment was not hit by section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, on account of the pendency of the adjudication proceedings under reference Nos. 2931Lab. dated the 2nd June 1950, and 3668Lab., dated the 6th July 1950, which concerned only six workmen other than those retrenched. The management also pleads that retrenchment was effected strictly according to the directions of the Tribunal in the award published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 31st August 1950, under the Government of West Bengal order No. 4733Lab., dated the 25th August 1950, and was not vitiated by any spirit of victimization or unfair labour practice.

The amended section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act runs as follows.

"During the pendency of any conciliation proceedings or proceedings before a Tribunal in respect of any industrial dispute, no employer shall—

- (a) alter, to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in such dispute, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the commencement of such proceedings; or
- (b) discharge or punish, whether by dismissal or otherwise, any workman concerned in such dispute, save with the express permission in writing of the Conciliation Officer, Board or Tribunal, as the case may be."

Much stress was placed by the learned Advocate for the Opposite Party on the phrases "the workmen concerned in such dispute" appearing in clause (a) and "any workman concerned in such dispute" appearing in clause (b). It has been urged by the learned Advocate that the disputes covered by the orders of reference Nos. 2931Lab., dated the 2nd June 1950, and 3668Lab. dated the 6th July 1950, concerned only six workmen who had been discharged on different dates; and that these two references concerned only those workmen and did not concern any of the 71 workmen who were retrenched during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings started under the aforesaid two orders of reference. In reply the learned Advocate for plainant argued that the aforesaid two references concerned the Union which was composed of its members including the 71 workmen who have been recently retrenched. It has been argued that all the workmen who are members of the Union were interested in the adjudication of the disputes, the discharge of the six workmen, and that all workmen strained themselves for proper conduct of the adjudication proceedings and contributed to the funds of the Union, out of which the cost of the adjudication proceedings were borne. The Union comes into the picture only in its representative capacity. The Union has not been given the right to represent any workman but the workman has been given the right to be represented by a Union. The way in which the Union or all its members said to be interested in the adjudication proceedings directly affecting a particular workman is not, in my opinion, contemplated by the section. The legislature had really intended to give such a wide meaning to the word, the phrase "concerned in such dispute" would have been omitted rather. In this view of the case this phrase is redundant. But the mode of interpretation of a Statute requires that no word used in a section should generally be rejected as redundant. The legislature appears to have intended to limit the scope of section 33 by insertion of this phrase. The word must accordingly be interpreted after weighing properly the significance of each and every word used in it. The word "concerned" generally carries the significance of being directly affected, whereas the word "interested" carries the idea of remoteness. A workman is directly or personally affected by an order concerning him. But his brother workman is only indirectly interested in the order in the same way as he is interested in the workman affected by the order, but by no stretch of imagination a workman can be said to have been affected by an order in respect of his brother workman. I cannot accordingly persuade myself to accept the interpretation given by the learned Advocate for the complainant on the amended section 33. The aforesaid two references Nos. 2931Lab. and 3668Lab. concerned only particular workmen none of whom is included in the list of 71 workmen who have been recently retrenched. These 71 workmen were not thus concerned in the disputes which were pending for adjudication before this Tribunal on the date or dates of their retrenchment. In this view of the case the retrenchment of these 71 workmen is not hit by section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950.

The management pleads to have effected the retrenchment in pursuance of the direction given in the award published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 31st August 1950, under Government of West Bengal order No. 4733Lab., dated the 25th August 1950. This award was given in pursuance of the order of reference No. 170Lab., dated the 11th January 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department. One of the points referred for adjudication was: "If retrenchment of workers is to be effected, and, if so, to what extent?" The award was given by me. I was definitely of opinion that retrenchment was necessary, but I considered myself quite incompetent to find out the extent or personnel of such retrenchment. I did not accordingly find out the extent or personnel of such retrenchment. I do not propose to repeat at length the reasons as to why I refrained from attempting to find out the extent or personnel of retrenchment. It is the exclusive prerogative of the management to determine the size of the working force. It is the recognised principle obtaining in industrially advanced countries that trade unions have also much advanced. It is for the management to determine the magnitude of its business and production, the scheme of the business and the size of the working force having regard to its resources. If the management works with more men than necessary, it will entail a heavy loss. If it works, on the other hand, with less men than necessary, the workmen may be overworked and may be denied daily recess, weekly and annual holidays and the result would be to decrease the efficiency of the workmen and to create unrest to the prejudice of the industry itself. To ensure daily recess, weekly rest and annual holidays to the workmen there have been considerable legislations laying down the maximum working hours and minimum rest and holidays and restricting the shift works. If any one is denied these statutory privileges, his relief lies in moving to proper authorities appointed by the State and the matter may be settled by negotiations and if negotiations fail, arbitrators may intervene. But, as long as the statutory privileges are not denied or curtailed, the management has exclusive jurisdiction to determine the size of the working force. It was in short why I did not propose to encroach upon the exclusive functions of the management. However, with a view to minimise the possibility of victimization and unfair labour practice, I laid down some principles regarding retrenchment. The retrenchment is said to have been effected according to the directions given in this award. If, however, any of the principles laid down in the award were violated, the workers affected by such violation, the Union on their behalf may move the Government for proper action against the management. If there has been any victimization or unfair labour practice or intensification of work of the existing staff, the remedy lies in moving the Government for appointment of a fresh Tribunal. In the award the management was expressly given the right to effect retrenchment according to necessity according to the principles laid down. The management in retrenching the workmen purported to act on the strength of this award. The action is not therefore hit by the amended section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. If really these retrenched workmen or any of them has any ground of grievance as indicated above, the Government may be moved in the matter.

Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, permits a Tribunal to make an inquiry independently of any reference by the proper Government only in cases where section 33 of the Act has been contravened. Where no such contravention has taken place, a Tribunal cannot assume jurisdiction without a formal order of reference from the proper Government to enquire into the grievances of the workmen. The retrenchment of 71 workmen complained of is not, in any view of the case, hit by section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950.

In view of what I have said above, I am definitely of opinion that an application was necessary for permission to retrench 71 workers during pendency of the adjudication proceedings started under orders of reference Nos. 2931Lab. and 3668Lab. Even if such an application were necessary and was filed before me it was not possible for me to give any direction beyond what I had given in the award given in pursuance of the order of reference No. 170Lab., dated the 11th January 1950. Thus no such purpose would have been served by such an application. In the result the complainant under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act of 1950, is rejected as not maintainable.

A. DAS GUPTA,

District Judge

The 20th December 1950.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy

ORDER.

No. 7512Lab.—29th December 1950.—Whereas under the Government West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4729Lab., dated the 25th August 1950, the industrial dispute between Mahabir Hosiery Mills, Ltd., Kali Mazumdar Road, Salkia, Howrah, and their workmen represented the Bengal Hosiery Workers' Union, 18/3, Kamini School Lane, Salkia, Howrah, regarding the matter specified in the schedule thereto was referred adjudication to Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute; the matter of reference No. 4729Lab., dated the 25th August 1950, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Mahabir Hosiery Mills, Limited, 8, Kali Mazumdar Road, Salkia, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Bengal Hosiery Workers' Union, 18/3, Kamini School Lane, Salkia, Howrah.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

the Employers: Sri S. Sen, Advocate, assisted by Sri N. Das Gupta, Pleader.

the Employees: Sri Gopal Chandra Dutta, instructed by the discharged workers of the Mills.

AWARD.

The following points were referred to me for adjudication:—

1) If the discharge of workers mentioned in the enclosed list was justified and if they are entitled to any relief?

2) If they are to be taken in case of future reopening of the Mills?

3) If the recruitment of new hands by the management after discharge of workers was justified and if they are to be substituted by the old workers?

The dispute was over discharge of 79 workers mentioned in the list annexed to the order of reference. The 23rd November 1950 was fixed for the hearing of the case at 11 a.m. The Secretary of the Union who had been representing the discharged workers did not turn up till about 1 p.m. I waited for him till 12-30 noon when I was told by the workers present that the Secretary was ill and that Sri Gopal Dutta was the Assistant Secretary of the Union, and would represent the workers before this Tribunal. The hearing of the case was then commenced. It was agreed that on account of the trade reasons, the management had to close down some of the departments. This led to retrenchment of as many as 79 workers. The management contemplates to reopen the departments gradually and to re-employ the discharged workers according to necessity. Fifteen of these workers have since been reappointed. Out of the remaining 64 workers, 23 were present on 23rd November 1950. Sri Gopal Dutta on behalf of the workers said that the Union would not proceed with the case if the Company refused to take all the discharged workers according to necessity. The Company agreed to this proposal. At about 1 p.m. Sri Sannyashi Panayak, Secretary of the Union, turned up and verbally prayed for adjournment. He disputed the authority of Sri Gopal Dutta. On 13 December 1950 an application was filed on behalf of the workers praying that the case might be withdrawn. On 16th December 1950 the workers came again and informed me that they would not proceed with the case. They prayed that the award might be given in terms of the agreement arrived on 23rd November 1950.

It may be noted that on an intermediate date, the Secretary of the Union came to me and represented that the workers would not proceed with the case. He was asked to put his statement in writing but he went away and did not turn up. On 16th December 1950 he came at about 12-15 p.m. and informed this Tribunal in writing that he would not proceed with this case. In the result my award is that the different departments of the Mills were closed on bona fide trading grounds resulting in retrenchment of the workers mentioned in the list annexed to the order of reference. Fifteen of them have since been reappointed. The remaining 64 workers shall be reappointed according to necessity of the Mills when the different departments are reopened. The Mills shall not appoint any new worker until the management finds that the retrenched workers who are willing to be reappointed have all been reappointed. All workers who are willing to be reappointed shall leave with the management their addresses and any change of address shall be duly communicated to the management. Whenever there is an occasion to reappoint any of the retrenched workers, the works shall be given a notice by post with a certificate of posting requiring him to join his appointment within 10 days from the date of posting of the notice. Failure of the workers to turn up as directed in the notice shall be construed as his refusal to accept the appointment.

ORDER.

No. 7535Lab.—29th December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5333Lab., dated the 11 September 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Williamson Magor & Co., 4, Mangoe Lane, Calcutta, and their employees represented by Williamson Magor & Co. Employees' Union, 118A, Ashutosh Mukherjee Road, Calcutta, in connection with the dismissal of Sri Monoranjan Ghose, one of their employees, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Williamson Magor & Co., 4, Mangoe Lane, Calcutta, and their employees as represented by Williamson Magor & Co. Employees' Union, 118A, Ashutosh Mukherjee Road, Calcutta, in connection with dismissal of Sri Monoranjan Ghosh, one of their employees, of 7, Gora Chand Roy Lane, P. O. Shibpur.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Mr. F. Carman, Assistant Manager of the Company.

the Union: Sri P. K. Bose, Advocate, assisted by Dr. C. C. Banerjee, President of the Union, Sri S. K. Ghosh, Vice-President of the Union, and Sri A. Banerjee, General Secretary of the Union.

AWARD.

The case of the Union is that the Company have detected one Monoranjan Ghosh, a clerk employed in the Accounts Department of Williamson Magor & Co., smoking "biri" once inside the office compound at about 9-40 a.m. 8th October 1949 and again at 11-20 a.m. on the same day inside the room and orders were passed on 8th November 1949, terminating his employment as from that date and offering him one month's salary in lieu of notice.

It is alleged that this dismissal was unjustified and illegal and based on no ground; and that the proceedings at the enquiry were not carried out in a fair, legal and appropriate manner.

The employees want reinstatement.

The Company alleges that they took disciplinary action against Sri Monoranjan Ghosh, as he was found guilty of misconduct and that he was also guilty of neglect of duty, indiscipline and disrespectful conduct.

ISSUES.

- (1) Was the dismissal of Sri Monoranjan Ghosh from the Company's service from the 8th November 1949 justified? If not, would he be entitled to reinstatement?
- (2) What compensation, if any, should he be entitled to?

Issue No. 1.

The charges brought against the employee are that on 13th October 1949, about 9-40 a.m., he had been found smoking in the office compound by Mr. Williamson, a partner of the Company, and that although he was ordered to the desk when directed to do so by the said Mr. Williamson, his attitude was one of unconcern and indifference. On the same day, 13th October 1949, he was again found smoking in the tiffin room by Mr. Carman, the Staff Officer of the said Company and that when Mr. Carman asked him to explain why he was not working, he showed unconcern and merely pointed out that he was in the habit of leaving his work for a day and on at least two occasions a day.

A third charge had been framed against the employee, by the Management, but that had not been pressed or proved before this Tribunal.

On behalf of the Company, Mr. Carman corroborated the report he submitted against the employee. Mr. Carman did not, in his examination, chief, say that the attitude of the clerk was of unconcern or annoyance. Rather he says that the clerk on being detected, went to his seat. This is another report of Mr. Williamson against the clerk, but he has not been examined. The report of Mr. Williamson runs "that after glancing at him he showed no signs of moving but continued with his cigarette. I remark that it was 9-40 a.m. and that it would appear that he had no work to do a remark which appeared to cause him some amusement for his own reaction was to laugh. Thereafter he proceeded leisurely to his desk. He also adds that he had repeatedly noticed this employee's absence from his desk during working hours.

The employee himself pleads guilty to the charge so far as smoking concerned. But he says that he was not disrespectful or unconcerned to his superiors. Mr. Williamson has not been examined. So, I am not in position to say whether the complaint that he was laughing at his remarks is true. Even taking the worst view of the report of Mr. Williamson, it appears that the clerk laughed at having been detected by his superior officer. It may not be an ironical smile, for it appears that he immediately proceeded to his desk. It may be the disappointed smile of a clerk detected by his superior in the act of smoking. The clerk gives a stern denial of an unconcerned attitude to his superior. Mr. Williamson took his laugh as an attitude as one of insult and indifference. It is wholly a matter of psychology and nobody knows what passed in the mind of Mr. Williamson. It is quite likely that he misunderstood Ghosh. One who has experience of the miserable lot and life of middle-class clerks of our race, knows fully well that they can hardly be insulting or disrespectful to their superiors, who may cost them their service. On reading the report of Mr. Carman and his deposition, I am of opinion that there had been a veritable storm raised in a tea pot. The matter was simple. This clerk is in the bad habit of smoking and steals away one or two minutes to smoke outside, as it is a customary for clerks of our society to smoke before their superior officer. Smoking itself outside office for a few minutes is not a grave offence; it is a major misdemeanour. But if the attitude of the clerk be one of insubordination and insulting, then certainly the matter looks graver. It is significant that there was no charge brought against the clerk for his neglect of duty, and apparently he stole a few minutes from his working hours to smoke outside. Unfortunately for the clerk, his superiors misconceived his attitude. It may be that out of shame he gave a smile, which was interpreted by his superiors as an ironical smile. On reading the evidence of the clerk as also that of Mr. Carman, I am of opinion that too drastic a punishment had been meted out for such a small offence and the service of this clerk has been dispensed with for such an insignificant and trifling incident.

Regarding procedure followed before dismissal, the complaint is that the final orders have been passed by Mr. Whyte, who is the head of the office in Calcutta. But it appears that no opportunity was given to the employee to explain his conduct. Sri Ghosh was simply asked to appear before Mr. Whyte and there admitted his guilt and pleaded for clemency. It is clear whether he admitted that he was insulting and disrespectful to his superior. But Mr. Whyte has not been examined, and it is not proved that the clerk admitted having insulted his superior.

The Management had also produced the Service Book of this clerk which showed several entries in which it is reported that his work is bad and that he had been warned by a letter for absence without leave. Sri Ghosh has not been given any opportunity to explain his conduct when these remarks were red. Whatever that may be, these remarks were written in different and not signed by any of the superior officers. Even assuming that he once warned and that his work in the Accounts Department was reported as bad, the fact remains that this clerk drew increments all along in spite of these adverse remarks and was given increments (deposition of Mr. man). From the deposition of Mr. Carman, it also appears that these increments were not given to all but to selected clerks at varying rates. I, before, refuse to believe that Sri Ghosh was negligent in his work, or habitually indulging in taking undue advantage of the working hours leisurely smoking away the time. On considering all the circumstances and the evidence, it appears that both Mr. Williamson and Mr. Carman were greatly annoyed with this clerk for having been found smoking twice the punishment awarded was certainly quite disproportionate to the offence. I made a suggestion to get the clerk reinstated, but the Management could not see its way to take back this clerk. In my opinion, gross injustice has been meted out to this clerk for such a trifling offence. The Management would have done well and it would have added greatly to their list, had they seen their way to condone the shortcoming on the part of the clerk, who had put in long period of service in this Company.

In this case, the learned Advocate for the Company argued that in case of reinstatement, the Tribunal should interfere with employer's decision when an employee is wrongfully discharged by way of victimization, as an unfair labour practice, and some decisions of the Calcutta Tribunal in Berry & Co.—Calcutta Gazette (Extraordinary), dated 28th February 1950, and Rampur Cotton Mills—Calcutta Gazette (Extraordinary), dated 1st June 1950] were cited before me.

On reviewing the several awards of this province and other provinces, I, however, not inclined to put a narrow interpretation of the terms "victimization" or "unfair labour practice". In the All-India Industrial Tribunal (Bank Disputes), the three eminent Judges observed as follows:—

"There is, however, no reason, in our opinion, why victimization should be specially connected with trade union activities, though as a matter of fact, probably the largest number of cases of dismissals, etc., with which Industrial Courts and Tribunals are concerned are so connected. It is also undoubtedly true that in the majority of such cases the employer gives a reason for discharge or dismissal, etc., which is not the true reason. In our opinion, the expression victimization should embrace all cases of discharge, dismissal, punishment inflicted on or suffering caused to an employee where a discharge, dismissal or infliction of such punishment or suffering is unjust and that a remedy is called for in the interests of justice between the parties. This is no doubt a wide definition, but it appears to be consistent with the basic meaning of victimization; we are not satisfied that a narrower and special meaning has been evolved during the history of employer-employee relations and their management or development in the different countries of the world. The Central Government could not also have meant, by the use of the word victimization, any particular kind of discharge or dismissal, etc., for instance, those arising only out of trade union activities. There was no special reason to mention such cases and leave out other cases of unjustified discharge, or dismissal, etc."

If a restricted view of the power of the Tribunal is taken, then it will be that persons who have got no union activities, nor members of the union, will not be entitled to any relief. The result will be that either the employer will try to engage non-union men or that non-union men will be induced indirectly to join a union. This will be interfering with the natural freedom of a person.

Moreover, it may not be always possible for the employee to prove a motive which led the employer to drive him out. So, an order made in bad faith with an ulterior motive arbitrarily or with harshness is an instance of unfair labour practice. Where a dismissal is unjust or harsh in proportion to the offence committed—as in this case—a presumption as to unfair labour practice may fairly and reasonably be drawn.

Whatever that may be, the trend of recent decisions in several cases clearly shows that the powers of the Industrial Tribunal are unlimited and it will always, for the sake of industrial peace, restore justice between employer and man and apparently where gross injustice has been done, it will hesitate to order relief for the sake of industrial peace. So, in my opinion the dismissal of Sri Monoranjan Ghosh is clearly unjustified. Has regard to all these circumstances, it is quite fit and proper that he should be reinstated with back pay and emoluments from the date of his discharge.

In view of the fact that I have ordered reinstatement with arrears including dearness allowance and other allowances, I do not make any further order regarding compensation. The clerk committed a serious offence of smoking during office hours and for this he had been dismissed from service and the suspense and anxiety through which he has passed these days is more than sufficient punishment. No further order regarding compensation is called for. I, therefore, make the following Award:—

The Company be directed to reinstate Sri Monoranjan Ghosh with effect from 8th November 1949, and that he should be paid his full pay, dearness allowance and other allowances including bonus, if any, less the amount already drawn by him since then.

Office of the Accountant-General,
West BengalSubject:—Submission of schedules of Postal Life Insurance Premia.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. TM/218.—4th January 1951.—The procedure regarding the submission of schedules relating to Postal Life Insurance premia is not being observed by certain Treasury Officers. It has been noticed that the Consolidated List of Postal Life Insurance Premia along with the covering list of premia relating to each department with the supporting schedules is not being submitted to this office with the Cash Accounts in many cases. This not only causes considerable delay in the adjustment of credits by the Deputy Accountant-General, Postal Life Insurance, for want of requisite particulars but also leads to much unnecessary and avoidable correspondence and consequent delay in the settlement of claims of the insureds. All Treasury Officers in West Bengal are, therefore, directed to see that the Consolidated List supported by relevant schedules invariably accompany the Cash Account.

ANNEXURE.

matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Bhagat Oil Mills of 32/4, Sahitya Parishad Street, Calcutta, and their employees as represented by Bhagat Oil Mill National Workers' Union of 9, Raja Rajkrishna Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

Union: Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader.

By an order, No. 4763Lab., dated the 26th August 1950, the Government of West Bengal constituted a Tribunal of one Judge under sections 7 of the Industrial Disputes Act (Act XIV) of 1947 and referred the dispute to me for adjudication.

The reference was received here on the 29th August 1950. The Union's written claim on the 8th September 1950. The Company filed its objection on the 4th October 1950. The issues were contained in the schedule of the Order of Reference. The case was taken up for hearing on 12th December 1950 after some of the issues had been settled by compromise. The hearing was concluded on that date.

The issues contained in the schedule of the Order of Reference stand as follows:—

Provident Fund.

Grade System.

Permanency of the Temporary Workers.

Bonus.

AWARD.

Issues Nos. 1, 2 and 4.

These issues have been settled by compromise. The compromise will be given in the appendix and will form the basis of this award on these

Regarding the Provident Fund, I accept the Company's offer to set the said fund with effect from January 1951. The Company as well as employees will each contribute per month at the rate of $6\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. of basic wages of the employees. This is practically in pursuance of the award passed by Sri P. R. Mukherjee and published in the Calcutta Gazette 22nd July 1948 and of the agreement, dated 12th August 1948. All employees will be eligible for the Company's contribution as follows:—

- (a) Below 5 years' unbroken service—Nil.
- (b) Above 5 but below 10 years' service—50 per cent.
- (c) Ten years' service to 15 years' service—75 per cent.
- (d) Fifteen years' service and above—Full.

This is qualified by the fact that service will be counted for this purpose from the date of permanency under the Company.

Regarding gratuity, I accept the agreed condition that the Company shall be liable to pay it at the rate of 10 days' pay per year last drawn by an employee for the period previous to the introduction of the afore-mentioned Provident Fund scheme. This will be paid at pro rata basis as mentioned in the case of the Provident Fund. The length of service will be computed on the basis of period of service at the time the same is terminated. Gratuity and Provident Fund accumulations will be payable at the time of termination of service having regard to the length of service on that date. I also accept the Company's offer that it would frame other rules on the basis of the Model Rules of Provident Fund.

Regarding the Grade system, I accept the Union's offer that it is allowed to be dropped.

Regarding Bonus also I accept the Union's offer to drop the demand for the time being.

Issue No. 3.

5. Regarding the rules bearing on the matter of permanency of workers, I find that the parties could not reach any agreed settlement. The Union has put up a list containing the names of 54 persons who are said to be eligible for being made permanent. The Company, on the other hand, has signified its willingness to make permanent only six workers whose names have been set forth in the petition of compromise, as per appendix. Their names are—

- (1) Padarat Ahir.
- (2) Sarada Prasad Sing.
- (3) Ram Chandra Bari.
- (4) Adalat Koiri.
- (5) Pandur Kurmi.
- (6) Champa Kuhar.

The learned Advocate on behalf of the Company relies on the provisions of the Standing Order No. 3(b) in support of his contention that no temporary hands can be made permanent. Only a probationer who is provisionally employed in a permanent vacancy can claim to be made permanent after the completion of six months in the same occupation. He points out that the

unable to accept this contention of the learned Advocate on behalf of company. It is the Company's admitted stand in the written statement that it has implemented the award of Sri P. R. Mukherjee. But in the award I get a definite direction that temporary hands should be made permanent after they had put in continuous service for six months under the award. So I turn down this contention of the Company. The learned Advocate for the Company next contends that none of these temporary hands can aspire to be made permanent even under the award of Sri P. R. Mukherjee. To be made permanent they are required to put in six months continuous service, i.e., 180 days without any break. But I must say that the Company does not stand by this principle. Had it been so, the Company could never agree to make permanent the six employees mentioned in the petition of compromise as per appendix. I find that they had put in service ranging from 95 days to 149 days in course of the last six months. I find that the Company is not very rigid about this matter. I may very well take from the admitted stand of the Company in respect of these six persons whom the Company is willing to confirm that 95 days' service in course of the last six months is the minimum requirement for confirmation. On that view I find that Birju Bari, Bhorai Chamar, Rambali Ahir and Mansundar Singh are also eligible for being made permanent. I direct the Company that it should make permanent these persons along with the six persons named in the appendix within one month of the award coming into operation.

I may point out in this connection that permanency has now assumed more importance than ever in the past. Permanent people will be qualified for participating in the benefits of the Provident Fund, etc., to be started in the future. So I think the rules bearing on the matter of permanency should be more precise than before. I find that the Mill executes orders for supply from Government and other quarters. The stream of these orders is always regular and incessant. So the employees must have some breaks in the matter of employment, perhaps every month. So six months' continuous service may not be possible for any employee to render. Then the award for making permanent in the case of temporary hands will really become nugatory. Accordingly, on the admitted stand taken by the Company in this case, I award that temporary hands will be made permanent if they have put in service in the Mill for six consecutive months and service in any particular month does not fall short of 15 days except with the permission of the Mill authorities. Both these conditions must be satisfied to qualify a temporary employee for being made permanent. The issue is thus disposed of.

THE TRIBUNAL UNDER INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES ACT (SRI G. PALIT, DISTRICT JUDGE).

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Bhagat Oil Mills and their employees.

In the humble petition of compromise on behalf of the parties named

Re : Provident Fund.

(a) The Company is agreeable to institute a Contributory Provident Fund for the permanent employees with effect from January 1951. Both Company and the employees will contribute per month at the rate of per cent. of the basic wages of the employees in terms of the award of P. R. Mukherjee published in the Calcutta Gazette on 22nd July 1948, the agreement, dated 12th August 1948.

(b) The employees will be eligible for Company's contribution under following scheme :—

- (i) Below 5 years' unbroken service—Nil.
- (ii) Five years' service below 10 years' service—50 per cent.
- (iii) Ten years' service below 15 years' service—75 per cent.
- (iv) Fifteen years and above—Full.

It should be mentioned that the period of service should be considered from the date of commencement of permanent service of the employees with the Company.

(c) The Company also agrees to pay a gratuity at the rate of ten days pay last drawn by the employee (per year of service), for the period uncovered by the Provident Fund scheme, but the same will be paid at pro rata basis as in the case of Provident Fund. The length of service will be counted on the basis of period of service at the time of termination of the same.

(d) But the Provident Fund and the gratuity will be paid at the time of termination of service and the length of service will be counted as at the same date.

Other rules will be based on the Model Rules of Provident Fund, as possible.

Re : Grade System.

The Union agrees not to press this demand at present.

Re : Bonus.

The Union agrees not to press this demand at present.

Re : Permanency of Service.

But the parties regret that no settlement in this respect could be reached at.

The Union submitted a list of 54 persons who according to the deserve to be made permanent. The parties however could not come to an agreement at this point. The Company however agreed to make the persons mentioned below as permanent. As this issue involved to some question nciple, both the parties therefore desire to have this issue adjudicated by Tribunal.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. K. P. Das & Co. Ltd., previously known as the Howrah Engineering Co., 43, Circle Road, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Howrah Zilla Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Congress, 43, Baikuntha Chatterjee Lane, Howrah, and in the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made by the President, Howrah Zilla Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Congress, on behalf of the workers of the Company.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Sri D. N. Basu, Advocate, and Sri Gopal Chandra Das, Manager of the Company.

For the Howrah Zilla Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Congress: Sri Nirmal Mitra, Pleader, and Sri Kanai Lal Banerjee, President, Howrah Zilla Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Congress.

AWARD.

The main industrial dispute between the employer and the employees abovenamed had been referred to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal as per order No. 36341ab., dated 4th July 1950, and while this dispute was pending, this application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act had been filed on behalf of the workers alleging that the Company through its Acting Manager, Sri Gopal Chandra Das, punished six workers viz., (1) Sumbhu Charan Charit, (2) Tarapada Hazra, (3) Jogueswar Mondal, (4) Gurudas Mal, (5) Gobinda Majhi and (6) Pannalal Mondal, by the order of suspension without obtaining previous express permission of the Tribunal.

It is alleged that there had been false allegations against these workers by the Company to the effect that one Kanailal Karar, a piece-rate worker was threatened with assault by the workers abovenamed. The Union prayed that steps may be taken against the Company under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The Company replies stating that the six workmen mentioned in the petition were guilty of a very serious misconduct by reason of the threat offered by them to another worker of the Company.

The facts stated are that on 28th September 1950, while Kanailal Karar, a piece-rate worker, was working in the factory, these persons abused the former for having agreed to work on the contract system, and asked Kanailal Karar to discontinue the piece-rate system, on pain of being severely beaten on the road. The said Kanailal Karar was unwilling to comply with this unreasonable and illegal demand made by the aforesaid six persons. While he was returning from the factory, he was waylaid and seized by the aforesaid persons and severely beaten by them.

A complaint was lodged to the Management by Kanailal Karar, and in virtue of the standing order, the six workers were suspended for a period of 4 days only pending the formal sanction of the Tribunal and also against the contemplated move on the part of the Company to make a substantial prayer in writing for permission to discharge the workers from the service of the Company.

POINTS FOR DECISION.

- (1) Whether the Company has violated the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act by suspending the six workers?
- (2) If so, whether there should be any recommendation for dealing with the employer under section 31 of the Industrial Disputes Act?

FINDINGS.

Issue No. 1.

The substantial question that arises is if the workmen have been suspended way of punishment during the pendency of the proceeding before the Tribunal without permission.

The Company alleges that there had been a major misdemeanour, as the workmen threatened to assault a co-worker and waylaid him and actually assaulted him.

Even if the Company succeeds in proving that there had been an assault, aforesaid, was there any justification for punishing these workers during continuance of the proceedings before the Tribunal?

Evidence has been given at length both by the Union as also by the Company. On this point, the evidence of the complainant Kanai, as also independent evidence of one Dwijendra Nath Bag, who is a neighbour, is important. The Manager of the Company has also been examined, and his statement had been reported to the police. One Gour Mohan Nath, Vice-President of the Works Committee of K. P. Das & Co., who enquired into the matter, was examined. Prima facie, therefore, a case having been made, the Company as a first step suspended these workers for four days pending enquiry. These workers, however, were allowed to join after the expiry of four days. Whatever that may be, the question is if the Company had any justification for suspending these workers without permission of the Tribunal under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company's evidence, however, is that there was no final order of suspension, but they were suspended more as a security measure for four days and in the meantime asked to explain their conduct. These workmen have not yet submitted their explanation, and the proceedings drawn up by the Company against these workmen, is still pending. No final order has yet been passed. The order of the Company, dated 30th September 1950 (Exhibit D), shows that final orders will be passed after written explanation of the conduct of the workers received by the Company. It is not necessary for the Tribunal—I must state at the outset—to investigate if there had been really an assault or not. I refrain from making any observation on this point, inasmuch as the matter is still pending before the Company.

The observations regarding complicity of the workers in the assault as made in the early part by me are not binding on the parties. The Company is free to investigate into the charges and come to independent conclusion unfettered by my observations.

The order of suspension on analysis clearly shows that these workers were suspended more as a security measure and not as a substantive punishment. These workers were suspended pending investigation as to whether they had committed any offence. So long as the investigation is not concluded, it cannot be said that the workmen have committed an offence. Such action cannot be taken as a security measure, or precautionary measure in the interest of the industry, or in the interest of the employees in general.

Suspension is a substantive punishment under certain circumstances, in this case it is not so.

Elements of punishment are absent in an order of suspension pending enquiry as to whether a workman has committed an offence. In a case of suspension as a substantive punishment, the wages are permanently withheld, but in this case, the workers would be entitled to the wages, if they are found not guilty by the employer. It is quite clear that no final decision has yet been made by the Company. So, in my opinion, it is not at all a substantive punishment, and as such, the Company was justified in taking the measure against the workmen, and as such, there has been no violation of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. This is also the view taken by my colleagues, Sri S. N. Modak and Sri A. Das Gupta, in the case of Hindusthan Development Corporation reported in the Calcutta Gazette on 28th September 1950.

Before I close the award, I find that the proceeding drawn up is still pending and that no explanations have been submitted by the workers though they had been asked to submit the same by 3rd October 1950 (Exhibit D). In the interest of the workers, no less in the interest of the Management, it is highly desirable that the matter should be promptly disposed of. The workers should submit written statement within a week from the date of publication of the award—if they have not already submitted the same—and the Management should try to dispose of the matter within a week after the statement of the workers is received. If, however, the workers do not submit the written statement, as aforesaid, the Management will be at liberty to deal with the workers as per standing rules, equity and justice.

Issue No. 2.

In view of my previous finding, no recommendation can be made to the Government for dealing with the employer under section 31 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

A preliminary objection was raised on behalf of the Company to the effect that the application having been made by the Union is not at all maintainable. Section 33A no doubt contemplates that it is only an aggrieved employee that can make a complaint in writing. Section 33 speaks of representation of parties and therefore an officer of a registered trade union, of which an employee is a member, can represent a case of an employee. Here the application had been made by the President of the Howrah Zilla Lohu Mazdoor Congress, to which the employees owe allegiance.

However, this point becomes more or less academic inasmuch as the workers themselves later on filed a regular petition. In any view of the matter, this objection raised by the employer is overruled.

I, therefore, make an award that the application under section 33A is dismissed and that none of the workmen mentioned in the petition of complaint purporting to be under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is entitled to any relief under the particular circumstances of the case.

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDER.

No. 193Lab.—9th January 1951.—Whereas under the Government of Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4091Lab., dated the 26th July 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. India Cycle Manufacturing Ltd., Head Office at 4, Clive Ghat Street, Calcutta, Factory at 9, Tiljala Road, Calcutta, and their workers as represented by India Cycle Mazdoor Union, 100, Dilkusha Street, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge; and whereas the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has submitted to the Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

The matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. India Cycle Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Head Office at 4, Clive Ghat Street, Calcutta, Factory at 9, Tiljala Road, Calcutta, and their workers as represented by India Cycle Mazdoor Union, 100, Dilkusha Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal

For the Union: Janab Shafuat Ullah Khan, General Secretary, Bengal National Chamber of Labour, assisted by Sri Rajani Mukherjee, President of the Mazdoor Union.

For the Company: Sri D. N. Basu, Advocate.

By an order, No. 4091Lab., dated the 26th July 1950, the Government of West Bengal had constituted a Tribunal of one Judge under sections 10 and 11 of the Industrial Disputes Act (Act XIV) of 1947 and referred the dispute to me for adjudication.

The reference was received here on the 27th July 1950. The Union filed its written statement on the 7th August 1950. The Company filed its objection on the 18th August 1950. The issues were framed on the 28th August 1950. There was an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended in 1950, on 28th September 1950. That was disposed of along with other application on 6th November 1950. The dispute was taken up for hearing on the 23rd November 1950. The trial was completed on 27th November 1950. Argument was heard on 8th December 1950, it was finished on the 12th December 1950.

The issues which were framed stand as follows:—

1. Is Pratulla Sarkar entitled to be reinstated, with or without compensation?
2. Revision of the Dearness Allowance, if called for.
3. Is the strike on 12th June 1950 and the lock-out on 17th June 1950 legal and justified? Are the strikers entitled to strike pay or are the persons locked out to compensation during the period of the lock-out? Are they entitled to be reinstated en bloc?

- (4) Is any direction called for on the Company to maintain the Standing Orders in conformity with the Industrial Employment Standing Orders Act, 1946?
- (5) Does the Company follow the provisions of the Factories Act, the rules thereunder in respect of the workers?

AWARD.

4. A brief history of the dispute may be relevant for understanding the background of the case. This Company was incorporated in 1938 and deals in the manufacture of cycles, cycle parts and accessories. Last year there was some trouble which was referred to a Tribunal for adjudication. The award ended in favour of the Company. Sri Prafulla Chandra Sanyal, Vice-President of the Mazdoor Union, was discharged on the 1st June 1950. He brought the matter to the notice of the Labour Department. On 9th June 1950, a strike notice was served on the Company. The Company's reply did not prove satisfactory. So the strike was launched on the 11th June 1950. The Labour Directorate thereupon arranged a joint discussion on the 14th June 1950 with no tangible results. The Company thereafter declared a lock-out on the 16th June 1950. The Company thereafter started recruiting new hands with effect from the 3rd July 1950. Old workers of the Factory started offering their services from 21st July 1950. Some of them were readmitted into service of the Company in vacancies which remained unfilled. As many as 130 old workers were thus taken back to the 17th August 1950. The dispute was eventually referred to the Tribunal when conciliation failed.

Issue No. 1.

5. The answer to this issue will depend upon whether Sri Prafulla Chandra Sanyal was victimised or discharged because of unfair labour practice on the part of the employers. The Tribunal grants reinstatement in such cases, with or without compensation, to meet the ends of justice. The competence of the Tribunal in this respect is no longer questioned. The Tribunal grants compensation without reinstatement where there is a wrongful dismissal.

6. About victimisation or unfair labour practice, though there is no definition in the Industrial Disputes Act, the concept is more or less set now as a result of awards of Industrial Tribunals in different parts of the country. Under the Bombay Industrial Disputes Act, 1938, victimisation of workers for being members of trade unions or for participating in union activities has been made an offence. Sri D. G. Kametkar in Khandesh Spinning and Weaving Mills Co., Ltd., Jalgaon, observed: "Industrial Court does not interfere with an otherwise valid order of discharge and order reinstatement unless the employer is guilty of unfair labour practice and the true reason was victimisation of the employee for trade union activities". The awards of Sri S. C. Chakravarti in Hindustan Commercial Bank, Ltd., of Sri R. Gupta in Imperial Bank, Ltd., of M. C. Banerjee in Hooghly Bank, Ltd., and of Sri A. Das Gupta in W. & A. Turner Morrison & Co., Ltd., make the idea of victimisation perfectly clear. Janab Niwaz Muhammad in Mazdoor Hargauon vs. Arjun Sugar Mill has gone a step further in bringing out the concept of victimisation. He observed, "Whatever injures or illegally affects an employee amounts to victimisation". Sri C. R. Krishnamrao in Coimbatore Cement Works Ltd. is opposed to a narrow interpretation of the terms of "victimisation" as "unfair labour practices". His reasoning is that if these are confined to trade union activities, non-union men will be deprived of their natural

6. Sri K. C. Sen of the Bank Tribunal also shares this view. He says, "In our opinion the expression 'victimisation' should embrace all of discharge, dismissal, punishment inflicted on or suffering caused to employee where such discharge, dismissal, etc., are so unjust that a dy is called for in the interests of justice between the parties".

In the present case the Union specifically alleges victimisation or use to unfair labour practice in respect of the discharge of Sri Prafulla ar. The learned Advocate of the Company refers to L. Teller's Book, 11, pp 832-33, and contends that the onus rests entirely on the Union. he Union has led no evidence, the contention or the denial of the pany in this respect must necessarily prevail. On the top of that, company has established by evidence, as the learned Advocate claims, the discharge of Sri Prafulla Sarkar was perfectly bona fide and also ted in the circumstances.

Regarding onus about victimisation or unfair labour practice, I pt that the burden of proof initially rests on the Union. But the point hat is the extent or scope of this onus? The Union can at the most e that the discharged employee had indulged in trade union activities. ay prove further that the discharge in question was not bona fide or regular. But what was exactly at the back of the Company's mind in arguing a trade union worker is more than what the Union can possibly e. That is more or less a psychological matter. It is not capable of et or tangible proof. It has to be inferred from the circumstances ted. Once the initial onus is discharged by the Union, in my opinion, ults to the Company to make out that there was no evil motive behind discharge; it was absolutely fair and square and based on sound reasons.

Coming to the facts elicited during the evidence it is admitted that: Sri Prafulla Sarkar was the Vice-President of the Mazdoor Union of this tory, (2) the Company in its written statement alleges that in the cur-year, Sri Prafulla Sarkar more than any other person sought to nate the workers from the Management, (3) there was a lightning strike he work of the Company consequent on or as a result of Sri Prafulla ar's discharge. From the evidence led by the Company one outstand-tact emerges. It is that Sri Prafulla Sarkar is keenly alive to workers' its. At times he is overzealous and proceeds to the length of screening offender from the wrath of the Management. He risks the displeasure he Company and minds no personal loss. Exhibit B shows that he tested against the search of Asutosh Lodh by Tarakanta Roy when the ner was out of the Factory and when nothing was recovered from him. s Asutosh Lodh is said to have been subsequently convicted for such nee. Exhibit G shows that he incurred the displeasure of Manmatha Gupta for reporting to him that the Hindustani workers had complained arakanta Babu about his discriminatory treatment with an eye to have gal gratification. Tarakanta Babu denied such report. Exhibit H shows i Sri Prafulla Sarkar took exception to the fine and transfer of one i Khahl. Even the Director Sri P. C. Gupta admits that none but anager can impose any fine. Exhibit I shows that Sri Prafulla r insisted on a fair and regular enquiry into the alleged theft of lamps aken Bhattacharjee. He found fault with Gangadas Basak regarding quiry. These matters were reported to the Director behind Prafulla r's back. The Director does not appear to have held a regular enquiry ling for his explanation. He merely puts his remark on the com-ts. These show that he was getting increasingly offended with Sri ulla Sarkar for such conduct. He even remarked that Sri Prafulla a might seek his job elsewhere. Director Sri P. C. Gupta says that Prafulla Sarkar's discharge there reigns peace in the Factory. So I get from the above incidents that Sri Prafulla Sarkar was a dynamic and I may say, a desperate trade union worker. To discharge what he conceived to be his duty he did not care for frown or favour of the employer. That is why he became an eye-sore to the Company and to its henchmen. The Director breathed a sigh of relief to get rid of him. This is the background of his discharge.

10. Next, let me examine whether his discharge was bona fide whether it was just a cloak to get rid of an undesirable man. Certain facts are relevant in this connection: (1) No written charge-sheet was given to Prafulla Sarkar; (2) No written order of dismissal is forthcoming stating reasons for this step; (3) The Company has revived also some old charges in support of Sri Prafulla Sarkar's dismissal, some charges being as early as May, August and November 1949; (4) the crowning piece or the proximate cause of dismissal consists in his alleged misappropriation or defalcation of the East Bengal Refugee Fund.

Regarding the absence of written charge and written order of dismissal the Company contends that it is not required by the Standing Orders in vogue in the Factory. Sri Prafulla Sarkar was sent over the phone to the Head Office by the Director Sri P. C. Gupta. He was confronted with the charges there and was summarily dismissed forthwith. I do not think that this is just what it should be. I have grave doubts whether the Company has anything in writing regarding the Standing Orders. First of all, it produced a typed copy of certain rules as enforced in the Factory. That was found as not certified by the Labour Commissioner. Next, the Company produced a printed copy of the Standing Orders of the Engineering Association of India. It is marked Ext. S. But this exhibit will show that there is nothing in it to connect it with the Factory in question. The relevant spaces are left blank. Even if it be assumed that these are the rules which are enforced in the Factory, I must say that they require modification. It is the Company's stand that it has implemented the provisions of the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal of 1948. That award was published in June 1948, whereas these Standing Orders were certified in March 1948. But that the award of the Tribunal did not touch these Standing Orders; the Tribunal has stated in so many words that they require modification. The modification suggested was that the charge should be written. There should be an enquiry or, at least, the employee should be given fair opportunity of explanation and defence. That this was not complied with does not require to be told.

11. Regarding the actual charge, it appears that Sri Prafulla Sarkar alleged to have misappropriated or defalcated the East Bengal Refugee Fund collection from the workers amounting to Rs. 59.12. Janab Shah Ullah Khan has found fault with such collection as contravening the Payment of Wages Act. But that is another matter. When I have scrutinised the evidence on the point I have found that there is much which gives rise to suspicion. It seems to me that there is, perhaps, something more than what meets the eye. It is rather unfortunate that Prafulla Babu does not come forward with an emphatic denial. He must have been wrongly advised in this respect. Unlike a criminal trial an adjudication proceeding in the Tribunal requires evidence, both affirmative and negative. Be that as it may, there are certain facts which are significant. Sri Tara K. Roy cannot assign any satisfactory reason why he does not directly move over the collected amount to the Treasurer Anil Babu who sits almost in the next room. We are not told why a messenger was required. Prafulla Babu is said to be dishonest, as I get in the written statement of the Company. He is also not a member of the Committee. Why is he selected? No record is taken from Prafulla Babu. Prafulla Babu is said to have admitted before Prasun Gupta that he has taken the amount and will pay it. Even then signature is not taken. Not that everything is verbal. We find quite a lot of documents in this connection. It shows the different stages in this case. Even the enquiry that Tara Kanta Babu makes from Anil Babu is in writing. So I would not have been surprised if Prafulla Babu had that Tara Kanta Babu lent this money to him with a promise to pay it if required. Then I find that there is an appeal to the Director made by the clerks including Tara Kanta Babu to retain Prafulla Babu in service. It is dated 30th May 1950. Exhibit B shows that Tara Kanta Babu sent a report against Prafulla Babu only ten days prior to this. On the following day this appeal was again withdrawn. There was a Directors' meeting and Sri P. C. Gupta was authorised to deal with Prafulla Babu. So Prafulla Babu's fate was already sealed before he was sent over the phone. I do not understand how there could be an appeal on the day before to retain Prafulla Babu in service. There was no enquiry. Prafulla Babu had no opportunity to explain matters, let alone file any defence. Next, we consider whether it was a case of major misdemeanour which can give the right to the employer to dismiss him summarily. This was not the Company's money. The proper remedy was either in the Civil or Criminal Court. There the matter could have been adjudged on proper evidence. Instead of that, a permanent employee is summarily discharged without any enquiry. The Director Sri P. C. Gupta says that he wanted to give one month's wages in lieu of notice. He refers to a money order coupon to show that one month's wages deducting certain other amounts were remitted by the Company.

If it shows anything, it shows that the Director Sri P. C. Gupta felt a conscience that it was not a case of major misdemeanour. Had it been so, he would not have given one month's wages in lieu of notice. How dare he have a lightning strike over Prafulla Sarkar's discharge if he had appropriated their contribution. So I find that the Company was not fair in discharging Prafulla Babu on this ground. The manner of his discharge was also subject to criticism.

The other charges against Prafulla Babu I have already referred to. In none of them Prafulla Babu's explanation was called for. Sri P. C. Gupta admits that Prafulla Babu was never suspended, warned or punished. There are some doubts about these written complaints. I get in evidence that the complaints against other workers were made verbally. Then in Prafulla Babu's case why should they be written? The writer of these complaints must have had some grudge against Prafulla Babu. It is not at all difficult to believe that they fabricated these documents just to pander to the whims of the Director who was prejudiced against Prafulla Babu. So these charges do not hold any water. Condoned past charges cannot be revived to prop up the order of dismissal. They are relevant in relation to punishment meted out.

Regarding the charges of inefficiency, dishonesty and shirking of duty made in the written statement of the Company there is no evidence. The evidence that is there displaces these charges. I get in evidence that the workers were recipients of production bonus in 9 or 10 months in a year. It goes to knock out the bottom of the charge that Prafulla Babu pressed on the workers to undermine production or that there was a "go slow" strike. Prafulla Babu was given loans by the Company. That contradicts dishonesty.

Having regard to all these facts and circumstances, though there is counter evidence by Prafulla Babu, I get that Prafulla Babu was not a bad worker. The alleged misappropriation of the East India Company's Refugee Fund collection was no more than a plea to let him down.

So I award that Prafulla Babu is entitled to be reinstated in his previous post or, if that is not vacant, in an equivalent post with equal prospect and pay.

15. Regarding compensation, though I was half-inclined to grant it, do grant it only partially because of the present financial position of the Company. I award that Prafulla Babu will be granted two months' basic wages as compensation at the rate drawn last without dearness allowance. He will have leave without pay up to the date of his reinstatement. This will ensure to his benefit in the matter of length of service and other amenities. He must be reinstated within one month of the award coming into operation.

Issue No. 2.

16. Regarding revision of the dearness allowance, the Company contends that the present pay of the workers is about five times as much as it was in 1939. Having regard to the rise in the cost of living index number, the increase it is contended by the Company cannot be more than $3\frac{1}{2}$ times since 1939. The Company has however given a list of only a handful of workers who are getting such wages. But the contention of the learned Advocate seems to be rather fallacious in this respect. There is nothing to show that the wages which the workers had received in 1939 were adequate. Besides, we can never expect that the workers will go back to that standard of life which they had in 1939 at any future time. The last Great War has put the whole thing in a state of ferment. The workers now have a changed outlook of life and have learnt better standards of life to follow. Besides, the workers must have earned certain increments since 1939 during the ten years. That is ignored by the learned Advocate in his computation. There has been a Major Engineering Tribunal presided over by Sri S. S. Modak and Sri A. Das Gupta who have specifically dealt with this matter. The matter of dearness allowance has been considered from various standpoints. The award was published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary on the 9th September 1950. These learned adjudicators have held that the dearness allowance should be increased as follows:—

Dearness Allowance.

Basic Pay Range—

- Up to Rs. 50—Rs. 31.
- From Rs. 51 to Rs. 100—Rs. 42.
- From Rs. 101 to Rs. 150—Rs. 48.
- From Rs. 151 to Rs. 200—Rs. 54.
- From Rs. 201 upwards—Rs. 60.

This has been made applicable to all categories of employees under Engineering firms with which they were concerned. I find no reason why this award should not apply to the present Company which admittedly was to implement the previous Engineering Tribunal's award. I make the award on the score of dearness allowance to take effect within one month of the award coming into operation and at the rate specified above.

Issue No. 4.

17. I have already remarked that the Standing Orders, if maintained by the Company are absolutely out of date. I have grave doubts that the Company does not attach as much importance to this matter as it deserves. The printed Standing Order, marked Ext. S, is almost obsolete. It should be modified in the light of the recommendations of the neering Tribunal's award presided over by Sri S. K. Sen in 1948 and conformity with the Industrial Employment Standing Orders Act of 1946. In view of this issue with the above direction.

Issue No. 5.

8. Sri P. C. Gupta, one of the Directors, says that he follows the provisions of the Factories Act. The Union has not led any evidence to the contrary. But I find on evidence that the Company does not have a full-time Manager required under the Factories Act. The Company also must not duly follow the form No. 3. In the absence of further evidence I am not in a position to give any direction to the Company in this respect.

Issue No. 3.

9. The strike was declared on the 12th June 1950 and the lock-out was declared by the Company on the 17th June 1950. The Company contends that the strike was illegal. The Union contends that the lock-out was illegal. I get from the argument of the learned Advocate of the Company that the strike was illegal because (1) the strike notice contravened the requirements of rule 4, sub-rule (7) of the Bengal Industrial Disputes Rules, 1947, and (2) the Union did not give sufficient time to the Company to arrange negotiations. The learned Advocate further contends that any portion of the notice is illegal, then the notice must be deemed illegal in its entirety. But I am of opinion that the learned Advocate is apparently labouring under a misapprehension. Rule 4, sub-rule (7) relied on by the learned Advocate is irrelevant in the present case. That is to notices of strike under the Act, i.e., the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The only notice provided for under the said Act is one under section 10. That is in respect of public utility concerns. This concern is not admittedly a public utility concern. So the requirements detailed in sub-rule (7) of rule 4 are entirely out of place. Such strikes can be declared even without any prior notice. Regarding the second defect alleged, I find that the Company had already given a reply refusing flatly the demands made by the Union. If after that the strike was launched, though the interval may be short, it cannot be said that it was all on a sudden or that it had banged the door of negotiation. The flat refusal may have led the Union to think it had nothing else left than to launch a strike to have redress of its grievances. Besides, I find that negotiation did, as a matter of fact, take place after the launching of the strike and after the lock-out. So the door of negotiation was at no time shut by either party. Regarding justification of the strike, I am of opinion that it was provoked by the Company. The manner in which Sri Prafulla Sarkar, Vice-President of the Union, was discharged and the flat refusal to consider the revision of dearness allowance, etc., can give good grounds for strike. Strikes per se are not illegal. Only they should be resorted to in the last instance. So I am not able to hold that the strike on 12th June 1950 was either illegal or illegal.

10. Regarding the lock-out on 17th June 1950, I am unable to come to any conclusion. Janab Shafaat Ullah Khan contends that the Company contravened in this respect section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended in 1950. The learned Advocate of the Company contends that the Company has not contravened this section, firstly, because there was no conciliation proceeding at the time, secondly, because the dispute had not been referred into an industrial dispute and thirdly, because it was done with the sanction of the Conciliation Officer. Here again I must find that the Company's stand is wrong. Exhibit N, dated 14th June 1950, makes it perfectly clear that the conciliation proceeding was in progress on that date. I must point out that the section 20 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 does not apply in such a case. In the absence of section 20 a conciliation proceeding should be taken to have started as soon as there is an apprehension of an industrial dispute and the Conciliation Officer has intervened. In the present case, the Conciliation Officer had intervened previous to the date of lock-out. I do not understand what the learned Advocate means when he says that the industrial dispute had not ripened even after launching of a strike and the intervention of the Conciliation Officer. The matters before the Conciliation Officer were the reinstatement of Sri Prafulla Sarkar on the demand for increased dearness allowance. Certainly these are matters which form the subject-matter of an industrial dispute. Regarding the permission of the lock-out, Ext. N does not seem to be the permission contemplated in section 33. In section 33 an express permission in writing of the Conciliation Officer is required. Exhibit N at most is a hypothetical or speculative permission. I do not however appreciate such remark of the Deputy Labour Commissioner contained in Exhibit N as it is likely to mislead the parties about their appropriate attitude. It can never amount to legalising the lock-out if it is not so otherwise. Exhibit N(1) certainly does not improve matters in this respect. At all events, these do not suffice for the express permission required in section 33. So I am of opinion that the contention of Shafuat Ullah Khan may have some force in his contention that the lock-out undertaken by the Company has contravened section 33 of the Act, 1947, but that is another matter. I am not here to adjudicate upon it. I consider this merely to show the propriety or otherwise of the lock-out in question.

21. Next, I consider its legal consequences. It is the Company's defence that by the lock-out on 17th June 1950 it has terminated the services of all the workers who had gone on strike. According to the learned Advocate of the Company any lock-out is discharge. I am afraid, I cannot agree with him. All discharge may be lock-out (though I have found otherwise in certain of my awards), but all lock-out is not discharge. A lock-out impso facto does not terminate the service. It is an admitted position that save and except the declaration of lock-out, the Company has not given notices discharging these workers. So, so far as those workers who were admitted into service are concerned, the position is that either the lock-out is continuing in respect of them or at all events they are continuing in service. I accept that the services of these people not having been legally terminated they must be supposed to be still in the employ of the Company. Even if the lock-out is continuing, the position is not any the different. The Company has stated that immediately after the lock-out it started taking in new men. As soon as the required vacancies were filled up by these new men as well as some old men recruited thereafter, further admission into service was stopped. So these people could not come in though they wanted to. I find that all these persons are entitled to come back en bloc if they are not out of employment. Regarding their pay and compensation, I should find fairness and consistent with the finding above, grant it; but as I find from the balance-sheet, marked Exhibit R, that the financial position of the Company is not very sound, I grant only compensation equivalent to one month's basic wages last drawn, to those workers who are available for service and readmitted. That the financial position of a Company has a bearing in such matters will appear from the award of Sri Pujan Ram in Tatanagar Foundry. Similarly in Bengal Rolling Mills, Calcutta (Government of West Bengal No. 2477 Lab., dated 22nd July 1950) the learned adjudicator observes, "The Company was utterly indifferent to the fate of its workers for such a long period and it throws on the Company the major share of the blame and entitled the workers to compensation."

uld have imposed full wages and compensation for the period, but having ard to the fact that the Company is not financially very strong I think ends of justice will be sufficiently met if two months' wages including ness allowance be paid to the workers".

22 As the Company is responsible for illegally taking in new men when old men are entitled to come back, the Company must make room for retrenched workers by either discharging the people recruited in their ce or by otherwise arranging for them.

23. In the result I award that the workers discharged on 17th June
(i) will have one month's basic wages right from 12th June 1950 because strike has been held to be not illegal and unjustified, and the lock-out charging the workers as illegal. Those people who still remain out and are available for service within one month of the award coming into ration should be taken back and reinstated in their former posts or to ts with equivalent pay. The issue is thus disposed of in the Union's

In pursuance of the order of reference No. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, adjudication proceedings have been started for settlement of industrial disputes between the employers and employees of 79 Printing Presses of Calcutta and Howrah mentioned in the list annexed to the order of reference, of which the Indian Photo Engraving Co., Ltd., is one, being serial No. 34 in the list. The adjudication proceedings are still pending.

The complainant's case is that he had been a permanent compositor of the Indian Photo Engraving Co., Ltd., at a monthly salary of Rs. 50 and dearness allowance Rs. 22; that the opposite party had been irregular in payment of wages to the employees; and that the complainant having protested against this irregularity, the opposite party got enraged and violated section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, unfairly terminated the services of the complainant on and from 10th October 1950, during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings under order No. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, without any permission of the Tribunal, by a notice dated the 7th October 1950, in which the complainant was falsely alleged to have been a temporary employee and his services were alleged to terminate according to the terms of employment on 9th October 1950. The complainant prays for reinstatement.

The opposite party denies the charges brought against it and pleads that the complainant was engaged on and from 10th May 1950, as a temporary hand, initially for one month; that his tenure of service was subsequently extended till 9th October 1950; and that his services were terminated on and from 10th October 1950 as per contract of his employment. The opposite party also pleads that the complainant having been employed after the order of reference and hence during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings, the termination of his services is not hit by section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950; and that the complaint under section 33A of the Act is not therefore maintainable.

1. the termination of the complainant's services hit by section 33 Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Amendment) Act, 1950? And is the complaint under section 33 of the said Act maintainable?

2. what reliefs, if any, is the complainant entitled to?

Take up both the points together. The opposite party has filed an affidavit in support of its case. It says that the complainant was initially appointed as a temporary clerk for one month beginning from 10th May 1950. At the bottom of the appointment letter, the complainant admits his signature and says that he has received an appointment letter. He also pleads that he signed the document, the date of commencement of his service, for which he was being appointed and the nature of his appointment are not mentioned. The complainant Nagendra Nath Basu is said to have been in the past when he served in the "Swaraj Press" and the "Pravasi" and he got an appointment letter. He was very keen about the appointment letter and demanded it. If really he was not given any appointment letter, he would not have signed Ext. 1 acknowledging receipt of the appointment letter. It has not been suggested that he refused to put his signature on Ext. 1 or that he was made to put his signature on this document by some undue influence or coercion. On the evidence before me, it is found that the complainant got an appointment letter of which Ext. 1 is the exact copy. This has been wilfully withheld by the opposite party for reasons best known to him. The complainant wants to make it appear that the nature of his appointment, and the date of his employment are different from what have been mentioned in the office copy of the appointment letter. The sworn testimonies of the Directors Sri Matilal and Sri Dhirendra Lal Biswas are that near about the completion of the trial period of one month, the services of the complainant were terminated on 9th October 1950 and this date was noted on the right hand of the office copy of the letter of appointment. They say that the complainant was asked to bring his appointment letter for necessary entry in the Attendance Register. The complainant did not comply with their direction. The Attendance Register shows that the complainant worked in the Press for 21 days beginning from 10th May 1950 and the Pay Register shows that he was paid Rs. 48-12 for the month. He put his signature in the Pay Register as a token of acknowledgment for this amount. He admits this and pleads that previous to his appointment as a permanent hand in the Press, he was on trial for one month, for which period his name was entered either in the Attendance Register or in the Pay Register; and he was paid for this period of trial by a voucher. All payments by the Press were entered in the Cash Book in the names of individual payees. The opposite party produced its Cash Book and it was inspected by the complainant's lawyer as also by me. No entry was found in the Cash Book in respect of payment to the complainant for any period prior to 10th May 1950. The complainant's case is that the trial period extended up to 12th or 13th May 1950. If really he had been paid up to the 13th May 1950, he would not have been paid again from the 10th to the 13th May 1950, as evidenced by the Pay Register. This circumstance also belies the complainant's case. The complainant does not appear to have the least regard for the law. Even if he had been on trial for some period his real services were terminated after expiry of the trial period. The mere fact that he was paid for some period does not warrant the conclusion that he was permanently employed after expiry of the trial period. On the evidence and circumstances of the case I hold that Nagendra Nath Basu was engaged a temporary compositor initially for one month from 10th May 1950 that his services were subsequently extended to 9th October 1950. Pa Mazumdar who was engaged as a temporary compositor on and from May 1950 is still in service. The Directors of the Press say that Pa Mazumdar had been given an extension on his application and that Nagendra N. Basu had applied for extension he would have been like given an extension. The sworn testimonies of the Directors of the Press are that the complainant was asked to apply for extension. This fact also suggested in the notice intimating termination of his service. was denied by the complainant in the petition of complaint. The employees are not bound to invite any application from the employees for extension of their services. The fact remains that the complainant did not apply any extension and his services were terminated on expiry of the period by operation of law. Termination of service of a temporary workman on expiry of the period of his service should be distinguished from termination of service of a workman by an act of the employer which amounts to discharge, dismissal or retrenchment. Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Amendment) Act, 1950, prohibits discharge or punishment whether by dismissal or otherwise of any workman concerned in the dispute during the pendency of conciliation or adjudication proceedings in respect of the dispute except with the express permission in writing of the Conciliation Officer, Board or Tribunal, as the case may be. The amended section runs as follows:

*"Conditions of service, etc., to remain unchanged during pendency of proceedings.—*During the pendency of any conciliation proceedings or proceedings before a Tribunal in respect of any industrial dispute, no employer shall—

(a) alter, to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in such dispute, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the commencement of such proceedings; or

(b) discharge or punish, whether by dismissal or otherwise, any workman concerned in such dispute, save with the express permission in writing of the Conciliation Officer, Board or Tribunal, as the case may be."

In the present case we are not concerned with clause (a) of section 33 of this Act. The only question is whether the termination of service of Nagendra Nath Basu is hit by clause (b) of the said section. In my opinion section 33(b) is applicable only to cases where the services of a workman are terminated by some act on the part of the employer, i.e., in cases of discharge, dismissal or retrenchment. In a case of termination of services of a temporary workman employed for a period, his services are terminated by operation of law without any further action on the part of the employer and if the employer notifies the termination of his services he only invites the attention of the workman concerned to the termination agreement that under the terms of agreement, his services would terminate on the expiry of the period. Inaction on the part of the employer does not extend the tenure of his services for which a further agreement is necessary. But in the case of discharge or dismissal or retrenchment the employer is active and inaction on his part cannot terminate the services of the workman. In the former case no action on the part of the employer is necessary for the termination of the services of the workman, while in the latter case some action on the part of the employer is necessary to terminate the services of a workman. In the former case a fresh agreement, express or implied, is necessary but in the latter case no such agreement is necessary.

necessary, to enable a workman to continue in service. Hence in cases of termination of service of a temporary workman on expiry of the period for which he was employed, the employer cannot be said to have discharged or dismissed the workman. I accordingly hold that such a case is not contemplated by section 33(b) of the Act. The Legislature could not reasonably contemplate that pendency of conciliation or adjudication proceedings would ipso facto extend the services of a temporary workman whose services are to terminate by operation of law during the pendency of such proceedings, until the necessary permission is applied for and obtained from the Conciliation Officer or Board or Tribunal, as the case may be. A temporary worker may be employed for a very short time and if for termination of his services the employer is required to apply for necessary permission required by section 33, there will be undoubtedly some delay in obtaining the permission. This permission cannot be given ex parte. The workman concerned must be heard before the permission is given. This procedure will undoubtedly cause some delay. And I am clearly of opinion that the Legislature did not intend that the services of such a temporary workman would ipso facto be extended, against the interest of the industry, during pendency of conciliation or adjudication proceedings until the necessary permission as contemplated by section 33 is obtained. I may note here that both the employer and the workmen were equally responsible for the agreement under terms of which the services of the workman are terminated by operation of law. On a careful consideration of facts and law involved in this case I am definitely of opinion that the termination of services of Gendra Nath Basu is not contemplated by section 33 of the Act. No permission was necessary to terminate his services and hence section 33A which authorises a Tribunal to assume jurisdiction without any reference to the appropriate Government only in cases where section 33 of the Act has been contravened, does not come into play here.

Even assuming that permission is necessary for termination of the services of a temporary workman on the expiry of the period for which he was employed, in the present case there was only a technical violation of the provision of the Act. In fact the termination was not unjustified.

A preliminary objection was raised by the learned Advocate for the outside party that inasmuch as the workman Nagendra Nath Basu was employed after the order of reference he was not a workman concerned in the dispute under reference, as contemplated by section 33(b) of the Act. In reply to this contention it may be said that an industrial dispute once raised remains alive until it is settled by conciliation or arbitration or is abandoned. An industrial dispute under adjudication remains alive till it goes into the award that follows. Hence all workmen appointed after the dispute is actually raised but before the publication of the award, including those appointed after the order of reference are concerned in the dispute under adjudication. The mere fact that Nagendra Nath Basu was employed after the order of reference would not exclude him from the scope of the amended section 33. He has been excluded from the scope of the amended section because his services were terminated by operation of law outside of agreement for which he was responsible equally with the employer without any action on the part of the employer.

In the result, the complaint under section 33A is rejected.

Subject:—Instructions regarding bills payable by the Accountant-General, West Bengal, within the current financial year.

No. TM/220.—19th January 1951.—In order to ensure payment before the close of the financial year, all travelling allowance, contingent and other bills payable within the year should, as far as practicable, be presented at the counter of this office by the 12th March 1951. The words “To be paid on or before the 31st March 1951” should be written prominently in red ink on the top of each bill. In respect of charges actually incurred, or claims accruing on or after the 12th March, the bills should be presented with the utmost expedition without losing even a single day. Please remember that during the last week of March this office is pre-occupied with the passing of monthly pay bills payable on the 1st working day of April.

2. Three clear days are required by this office to complete all processes connected with pre-audit. On the fourth working day from the date of presentation of a bill, the payee or his messenger should call at the delivery counter to demand payment. If for any reason payment cannot be obtained on that day, he should call on the next day, or on the second or third following day—should it become necessary. Any complaint regarding undue delay in payment should be lodged with the gazetted officer in charge of the section. No attempt should be made to get into direct touch with the sectional staff.

3. It should be particularly borne in mind that unpassed bills are not returned by post; they are required to be received back at the counter on surrender of tokens.

4. Please take all possible care to see that the bills presented are free from defects and irregularities. There may not be time left for resubmitting the bills when once returned unpassed with audit objection.

5. It will facilitate the payment of bills if the following instructions are borne in mind:—

- (a) If the appropriation for the current year is likely to be or has already been exceeded, an additional appropriation should be obtained in time to meet the excess and the order sanctioning the additional appropriation attached to the bill.
- (b) If any charge requiring sanction of a higher authority is claimed in a bill the sanction should be attached to it. As no payment can be made on the authority of copies of orders, the sanctioning authority should be requested to communicate the orders to this office in time.
- (c) If no distribution of any appropriation has yet been made, formal orders of the competent authority sanctioning the distribution should be attached to the bill.
- (d) A bill extract giving particulars of the major, minor and detailed head of account to which the amount of the bill is chargeable and the designation of the officer controlling the expenditure should invariably be attached to bills.

6. Between the 12th and the 31st March please make it a point to check your Bill Register every day with a view to receive all payments in good time.

7. As a special concession to payees, the Cash Payment and Cheque Delivery Counters of this office will be kept open till 4-30 p.m. on the 31st March. No payment will be made after that hour.

Subject:—Use of proper forms by Drawing Officers in Cooch Behar.

No. TM/224.—24th January 1951.—It has come to my notice that bills on account of claims of gazetted and non-gazetted personnel as well as those on account of contingent charges are drawn from the Cooch Behar Treasury in the forms which are not identical with those prescribed by the State Government of West Bengal or the (Central) Government. With the merger of Cooch Behar State in the Province of West Bengal it is necessary that the forms introduced by the Treasury Rules, Bengal, Volume II, or the Government Compilation of Treasury Rules, Volume II, according as the charges drawn are Provincial or Central are used.

All Drawing Officers in Cooch Behar are, therefore, requested that prompt steps should be taken for the introduction of the forms prescribed by the Rules cited above. The Provincial forms are available on indent from the Press and Forms Manager, West Bengal, Alipore, and the Central forms from the Manager, Government of India, Central Store, Dharamtallah Street, Calcutta, already done.

Matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, made by Sisir Kumar Adhikary and 60 other workmen against the Bengal Belting Works, Ltd., Serampore, in connection with certain industrial disputes between Bengal Belting Works, Ltd., and three other belting concerns and their workmen as referred for adjudication to the Government of West Bengal, order No. 4630Lab., dated the 12th September 1949.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.PRESENT:

SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (RETD.), Chairman.

Workmen: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

Company: Sri H. N. Bose, Director, Sri H. Sen, Accountant.

AWARD.

A matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 19th September 1950 against Bengal Belting Works, Ltd. The original petition of complaint was not signed by Sisir Kumar Adhikary who described himself as a member of the Works Committee. The petition of complaint not being in proper order, the workmen concerned were asked to submit a fresh petition of complaint in proper form under their own signatures. This was duly done, and the regularly signed petition of complaint is now under consideration. Certain industrial disputes between the Bengal Belting Works, Ltd., Serampore, and three other belting concerns in the same area were referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 46 dated the 12th September 1949. The adjudication proceedings in connection with these industrial disputes were still pending before this Tribunal on 1st June 1950. The workmen in their petition of complaint have divided themselves into two groups, namely, one group of 22 persons under annexure A and a second group of 39 persons under annexure B. The grievance put forward by them are that 19 workmen out of the group of 22 under annexure A were illegally and unjustifiably discharged on and from 23rd June 1950 and three others of the group under annexure A were illegally and unjustifiably discharged on 7th July 1950, and the 39 workmen under annexure B were illegally and unjustifiably prevented from joining work even though they offered their services in August 1950. The case of the workmen is briefly on the following lines. The Management illegally and unjustifiably declared a lock-out from 7th June 1950. The lock-out was lifted on 1st June 1950. The Management announced the discharge of 19 workmen on 23rd June 1950, and this discharge was illegal and unjustifiable. The workmen in general resented this illegal and unjustifiable discharge of workmen, and declined to rejoin work unless the order of discharge was withdrawn, and this attitude of the workmen was justifiable under the circumstances. Later on the Management discharged three other workmen on 7th July 1950, without any reasons. The Management appointed new recruits in the meantime, and later on declined to reappoint old employees even though they offered themselves for service in August 1950. As regards the workmen this attitude of the Management was also unjustifiable. The prayer of the workmen is that the discharged workmen as per annexure A should be reinstated, and the workmen mentioned in annexure B should be allowed to rejoin work, even though some of the new recruits may have to be discharged for making room for the old employees. The 22 workmen mentioned in annexure A to the petition of complaint are shown in appendix A to this award. The 39 persons mentioned in annexure B to the petition of complaint are shown in appendix B to this award.

2. The case put forward by the Bengal Belting Works, Ltd., is on the following lines. There was no contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, and the complaint under section 33 of the Act does not lie. The discharge of 19 workmen on and from 23rd June 1950 and of 3 others on and from 7th July 1950 was legal and justified under the particular circumstances. As regards the 39 persons mentioned in annexure B to the petition of complaint, they deliberately refrained from joining work for an inordinately long time in spite of the repeated offers extended by the Management, and having been absent from work without permission their services were automatically terminated under the provisions of the Act. The Management has stated that some persons of the latter category have since been taken in, and the Company undertakes to absorb such workmen as and when vacancies may arise in the future. The Company has stated generally that acts of indiscipline, wilful stoppage of work, slowing down of production, assault and intimidation were being committed by many of the workmen for sometime past, and the Company was suffering serious losses on account of the lack of proper production caused by such deliberate acts of indiscipline indulged in by the workmen, and it became impossible to carry on the factory without controlling the undesirable forces which were coming into play. As instances of indiscipline, violence and intimidation, the following incidents, among others, have been referred to. On 21st February 1950 most of the workmen abstained from work and declared a holiday on themselves on the occasion of the death of Sarat Chandra Bose, although the Management declined to give a holiday. Similarly on 6th March 1950 most of the workmen declared a hartal on the occasion of Sri Jawahar Nehru's visit to Calcutta, although the Management declined to declare

On 17th April 1950 some workmen including some of the dis- persons with whom we are concerned created a trouble about ent 1 and Pass Books, and some threatened to compel the Management cover the Pass Books, even though the existing rules did not lay down ch procedure. Some workmen came to beat the Manager and pushed and some durwans eventually escorted the Manager to his office. The of the factory was stopped for some time owing to the trouble on 17th 1950. On 19th April 1950 eleven workmen were placed under suspen- consequence of the incident of 17th April 1950. On 24th April 1950 Managing Director came to the factory and some workmen who demanded cwa of the order of suspension in respect of the 11 workers passed 1 April 1950, surrounded the Managing Director and kept him con- the morning up to about 3 p.m. when he was rescued by the On 25th April 1950 some workmen raised a complaint about bad the canteen and rushed into the Manager's office after beating the s On 26th April 1950 the Assistant Labour Commissioner interven- managed to bring about a settlement and an agreement was signed sides, the orders of suspension and the police cases then pending being an On 3rd June 1950 a supervisor named Manindra Das ordered a to distribute tea in the working shed in the absence of the usual and the worker so directed failed to carry out the supervisor's at the instigation of two other workers named Anil Mukherji and Samanta. This incident of indiscipline having been reported to the ng Director he came to the factory on 5th June 1950, and after an ation Anil Mukherji and Krishna Samanta were made to apologise conduct. t has been argued on behalf of the Company that no industrial was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal and no such dispute lag at the time of the discharge of the workmen concerned. The ou put forward is obviously untenable in view of the order of which I have referred to in paragraph 1 of this award. It is clear stral disputes between the Bengal Belting Works, Ltd., and three oncerns in the same area and their workmen were referred to this for adjudication, and the adjudication proceedings were pending ut June 1950. Then it has been contended on behalf of the Com- tina much as the reasons of the discharge were not connected with of industrial dispute under adjudication there was no contraven- e provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Whatever the legal position under the provisions of the old section 33, there doubt that under the provisions of the new section 33, as it stands amendment brought about by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Act 1950, such contentions have no force whatever. The amended of the Industrial Disputes Act came into force on 20th May 1950 on which the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, force, irrespective of the question as to when the amending Act was published in the Calcutta Gazette. It is clear, therefore, that puny was bound by the provisions of the amended section 33 and it entitled, during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings before this Tribunal, to discharge any workman without the expression in writing of the Tribunal. The Company admittedly did not obtain such permission. It must, therefore, be held that the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as they stood at the time, were contravened and the present complaint under section 33 of the Act lies.

4. The act of dismissal during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings was illegal by reason of the provisions of section 33 of the Act having been contravened. The question, however, is whether the action taken by the Management was justified either wholly or partially under the particular circumstances, even though it might be technically illegal. I will, therefore, be necessary for me to go into the facts and circumstances. On behalf of the workmen one witness, namely, Sisir Kumar Adhikari, who is one of the discharged persons, has been examined. On behalf of the Company 10 witnesses have been examined. Both sides have produced a large number of documents. The order of discharge being held to be illegal, it will be up to the Company to establish with regard to each particular case that such order was justified. On the evidence placed before me I am satisfied that there was a good deal of indiscipline among many workers prior to June 1950 and many workers were neglecting their work and had a tendency of lowering down the production, and of defying the Management. There was no justification for taking holidays on 1st and 2nd February 1950 and 6th March 1950 against the orders of the Management. I am satisfied that serious acts of indiscipline were committed by some workmen in connection with the demand for Provident Fund Pass Books in April 1950 and some workers proceeded to handle the Manager roughly. Without going into the merits of the case against each of the 11 persons who were suspended on 19th April 1950, in connection with this incident, I am satisfied generally that an order of suspension was called for to counteract the serious forces of indiscipline. On the evidence of D. B. a weaving jobber, along with his report (Ex. 1) it appears that two discharged persons Subhas Banerji and Ackowri Bose threatened and insulted him to prevent him from doing work on 22nd April 1950. On the evidence of the Managing Director, D.W. 5, and the Manager, D. 1, and other materials I am satisfied that while the former was in the Factory Department on 24th April 1950 he was surrounded by some workmen and kept confined for about six hours till the police came. This was, in my opinion, an extremely serious act of indiscipline. On 25th April 1950 a large number of workmen rushed into the Manager's office after beating the drum and issued an order to complain about bad tea in the canteen. Surely this was not the proper way of bringing complaints to the notice of the Manager and in my opinion the workmen concerned were guilty of serious indiscipline. The Assistant Labour Commissioner intervened at this stage, when acts of indiscipline committed by workmen were becoming frequent and serious, and on 26th April 1950 a settlement was arrived at and an agreement was signed between both sides in the hope that things would go on smoothly in the future. In consequence of the agreement reached the order of suspension in respect of the 11 persons and the police cases then pending, including the one in connection with the wrongful confinement of the Managing Director on 24th April 1950 were withdrawn. There was, however, a revival of indiscipline at the beginning of June. Two workmen instigated another workman to disobey the orders of a supervisor in connection with the matter of distribution of tea in the working shed. The two men were called by the Managing Director on 5th June 1950 and eventually they expressed regret for what they had done. Some of the over-enthusiastic leaders of the workmen ayed by this action of the Managing Director which was obviously for the restoration of discipline, and they felt that the Management was entitled to do anything without the concurrence of what was known as "Workers' Committee". The existence of a "Workers' Committee" was denied on behalf of the workmen in the proceedings before me. I am satisfied that the workmen generally were imbued with the idea of going the Management and indulging in deliberate acts of indiscipline, and that what looked like a happy agreement on 26th April 1950. The distribution affair thus led to an unfortunate recrudescence of serious trouble. There was no justification for the workmen to take exception to the action taken by the Managing Director on 5th June 1950. Some of the members of the workmen, however, conceived the idea of taking concerted action by going on strike for about an hour or so in the morning shift and for some time in a later shift on 6th June 1950. P.W. 1 Sisir Kumar Das giving evidence for the workmen has stated that the main belting was on the morning of 6th June 1950 and work was stopped for an hour.

In so far as this witness has not told the truth with regard to certain matters, such as the number of workmen who visited the Company's office in Calcutta on 9th June 1950, I am not disposed to place any reliance on him. From the evidence of the Engineer, D.W. 1, the Weaving Supervisor, D.W. 2, the Preparatory Supervisor, D.W. 3, and the Spinning Supervisor, D.W. 4, I am satisfied that there is no such thing as one main belt in this factory and there are group driving belts with several small motors in different sections, and if one belt gets torn the entire section cannot be stopped. I am satisfied from the evidence that on the morning of 6th June 1950 the working of the entire factory was stopped for about an hour or so, and it was stopped for half an hour or so again in a later shift. I am further satisfied that the stoppage of work was due to the deliberate concerted action taken by the workmen in general, and it was a case of stoppage of work by the workmen in general employed in the factory acting in concert, and it was clearly a case of strike. It was very likely that the members of the workmen conceived the idea of going on strike to express their disapproval against the action taken by the Managing Director on the preceding day in respect of certain offending workmen. As this strike took place during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings before this Tribunal, the strike was illegal within the meaning of section 23(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. It appears from the notice, dated 6th June 1950 (Ex. 2), that the Company declared a lock-out from the morning of 7th June 1950 on account of the illegal strike, wilful stoppage of work during working hours and consequent coming down of production by the workers. In the light of the previous evidence of indiscipline and of the illegal and unjustified strike which took place on 6th June 1950 I hold that the declaration of the lock-out from 7th June 1950 was justified, and as the lock-out was declared in consequence of an illegal strike within the meaning of section 24(3) of the Industrial Disputes Act, the lock-out cannot be deemed to be illegal. The lock-out was eventually lifted on 23rd June 1950, and I am unable to say, under the circumstances, that the duration of the lock-out was unreasonably long. All workmen except 19 persons who were discharged with effect from June 1950 were expected and invited by the Company to come back to work. It appears from the evidence that owing to the paucity of work much work was not done during the remaining days of June and in the next factory began to work more or less on normal lines in August. Most of the employees returned to their work gradually in response to the Company's invitation. It appears from the evidence that the Company was aware of the fact of the lock-out being lifted and of the Company's desire to bring back old employees by making publications in newspapers and printed leaflets and otherwise. In spite of these efforts of the Company several old employees did not care to rejoin their work and the result was that the Company was forced to appoint new. Meanwhile three other persons mentioned in appendix A were discharged by the Company on 7th July 1950. It appears that several abstained from rejoining work by way of protest against the discharge of 22 workmen on 23rd June 1950 and 7th July 1950. The persons mentioned in appendix B belong to this category. They failed to return to work in response to the Company's invitation, and were obviously in combination to bring about a cessation of work by a body of persons as a mark of protest against certain orders of discharge of other workmen passed by the Company. Apart from the question as to whether the orders of discharge were justified or not, the position was that those workmen abstained from work in spite of the lock-out having been lifted and knowledge launched a second strike after the lock-out. It will be seen that what I am going to say later on that most of the discharges were justified and there were errors of judgment on the part of the Company in a few cases. In that view of the matter there was no justification of the workmen going on a second strike after the lock-out was lifted for the purpose of raising a protest against certain orders of discharge. Apart from the position that the second strike with effect from 2nd July 1950 was unjustified, it was an illegal strike in so far as it was during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings. It was argued on behalf of the workmen that the lock-out declared by the Company with effect from 7th June 1950 amounted to an alteration of the conditions of service to the prejudice of the workmen within the meaning of section 33(a) of the Act. Without going into the question as to whether a lock-out may amount to a prejudicial alteration of the conditions of service within the meaning of section 33(a), I have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that there is no substance in the contention, under the circumstances of our particular case, that the lock-out amounted to any prejudicial alteration of the conditions of service. The real question in this particular case is that there was a contravention of the provisions of section 33(b) of the Act, by reason of the orders of dismissal which were passed on 23rd June 1950 and 7th July 1950 during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings.

5 I shall now proceed to deal with the cases of discharge of each of the 22 persons mentioned in appendix A to this award. The question in each particular case is whether the discharge was justified. The difficulty in coming to the conclusion that each of the 22 persons was guilty of going on an illegal strike on 6th June 1950. The Company has copies of notices of discharge setting forth the charges against the 22 persons who were discharged with effect from 23rd June 1950. Out of the 22 persons shown in appendix A, No. 7 Ramlal, No. 10 Abdul Sukkur and Dharam Singh were discharged on 7th July 1950, and others were discharged on 23rd June 1950. The Company has stated that the charges prepared in respect of the 19 persons discharged on 23rd June 1950 were offered to the respective persons, who however did not accept the question of offering charge-sheets and getting explanations from the workmen is not of great consequence at the present stage, when this Commission is examining the whole matter in the light of the facts and circumstances. As regards the offence of going on an illegal strike on 6th June 1950, it appears that many other workmen, possibly all workmen, committed the same offence. It must, therefore, be ascertained with regard to each of the 22 persons, whether his case can justifiably be put on a higher plane of misconduct than going on an illegal strike. In other words, more than the general act of going on an illegal strike should be established in justification of the order of discharge in each particular case.

nce it may be shown that a particular person was one of the ring-leaders in the matter of launching the illegal strike, or it may be shown that a person of his past wrongful conduct and bad antecedents a particular person's misconduct should be placed on a higher level than the ordinary of going on an illegal strike. It is in evidence that on 26th April 1950 Assistant Labour Commissioner brought about a settlement between the Management and the workmen, and both sides agreed to do their best to get smoothly in the future. In consequence of the agreement the orders of suspension in respect of 11 workmen, some of whom happened to be subsequently discharged, were withdrawn, and certain pending criminal cases against individual workmen were abandoned by the Management. In the Management dated 26th April 1950, the workmen solemnly agreed to adopt a policy of increasing the production and to put an end of all kinds of indiscipline. It was on this basis that the Company agreed to withdraw the orders of suspension and the criminal cases. Some workmen, however, did not follow the agreement and began to create troubles again in the month of June. The previous conduct and antecedents of individual workmen who lent themselves again to the creation of trouble, and who took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950 must be taken notice of in connection with the assessment of the gravity of the offence subsequently committed by them in going on an illegal strike. I agree that by virtue of the settlement arrived at on 26th April 1950, punishment in respect of previous conduct of individual workmen could not be justified, and previous acts of misconduct cannot be raked up for the purpose of inflicting punishment with regard to those previous acts. The contention raised on behalf of the workmen to the effect that all previous misconduct should be treated as having been wiped out by reason of the agreement, dated 26th April 1950, is correct only to a limited extent, as indicated above. I do not think that previous conduct and antecedents cannot be taken into consideration at the present stage for the purpose of ascertaining the habits and tendencies of individuals and for assessing the gravity of a subsequent misconduct in individual cases. A person who has committed previous acts of misconduct and has subsequently committed another misconduct may be punished for the subsequent misconduct which would be considered to be a new offence in his case, although a person who commits a similar subsequent misconduct for the first time may not necessarily be held to be guilty of a grave offence. I am definitely of opinion that the previous conduct and antecedents of individuals, prior to the agreement, dated 26th April 1950, cannot be treated as wiped out for all purposes. I shall now proceed to deal with the evidence in respect of each of the 22 persons under appendix A, and in reaching a conclusion as to whether the discharge in each case was justified.

Sisir Kumar Adhikary.—No. 1 Sisir Kumar Adhikary was discharged on 6th June 1950. He took a prominent part in stopping the work of the factory against the orders of the Management on 21st February 1950, as stated by the Manager, D.W. 9. He similarly took a prominent part in stopping the work of the factory on 6th March 1950, as stated by D.W. 9. He took a prominent part in creating trouble on 17th April 1950 in unjustifiably demanding Provisional Fund Pass Books, and threatened to compel the Management to yield to the demand. In consequence of the trouble created in the factory was stopped for some time. He was one of the persons who were suspended in consequence, the order of suspension being issued subsequently. He took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. From the evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, it is clear that Sisir Kumar Adhikary incited other workmen to go on strike in the weaving shed. He was clearly one of the ringleaders in launching the illegal strike. I reach the conclusion that the discharge in his case was justified.

Sachindra Nath Ghose.—No. 2 Sachindra Nath Ghose who was discharged on 23rd June 1950 took a prominent part in wrongfully confining Managing Director in the Preparatory Department for a few hours. Managing Director, D.W. 5, has identified him as one of the culprits. His name was mentioned in the report of the Police, dated 24th April (Exhibit E). It appears from the evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, on the following day 25th April 1950 this workman rushed into Manager's office after beating the durwans with regard to some complaint about bad tea in the canteen. With these antecedents this workman part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. I consider that he was a hal breaker of discipline and used methods of force and intimidation against Management. I hold that his discharge was justified.

Sudhangsu Kumar Mukerjee.—No. 3 Sudhangsu Kumar Mukerjee was discharged on 23rd June 1950 took a prominent part in wrong confining the Managing Director, D.W. 5, in the Preparatory Department on 24th April 1950 and was mentioned as one of the culprits in the report of the Police (Exhibit E). He was also one of the violently inciting workmen who rushed into the Manager's office after beating the durwans on 25th April 1950 with regard to a complaint about bad tea in the canteen. He also took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. The Manager, D.W. 9, has related another serious incident at Kotrung on 31st July 1950 when the Manager's motor van was proceeding from Calcutta to Serampore. The Manager has stated that some workmen including Sudhangsu K. Mukerjee stopped the motor van and roughly handled the Manager and a durwan and looted some eatables from the van. A criminal case has been filed with the Police about this incident is still pending. It is true that this incident took place after the date of discharge on 23rd June 1950, but it is, however, open to this Tribunal to consider the fact of assault in view of the gravity of the other misconduct committed by the particular workman. On a consideration of all the facts and circumstances I am of opinion that the discharge of Sudhangsu Kumar Mukerjee was justified.

Adhir Chandra Deb.—There was a complaint against No. 4 Adhir Chandra Deb made by the Weaving Supervisor, D.W. 2, in his report dated 3rd May 1950 (Exhibit D), to the effect that the workman was guilty of negligence and indiscipline. This workman was discharged on 23rd June 1950. This workman took a prominent part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950, and the evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, shows that he was inciting others to go on strike in the weaving shed. He was obviously one of the ringleaders in launching the illegal strike. I hold that his discharge was justified.

Ramani Mohan Deb.—No. 5 Ramani Mohan Deb who was discharged on 23rd June 1950 took a prominent part in creating trouble about Profit Fund Pass Books on 17th April 1950, and he was one of the 11 workmen who were suspended in consequence, the suspension order being subsequently withdrawn. D.W. 2 made a complaint against him alleging negligence and indiscipline in his report, dated 3rd May 1950 (Exhibit D). This workman took a prominent part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950 and from the evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, it is clear that he was one of the ringleaders and was inciting other workmen to go on strike in the weaving shed. I hold that his discharge was justified.

Sarada Prasad Chatterjee.—There is no evidence of any previous misconduct in respect of No. 6 Sarada Prasad Chatterjee who was discharged on 23rd June 1950. The only evidence against him is that he took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950 along with many others. There is no evidence to indicate that he was one of the ringleaders in launching ral strike. I consider that the evidence against Sarada Prasad Chatterjee is insufficient, and the Management committed an error of judgment in charging him.

Ram Lal.—No. 7 Ram Lal who was discharged on 7th July 1950, took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. The subsequent occurrence of an assault on the Manager on 31st July 1950 at Kotrung should be taken into account in this case for the purpose of judging the tendencies of the workman and assessing the gravity of his misconduct in going on an illegal strike. The Manager, D.W. 9, has stated that Ram Lal took a prominent part in stopping the motor van of the Manager and he struck the durwan with a stick. The criminal case in this connection is still pending. As I have reason for disbelieving the Manager, I consider that the subsequent assault involving violence exercised by the workman should be taken into account. I hold that the discharge of Ram Lal was justified.

Jadunath Roy.—No. 8 Jadunath Roy who was discharged on 23rd June 1950 has been identified by the Managing Director, D.W. 5, as one of the workmen who took part in wrongfully confining him in the Preparatory Department on 24th April 1950. This workman took a prominent part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. D.W. 9, the Manager, has stated that Jadunath Roy was inciting other workmen to go on strike in the spinning section. I find that he was one of the ringleaders in launching the illegal strike and in my opinion the discharge was justified.

Kartick De.—No. 9 Kartick De who was discharged on 23rd June 1950 took a prominent part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. D.W. 9, the Manager, has stated that Kartick De was inciting other workmen to go on strike in the spinning section. I find that he was one of the ringleaders in launching the illegal strike, and in my opinion the discharge was justified.

Abdul Sukkur.—No. 10 Abdul Sukkur who was discharged on 7th July 1950 took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. He took a prominent part in the incident of assault on the Manager at Kotrung on 31st July 1950, and he was actually the person who struck the Manager with a lathi. Subsequent conduct should be taken into account in judging his case. I hold that the discharge of Abdul Sukkur was justified.

Ackowri Bose.—No. 11 Ackowri Bose who was discharged on 23rd June 1950 went to beat the Manager and pushed him in connection with the complaint regarding Provident Fund Pass Books on 17th April 1950. He was one of the 11 workmen who were suspended in consequence, the order of suspension being subsequently withdrawn. D.W. 8 submitted a report to the Manager (Exhibit 1a) on 22nd April 1950 stating that Ackowri Bose threatened and insulted him in order to prevent him from doing work. A criminal case started in this connection was subsequently withdrawn in consequence of the agreement, dated 26th April 1950. Ackowri Bose was one of the workmen who rushed into the Manager's office after beating the Manager on 25th April 1950 in connection with a complaint about bad tea. D.W. 2, a Weaving Supervisor, made a complaint about negligence and discipline against this workman in his report, dated 3rd May 1950 (Exhibit 1b). With these antecedents this workman took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. I hold that the discharge in his case was justified.

Shyama Pada Patra.—No. 12 Shyama Pada Patra who was discharged on 23rd June 1950, took a prominent part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. The evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, shows that he was inciting other workmen to go on strike in the weaving shed, and he was obviously one of the ringleaders. I hold that the discharge in this case was justified.

Gour Ch. Saha.—No. 13 Gour Ch. Saha who was discharged on 2 June 1950 took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. There is other evidence against him. I consider that the evidence against workman is insufficient and the Management committed an error of judgment in discharging him.

Kartick Pado Sen Gupta.—No. 14 Kartick Pado Sen Gupta too prominent part in the affair of wrongfully confining the Managing Director in the Preparatory Department on 24th April 1950 and he was specifically mentioned as one of the culprits in the report of the Police (Exhibit With this antecedent this workman took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. I hold that his discharge was justified.

Dharam Singh.—No. 15 Dharam Singh who was discharged on 7th June 1950 took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. There is no evidence against him, and I consider the evidence in this case to be sufficient. I am of opinion that the Management committed an error of judgment in discharging Dharam Singh.

Jaydev Ch. Jana.—No. 16 Jaydev Ch. Jana took a prominent part in creating trouble with regard to Provident Fund Pass Books on 17th April 1950, and he was one of the 11 workmen who were suspended in that connection, the order of suspension being subsequently withdrawn. He took a prominent part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950, and the evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, shows that he was inciting other workmen to go on strike in the Preparatory Department, and was evidently one of the ringleaders. I hold that the discharge in his case was justified.

Suvash Ch. Banerjee.—No. 17 Suvash Ch. Banerjee who was discharged on 23rd June 1950, was accused by D.W. 8 in his report, dated 22nd April 1950 (Exhibit I), alleging that he threatened and insulted him to prevent him from doing work. A Police case started in this connection was withdrawn in consequence of the agreement, dated 26th April 1950. On 26th April 1950 Suvash Ch. Banerjee was one of the workmen who rushed to the Manager's office after beating the durwans in connection with a complaint about bad tea. This workman took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. I hold that the discharge in this case was justified.

Sanat Kumar Chatterjee.—No. 18 Sanat Kumar Chatterjee who was discharged on 23rd June 1950, was one of the 11 workmen who were suspended in connection with the incident on 17th April 1950 regarding Provident Fund Pass Books, the order of suspension being subsequently withdrawn in consequence of the agreement, dated 26th April 1950. This workman took a prominent part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950 and the evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, shows that he was inciting other workmen to go on strike in the weaving shed and evidently he was one of the ringleaders. I hold that the discharge in this case was justified.

Shyamadas Bairagi.—No. 19 Shyamadas Bairagi who was discharged on 23rd June 1950 took a prominent part in the trouble about Provident Fund Pass Books on 17th April 1950 and he was one of the men who pushed the Manager. He took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950 and the evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, shows that he was one of the ringleaders inciting other workmen to go on strike in the Preparatory Department. The evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, further shows that on 31st July 1950 Shyamadas Bairagi took a very prominent part in assaulting the Manager inasmuch as he struck him on the face and pulled him down from the motor van. I hold that the discharge in this case was justified.

Kalipado Gope.—No. 20 Kalipado Gope who was discharged on 23rd June 1950, took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. There is no evidence against him. I consider that the evidence in this case is sufficient and the Management committed an error of judgment in discharging him.

Anil Kumar Barik.—No. 21 Anil Kumar Barik who was discharged on 6th June 1950, took part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950. There is other evidence against him. I consider that the evidence in this case is insufficient and the Management committed an error of judgment in discharging him.

Sunil Kumar Mukherjee.—No. 22 Sunil Kumar Mukherjee took a prominent part in the trouble in connection with Provident Fund Pass Books 17th April 1950 and went to beat the Manager and pushed him. He was one of the 11 workmen who were suspended in that connection, the order of suspension being subsequently withdrawn in consequence of the agreement. The Supervisor, D.W. 2, brought charges of negligence and discipline in his report, dated 3rd May 1950 (Exhibit D). This workman took a prominent part in the illegal strike on 6th June 1950 and the evidence of the Manager, D.W. 9, shows that he was one of the ringleaders inciting workmen to go on strike in the weaving shed. I hold that the discharge in his case was justified.

7. In the light of the above findings I decide that the orders of discharge in respect of the 17 workmen other than No. 6 Sarada Prasad Chatterjee, No. 13 Gour Ch. Saha, No. 15 Dharam Singh, No. 20 Kalipado Gope and No. 21 Anil Kumar Barik as mentioned in appendix A, should be interfered with. I hold that the orders of discharge in respect of 5 persons just named were not justified, and these orders should be set aside. I direct that No. 6 Sarada Prasad Chatterjee, No. 13 Gour Ch. Saha, No. 20 Kalipado Gope and No. 21 Anil Kumar Barik be reinstated with effect from 23rd June 1950 and be paid all wages, allowances, bonuses and other benefits which they would be entitled to if they had been in service on and from 23rd June 1950 up to the date of reinstatement. I further direct that No. 15 Dharam Singh be reinstated and be paid all wages, allowances, bonuses and other benefits which he would be entitled to if he had been in service on and from 7th July 1950 up to the date of reinstatement.

8. Having thus disposed of the case of the persons under appendix A, I proceed to deal with the list of 39 persons under appendix B. There is a clear distinction between the discharged persons under appendix A and the persons shown in appendix B. The services of the discharged persons were terminated by the action of the Company, and in the cases in which the Company's action has been found to be unjustified an order of reinstatement and compensation has been passed. The cases of the persons under appendix B stands on an entirely different footing, in so far as they are barred from returning to their jobs although they were invited by the Company to do so, and they went on a second illegal strike. Practically all the persons under appendix B discharged themselves by their own action, as distinguished from any action taken by the Company. The Company has now taken new recruits in the vacancies created in consequence of the second illegal strike. It will not be just and fair to the new recruits to let them be discharged for making room for the old employees who did not return to work in time. The Company has stated that a few of the persons under appendix B have already been taken in and has given an undertaking that the others as and when vacancies may arise. I direct that these persons under appendix B, who have not already been taken in, shall be engaged by the Company as and when vacancies may arise.

AWARD.

By an order No. 6406Lab., dated 10th November 1950, the Government of West Bengal referred the dispute between Messrs. On the 4th January 1951, the date to which this case was adjourned for hearing, the parties settled the matter amicably and filed a compromise petition as per annex. The case is accordingly disposed of and I direct that the compromise contained in the Appendix will form part of my award.

the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Britannia Building and Iron Co., Ltd., and Holmes Wilson & Co., Ltd., Stephen House, 4, Dalhousie Square East, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Association of Employees' Unions, Commercial Buildings, Block No. 3, 2nd Floor, 23, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta.

PRESENT :

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

sent for the Company : Sri M. K. Kalani, Secretary of the Company.

sent for the Association : Sri Jiten Banerjee, Joint Secretary, Association of Employees' Unions.

AWARD.

1 Acting under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Government of West Bengal, by its order No. 4901Lab., dated the 1st September 1950, referred the aforesaid dispute to Sri S. C. Bhattacharya, District Judge, for adjudication. As, after a time, his services were no longer available, the dispute was referred to me for adjudication by my order No. 6316Lab., dated the 6th November 1950, under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947).

2 The case was received here on the 14th November 1950. It was fixed for the 24th November 1950 for appearance. Then the hearing date was fixed for the 18th December 1950. On that date Sri M. K. Kalani, Secretary of the Company, produced a copy of letter No. 10/50, dated 20th November 1950 from the Assistant Secretary of the Union addressed to the Association of Employees' Unions, requesting the latter to drop the case of Sri Sudhir Chandra Mahtta, Sri Jiten Banerjee, Secretary of the Association of Employees' Unions, admitted before me the receipt of the said letter but asked the Tribunal for an adjournment to enable the employee to represent the case before the Tribunal. Accordingly the case was adjourned to 28th December 1950, for hearing. None of the parties did appear on that day, and no prayer for adjournment been filed. So it may very well be presumed that no adjudication is called for. A "no-dispute" award is accordingly filed. I have not referred to the issues in the case as unsuitable.

G. PALIT,

Chairman of the Tribunal.

Office of the Accountant-General, West Bengal*NOTIFICATIONS.

Subject:—Instructions regarding bills payable the Accountant-General, West Bengal, with the current financial year.

No. TM/220.—19th January 1951.—In order to ensure payment before the close of the financial year, all travelling allowance, contingent and other bills payable within the year should, as far as practicable, be presented at the counter of this office by the 12th March 1951. The bills to be paid on or before the 31st March 1951 should be written prominently in red ink on top of each bill. In respect of charges actually incurred, or claims accruing on or after the 1st March, the bills should be presented with utmost expedition without losing even a single day. Please remember that during the last week of March this office is pre-occupied with the passing of monthly pay bills payable on the 1st working day of April.

2 Three clear days are required by this office to complete all processes connected with audit. On the fourth working day from the date of presentation of a bill, the payee or messenger should call at the delivery counter to demand payment. If for any reason payment cannot be obtained on that day, he should call on the next day, or on the second or third following day—should it become necessary. Any complaint regarding undue delay in payment should be lodged with the gazetted officer in charge of the section. No attempt should be made to come into direct touch with the sectional auditor.

3. It should be particularly borne in mind that unpassed bills are not returned by post. Bills are required to be received back at the counter on surrender of tokens.

4. Please take all possible care to ensure that bills presented are free from defects and irregularities. There may not be time for resubmitting the bills when once returned marked with audit objection.

5. It will facilitate the payment of bills if the following instructions are borne in mind—

- (a) If the appropriation for the current year is likely to be or has already been exhausted, an additional appropriation should be obtained in time to meet the requirements and the order sanctioning the additional appropriation attached to the bill.
- (b) If any charge requiring sanction of higher authority is claimed in a bill, sanction should be attached to it. As payment can be made on the production of copies of orders, the sanctioning authority should be requested to communicate the orders to this office in time.
- (c) If no distribution of any appropriated amount yet been made, formal orders of the competent authority sanctioning the distribution should be attached to the bill.
- (d) A bill extract giving particulars of the major, minor and detailed heads of account to which the amount of the bill is chargeable and the designation of the officer controlling the expenditure should invariably be attached to bills.

6. Between the 12th and the 31st March 1951 make it a point to check your Bill Register daily with a view to receive all payments in time.

7. As a special concession to payees, the Payment and Cheque Delivery Counter of this office will be kept open till 4-30 p.m. on the 31st March. No payment will be made after this hour.

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

For employers: SRI S. C. Sen, Advocate, assisted by Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader.

For employees: SRI Jitendra Nath Bannerji, Secretary of Association of Employees' Union.

AWARD.

The following points have been raised:—

1. Recognition of the Union, known as J.K.E.I. and V.S.C. Workers' Union, 78, Harrison Road, Calcutta.
2. Grades and scales of pay.
3. Dearness allowance.
4. Working hours and overtime.
5. Leave and holidays.
6. Medical aid.
7. Lifting.
8. Uniforms and umbrellas to the subordinate staff.
9. Bonus.
10. Recruitment Rules.
11. Retiring age and retiring benefits.
12. Service conditions.
13. Works Committee.
14. Continuity of service of 13 re-employed workmen.

Before I proceed to enter into the merit of the different points raised, I propose to discuss in brief the background against which the points involving financial commitments should be decided.

Messrs. J. K. Eastern Industries, Limited, are the Managing Agents of the Reform Flour Mills, Limited, and Messrs. Vita Supplies Corporation Limited, are the Managing Agents of Messrs. Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd. Practically only two concerns are involved in the dispute. The offices of these two concerns are situated in the same premises and the concerns run their business in co-operation with each other. The employees in the establishments in the Head Office filed by the Commission clearly show that none of the employees is earmarked for the work of a particular concern, although different employees are paid out of the funds of the different concerns. The employees do the office works of all the concerns in common division of the departments for all the concerns together. A member of the staff operating in the Pay Roll of a particular concern does all the works of both the concerns relating to the department in which he is attached. This scheme is in a way beneficial to the work of both concerns. When there is surplus in the staff on account of a fall in the business of a particular concern, retrenchment may not be necessary, if there is sufficient work for the other concern. Retrenchment is called for only when there is diminution in the business hence in the works of the two concerns together, and in such circumstances retrenchment affects the staff of both the concerns in their totality and is not limited to any group of work connected with any particular concern alone when sufficient work is wanting.

This aspect of an employment requires a uniformity in the grades, scales of pay and other service conditions of the employees employed by both the concerns, without which there is every possibility of discontent among the employees. In laying down such a uniformity for the employees of both the concerns, we must not prescribe anything which is absolutely beyond the reach of the concern which is financially weaker, having regard to the terms and conditions of service prevalent in commercial firms in the neighbourhood. The financial position of the concern which is a large profits should not be our sole guide when we revise the terms and conditions of service in the two concerns and lay down in single uniformity. It is hoped that with the fall in the business, hence a decrease in the work of any particular concern and with the rise in the business and increase in the work of the other concern, an adjustment will be conveniently made by the employers by a reduction of the strength in the Pay Roll of the losing concern and a corresponding increase in the strength in the Pay Rolls of the more prosperous concern by transfer of some employees from one to the other as they have been hitherto working without any division of labour for the two concerns.

Prior to the present reference there had been a previous award made in an industrial dispute between the parties over the retrenchment of employees. The award was given by my learned colleague Sri M. C. Banerji, District Judge, and it was published in the Calcutta Gazette on 11 November 1950, under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6048Lab., dated the 12th October 1950. From this award we get a picture of the industry.

The Companies have filed audited balance-sheets for the half year ending on 31st December 1948 for the Reform Flour Mills, Ltd., and for the half year ending on 30th April 1949 for the Snow White Food Products Ltd. The balance-sheet for the next half year ending on 30th June 1949 was also filed before Sri M. C. Banerji in the adjudication proceedings, already referred to. I had an opportunity to look into it. These balance-sheets show that the Reform Flour Mills, Ltd., earned some profit up to 30th June 1949 and paid dividend to the ordinary shareholders at 6 per cent. per annum. I admitted that the employees got two months' wages as bonus in two months in a year for at least the last three years. This works out to be ent. of their yearly basic emoluments. The Reform Flour Mills, Ltd., appears to have been generous in the matter of payment of bonus. Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., had an accumulated profit of Rs. 23,013-14-6 earned prior to the year ending on 30th April 1947. In the year ending on 30th April 1947 the Company sustained a loss of Rs. 20,354-0-3. After adjustment the Company had been left with Rs. 9,472-14-3 out of the accumulated profit of the past years. In the following year the Company earned a profit of Rs. 88,698-6-3. Out of this amount Rs. 5,660 was paid as commission to the Managing Agents. It may be noted that although the workmen were paid some bonus, no dividend was paid to the share-holders and the Managing Agents relinquished their claim for a good portion of their legitimate commission. Annexure A to this award is an abstract indicating the financial position of the two concerns as audited by the audited balance-sheets. The following extracts from the Managing Agents' report indicating the position of the business may be of some interest.

Particulars of the report.

Director's report.

Reform Flour Mills, Ltd., report for the year ending on 31st December 1948.

Supplies of wheat during the period under review showed an improvement as compared with the previous half year. Your mill continued to work under the scheme of West Bengal Government.

Reform Flour Mills' report for half year ending on 30th June 1949.

The supply of wheat and disposal of wheat product (excluding bran) continued under Government control and your mill worked 66 per cent. of its capacity during the half year under review.

Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., report for the year ending on 30th April 1947.

Due to uneconomical price of manufactured product fixed by the Controller to which several representations were made to Government through the Vanaspathi Manufacturers' Association of which your Company is a member, and in spite of this adequate protection was not given, and your Company was compelled to close down the factory for 30 days during February and March 1947 for short supply of raw material and 30 days during April 1947 pursuant to the agreement reached by all the members of the Association. As a result of this the trading result of your Company was seriously affected.

Managing Agents have foregone Rs. 1,12,144-6-6, being their commission on sales due to them for the year.

Particulars of the Report.

Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., for the year ending on 30th April 1948.

Directors' Report.

During the period under review trading result showed an improvement in spite of the difficulty in securing raw material at high prices prevailing then and increase in excise duty from Rs. 5 to Rs. 7 per cwt. from March 1948.

The Managing Agents have received Rs. 30,340, being their commission on the net profit and have accepted Rs. 5,000

The financial position of the Flour Mills is not bad but that of the concern is not very satisfactory. These reports of the Directors corroborated by the award of Sri M. C. Banerji to which I have now referred. I quote below some of the observations of Sri M. C. Banerji—

"There is evidence to show that this Company have been experiencing great difficulties in carrying on its manufacture of Vanaspathi, owing to the fact that price of finished products of Vanaspathi is controlled by Government while that of the raw materials, namely, ground-nut oil, used in manufacture of Vanaspathi was not controlled and was gradually rising. From this award we get that under the circumstances, the Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., has no other alternative than to close down on more than one occasion in 1949 and 1950. The learned Adjudicator Sri M. C. Banerji referred to a representation by the manufacturers of Vanaspathi to the Hon'ble Acting Premier and Minister of Commerce, Industry and Finance, Government of West Bengal, praying for relief against the unreasonable fixation of the controlled price of finished product while the price of necessary raw material was not controlled and was rising in the market. The representation indicated the position of the industry in detail and invited the attention of the Government to the fact that in view of the heavy loss which the deputationists would suffer, they would not have any other alternative than to close down the factory if adequate relief by Government interference was not forthcoming. The learned Adjudicator also referred to a copy of the daily Amrita Bazar Patrika, dated 20th August 1949, in which the Director of Messrs. N. R. Sarkar & Co., Ltd., Managing Agent of Hindustan Development Corporation, Ltd., manufacturers of Rosogolla of Vanaspathi, made a statement to the press emphasising the difficulties represented by the manufacturers of Vanaspathi to the Government of West Bengal. Evidence was led before Sri M. C. Banerji to show that at existing state of things each ton of Vanaspathi involved a loss of Rs. 24. Then the learned Adjudicator observed: "From what has been discussed above, it is clear that the Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., could not continue its manufacturing activities with effect from September 1949. I closure of the mills resulted in laying off a large number of menial workmen in the factory. The cessation of the manufacture of the product would necessarily affect the works of the Head Office. In these circumstances, it appears to me that the Company discharged the employees on 31st August 1949 by way of retrenchment of staff, which were surplus to its requirements and with a view to restore its financial equilibrium".

Against this background the disputes involving financial commitments should be settled. I shall now take up the different points raised before me by one by one.

Point No. 1.—Recognition of the Union.

different machinery has been prescribed by the amended Trade Unions or enforcing recognition of a registered trade union. Under the Act, recognised trade unions have the right to negotiate. This Tribunal, application, has no jurisdiction to enforce recognition of trade unions. Right to negotiate follows the recognition of the trade unions by the, as a matter of course. This Tribunal cannot and should not any claim for such a right, for that will be indirectly enforcing tion. This point is accordingly left undecided.

Points Nos. 2 and 3.—Grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance.

must be made clear at the very outset that only the employees of the office at 18, Netaji Subhas Road, are involved in the present adjudication. The Companies have no fixed grades and scales, but pay and dearness allowance according to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme. The members of the subordinate staff are paid a fixed dearness allowance of Rs. 52. It is desirable that all the mercantile firms in Calcutta shall have substantially similar scales and grades of pay and dearness allowance and our idea is to conform substantially to the grades and scales as laid down in the award for the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. Some have been made for some firms having regard to the existing conditions and scales and other service conditions in those firms as also to the demands of the workmen. The Union's demands have been detailed in the award. A to its written statement. The demands under heads "Basic and scales and dearness allowance" are as follows:—

employees should be given the basic salary, yearly increments and the time to be reached to the period of 20 years' service as follows:—

Group "A"—Rs. 80—10—150—12½—250 (clerical staff, typists, draftsmen)

Group "B"—Rs. 100—12½—200—15—350 (Stenographer, Comptometer, Draftsmen).

Group "A"—Rs. 30—2—50—3—80 (bearers and peons).

Group "B"—Rs. 45—2½—60—4—80 (durwans).

Group "C"—Rs. 70—2—90—3—120 (drivers).

Increment should be made to employees with a longer record of service, should be categorised and fixed in, annual increment should follow the grade of employees when not taken to higher grades shall be allowed increment of the grade.

Dearness allowance should be given according to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme to all categories of employees.

Many of the commercial firms in Calcutta were following the recommendation of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce about the basic salary and allowances of the clerical and subordinate staffs. The recommendation of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce prior to the award for the award was based on certain figures of the weekly periodical Capital about the pre-war cost of living for a middle class family and rise in the cost since then. We had an occasion to investigate the Capital on the point in the case of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. Capital made no allowance for accommodation on the idea that clerks live mostly in their own houses. Even if they require periodical repairs and municipal taxes have to be paid.

In calculating a fair living wage, the cost of accommodation must be taken into account without reference to the private property of an employee, any, ancestral or self-acquired. We accordingly raised the minimum ~~minimum~~ on the wage-scales by adding Rs. 10 on account of the house allowance. Both parties have filed a detailed list about the basic wages, dearness allowance paid to the individual employees. These two lists do not agree with each other about the names of the personnel and the number. It may be noted that there is no discrepancy in the two statements about the basic salary and dearness allowance of the employees and names are found in both the lists. The list filed by the Companies shows that the lowest basic salary of the clerk is Rs. 60 and that of the mental is Rs. 16. The original and the revised grades and scales for Bengal Chamber of Commerce are given below:—

Original grades and scales.	Grades and scales as awarded
A Grade—Rs. 150—10—250 ..	Rs. 160—10—260.
B Grade—Rs. 100—7—170 ..	Rs. 110—7—180.
C Grade—Rs. 60—4—124 ..	Rs. 70—4—134.
Typists—Rs. 70—8—150—E.B.—10—250.	Rs. 80—8—160—E.B.—10—

The grades and scales as detailed in the right hand column were adopted for most of the firms. In the majority of the commercial firms stenographers and comptometers were directed to be placed not below Grade B and not below Grade C. I mention below the grades and scales for some firms where some deviations were made. Special grades were always at the discretion of employers.

Messrs. Gillanders Arbuthnot and Co., Ltd.

Grade A—Rs. 100—8—140—E.B.—8—180—10—260.

Grade B—Rs. 70—4—130—E.B.—5—150—E.B.—5—175

Messrs. Anderson & Wright Co., Ltd.

Rs. 70—4—130—E.B.—5—170—E.B.—10—260.

Messrs. Birmingre Brothers, Limited.

Rs. 70—5—100—E.B.—7—135—E.B.—10—205—E.B.—15—240

In all the firms typists were to begin with Rs. 70 and Stenographers Comptometers with Rs. 100. Consistent with the demands of the firm in the present case I lay down the following grades and scales for non-clerical staff. Special: One and more special grades starting at Rs. 260 or more may be created by the employers, the ceilings and scales of increments whereof shall be at the discretion of the employers:—

Grade A—Rs. 100—8—140—E.B.—8—180—E.B.—10—260

Grade B—Rs. 70—4—130—E.B.—5—150—E.B.—5—175

Stenographers and Comptometers shall be placed in Grade A and in Grade B. Increments within the grade up to the efficiency bar are automatic. Each and every employee shall, on proof of efficiency and satisfaction of the employers, be entitled to cross the efficiency bar. If any year an employee fails to cross the efficiency bar, he shall not be presently disqualified for further promotion. He shall be entitled to agency bar on proof of efficiency in any subsequent year, and the employers will decide if the employee is entitled to get back the position he would have been entitled to if he had not been held up, in which case he shall be entitled to increments consistent with the total length of his service without retrospective claim.

Grading of the different categories of workmen depends upon proper job valuation which is the exclusive function of the employers. The scheme adopted by the employers should not be disturbed unless and until it is established that classifications adopted by the employers are arbitrary and badly laid out. The nomenclatures of the different jobs do not by themselves indicate the value of the job. The work-loads are not uniform throughout.

Proper adjustment of the value of a job, the work-load in the particular job must be known. The work-load for each and every individual workman in a particular concern can be ascertained only by a close study of skill, efficiency, intricacy, strain and volume of the works of each individual workman for a fairly considerable period of time. This is not the job of a Judge of the Industrial Tribunal. I accordingly leave the grading of different categories of workmen to the employers with the exception of Stenographers and Comptometers who shall be placed in Grade A or Grade B. It is however recommended that those employees whose present basic pay is higher than the maximum of any grade shall be placed in the next higher grade and that in grading the different categories of workmen, the practice obtaining in neighbouring concerns and the strain and skill involved in the works of the employees concerned shall be taken into account.

In view of the financial position of the Snow White Food Products Co., it will not be possible to adopt here wholly the scheme adopted in the majority of the commercial firms for fixing the employees into the graded grades and scales. I lay down a slightly modified scheme. I need only impress upon the workmen that the benefit which is extended to them is related to the conditions obtaining at the time when the benefit was given. It is absurd to think that whatever improvement is introduced the benefit of the employees should be given effect to 20 or 30 years.

If the benefit is to be extended with retrospective effect so far back as 20 or 30 years, most of the commercial firms will collapse.

I lay down the following rules for fitting the existing employees into the graded grades and scales:—

1. Those employees who are getting less than the minimum of their respective grades shall be pulled up to the minimum.

2. Those who are getting less than Rs. 130 but completed 4 years of service on or more on 1st January 1950 shall be given one increment in their respective grades. This rule shall not apply to the employees coming under rule 1 if they have been given more than Rs. 4 to pull them up to the minimum of their respective grades.

3. An employee whose basic salary was on the relevant date more than he would have been entitled to if he had been initially started with the minimum and had got the annual increment regularly, shall not be entitled to an increment provided under rule 2.

4. In all cases where the basic salary of a clerk does not reconcile with the minimum in his grade, he shall be placed at the next higher stage.

5. This adjustment shall not affect the right of any employee to get his annual increment which was to be due on 1st January 1951.

Annexure B will show the basic salary of the employees on 1st January 1950 after adjustment. If any workman has been left out, his pay shall be adjusted according to the aforesaid rules. I do not propose to award arrears of pay in favour of the employees beyond 1st January 1951. The basic salary on 1st January 1950 shall be fixed according to the direct rates given above and they shall be given the usual increment in their respective grades on 1st January 1951. This shall be the basic salary on 1st January 1951, and each and every workman shall be entitled to basic salary at that rate with effect from 1st January 1951. This is for the clerical staff. I shall also continue to get dearness allowance according to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme.

The minimum total emoluments of a member of the subordinate staff is Rs. 68, being composed of a minimum basic salary of Rs. 16 and a dearness allowance of Rs. 52. Our idea had been to fix the minimum total emoluments of a member of the subordinate staff at Rs. 60—Rs. 3 basic salary and Rs. 30 as dearness allowance. The cost of living in Calcutta having since gone up the minimum dearness allowance has been raised in some industrial firms to Rs. 36. Thus, the total emoluments of a member of the subordinate staff do not call for any revision, but the total emoluments shall be distributed for basic salary and dearness allowance in such a way that the minimum basic salary is not less than Rs. 30. I accordingly propose to increase the basic salary by Rs. 14 and reduce the dearness allowance by the same amount. Although I am not able to increase the total emoluments of a member of the subordinate staff, the scheme which I have proposed will bring in some positive benefit to them in respect of bonus and Provident Fund. I accordingly lay down the following scales and grades:—

Peons—Rs. 30—1—45.

Durwans—Rs. 40—1—55.

Drivers—Rs. 70—2—120.

If the basic salary of any member is in between two stages of his grade, he shall be placed at the next higher stage. The basic salary and dearness allowance of the existing members of the subordinate staff shall be detailed in Annexure B to this award. They shall be entitled to one increment in their respective grades on and from 1st January 1951. New entrants shall get basic salary according to the scales laid down in this award and dearness allowance at Rs. 38 per mensem.

The grades and scales laid down in this award are for full-time employees of the Companies and shall not apply to part-time employees, whose basic salary and dearness allowance shall be fixed by negotiations. Any workman whose duty is allied to engineering works, e.g., electrician, etc., shall get dearness allowance as laid down by the Major Engineering Tribunal. This award will avoid future trouble the basic salary and dearness allowance of an employee shall be separately indicated where dearness allowance has already been consolidated with basic salary.

Point No. 4.—Working hours and overtime.

The Association of Employees' Union does not press the demand for the working hours.

Overtime payments for works on Sundays and holidays and beyond scheduled hours on week-days shall be according to the Shops and Establishments Act. The Association has no objection if the leniency which has hitherto been shown for late attendance of employees is withdrawn.

Point No. 5.—Leave and holidays.

The demand for holidays is not pressed. The existing system shall continue. The Association demanded leave facilities similar to those which have been awarded for Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co., Ltd. The business present firm specially of the Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., not be compared with that of Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co., Ltd. The learned Advocate is however agreeable to adopt the following scheme of Privilege leave for all employees less than one year's service—Nil.

From one year's service up to ten years' service—14 days for each completed year of service to be accumulated up to 28 days (full pay and dearness allowance).

Over ten years' service—28 days for each completed year of service to be accumulated up to 56 days (full pay and dearness allowance).

Casual leave on full pay—7 days per annum non-cumulative (full pay and dearness allowance).

Sick leave—14 days on half pay and half dearness allowance for each completed year of service cumulative up to 6 months in the entire service.

Point No. 6.—Medical aid.

Medical facilities of the people in general are responsibilities of the State. The employees of the Head Office of the present firms are employed in Calcutta. There is nothing to show that by reason of their employment they are denied the facilities offered by the State in common with other men. Employees are called upon to make special arrangements where there is risk of the employees contracting some disease peculiar to the industry. There is no sufficient material on the record to show if the workers of this industry have any risk of contracting any disease peculiar to the industry, or if there is any such risk what that disease is. If there is any such risk, action should be taken by the employers, according to the directions of the Chief Inspector of Factories and the Companies shall bear the entire cost of treatment of the worker for such occupational disease. If there is no such risk, the Association of the Employees' Union will do well to approach the Chief Inspector of Factories. In view of the financial position of the two concerns and in view of the fact that a very small number of employees are employed at the Head Office of the two concerns, it is not desirable to direct the employers to make any separate arrangement for medical treatment of the employees.

Point No. 7.—Tiffin.

A healthy pay scheme includes provision for tiffin. If any concern gives to the employees over and above a fair basic salary and dearness allowance, the concession is nothing but ex gratia, and is outside the scope of arbitration proceedings.

Point No. 8.—Uniforms and umbrellas.

Proper uniforms shall be provided to members of the subordinate staff. The management shall keep some umbrellas for use of the members of subordinate staff when they are sent outside the Head Office on duty. Members of the subordinate staff shall put on the uniforms that may be issued to them.

Point No. 9.—Bonus.

At Reform Flour Mills have been paying to the employees of the Head Office two months' basic salary as bonus in two instalments in a year. The Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., could not, in view of the position of its employees, pay sufficient bonus to its employees. It is desirable that the conditions of the two concerns in the Head Office shall be uniform. The learned Advocate for the employers assures me, during the hearing, that one month's basic salary will be paid to the employees per annum as a bonus and prays that anything over and above one month's basic salary may be left to the discretion of the employers. I accept the assurance of the learned Advocate and direct that one month's basic salary shall be paid as bonus every year. If the profits justify any further payment, no further payments may be made at the discretion of the employers according to the definite principle which shall be notified when the bonus is declared so that there may not be any ground for dissatisfaction on the part of any section of the employees. The existing conditions must be satisfied before a workman is entitled to bonus. These are as detailed below. Six months' permanent service on the date of declaration of bonus qualifies a workman for full bonus declared in the year, and an employee with less than six months' permanent service shall be entitled to proportionate bonus i.e., in the proportion of his total length of permanent service in the year up to the date of declaration of bonus to six months. Gross misconduct may disqualify a workman for bonus by way of punishment in which case the procedure laid down for punishment shall be gone through.

Point No. 10.—Recruitment Rules.

The following rules are laid down which shall guide the employers in making recruitments:—

- (1) Retrenched employees if qualified shall have the prior claim.
- (2) Other things being equal preference should be given to relations of employees retired or in service.

Between relations of employees, the appointment shall go to the most qualified.

- (3) In the matter of employment to the higher grades of clerical promotion from the lower grade shall be the rule. Recruitment from outside shall be made only when men of the required calibre are not available amongst the existing staff. There should not be any bar in the rules to the clerks from being promoted to an Officer's grade and I recommend that a clerk if found fit for a post in the Officer's grade should be given opportunity to fill up the post. This is expected to create a healthy atmosphere in the clerical staff. For promotion from the clerical grade to the selection grade and Officer's grade, I may lay down the principles for consideration of the Companies:—

- (1) Seniority should usually be respected.
- (2) Senior man should be passed over only when he is not considered suitable for such promotion.

- (3) Suitability of a man for such promotion depends upon—

- (i) present efficiency;
- (ii) past records of both about conduct and efficiency of work;
- (iii) health at the time of promotion;
- (iv) period he has yet to serve before retirement.

If a higher job has a long-term programme, a man nearing retirement cannot be expected to complete the programme.

- (v) Nature of the job. There may be some job which may need energetic youngman rather than old but experienced man.

There shall also be no bar to members of the subordinate staff being promoted to the clerical grade provided they are found fit for the work.

Point No. 11.—Retiring age and retiring benefits.

The age of retirement is fixed at 55 irrespective of the length of service. On the application of an employee, if he is physically fit, the employers shall have the discretion of granting an extension for one year at a time not exceeding five years. Those who are in service on this day may be permitted to continue in service till they complete the 58th year of their service provided they are still fit. They shall also be entitled to extension of service they complete the 60th year of their age according to the principles stated above.

It has been the convention of the Industrial Tribunals to make some exceptions for old age of employees. This convention is based on equity. Reform Flour Mills, Limited, has a Provident Fund Scheme. This has not been recognised by the Income-tax Department. I direct that the Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd., shall also start a Provident Fund. The Provident Fund for the two concerns shall be extended to all employees of the concerns in the Head Office. Each and every member shall contribute 10 per cent of their basic salary and at the end of each year the employers shall make an equal contribution. The rules framed by the Government for industrial workers shall as far as practicable be adopted. The existing rules of the Reform Flour Mills, Limited, shall be amended to conform to the Model Rules framed by the Government as far as practicable. For the period of service of any employee prior to the introduction of the Provident Fund, each employee shall get gratuity at half month's basic pay for each year of service subject to a maximum of 15 months' pay. For the purpose of calculation of this gratuity the basic salary on the day just before the Provident Fund was introduced or is going to be introduced shall be taken as the basis. The Provident Fund for the Snow White Food Products Co., Ltd. shall be started and the rules for the Reform Flour Mills, Limited, shall be revised within six months from the date of enforcement of this order. Attempt shall be made as early as possible to get the Provident Fund of the two concerns recognised by the Income-tax Department. The demand for leave preparatory to retirement was not pressed.

Point No. 12.—Service conditions.

Probationary period.

Probationary period shall not ordinarily exceed six months, although termination may be made earlier if the candidate is found suitable. If, on expiry of six months, a candidate is not found suitable, the probationary period may be extended for a further period of six months on the non-application of the candidate. Probationers shall not be entrusted to temporary hands. A temporary hand may be employed for a limited period to execute work of an essentially temporary nature likely to be completed within a limited period. This shall be noted in the letter of appointment. If after completion of such work such employees are retained for the regular work, he shall be absorbed in the regular staff, either as a permanent employee or as a probationer, according to his skill and efficiency. If he is retained as a probationer, the period he has worked as a temporary hand shall be taken into account and credited against the period of probation necessary for confirmation. It is however made clear that such a worker may continue to be employed as a temporary hand to execute more temporary works after completion of the temporary work for which he was initially employed. The service of a temporary worker may be terminated without any notice or compensation on expiry of the term or on completion of the work for which he was employed.

Service Record.

Regular service records of the employees should be maintained properly. Remarks against an employee may be incorporated in the service record only after a proper notice has been given to the employee concerned and an explanation has been considered.

Retrenchment.

The matters of bona fide retrenchment "last come, first go" shall be the guiding principle. Deviation from this accepted principle is permissible in consideration of comparative efficiency of the employees, their conduct and other factors. The Union demands that there should not be any retrenchment. It has not disputed the sufficiency of the notice or compensation which the Company allow to a retrenched worker.

Discharge, dismissal and punishment.

I lay down the following rules for enquiry into the misconduct of an employee and for punishment:—

(1) A written charge shall be framed against the employee in fault and it should be handed over to him specifying the facts on which the charge is based in good time to enable him to prepare his defence.

(2) Then a date shall be fixed for enquiry sufficiently ahead with due notice to the employee concerned. An opportunity should be given to him to defend himself either by himself or by official of the Union or by a bona fide lawyer. He should be given facilities to examine and cross-examine the witnesses.

(3) If the charge is disproved, no punishment shall be inflicted upon him except where the enquiring officer entertains a grave doubt about the honesty of the worker in which case he may be warned or discharged with usual notice and with usual compensation. If the charge is proved the employee shall be given such punishment as the offence proved justifies.

(4) The employee concerned may appeal against the recommendation of the head of the department who holds the enquiry both on merit and punishment to the local head, who shall pass the final orders after hearing the employee concerned and examining the materials on the record. In cases of punishment, previous record, if any, and other extenuating or aggravating circumstances shall be taken into account.

(5) Before an employee is awarded extreme punishment of dismissal the employers should consider whether a lighter punishment would have been sufficient in the circumstances of the case.

In case of grave misconduct and dishonesty affecting the interests of the industry, an employee may be suspended pending enquiry; but in no case before a specific charge is framed against him in writing. If he is exonerated of the charge, he shall be reinstated with full wages and other benefits he would have been entitled to during the period of suspension.

Point No. 13.—Works Committee.

Section 3 of the Industrial Disputes Act clearly indicates that the demand on this point cannot be entertained by an Industrial Tribunal. It is for the employees to move the Government on this point.

Point No. 14.—Continuity of service of 13 re-employed workmen.

In Annexure D to the written statement of the employees in Part I this demand has been detailed. With the exception of the first two employees mentioned in the list all employees appear to belong to the mill. The present reference relates only to employees of the Head Office. It is told that only Tarapada Sarkar, Harisankar Sarkar, Sarat Chandra Gul Roy and Lakshmi are employees attached to the Head Office and the Narendra Nath De was ordinarily a mill workman and was reappointed to the Head Office. The employers are agreeable to take into account the services of these five employees for the purpose of gratuity, Provident Fund and increments of pay. This assurance disposes of the employees' demand on this point.

ORDER.

No. 488Lab.—24th January 1951.—Whereas under the Government of Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2246Lab., dated the 5th May 1950, the industrial dispute between Mechpara Tea Estate, Kalchini post office, Dooars, Managing Agents: Messrs. McLeod & Co., Ltd., 3, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Secretary, Tea Garden Indian Employees' Association, Hamiltonganj, post office, Jalpaiguri, in connection with the case of Sri S. C. Biswas, was referred for adjudication to Sri M. C. Banerji, District Judge; and whereas the said Sri M. C. Banerji, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute; and, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, CALCUTTA.*PRESENT:

By MATISH CHANDRA BANERJI, District Judge, Tribunal.

Industrial dispute between Mechpara Tea Estate, Kalchini post office, Dooars, Managing Agents: Messrs. McLeod & Co., Ltd., 3, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Secretary, Tea Garden Indian Employees' Association, Hamiltonganj, post office, Jalchini, Jalpaiguri, in connection with the case of Sri S. C. Biswas.

AWARD.

The Government of West Bengal in the Department of Labour by order No. 488Lab., dated 5th May 1950, referred, under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the industrial dispute between Mechpara Tea Estate, Kalchini post office, Dooars, Managing Agents: Messrs. McLeod & Co., Ltd., 3, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Secretary, Tea Garden Indian Employees' Association, Hamiltonganj, post office, Jalchini, Jalpaiguri, in connection with the case of Sri S. C. Biswas to me for adjudication.

Parties were issued on both parties and they filed written statements upon their respective cases.

The case of the Association is as follows:—

Sri S. C. Biswas, the discharged Garden-Babu of Mechpara Tea Estate, has been employed for over twelve years under the Company. As the Garden-Babu his duty is to supervise and allocate labour to various jobs including domestic work in bungalows and "basas". The bungalow and "basa" work comprising watering and cleaning the yard by men-labour and washing the tea-planting paddy, preparing fried rice, etc., by women-labour. It is a long standing custom obtaining in the tea gardens, both in the staff and Babu-employees get free services of garden labourers for domestic work as mentioned above and these labourers are employed on some regular garden work such as plucking of leaves, etc., in order to enable the Company to debit the wages of the labour so employed to the current expenses of the Company. The Garden-Babu by reason of his position in that garden, was not to receive day to day instructions from the Manager or any of his assistants in the matter of allocation of labour to domestic work in the bungalows or "basas". On 19th of August 1949 Sri S. C. Biswas allocated two women-labour such domestic work to his own "basa" and put them in the register engaged on garden work and actually doing the work of plucking tea leaves. On 5th September 1949 Sri Biswas received a letter in the form of a circular sheet from Acting Manager Mr. Poulton charging him with cutting women-labour on the 19th August for his domestic work and falsifying record by showing the said labourers as employed on garden duties demanding explanation for such conduct. By another notice on the same day Mr. Poulton suspended Sri S. C. Biswas. Sri S. C. Biswas submitted his explanation by 7th September 1949 stating that he had taken two women-labour for his household work and adjusted them as usual, and that this employment did not require a prior permission of the Manager, and that if it was considered improper he would take previous permission of the Manager in the future and adjust such labour according to instructions. On the 26th of September 1949 Sri Biswas was finally discharged by order of the Acting Manager Mr. Poulton, whereupon he appealed to Head Office Management for reconsideration of his case. The Head Office Management upheld the decision of the garden Manager Mr. Poulton and dismissed the appeal. Sri Biswas then approached the Secretary of Employees' Association to take up the matter as he considered that his discharge was wholly wrong and an outcome of grudge. The Association wrote to Messrs. McLeod & Co. and also approached the Labour Director for intervention. The Labour Directorate failed to effect any settlement of the dispute and recommended adjudication of the dispute by a Tribunal. The Association prays for reinstatement of Sri S. C. Biswas to his post with compensation for the period of non-employment. The Association prays for adequate steps against Mr. Poulton, directions assuring security of employees and improvement of working and living conditions including increase of wages, improvement of housing and medical and educational facilities, fixation of hours of work, leave, holidays, pension and a guarantee of freedom of association and movement.

The case of the Company as appearing on the written statement follows:—

Sickly or weak labourers or old labourers, who are not fit to do field work are engaged in cleaning factory compound, when necessary, according to the prevailing practice and the knowledge of the Manager and other Executives of the Company, is permitted ever since the establishment of the Tea Industry in Jalpaiguri district nearly 70 years ago. On such occasions, such as marriage or other ceremonies or for any other reason, if the Mahalan Officer recommends, such labourers mentioned above are allowed by the Manager to work in the houses of Indian staff and so on. This is shown under the head "Jungle Cutting". It is altogether misleading to suggest that the attendance of labourers can be shown as "plucking" which involves a gross and serious falsification of accounts. A tea garden has to maintain under orders of the Government for Excise purposes. On 19th August 1949 Sri S. C. Biswas showed that of the two women-labour employed in his house on the head of "plucking" with regard to over 92 lbs. green-leaf, which amounted to a falsification of the Company's principal accounts of production. Sri S. C. Biswas occupies a position of responsibility in the tea garden and should not be a good plucking woman to be employed in any work other than plucking in the height of the plucking season, in the month of August. Sri Biswas was discharged for falsifying the Company's books for his own ends. The plea that Mr. Poulton, the Acting Manager, bore any grudge against Sri S. C. Biswas was untrue. Sri S. C. Biswas had to be discharged.

of a misconduct by the Company in the exercise of the normal administration of the garden. The Company, therefore, prayed that the claim of the Association should be rejected and that Sri S. C. Biswas should be directed to vacate the quarters of the Company which he was permitted to occupy in performance of his duties as an employee of the Company.

Issues were framed on 20th June 1950.

As it was represented to me by both the parties that it would be convenient to them if the actual hearing of the case including the examination of witnesses was made at Jalpaiguri, the case was heard for five days at Jalpaiguri. On the 5th day of the hearing the Association filed the petition praying for an adjournment of the case on the ground that they were to examine some women witnesses in the Mechpara tea garden, who could not be produced at Jalpaiguri and prayed for the hearing to be continued at Mechpara tea garden. As it was not possible for me to go to Mechpara garden from Jalpaiguri at that time owing to difficulties of communication from Jalpaiguri and it was also represented to me by both the parties that the labourers in question would not be available at the time for the Dash Puja festivities, the hearing of the case was adjourned to a future date in the month of December 1950 to be fixed in Calcutta and to be referred to the parties by me. No further hearing of the case has been necessary as it will appear below that the case has been amicably settled by both the parties.

The appearances for the parties were as follows:—

For the Company: Sri B. Banerji, Lawyer for the Company, Mr. C. Weale, Chief Personnel Officer of Messrs. McLeod & Co., and Mr. H. E. Tyndale

For the Association: Sri Shib Nath Banerji, M.L.A., Sri J. N. Mitra, President of Tea Garden Indian Employees' Association, and Sri N. C. Chatak, Pleader, Jalpaiguri.

The issues framed are as follows:—

Issues.

- (1) (a) Was the discharge of Sri Sarat Chandra Biswas an instance of unfair labour practice on the part of the Company?
- (b) Is he entitled to reinstatement?
- (2) Is Sri Sarat Chandra Biswas entitled to any compensation?
- (3) Has the Tribunal jurisdiction to entertain the claim of the Union in regard to Issue No. 4?
- (4) General security of service of employees.

Decision.

Issues Nos. 1 to 4.—The hearing of the case at Jalpaiguri continued for six days and during this period nine witnesses for the Association and three for the Company were examined. A number of documents were submitted on both sides. There was an attempt of settlement of the case at Jalpaiguri which did not materialise. After I came back to Calcutta the counsel of the Company and the Association met twice before me and thanks to the wisdom and the helpful attitude of both the parties the Company and the Association arrived at a mutually honourable amicable settlement and filed a compromise petition before me on 11th January 1951. In this compromise petition which is made Appendix A of the award, the parties prayed for an award according to the terms embodied in it. I have perused the compromise petition and I am of opinion that the terms thereof should be accepted in settlement of the dispute referred to me and an award should be made accordingly. No decision of the issues is, therefore, called for and they are not answered.

I accept the terms of the compromise petition shown in Appendix and make my award accordingly. The compromise petition shall form part of the award.

President's Office,

Calcutta-26;

2nd January 1951.

IN THE COURT OF SRI M. C. BANERJI, Chairman, Industrial Tribunal, Government of West Bengal, Calcutta.

In the matter of industrial dispute between Messrs. McLeod & Co., Ltd. Managing Agents, Mechpara Tea Estate, and their employees represented by the Tea Garden Indian Employees' Association, and in the matter of the application of the Employees' Association praying for reinstatement of Sri S. C. Biswas with compensation and other remedies.

The joint petition of both the parties respectfully sheweth —

1. That the parties concerned on a suggestion by the Hon'ble Tribunal carried on talks with a view to arrive at a mutually honourable amicable settlement. The talks happily having ended fruitfully, a compromise formula has been arrived at, which is set forth in the following terms below :—

(a) That Sri S. C. Biswas be reinstated with retrospective effect to the date of his termination of service. He is posted as Garden-Raba Tasati Tea Garden (Empire of Indian and Ceylon Tea Co., Ltd. and the Agency of Messrs. McLeod & Co., Ltd.), in Western Doars.

(b) That the said Sri S. C. Biswas shall enjoy continuity of service at the period between 27th September 1949 to the date of his actual joining at Tasati shall be treated as special leave; and this period will be reckoned in his total service period except for purposes of leave.

(c) That the said Sri S. C. Biswas shall draw the same pay in the same pay scale and the same dearness allowance as he was drawing at Mechpara. He shall also get annual commission available at Tasati and for his salary.

which his total period of service dating from his appointment under Messrs. McLeod & Co., to the date of declaration of commission will be taken as the basis for calculation.

That Sri S. C. Biswas will enjoy rent-free quarter as is allotted to Chaitan-Babu of Tasuti and usual servant allowance and cheap grain etc.

That Sri S. C. Biswas shall get the usual Provident Fund benefit for which is understood to be different from that obtaining at Mechpara.

Messrs. McLeod & Co. kindly agrees to request the Trustees of the Provident Fund of Tasuti Garden to consider the case of Sri S. C. Biswas to contribute one and receive his accumulated Provident Fund in McLeod's Provident Staff Provident Scheme (his own contribution together with contribution of the Company) and grant him the benefit of sharing the benefit of the Company's contribution at Tasuti on the basis of the period of his continuous service.

That the Management of the Mechpara Tea Estate will pay Sri S. C. Biswas 50 per cent. of the total pay (salary, dearness allowance and other allowance available at Mechpara) from the date of his discharge to date of his joining at Tasuti. The Company also kindly agrees to pay full amount of the commission for 1949 and 1950, available at Mechpara Estate.

It is expected that there shall be no future recrimination by either on this issue and the Company kindly agrees to see that no discrimination is sought to be meted out to Sri S. C. Biswas by the authorities of the new garden; and the Association also kindly agrees that Sri S. C. Biswas will observe etiquette and a mode of conduct usual from an employee.

The both parties agreeing to the above clauses and principle pray to the Honorable Tribunal that the above compromise petition be granted and her hearing of the case be withdrawn and an award given incorporating above terms of amicable settlement.

Palit, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal the President, Mahaluxmi Cotton Mills Workers' Union, post office Palta, 24-Parganas, made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings;

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, made by the workmen represented by the Mahaluxmi Cotton Mills Workers' Union, post office Palta, 24-Parganas, against Messrs Mahaluxmi Cotton Mills, Ltd., post office Palta, 24-Parganas.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

PRESENT :

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

Present for the Company: Sri A. K. Das, Secretary of the Company

AWARD.

1. By an order, No. 6798Lab., dated the 27th November 1950, Government of West Bengal referred the aforesaid dispute to me for adjudication. While the adjudication proceeding is in progress, the said workers approached the Tribunal with an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended in 1950, complaining that the said Company has not allowed the persons mentioned in Annexure B to the said petition to resume their duties though they had been reporting for duty since 4th December 1950. The employees mentioned in Annexure C had also not been allowed to resume their duties since 12th December 1950. They are said to have been either ill or out of the station when the lock-out was lifted on the 4th December 1950. The contention of the Union is that this must have been done by the Company with an ulterior motive—(1) to discredit the Union and (2) to victimise the workmen for resorting to a strike and for their agitation for Provident Fund money. The Union has prayed for an order to allow the workmen to join their duties and for reinstatement in their original posts and for full wages for the period of forced unemployment.

2. The Managing Director has, by his letter, dated the 26th December 1950, stated that the employees will be paid their salaries from the date they had reported for duty and who have not been allowed to join after the 4th December 1950.

Coming to the facts of the case, I find that there was a strike by the workers which was followed by a lock-out declared by the Company. The Company has, by its order, dated 30th November 1950, prohibited under section 10(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act the continuance of this strike, and the lock-out thereafter was lifted on the 4th December 1950. The Company applied under section 33 of the Act for permission to dismiss the workers who did not turn up to join after the lifting of the lock-out. The Union contended that many of the workers have left the station, and it wanted the Tribunal to enable the workers to join. The Tribunal disposed of the application under section 33 by refusing the permission for mass dismissal. The present application under section 33A has been filed in this context.

I must find that this application under section 33A is a totally misdirected one. It is the admitted case of both the parties that as yet there has been no discharge of any of the workers who had joined the strike. However, the Secretary of the Company represents before me that there has been a resolution to readmit into service all the workers who are still on the lock-out. Also I get that all the workers have been readmitted into service. I do not see that any of the workers has been punished. The order of the Managing Director, dated the 26th December 1950, promises to pay wages to the workers from the dates they reported themselves for duty up to the workers who were not allowed to join work after the 4th December 1950. I think the contention of the learned Advocate on behalf of the Union that every one of the workers should be paid his salaries after the 4th December 1950 because they must be supposed to have been not allowed to join is contradictory. He must have taken cue of this date from the Company's counsel's statement before the Court. But had he cared to refer to his written statement, he would have seen that such contention is contradicted. In paragraph 8 of the written statement he has definitely stated that the persons mentioned in Annexure C to the petition were not allowed to resume their duties since the 12th December 1950 because they were either ill or out of the station. So it does not certainly lie in his mouth to say that everybody should be supposed to have been reporting for duty on the 4th December or on the 6th December 1950. The Company cannot take a better stand than what it has taken in respect to the workers. If this is punishment, I must say that the concept of punishment is something different from what it really is. The learned Advocate for the Union contends that the service conditions of the workers have been totally altered. This seems to have been mentioned in paragraph 9 of his written statement. But if that paragraph is looked into, it will be found that there has been, in fact, no prejudicial alteration of the service conditions. What has been stated there is no more than a mere fear or an apprehension. That certainly cannot attract section 33(a).

So I find that neither section 33(a) nor (b) has been contravened in the present case. So I award that the application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended in 1950, stands dismissed. I may only add that the application was absolutely a frivolous one, designed as a subterfuge to the application under section 33 preferred by the Company. I was half inclined to grant costs against the Union, but I refrain from doing the same because it was provoked to a certain extent by the Company under section 33 of the Act.

G. PALIT,
District Judge,

Chairman of the Tribunal.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

PRESENT:

For the Jute Workers' Federation: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, &
Sri Pham Ghosh, General Secretary.

For the Clive Jute Mills: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 23rd December 1950 (registered

No. 58 of 1950 under section 33A) by the General Secretary, Jute Workers' Federation, on behalf of the workmen of the Clive Jute Mills, are two (Nos. 7 and 8 under 24-Parganas district in the list) of the Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the industrial dispute referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal Labour Department, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950.

The original adjudication proceedings which commenced on 25th September 1950 are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines. On 18th October 1950 a trouble arose in the Mills over the number of workers in the Knitting and Sewing Departments, in course of which the Manager is said to have been assaulted. It is alleged on behalf of the workmen that the Manager had assaulted a worker on the ground of negligence in performance of work. The Secretary of the local Union is said to have been assaulted and thereafter removed to a hospital. Later in the month on 18th December 1950 the management declared a lock-out which is continuing. About four thousand workmen are said to have been engaged in this lock-out. The prayers made in the petition of complaint at the lock-out should be immediately lifted and all wages for the period of the lock-out should be paid. In the written statement submitted on behalf of the Mills the facts are described in a different way, and it is stated that the workmen of the Mills went on an illegal strike from 1 p.m. on 18th December 1950, and in consequence thereof the management declared a lock-out. It is further stated that on 29th December 1950 the management notified that the Mills would be re-opened and the lock-out be lifted on two conditions, namely, that an assurance of peaceful conduct of the Mills was given by the workmen, and that 8 specified workmen are said to have been responsible for riotous and disorderly conduct inside the Mills would remain suspended pending further enquiry and necessary action. The notice, dated 29th December 1950, issued by the management indicated that it was open to the workmen to come back to work, barring the 8 specified workmen who were suspended. On behalf of the Mills a preliminary point has been raised before us to the effect that the petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable inasmuch as the allegations made on behalf of the workmen do not disclose any contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. We have heard the parties in regard to this preliminary point, and in view of the decision we have reached with regard to that point we do not consider it necessary to go into the facts.

The petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act cannot obviously stand unless it is first established by the evidence on behalf of the workmen that the action of the management of the Mills amounted to a contravention of any of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. It has been contended on behalf of the management that the declaration of the lock-out by the management on 18th October 1950 amounted to a contravention of both the clauses of section 33. The argument advanced is that the declaration of the lock-out amounted to a suspension within the meaning of section 33(b), and also to an alteration of conditions of service to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in the dispute within the meaning of section 33(a). On the other hand, it has been argued on behalf of the Mills that the declaration of the lock-out does not come within the purview of either of the clauses of section 33. In regard to the question of punishment, we refer to the reasoning set out in paragraph 6 of the award of the Engineering Firms Tribunal constituted by Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), Chairman, and Sri A. Das, District Judge, Member, in connection with a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act against the Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., as published in the Calcutta Gazette of 28th September 1950 by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, Order No. 5335Lab., dated 16th September 1950. The ordinary dictionary meaning of the word "punish" is "to cause offender to suffer for offence", "inflict penalty for offence". The word "punish" presupposes or signifies some offence committed by the person who is punished. In our present case there is no indication of any offence committed by the generality of workmen numbering about four thousand, except for the fact that management has suspended 8 specified workmen pending further enquiry regarding the suspicion that they may have committed some offences. We are not concerned in the present case with the question regarding the offence which may have been committed by the 8 specified workmen, and it must be clear that we are dealing here with the case of the generality of the workmen with regard to whom a lock-out has been declared. The Federation has not alleged and cannot allege that the lock-out was declared in connection with any offence committed by the generality of workmen. The position further is that the declaration of the lock-out does not in any way purport to be punishment in connection with any offence committed by the generality of the workmen. It has been contended on behalf of the Federation that management has not paid any wages for the period of lock-out, and such non-payment of wages, which involves some disadvantage or loss, should be held to amount to punishment in the general sense. In the light of the implications of the word "punish" which we have already noted, we are unable to hold that the declaration of a lock-out or the consequent non-payment of wages amounts to punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. We hold therefore that this matter does not come within the purview of clause (b) of section 33.

3. The next question is whether it comes within the purview of clause (a) of section 33. The first question is whether the declaration of the lock-out or the consequent non-payment of wages during the period of lock-out amounts to any alteration of the conditions of service applicable to workmen immediately before the commencement of the adjudication proceedings and the second question is whether such alteration, if any, is to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in the disputes. The third question is whether the declaration of a lock-out amounts to an alteration of the conditions of service. It cannot be denied that under the provisions of the law an employer is entitled to declare a legal lock-out, just in the same way as the workmen are entitled to launch a legal strike, and there is nothing in the Industrial Disputes Act which would prohibit the declaration of a lock-out before the commencement of the adjudication proceedings. It is not necessary for us in the present case to go into the question at this stage whether the particular lock-out was legal or illegal. The point is whether the declaration of the lock-out, apart from the question of its legality or otherwise, can be held to amount to an alteration of the conditions of service. As regards illegal lock-outs and illegal strikers, offenders are liable to appropriate penalties under the provisions of section 26 read with section 24 of the Industrial Disputes Act. In our view, section 33 which is entirely a different section has no intrinsic connection with lock-outs either legal or illegal. After having given very careful thought to the question from all points of view, we come to the clear conclusion that the declaration of a lock-out or the consequent non-payment of wages during the period of lock-out does not amount to any alteration of the conditions of service within the meaning of section 33(a) of the Industrial Disputes Act. We hold therefore that there was no contravention of the provisions of section 33(a) in the present case.

In the result, we hold that the Jute Workers' Federation on behalf of the workmen of the Clive Jute Mills has failed to establish that the provisions of any of the clauses of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act have been contravened in the present case. We hold therefore that the petition for an order under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable, and the workmen concerned are not entitled to any relief on the basis of this petition of complaint, and we are unable to proceed further on the matter. We make our award accordingly. We make no order as to costs.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 20th November 1950 (entered as case No. 45 of 1950 under section 33A) by Jute Workers' Federation on behalf of Ganga Bux and Mahadeo Prasad and 14 other durwans as mentioned in Appendix A to this award. The complaint has been against Kinnison Jute Mills, which is one (No. 49 under 24-Pargana district in the list) of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the industrial disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication (Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950). The original adjudication proceedings commenced on 25th September 1950 are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines:—In consequence of the death of a previous jamadar employed by the Company, one Khedu, a comparatively junior havildar, was appointed as jamadar on 15th August 1950, in supersession of the claims of Mahadeo Prasad. The resultant vacancy in the post of a havildar was filled up on 30th September 1950 by promoting a durwan named Bala Singh in supersession of the claims of Ganga Bux, a dak durwan. The durwans in general became dissatisfied over these cases of supersession. On the morning of 30th September 1950 Ganga Bux, Mahadeo Prasad and the 14 other durwans as mentioned in Appendix A approached the Manager and appealed to him for reconsideration of the order promoting Bala Singh to the post of havildar in supersession of the claims of Ganga Bux. The Manager is stated to have promised to look into the matter. The durwans went on performing their duties as usual. But subsequently the Manager of Mahadeo Prasad and the 14 other durwans as mentioned in Appendix A were dispensed with, and the work was done from 1 p.m. on 1st October 1950 by some durwans brought from Standard Jute Mills. The grievance put forward by the Federation is that Mahadeo Prasad and the 14 other durwans who approached the Manager with an appeal for reconsideration of the orders were dismissed on 30th September 1950 and this dismissal took place during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings before the Tribunal and was unjustified. The case put forward by Kinnison is, on the other hand, is on the following lines. Khedu being senior service to and more efficient than Mahadeo Prasad, was legitimately appointed as jamadar, in the vacancy caused by the death of the previous incumbent. Similarly Baleswar Singh, who in the estimation of the Company was more efficient than Ganga Bux, and is said to be also senior in service, was legitimately appointed in the resultant vacancy in the post of havildar. The Company claims a right of passing orders regarding promotion on the basis of not only seniority in service but also other factors, it is contended on behalf of the Company that the orders regarding promotion do not come within the purview of the section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. After 10 a.m. on the morning of 30th September 1950 Mahadeo Prasad and the 14 other durwans as mentioned in Appendix A, went to the Manager's office and their spokesman Mahadeo Prasad told the Manager insolently that unless the order regarding promotion was changed they would not serve the Company any further. Thereupon the Manager announced that the decision would not be changed and suggested that if they wanted to leave their services they would be at liberty to do so. Thereafter Mahadeo Prasad and the 14 others individually intimated their intention to resign and to be paid off. Thereupon the mill authorities accepted the resignations tendered verbally by Mahadeo Prasad and the 14 others, with immediate effect. The 15 men did not perform their duties any time on 30th September 1950 after the incident. Some of the durwans attempted to join their posts at and after 1 a.m. on 1st October 1950, they were not allowed to do so as the resignations tendered by them had already been accepted. From 1 p.m. on 1st October 1950 durwans in Standard Jute Mills were brought for performing the duties of the durwans whose services had been terminated. It is contended by the Company that so far as the 15 persons, Mahadeo Prasad and others, are concerned, it was purely a case of acceptance of resignations tendered, and therefore there was no contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

2. As regards the promotion of Khedu to the post of jamadar, in supersession of the alleged claims of Mahadeo Prasad, it appears that the order was issued on 15th August 1950, that is to say, before the date of reference. It follows therefore, that this particular action of the Company did not come into place during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings, and therefore there was no contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. As regards the promotion of Baleswar Singh to the post of havildar on 30th September 1950, in supersession of the alleged claims of Ganga Bux, we find from the service records and other evidence that there are reasons for thinking that Ganga Bux was junior in service to Baleswar Singh. Apart from this aspect of the matter, we are of opinion that an employer is entitled to pass an order regarding promotion on the basis of seniority, efficiency and other factors, and such a question necessarily depends on the discretion of the employer. We hold that a decision of the employer not to promote a particular employee to a particular post does not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, and does not also amount to any prejudicial alteration of the conditions of service within the meaning of section 33(a) of the Act. In that view of the matter, we come to the conclusion that with regard to the affair of promotion of Baleswar Singh in alleged supersession of the claims of Ganga Bux, there was no contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Act.

3. The real point in this case is whether the termination of the services of Mahadeo Prasad and the 14 durwans, as mentioned in Appendix A, amounted to a contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Act. The case of the Company is that these 15 men approached the Manager on the morning of 30th September 1950 and protested in an insolent manner against what they considered to be an order of supersession of Ganga Bux and demanded a revision of the order passed, and on the refusal of the Manager to revise the order each of them individually expressed his decision to tender resignation and to be paid off and thereafter the resignation of the 15 men were accepted by the management. The case put forward on behalf of the employees is that they approached the Manager with a mild appeal for redressing their grievances arising out of the question of promotion, and the Manager promised to look into the matter, and thereafter they went on performing their duties as usual, and later on they found themselves unjustifiably discharged, and their posts were taken by some durwans brought from Standard Jute Mills from the afternoon of 1 October 1950. On the side of the employees we have got the evidence of P.W. 1 Kapildeo Tewari who claims to be Secretary of the Kinnison Jute Mills Employees' Union, P.W. 2 Ganga Bux, and P.W. 3 Mahadeo Prasad. On the side of the Company, we have the evidence of O.P.W. 1, the Manager, O.P.W. 2, the Mill Clerk, O.P.W. 3, the Assistant Labour Liaison Officer of the Company, and O.P.W. 4, the Store Head Clerk. P.W. 1 was present at the time when the incident of the morning of 30th September 1950 took place. Ganga Bux, P.W. 2, who is still in the service of the Company claims to have accompanied the 15 persons mentioned in Appendix A to the Manager's office at about 8 a.m. on 30th September 1950, and also claims to have been the spokesman. This version is corroborated by P.W. 3 Mahadeo Prasad. Both of them have said that they put forward a mild appeal for reconsideration of the order regarding promotion, and the Manager promised to reconsider the matter in consultation with the other employees. The evidence on the side of the Company indicates that Ganga Bux did not go to the Manager's office at all. It is somewhat strange that Ganga Bux continued to be in the service of the Company even though he had led the party, the services of the other members of which were subsequently terminated. If Ganga Bux went with the party to the Manager's office at all he must have taken a prominent part and one would naturally expect that he would share the fate of the others. The evidence of Ganga Bux shows that as a dak durwan he had to leave the mill at 8-30 a.m. with a dak for the head office in Calcutta and he would ordinarily remain outside the mill up to 2-30 p.m. on Saturdays and 8-30 p.m. on other weekdays. If the incident took place shortly after 10 a.m. as testified to by the witnesses on the Company's side, as we hold it did, Ganga Bux's presence at the Manager's office at that time would be impossible. On a consideration of the evidence, in the light of probabilities we hold that Ganga Bux did not accompany the party to the Manager's office on the morning of 30th September 1950, and he has come before us as a witness of untruth. On the side of the Company we have the evidence of the Manager and 3 other employees who claim to have been present at the Manager's office at that time. They have all supported the version of the incident as put forward on behalf of the Company. As against this evidence we have got the solitary evidence of P.W. 3, Mahadeo Prasad. We are not disposed to believe that the party approached the Manager with a mere mild request for redressing their grievances. We find that Mahadeo Prasad and the 14 other durwans mentioned in Appendix A, went to the Manager's office on the morning of 30th September 1950 and protested against the order of promotion of Baleswar Singh in an insolent manner and demanded a revision of the order, and each of them proposed to relinquish his service if the previous order was not revised. We are further satisfied that the resignation-tenders were accepted verbally by the management shortly thereafter and the services of the 15 persons were terminated on the acceptance verbal resignations. We are not satisfied that the employees in question continued to perform their duties during the rest of the day on September 1950. It is true that the evidence of the Mill Clerk, V. 2, indicates that some of the durwans went to their posts from 1 a.m. October 1950, presumably because better sense dawned on them on the next day. But the Company's case is that the resignations which were tendered had already been accepted by the management, and no objection to allowing those employees to work at their posts arose. Inasmuch as we have held that the 15 persons tendered their resignations which had been accepted by the Company, we do not find any substance in the contention raised on behalf of the employees to the effect that the termination of services of the 15 persons amounted to punishment by way of dismissal within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. We hold that the termination of the employment of the 15 persons as mentioned in Appendix A to this award having taken place by reason of their resignations being accepted by the Company, the matter does not come within the purview of section 33 of the Act, and there was consequently no violation of the provisions of that section.

In the result, we hold with regard to all the elements of the complaint placed before us that it has not been established that the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened. We hold, therefore, that the complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable and the persons concerned are not entitled to any relief on the basis of this petition of complaint. We make our award accordingly. We pass no order as to costs.

the Complainants: Sri S. K. Dhar, Pleader, assisted by Sri Indu Kushan Sarkar, Secretary of the Press Employees' Association.

the Opposite Party: Sri N. K. Mukherji, Advocate, assisted by Sri Chattermay Chatterji, Press Manager and Sri Debaprasad Sen Gupta, General Manager.

AWARD.

in pursuance of the order of reference No. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, adjudication proceedings have been started for settlement of industrial disputes between employers and employees of 79 printing presses of Calcutta and Howrah, included in the list annexed to the order of reference, of which the India Directory Press of Messrs. P. M. Bagchi & Co., Ltd., is one, being serial No. 1 in the list. The adjudication proceedings are still pending.

Separate complaints have been filed by Ramhari and Bato Krishna, discharged employees of the press, complaining that they were dismissed wrongfully by the management on 30th November 1950, in contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950. They seek reinstatement and for compensation of the period of their employment.

The case of the management is that the complainants were appointed as temporary compositors for a period up to 30th Aswin 1357 B.S., corresponding to 17th October 1950 and that on further consideration the tenure of their employment was extended to 14th Agrahayan 1357 B.S., i.e., 30th November 1950. The management pleads that temporary workers are not entitled to receive any compensation, in lieu thereof under the Standing Orders issued by the management to the award, dated 11th May 1948; and that the complainants have been employed after the present order of reference to the Tribunal, and are not hit by the amended section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The management also pleads that the deteriorating financial condition of the business is a sufficient justification for retrenchment of the employees.

The award sets up both the cases together for convenience and proposes to give an award.

The adjudication proceedings started in pursuance of the order of reference No. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950 of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, are still pending. Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act prohibits a change in the terms and conditions of service of workmen as also discharge or punishment by dismissal or otherwise of a workman during pendency of adjudication proceedings except with the express permission in writing of the Tribunal. The section is as follows:—

“Conditions of service, etc., to remain unchanged during pendency of proceedings.”—During the pendency of any conciliation proceedings or proceedings before a Tribunal in respect of any industrial dispute, no employer shall—

- (a) alter, to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in such dispute, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the commencement of such proceedings; or
- Clause (a) of section 33 which relates to the conditions of service of workmen in the collective sense does not apply here. We are to enquire whether the present case comes under section 33(b).

It has been contended on behalf of the employers that the complainants are not workmen concerned in the dispute inasmuch as they were appointed long after the order of reference. I am not inclined to accept this view. An industrial dispute remains alive till it is either abandoned either expressly or by implication or settled by conciliation or adjudication and all workmen employed in between the dates of the disputes and termination of the dispute as aforesaid are concerned in the dispute. They are bound by the settlement in the same way as the workmen who were in service in the industry involved in the dispute on the date when the dispute was raised. Section 18(d) of the Industrial Disputes Act is clear on this. Reference by the Government does not terminate the dispute. I am therefore definitely of opinion that the complainants are not excluded from scope of the amended section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act because they were appointed after the date of reference.

The complainants were old employees each having put in a pretty long service in the past. They left their old employments for some reason or other and after a long break they were again reappointed. Bato K was employed with effect from 12th Sravan 1357 B.S. and Ramhari from 21st or 22nd Sravan 1357 B.S. After working for a few days in the past they submitted their applications (Exts. A and A 1). On the applications the following endorsements appear:—

“Works from 12th Sravan 1357 B.S. Salary Rs. 45 per month
Dearness allowance Rs. 22 per month. Total Rs. 67 per month

There is no satisfactory evidence that these workmen were apprised that they were being appointed as temporary hands. The Press Manager who is to have made the first endorsement on the applications says that the workmen were present when these endorsements were made. After the first endorsement, he placed the applications before the General Manager Sri D. Sen. The Press Manager Sri Jyotirmay Chatterji says that the first order of the General Manager was also passed in the presence of the complainants. No one else was present then. He does not himself say that he has been present in this case does not corroborate Sri Jyotirmay Chatterji. According to him the complainants negotiated with the Press Manager. He says that the complainants were present when the order "appointed temporary hands" was written on the applications. An award settling the industrial dispute of 169 printing presses of Calcutta and Howrah was published in the Calcutta Gazette under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No 1487Lab., dated the 11th May 1948. Messrs. P. M. and Co., Ltd., were a party to the adjudication proceedings which resulted in the award. They were represented by the Printing Press Owners' Association. The parties to the dispute settled the service conditions of the printing presses amicably, and the settlement arrived at by the parties was incorporated in the award. The terms and conditions of service as settled were detailed in Annexure B to the said award. Paragraph 3 defines the different categories of workmen, permanent, probationary, Badli and apprentice. A temporary workman has to be one who has been engaged for work which is of an essentially temporary nature likely to be finished within a limited period. Then paragraph 4 deals with the procedure how an appointment should be made. Paragraph 5 states that the rate of pay is signed by the Managing Director or the Manager and is to be given over to the workmen concerned." Although the employers were not to discharge a workman at any time during the probationary period without giving any notice or compensation in lieu of notice nothing is said in respect of any temporary workman, presumably because the appointment of a temporary workman who is employed either for a specified period of time or for specified work is terminated, by operation of law, either the expiry of the term or on completion of work for which he was employed. Paragraph 13 of the terms and conditions of service deals with the procedure for punishment of a workman by dismissal or otherwise without reference to the nature of his employment, as classified in paragraph 2. Paragraph 14 deals with the termination of employment of any workman in normal circumstances.

The first thing to be seen is whether the complainants were temporary workers in the strict sense of the terms. In the applications both the complainants indicate that they offered themselves as candidates for the post that had fallen vacant. It is quite possible that this statement of the complainants had really no real significance. The statement about the vacancy might have been introduced as a matter of form of the stereotyped way in which applications are generally drafted. We find from the evidence that the General Manager that in Baisakh and Jaistha 1357 B.S. there were 24 composers. In Asar one compositor Purna Mondal by name had left there were only 23. In Sravan another compositor left and with the complainants the strength of composers came up to the original number 24. Thus it is clear that the statement about the vacancy in the applications of the complainants was not altogether formal. It has some significance. Really there were two vacancies at the time they were appointed. The management had no contemplation to effect any retrenchment at the time when these two workmen were employed. According to the terms and conditions of service a probationer may be appointed to fill up a permanent vacancy, but not a temporary workman. It is clear from the endorsements on the applications that when the complainants were employed the management did not mention the period for which they were to be appointed. In fact the management does not seem to have had any contemplation to discharge the complainants summarily on any subsequent date. It is only on 14th October 1950 that the management for the first time had the idea of discharging the complainants. I may mention that the management should have given appointment letters to the complainants according to the provisions of paragraph 4 of the terms and conditions of service. This was not done. We were told by Sri Jyotirmoy Chatterji that permanent composers Gorachand Jana and Ram Ada were given appointment letters after they were confirmed. The witness given time to produce the appointment letters. But this could not be produced. The Press Manager Sri Jyotirmoy Chatterji says "We sent a tender for some work of Messrs. Martin & Co. We got a very large amount of work. This was finished towards the close of Aswin. Temporary hands were appointed to cope with this work." Then with reference to the record the witness says, "We got an order for printing 200 of the Railway Act in English and 100 copies in Bengali. The order was executed on 30th December 1950. Ramhari and Batokrishna were employed for this work. Some other composers did this work. The permanent hands, Ramhari and Batokrishna were employed for other works. They were employed to compose a book of T. K. Banerji. When the order in Asar and the work was finished before the Pujā. We maintain a record of the daily works of a compositor." The witness was asked time to get the daily record of work. This could not be produced. The witness says that the report is for the daily work of the press and not of the compositor. Nothing could be shown to me when the book of T. K. Banerji was completed. The bill was submitted on 22nd September. There is nothing to show that even if the complainants were required to do work in connection with the book of T. K. Banerji, the order for printing the book was not received by the management in the ordinary course.

ness, or in other words there is nothing to show that the order for printing T. K. Banerji's book was in any way excluded from the regular business of the Company.

It was urged on behalf of the management that the management proposed to discharge the complainants with effect from 30th Aswin but that the intervention of the entire body of compositors including the complainants the date was extended till 30th November 1950. The endorsement of the applications Exts. A and A 1 give us some indications on this point. The management might propose to discharge the complainants with effect from the 30th Aswin 1357 B.S. and the compositors might have protested against this. But there is no satisfactory evidence on the record to show that the compositors including the complainants prayed for extension of service of the complainants till 30th November 1950. The order of the Managing Director is, dated 16th October 1950. There is no suggestion that the complainants were apprised of this order.

Merely describing a workman as temporary, in his absence, in the papers of the Company, to which the workman has no access does not reduce the workman to the category of temporary workers. This the management would do with some ulterior motive and in cases where a workman who is not employed by terms of his employment, not having been engaged either for a specified period or for a specified work, the workman should not be described as temporary. If he is so described it will amount to unfair labour practice.

On the materials placed before me I am definitely of opinion that the complainants were not temporary workmen in the strict sense of the term. If they are assumed to have been temporary workmen they should not be confused with those who are employed for a specified period or for a specified work and whose services are terminated, by operation of law, on expiry of the period or on completion of work for which he was engaged. In the present case the termination of the services of the complainants could not be in terms of their employment. Their services are terminated by operation of law but by an Act of the management. Section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, undoubtedly covers those cases of termination of services during the pendency of adjudication proceedings which could not be possible except by an act of the management. In the case of the complainants, their services cannot be said, by any stretch of imagination, to have been terminated by operation of law. Their services were terminated by an act of the management during pendency of the adjudication proceedings without any express permission of the Tribunal and such offended the provision of section 33(b).

The management wants to justify the discharge of the two complainants on the ground that the financial position of the business is deteriorating, that the business is incurring loss and is over-burdened with debts. It has been shown some papers which indicated some of the liabilities of the Company. It may be noted that the India Directory Press is only one of several departments of the business of Messrs. P. M. Bagchi and Co. Ltd. Nothing was shown to me that the liabilities were on account of the India Directory Press. Even if these liabilities related to the press, they might have been due to among other things bad management. I am told that the Proprietors have fallen out and that they are engaged in litigation. That might be also the reason for the loss if there had been any. I have been told that there had been a gradual fall in the overtime work of the workers and that this indicates a fall in work. The following figures may be relevant.

Month	Overtime payment.
	Rs. a. p.
Baisakh 1357	...	300
Jaistha 1357	...	Nil
Asar 1357	...	25 6 6

Bhadra 1357	...	96 5 3

Kartick 1357	...	20 13 6

There is also another fact in favour of the employers, viz., that no hand has been appointed in place of the complainants. The management could have and should have applied for permission under section 33 of amended Industrial Disputes Act for retrenchment of these complainants on the ground of a fall in the business. This has not been done. I must at best consider the discharge of the complainants as retrenchment, in which case they are entitled to one month's notice or basic salary and dearness allowance for one month in lieu thereof. These the complainants are entitled to get. To discourage violation of statutory rules I direct that the management shall give the complainants an additional month's wage and dearness allowance. Thus each of the complainants shall be entitled to 2 months' basic salary and dearness allowance. This must be paid within a month from the date when this award comes into force.

ANNEXURE.

the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Keshrimull Kundanmull, 17, Grand Trunk Road, North, Lillooah, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Chatkal Sramik Union, 84, Lala Babu Shire Road, Belur, Howrah.

PRESENT :

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

for the Company: Sri Moni Mohan Banerjee, Pleader, and Sri P. R. Bhangarh, Proprietor of the Company.

for the Union: Sri Dinesh Chandra Roy, President of the Union.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, order No. 4599Lab., dated Calcutta, the 14 August 1950, the above industrial dispute was referred to me for adjudication.

The Union stated that there had been already an award under the Industrial Disputes Act when the minimum basic wages was fixed at Rs. 30 per month with a dearness allowance of Rs. 20, subject to an increase in the wages on the basis of production, but the average daily production fixed in the Tribunal was not given and the management did not press it, knowing it full well that due to many factors, the standard could not be maintained.

The Union now demands the raising of dearness allowance to Rs. 35 per mensem, opening of Provident Fund, or payment of gratuity, bonus, and details whereof would be discussed in the body of the award.

The Company opposed the prayer on the ground that the nature of the industry is that it is a very small and seasonal factory producing umbrellas only and that the factory is running at a loss and any further burden on the way of increase of wages, etc., would severely handicap the progress of the industry and it may also collapse. It is also urged that the workers are exhorted to give a quota of fixed production by the previous award, they are not giving such production as per terms of the last award.

ISSUES.

- 1 Raising of dearness allowance to Rs. 35 per mensem.
- 2 Opening either of Provident Fund, or payment of gratuity as prevalent in other factories.
- 3 One month's wages as bonus with dearness allowance to all workers.
- 4 To stop transferring of workers from one department to another.
- 5 Number of holidays to be raised from 6 to 8 days.
- 6 Arrangement of proper medical treatment to workers.
- 7 To stop piece-rate basis of wages for all workers.
- 8 Free distribution of one umbrella every year for all workers.
- 9 To stop present method of discharging workers on the eve of being made permanent.

10. Minimum wages on first appointment to be fixed at Rs. 50 mensem for unskilled workers.
11. To stop present system of making old hand a new one for overstay leave on medical ground.
12. Facilities to durwans as prevalent in other factories.
13. Discontinuance of the annual increments.

Issue No. I.—Raising of dearness allowance.

In the last Tribunal award given by my colleague, Sri S. C. Chakravarti, no separate dearness allowance was allowed, but the total emolument Rs. 50 had been fixed. He considered the nature of the industry and financial aspect and reviewed the matter very carefully. Quoting Dr. G. S. "Financial consideration and general economy of the industry are two the most important factors which cannot be overlooked in deciding emoluments are to be paid to the workers" he observed that it may lead to destruction of the industry altogether leading to unemployment these considerations are overlooked and a living wage according to theoretical definition be thrust upon an industry.

He observes, "This is a small factory producing umbrella parts, produces ferrule, caps, notches, runners—collectively called 'furniture'. The factory also produces steel umbrella handles. In West Bengal there are other factories producing similar goods."

The difficulties of the Company are enhanced by the fact that there is cloth control and there is world-scarcity of cotton textiles. Similar factories have grown up in other provinces and Bengal has been divided. Practically West Bengal products have markets only in the mother province of origin."

Sri S. C. Chakravarti finally fixed the basic wages including dearness allowance at Rs. 50 and observed, "Looking to the nature of the industry and its gloomy future and keeping in mind the adjustment made last year I increase the total emoluments of persons who earn less than Rs. 50 salary and dearness allowance. Their total emoluments be raised to Rs. 50. The increment shall be in salary. Piece-raters are earning living wages. So, no change is called for. This increment is granted subject to the average daily production as agreed by the Union and the Management on 2 January 1948, as set out below:—

Average daily production as agreed by the Union and management on 2 January 1948.

			Per worker per day
Runners	2 gross.
Caps	10 "
Power Press	50 "
Welding	30 doz.
Handle	80 "

If the production is not maintained, the increments allowed will not be available.

Flat increment, gradation and claim for enhanced dearness allowance refused."

Since the last award, which was published on 20th October 1948, nothing extraordinary has happened justifying the revision of the award. On the other hand, it appears that the workers had not complied with the quota, laid down by the last Tribunal.

The chart, Exhibit "A" produced by the Company, which was not challenged by the Union, clearly shows that the fixed quota was not at all reached by the workers. The workers adopted a new tactics. They gave fixed production at a quota much less than that fixed by the last award, and then they claimed to be the fixed quota while actually they produced more and charged on excess production. It is thus clear that so far as caps were concerned, fixed production per individual worker was 10 gross, but they produced 8 gross as fixed production in 1949 and 1950 while actually producing 10.8 gross—thus earning extra for the excess production. It must be said to the credit of the Company that they did not cut the wages of the workers, but rather allowed them this latitude. The last Tribunal's clear direction was that the total emoluments had been raised to Rs. 50 only on condition that the average production must not be below that fixed by the Tribunal. The Company urges that they had to submit to this new tactics in face of troubles while they claimed here that they never gave a go-by the quota fixed by the last Tribunal.

The Company has also produced a Profit and Loss Account showing nett profit to the tune of Rs. 3,690 in three months. This document, Exhibit "B", was not challenged by the Union and this statement was prepared on the basis of the Company's records and khatas, which were produced before the Tribunal and verified by the Union.

The Company urged that there should be a revision of pay in view of the loss sustained and in view of the financial position of the Company, and the rate fixed by the last Tribunal be lowered. I am afraid that this will embitter the feeling. But I direct that the Company is at liberty to go on the fixed production, as laid down by the last Tribunal, and to get the same.

It was urged that the quota fixed by the last Tribunal was impossible for workers to produce. That this is not a fact is clear from the chart, Exhibit "A" produced by the Company, which clearly shows that the actual production rendered is over that fixed by the award and what course workers adopted is this that they reduced the fixed and agreed quota and claimed excess charge for the so-called over-production, which was a violation and distortion of the clearly agreed terms of the last Tribunal. On the matter my best consideration, I am of opinion that there had been no new change of circumstances which justify the revision of the quota as fixed by the last award. In this connection the observation of Sir H. B. Davatia in the dispute between the B.E.S.T. Co., Ltd., was published in Bombay Labour Gazette, December 1947, page 482, is quoted:—

Mr. Kolah on behalf of the Company contended that the adjudicator should give any decision about any matters for the period which was ended by the rejection of any demand made in the previous adjudications and that the employees cannot make any demands in this adjudication which are substantially the same as those in the previous adjudications. I am going so far as to say that the employees are barred by res judicata from making demands which are made before me and are covered by any decision in previous adjudications cannot be proceeded now unless the employees prove any change of circumstances after the previous decision. If there has been no change of circumstances, the mere ground that the previous adjudicator had not granted a demand would not, in my opinion, justify the employees in repeating the same demand before a new adjudicator sitting in judgment over the decision of another adjudicator. On principle an adjudicator should not change the previous award without proof of any altered circumstances."

The same principles were followed by Sri F. Jeejeebhoy in his award between the workmen employed in the Tin Plate Company of India, Ltd., Golmuri, Jamshedpur, and their employees, published in the Bihar Gazette Extraordinary, dated March 14, 1949. The learned Judge at page 4 observes as follows:—

"In a consideration of this subject we must start with the fundamental concept that an award of the Tribunal has the same force as any other award or decision and is entitled to the same respect. And it is but a corollary to this concept that the principle of res judicata should apply so that on the same facts and in the same circumstances the issues decided may not be retried in fresh proceedings with a view to securing a different decision. If it were otherwise, there would be no finality to decision, with the unfortunate result that labour, unsuccessful on an issue, would wait discontented, restless and impatient for the period of the notification to elapse and would then embark on go-slow tactics or other equally questionable means to force a fresh reference from the Government in the absence of change of circumstances.

As I conceive it, an award is final and binding for all times in matters relating to personal rights, as for instance, victimization; and an award or agreement of parties on all other matters like wages structure, bonuses, annuities, etc., is final and binding until altered by consent of parties. It is replaced by a fresh award based on change of circumstances. Such is the prevailing concept of awards and agreements in other countries which are equally conscious of the claims of labour, and it is in consonance with natural justice and with recognised legal principles.

I have no doubt that the observations mentioned above enunciate sound principles of adjudication and I consider that these principles should be followed in the present adjudication. No change of circumstances justifying a revision of the basic wages since the previous adjudication has been suggested or proved by the Workers' Union. That being so, the claim for revision of basic wages and introduction of different grade systems of wages as raised by the Workers' Union is rejected and I award accordingly."

In my opinion, therefore, the management is being handicapped by the new tactics adopted by the workers in showing much lesser unit under head "fixed production". So, the claim of fixed dearness allowance Rs. 35 plus wages as claimed, is rejected, as I see no reason to revise the terms of the last award.

Issue No. 2.—Opening of Provident Fund or payment of gratuity.

This issue was not pressed at the time of hearing. The Company urged that in the Engineering Tribunal Provident Fund or gratuity had been recommended for concerns which do not employ less than 100 men, while this factory employs much less. Moreover, last Tribunal rejected both prayers of Provident Fund or gratuity. It is an infant industry and not stabilised. The workers are comparatively new and financial position gloomy. No Provident Fund or gratuity is allowed in other allied industries.

e No. 3.—One month's wages as bonus with dearness allowance to all workers.

The Company opposes the prayer for bonus on the ground that it is making at a loss. This fact is borne out by the observations of the last Tribunal, which found its financial position gloomy. No better prospects are seen and it is seen that the Company did not give any bonus previously. The prayer is rejected.

Issue No. 4.—Transfer of workers.

It is argued by the Union that the worker is transferred from one post to another quite prejudicially to his own interest. A man who is trained in the department of caps cannot produce efficiently sufficient number of handles of umbrellas—it was so argued—if transferred from the department making caps to the department producing handles of umbrellas, and as he is deprived of the wages, which are based on production. I do not think there is any reasonableness of this demand, for it is the normal right of the employer, and this right should not be infringed in any way. The demand of the Union that in the case of transfer of a worker from one department to another, he earns less is groundless, for such a worker continues to get his usual and normal salary. I inspected the factory myself and found that the nature of the work in this industry is such that no skill or special training is necessary. Any worker who has worked for a few days in one branch can work in any other department of the industry with equal efficiency. The Company urges that when there is no work in any department, or less work in any department, instead of reducing the hand, the worker is simply transferred to the department where there is more work. I believe that it is the right thing done in the interest of the industry, no less in the interest of the worker, and I direct that this system of transfer should be maintained.

Issue No. 5.—Number of holidays.

The last award gave 6 days as holidays. The Union wants that the number of holidays should be raised from 6 to 8 days. The claim is vague. I do not understand what they precisely want. The Company at present has statutory holidays under the Factories Act, which has been raised from 6 days to 15 days. Any further cut in working days will hamper production and will be inequitable. The festival holidays allowed by the award are as follows:—

Kali Puja	1 day
Dole	1 day
Independence Day	1 day
Durga Puja	2 days
Viswakarma Puja	1 day

Regarding holidays, they apparently mean festival holidays. Regarding statutory holidays, there is no prayer. I direct, however, that the number of holidays should be as awarded under the Engineering Tribunal.

Issue No. 6.—Medical treatment.

The claim was disallowed by the last Tribunal. It is a small concern in the order for arrangement of proper medical treatment for workers can be made. The Company is, however, directed to make proper arrangement for medical aid being given whenever necessary.

Issue No. 7.—Abolition of piece-rate system.

The prayer that piece-rate system should be abolished is rather unreasonable, for it has transpired in evidence that a worker earns more on piece-rate system. It is also helpful to production. The nature of the work and the peculiar business of this Company demands that piece-rate system is essential for efficient work and good production. It was also observed in the last award that "in the absence of abuse, piece-rate system is good and helpful to production. This should not be abolished." No complaint has been made nor any specific case brought that the piece-rate system has been abused. Two witnesses have been examined, who worked under the piece-rate system in this Company. One of them, Ram Sabila Singh, says that he is not willing to work on fixed salary of Rs. 50, and it is quite clear that he sometimes earns from Rs. 60 to Rs. 65 per month. The claim is rejected.

Issue No. 8.—Free distribution of umbrella.

The Company does not produce a full-fledged umbrella, but only manufactures parts. It is a fantastic demand and is not at all a condition of service. The demand is rejected.

Issue No. 9.—To stop present method of discharge of workers, etc.

It is not quite clear what the Union means by advancing this claim. The peculiar nature of the business is that during particular season, i.e., in summer and especially on the eve of rains, umbrellas are in demand. So that time extra hands are temporarily employed to cope with the work. There cannot be a general direction to make all temporary hands permanent. No specific case regarding discharge on the eve of being made permanent was brought before me. Only two witnesses, Baraj Manjhi and Mohendra Shaw, were examined before me and from their depositions it is clear that they were reappointed on their salary and they had not been financially hit. There is no time-scale in this concern, and as such, if a man is treated as a new entrant, he is not prejudicially affected. I see no reason to make any direction on the point as claimed.

Issue No. 10.—Fixation of minimum wages.

The last award fixed Rs. 50 per month as the total emoluments for existing workers (i.e., salary and dearness allowance combined), subject to a fixed daily production. The workers, however, admittedly did not get the fixed daily production. Nevertheless they got fixed wages as per Tribunal. I see no reason to increase the pay, as demanded and in connection the observations already made under "Dearness allowance" are equally well.

The Company, however, wants to pay a reduced rate of Rs. 42 and dearness allowance as minimum basic wages on the first appointment of unskilled worker. I, however, cannot reduce pay already decreed by last Tribunal.

In this connection the minimum basic wages, as awarded by the Tribunal in the other allied industries are to be compared and it will be seen that they are much lower than that fixed in the case of this industry. Any use will prove ruin to this industry. The rates of salary in some other tries are as follows :—

name of industry.	Name of Judge.	Date of publication in Calcutta Gazette	Amount awarded.
R Metal Works ..	Sri M. C. Banerjee ..	27th June 1949	Total minimum emolument of Rs. 39 per month, subject to a fixed daily production.
Calcutta Pinjrapole Society.	Sri P. R. Mukherjee ..	29th June 1950	Basic wages including dearness allowance Rs. 42 per month.
Calcutta Luster Antiseptic and Dressing Co.	Sri S. C. Chakravarty	Ditto ..	Basic wages including dearness allowance Rs. 47 per month.
Calcutta Victoria Steam Rope Works.	Sri P. K. Sarkar ..	17th August 1948.	Basic wages including dearness allowance Rs. 48-4 per month.
Calcutta P. L. Berry & Co	Sri M. C. Banerjee ..	8th December 1948.	Basic wages including dearness allowance Rs. 45-8 per month.

In his book, "Indian Working Class", 1948 Edition, Dr. Radhakamal Mukherjee suggested that the minimum basic wages should be Rs. 20 per month to begin with and to reach Rs. 30 per month in 10 years by increment. His idea is that in view of the low national income per capita each and every man should make some sacrifice. It may also be remembered that the rise in cost of living index cannot be compensated by an industry which produces goods of human necessity. The test is how far the industry has been benefited by the rise.

Considering all the facts and circumstances and the scale of wages fixed by previous awards in West Bengal, as quoted above, I am of opinion that the emolument, as fixed by the last award, cannot be revised.

Issue No. 11.—To stop present system of making old hands a new one for short overstayng leave on medical ground.

Regarding this prayer, there cannot be a general direction by the Tribunal. If an old worker overstays leave, it is for the management to decide whether he should be at all taken in, or if taken in, whether he should be taken in as a new hand. There cannot be a general direction on this matter.

Issue No. 12.—Facilities to durwans.

It is not stated what facilities are wanted for the durwans in this case. Further, durwans do not come under the Factories Act, and as such, the Act cannot be extended to them.

Issue No. 13.—Discontinuance of the annual increments.

It is not shown what annual increments had been discontinued, or if any. In the previous Tribunal there was no such question raised; I find any reference in the award.

Subject:—Remittance facilities—Submission of certificates of payment in lieu of lost paid vouchers by Treasury Agencies.

No. TM/225.—2nd February 1951.—A copy of the Government of West Bengal, Finance Department, Audit Branch, memorandum No. 4361(14)-F/F/1R/15(100)/50, dated 20th November 1950, on the subject noted above is circulated for the information of all Treasury Officers in West Bengal. The instructions contained therein should be strictly followed.

"The undersigned is directed to refer to this department memorandum No. 1988(27)-F, dated the 6th October 1944, requiring the Treasury and the Sub-Treasury Officers to furnish a certificate in the prescribed form to the Reserve Bank of India through the Accountant-General, West Bengal, in case of loss of a paid remittance instrument in original. It has since been reported by the Reserve Bank of India, Calcutta, that such certificates are frequently furnished by the Treasury Agencies without ensuring that the original paid instruments have been actually lost. It is therefore requested that it should be impressed upon the Treasury and Sub-Treasury Officers in his district that the paid vouchers should be handled with extreme care and that the submission of certificates of payments should only be reported to in cases where the Treasury Officers are fully satisfied that the paid instruments have been actually lost. In cases where the lost paid vouchers are traced out subsequent to the issue of the relative certificates of payment, they should be sent direct to the Manager, Reserve Bank of India, Central Accounts Section, Calcutta, and not to the Accountant-General, West Bengal, as is being done at present."

CHAPTER VI.

Appeals to Supreme Court.Civil Appeals.

Note.—Under Order XII, rule 1 of the Supreme Court Rules, 1950, the provisions of Chapter XIV of the Code, so far as may be applicable, and of any rules made for the purpose by the High Court apply in relation to appeals under Articles 132(I), 133(I) and 135 of the Constitution.

1. The provisions of Chapter IV shall apply, so far as may be, to all applications made to this Court in connection with appeals to the Supreme Court.

Note.—Until further orders applications may be typed on both sides of the paper.

2. Matters connected with appeals to the Supreme Court, other than those with which the Registrar is authorised to deal, shall ordinarily be heard at such time as the Division Court appointed to deal with such matters shall fix.

3. Matters relating to (1) service of notices or other processes; (2) substitution of parties and appointment or discharge of next friends or guardians ad litem of minors or persons of unsound mind, before the admission of an appeal; (3) preparation of paper-books; (4) return of documents and (5) matters not expressly required to be laid before the Division Court for orders, shall be dealt with and disposed of by the Registrar.

4. Applications for an order (1) to transmit Orders of the Supreme Court for execution to the lower courts, where no special directions are required; (2) to transmit securities to the mufassal courts for investigation as to their sufficiency; and (3) for refunds of surplus deposits made for the purpose of preparing translations, manuscripts, etc., may, in ordinary circumstances, be made to, and disposed of, by the Registrar without notice to the opposite party other than inclusion in the daily cause list.

5. In all other applications regarding matters connected with appeals to the Supreme Court, including petitions for leave to appeal, notice under rule 6 of this chapter is necessary in addition to any other notice herein prescribed.

6. Notice of an application under the preceding rule shall be given by the applicant or his Advocate by delivering to the proper person (ordinarily the Advocate for the appearing opposite party) a copy of the petition, together with a notice, in the following form:—

"Take notice that this application will be filed with the proper officer of the Court, and that you are required to attend and show cause against the application at the hearing, if you desire to do so."

7. All applications which have been duly filed will be set down in a list in the order in which they are received. The cases in the list will be called on peremptorily in their turn; and if, by the fault of the applicant, the application cannot be proceeded with, it will be liable to be dismissed.

8. Every petition for leave to appeal to Supreme Court, shall be presented to the Stamp Reporter. Such petition shall be accompanied by—

- (1) a court-fee of Rs. 16 for drawing up estimate of the expense of preparing and forwarding to the Registrar of Supreme Court the record of the case;

- (4) certified copies of the judgment and decree complained of.

Note.—A petition presented without a copy of the decree appealed from shall forthwith be returned to the Advocate or party presenting it, who shall refile it with the copy within the period of limitation and in case it is refiled after the period of limitation it shall not be accepted without an order of the Division Court.

9. If the Stamp Reporter finds that the petition is barred by limitation, he shall forthwith lay it before the Court for orders. If it is filed within the prescribed period of limitation he shall lay it before the Registrar with a report whether it has been filed in accordance with the rules of the High Court and whether the stamps filed therewith are sufficient.

10. Upon receipt of such petition with the Stamp Reporter's report, the Registrar shall, in case the petition is not in proper form or is not accompanied by the requisite court-fee stamps, a period within which the additional fees may be paid or within which the petition may be amended or lay the same before the Court for orders. If such petition is sufficiently stamped and complies with the provisions of the rules, he shall, on receipt of such petition, direct notice to be served on the opposite party to show cause why the certificate would not be granted.

11. Where more than one such application is made by the same party at the same time relating to decrees or final orders made in pursuance of the same judgment and only one record is required to be printed, the Registrar may order that only one court-fee of Rs. 16 be paid, or that one certified copy of the judgment be accepted, or may lay the matter to the Court for orders.

12. When a certificate has been obtained by a party at the time of the disposal of an appeal, any proceeding he shall file an application containing the grounds of his appeal for an order for registration of the appeal and preparation of record together with a court-fee stamp of Rs. 16 for drawing up an estimate for the preparation of the record.

20. As soon as it shall appear that the notices of the application for leave to appeal have been duly served on all the respondents, the Officer-in-Charge shall lay the application for leave to appeal before the Division Court for orders under Order XLV, rule 3(1), Civil Procedure Code.

21. (2) If the application is from the judgment of the High Court in an appeal other than an appeal from an original decree or order, the applicant shall deposit a lump sum of Rs. 400 within the time limited by Order XLV, rule 7, on account of the cost of the preparation of complete Parts I and II of the paper-book. The estimates in such cases will be prepared and served as soon as possible after the receipt of the records and the filing of lists by the parties, but the said deposit of Rs. 400 shall be made within the prescribed time irrespective of the service of estimates.

26. Thirty-five copies of the paper-book shall be prepared in accordance with the provisions of this chapter on the appeal being finally admitted.

(2) Within one week from the date of the receipt by them of copies of the application and list mentioned in clause (1) the appearing respondents shall, if they so desire, file a similar application and list and simultaneously serve copies thereof on the appellant.

(3) (a) In the case of appeal from the judgment of the High Court in an appeal other than an appeal from an original decree or order the appellant shall file a complete list of the papers which he wishes to include in Parts I and II of the paper-book within two weeks of the service of notice under rule 23, and shall simultaneously serve a copy thereof on the appearing respondents, who shall thereupon prepare and file their lists within one week of the receipt of the appellant's list and simultaneously serve copies thereof on the appellant.

(b) If any party considers that any paper, or portion thereof, should be included in, or omitted from, the lists, he may within one week from the receipt of a copy of the list of the other side, and after giving notice to the other side of his intended application, apply to the Registrar for an order that such paper, or portion thereof, should be inserted in the paper-book, or be omitted therefrom.

(4) It shall be competent to the Registrar to pass any orders which, with reference to the said applications, he may consider proper, and any costs incurred on this account shall be borne in such manner as the Registrar may direct; Provided that if the Registrar is unable to arrive at any conclusion as to whether a document should be included or not, and as to which party should bear the cost of inclusion of any document, he may make a note, which will form part of the paper-book, to that effect. AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint filed on 4th November 1950 by Jute Workers' Federation on behalf of two employees named Janaki and Apana against Standard Jute Mill (No. 18 in the list of Jute Mills in 24-Parganas), which is one of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal, which are concerned in the industrial disputes between them and their workmen referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated the 25th September 1950. The original adjudication proceedings are still pending before this Tribunal. It is alleged on behalf of the two employees that by a notice, dated 7th October 1950, they were dismissed with effect from 4th October 1950 without any reason being assigned. The Company has filed a written statement in reply stating that these two men were guilty of disorderly behaviour during working hours on 4th October 1950 inasmuch as they were found fighting with each other in the department, and they were suspended as a security measure pending the permission of the Tribunal for their dismissal. In a written statement the Company has made a prayer to the effect that the statement may be treated as an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act for permission to dismiss the two employees. We have discussed different aspects of the incident with both parties. While we agree that the mutual fight inside the factory in which these two employees engaged themselves amounted to disorderly behaviour and therefore a major misdemeanour, it appears to us that the incident arose out of a more or less trivial matter concerning the two employees themselves and there was no intention on the part of either to harm the Company or anybody else. We are prepared to treat the Company's written statement as an application for permission under section 33 for the dismissal of the two employees. In our opinion a punishment of total dismissal would be rather too harsh under the particular circumstances of the case, and the ends of justice would be sufficiently met if the two men, who were undoubtedly guilty of a major misdemeanour, are directed to be suspended substantively with effect from 4th October 1950 to 17th December 1950, and they be allowed to rejoin the duties in Standard Jute Mill with effect from 18th December 1950. With regard to the Company's application under section 33, we grant permission to suspend the two employees Janaki and Apana substantively for the period indicated on the footing that they shall be re-instated with effect from 18th December 1950. In the light of the order we have made in respect of the application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, the complaint made on behalf of Janaki and Apana under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not seriously pressed. Under these circumstances we dispose of the complaint without making any separate order and make our award accordingly.

Bally Jute Mill: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Sri M. Ghosh, Deputy Labour Adviser, I.J.M.A.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 3 of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 23rd November 1950 (registered as case No. 46 of 1950 under section 33A) by the Secretary, Bally Jute Mill Workers' Union, on behalf of three persons named Bejoy Singh, Feku and Fuleswar, who are described as workmen employed in the Bally Jute Mill which is one (No. 10 under Howrah district in the list) of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the industrial disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950. The original adjudication proceedings commenced on 25th September 1950 and are pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines. The workman Bejoy Singh was dismissed by the mill authorities from his service on or about 6th November 1950 on the allegation that he had quarrelled with one Dhiren, an employee of the Mill Ration Shop. The allegation, according to the complainant, is entirely false. The other two workmen, Feku and Fuleswar, were given warnings in connection with their work and these warnings were recorded against them. It is contended in the petition of complaint that the order of dismissal and the order regarding the warnings amounted to punishment and in so far as these punishments were inflicted during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings before the Tribunal, without the express permission in writing of the Tribunal, the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened, and the action taken by the employers being illegal, the orders in question should be set aside. The contentions raised on behalf of Bally Jute Mill are on the following lines. The warnings administered to the workmen Feku and Fuleswar were justified under the circumstances, and such warnings do not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, and therefore no permission of the Tribunal was necessary. As regards Bejoy Singh he was not actually dismissed as alleged. A charge sheet was drawn against him and an enquiry was made and he was suspended pending the permission of the Tribunal in respect of a proposed order of dismissal. A separate application for permission to dismiss Bejoy Singh under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act was subsequently made by Bally Jute Mill and this was registered as case No. 83 of 1950 under section 33.

2. We take up the question of the warnings in respect of Feku and Fuleswar first, the question being whether such warnings amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The normal Dictionary meaning of the word "warn" is to put a person on guard as regards something happening in the future. The action which leads to an act of warning relates no doubt to some fault or default already committed. But the authority who prefers to administer a warning entertains essentially the idea that he does not intend to meet the particular fault or default with any kind of punishment, but he prefers to put the offending person on his guard with regard to a possible repetition of the fault or default in the future. The essential idea involved in an act of warning is that the action taken is of a preventive nature with regard to the future as distinguished from any kind of punitive action in respect of fault or default committed in the past. It is possible that an accumulation of two or more warnings may lead to definite punitive action in the future in case of a repetition. But such punishment depends on the contingency of a repetition which may or may not take place. Looking at the matter from all points of view, we have come to the conclusion that a warning does not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Industrial Disputes Act. In the cases of the two workmen Feku and Fuleswar, therefore, there was no necessity of seeking the permission of the Tribunal with regard to the recording of the warnings, and we hold that the provisions of section 33 were not contravened.

[3] We now pass on to deal with the case regarding Bejoy Singh. The order passed by the Manager was as follows: "After full enquiry into the case drawn up against you on 4th November 1950, you are informed that you are dismissed, but that until the permission of the Tribunal to such effect has been obtained you will continue to be suspended." The Management evidently held an enquiry, and then passed the order in question. The language used in the order appears to us to be somewhat ambiguous, but we are prepared to interpret it in a reasonable manner in the light of the particular circumstances. The Management had the idea of obtaining the permission of the Tribunal in respect of a contemplated order of dismissal, and although the language used in one portion of the order is to the effect of conveying the idea that Bejoy Singh was dismissed by the order, the Management really passed an order of suspension pending the permission of the Tribunal with regard to an order of dismissal which was being considered. Although an enquiry was held by the Management for its own satisfaction, the decision in the enquiry was intended to be subjected to the consideration of the Tribunal whose permission was to be sought. From that point of view the enquiry was not really completed at the time when the Management passed its order of suspension. As to whether any misconduct had been committed by the workman concerned, and whether such misconduct, if found, would be met by an order of dismissal, the decision was to be left to the Tribunal, although a preliminary enquiry was in fact held by the Management. We are of opinion that in this particular case there was not yet an order of dismissal, and all that happened was that the workman Bejoy Singh was suspended pending an enquiry by the Tribunal with regard to the question of permission under section 33. In that view of the matter the order of suspension cannot be said to have amounted to a dismissal within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. In connection we refer to the reasoning set forth in paragraph 6 of the order of the Engineering Firms Tribunal consisting of Sri S. N. Modak, Chairman, and Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, Member, in connection with a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act against the Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., as published in the Calcutta Gazette of 28th September 1950 by Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 53351ab., dated 16th September 1950. As pointed out in that award, the ordinary Dictionary meaning of the word "punish" is "to cause offender to suffer for offence", "to inflict punishment for offence". The word "punish" presupposes or signifies some misconduct committed by the man who is punished. In so far as an enquiry regarding the commission of an offence is yet to be made by the Tribunal, it cannot be said to have been established that the workman committed an offence. In our particular case the order of suspension, pending the final decision of the Tribunal, was taken as a security measure, and did not amount to a substantive punishment. In that view of the matter we are of opinion that the permission of the Tribunal was required in respect of such an order of suspension, and the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were not contravened.

The complainants Feku, Fuleswar and Bejoy Singh, as represented by the Secretary, Bally Jute Mill Workers' Union, have thus failed to show that the provisions of section 33 of the Act were contravened. The order made under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is, therefore, held to be untenable, and we hold that the workmen concerned are entitled to any relief on the basis of this petition of complaint. We award accordingly.

INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, CALCUTTA

PRESENT:

SRI MATILAL CHANDRA BANERJEE, District Judge, Tebh

Industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., Head Office, 62, Hazra Road, Calcutta, Works: Konnagar, Hooghly, and their employees represented by the Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union, 26A, Deodar Street, Calcutta, in connection with the dismissal of P. K. Banerji, Store-in-charge and (2) Sri B. N. Nandy, Assistant.

AWARD.

Government of West Bengal, in the Department of Labour, by order of the Labour Department, dated 29th September 1950, referred under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., Head Office, 62, Hazra Road, Calcutta, Works: Konnagar, Hooghly, and their employees represented by the Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union, 26A, Deodar Street, Calcutta, in connection with the dismissal of (1) Sri P. K. Banerji, Store-in-charge and (2) Sri B. N. Nandy, Store Assistant, regarding the matters mentioned in the following Schedule:—

Schedule.

Whether Sri P. K. Banerji and Sri B. N. Nandy were rightly dismissed.

What compensation or other redress, if any, they should get?

Stores were issued on both parties and they filed written statement setting up their respective cases. Sri P. K. Banerji was appointed in the Department in the main centre of the Company at Hazra Road in Calcutta. He was transferred to Konnagar Depot on 8th January 1949 as in-charge and Sri B. N. Nandy who was also appointed as a subordinate in the Stores Department in November 1946 was transferred to Konnagar Depot in January 1949. The Depot is a stacking place of automobiles and spare parts of vehicles deposited over an extensive area and the protection of the stock from theft or damage is in charge of the Security Officer and his staff which includes the watch and ward personnel. The entire Depot is in the charge of the Depot Manager. The Store Department is one of the Departments in the Depot dealing with the records of the stock of materials.

At the relevant time Mr. Montgomery was the Depot Manager, Mr. M. L. Dhand was the Security Officer and Sri P. K. Banerji was the Head Store-in-charge at Konnagar.

The Union's case in the written statement on the dispute in question is as follows:—

The Security Officer Mr. M. L. Dhand was inimically disposed towards Sri P. K. Banerji and the Depot Manager was under the influence of the Security Officer. On 21st April 1950 the Depot Manager issued a notice on Sri P. K. Banerji and his colleague Sri B. N. Nandy charging them with an offence of theft of some articles of the Company on 18th April 1950. This notice was based on the report of one Gaya Singh, a durwan, who was a subordinate of the Security Officer. Both P. K. Banerji and B. N. Nandy gave explanations on 24th April 1950 denied the charge and asked for a proper investigation and Sri P. K. Banerji also submitted a memorandum to the General Manager at Hazra Road asking for a detailed enquiry, without making any enquiry or giving the affected employees any opportunity to examine the accusers and without any substantial incriminating evidence, the Company discharged both of them by letters, dated 25th April 1950 with effect from 26th April 1950. The dismissal of the two employees was a result of a conspiracy of the Depot Manager and the Security Officer against the Bengalee employees in general and Sri P. K. Banerji in particular. These two employees were active members of the Union and immediately after their dismissal the Union took up the matter with the Management but in vain. The Union thereafter approached the Labour Directorate and a conciliation proceeding was started. The Labour Directorate failed to effect any conciliation and the dispute was then referred by the Government to the Tribunal for adjudication. The Union assailed the discharge of the two employees as instances of victimisation unfair labour practice and prayed for their reinstatement and compensation for the period of their non-employment.

The Company in its written statement in reply state that the employees were dismissed on 26th April 1950 for gross misconduct after proper enquiry. The Company denied the allegation of any motive of unfair labour practice or victimisation on their part or any collusion between the Depot Manager and the Security Officer in the matter of dismissal of the employees.

Issues were framed on 17th November 1950.

The appearances for the parties were as follows:—

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen (Gupta, Advocate, Sri Asoke Das (in absence), Secretary, Allen Berry Head Office Employees' Union, and Sri J. Chakravarty, Assistant Secretary of the Union.

For the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Sri D. D. Chadda, Legal Officer of the Company.

ISSUES.

1. Whether Sri P. K. Banerji and Sri B. N. Nandy were rightly dismissed.
2. What compensation or other reliefs, if any, they should get?

Decisions.

Issues Nos. 1 and 2.—The Union's case is that the dismissal of the clerks Sri P. K. Banerji and Sri B. N. Nandy was occasioned by irresponsible decision of the General Manager of the Company at the Head Road Head Office without any proper enquiry and on a false charge brought by a durwan of the Company, a subordinate of the Security Officer. It also openly alleged that the durwan in creating the false charge against two clerks was acting under the malign influence of the Security Officer. Mr. M. L. Dhand who was inimically disposed towards the Head Store-keeper Sri P. K. Banerji. It was suggested at the hearing that the Security Officer was unfriendly and even hostile to the Head Store-keeper as he stood in the way of the dishonest pursuits of the Security Officer in regard to stores of the Company in his protection. The Company took the stand that the durwan Gaya Singh saw the two clerks to converse in a suspicious manner at a spot behind the office and on approaching them B. N. Nandi to plant his foot on some new cut outs and carburetors covered by a piece of linen on the ground and the durwan asked Nandi to remove his foot from the articles when Banerji offered a hush money of Rs. 100 to the durwan which he refused. The durwan then reported the incident to the Jamadar, the Jamadar reported to the Security Officer and the latter reported to the Depot Manager. Charge-sheets followed resulting in dismissals in dispute. Oral and documentary evidence were adduced by the parties in support of their cases. P.W. 1 P. K. Banerji, P.W. 2 B. N. Nandy and O.P.W. 1 durwan Gaya Singh were examined. Documents Exts. 1 series, 2 series, 3 series, 4, 5 and 6 were marked for the Union and documents Exts A, B and C were marked for the Company.

It appears from the evidence on record that Sri P. K. Banerji and B. N. Nandy were appointed as clerks in the Store Department of the Head Road centre of the Company in 1946. Both of them were transferred agar Depot when it was opened in January 1949. Sri P. K. Banerji appointed as Head Store Clerk and Sri B. N. Nandy as a subordinate in the stores. Sri P. K. Banerji had four Assistants in his department; were Sri B. N. Nandy, Sri A. N. Kumar, Sri B. R. Das and Sri N. G. Sri P. K. Banerji was in receipt of a basic pay of Rs. 90 and a dearness allowance of Rs. 81 and other allowances amounting to Rs. 21 per month in P.W. 1 P. K. Banerji states that he made an inventory of all the articles in the Depot which were not properly shown in the records and placed them in proper places but he soon detected tampering and removal of these articles. Suspecting foul play he reported the matter to the Depot Manager. Very soon after the Security Officer Mr. M. L. Dhand learned to Banerji of having accused the Security Officer of stealing articles from the stores. P. K. Banerji repudiated the accusation and even stated to the Depot Manager on the matter and asked for an enquiry. There is a manuscript draft of complaint purported to have been made by Banerji's subordinate to Sri P. K. Banerji and in the handwriting of the Security Officer Mr. M. L. Dhand. P.W. 1 P. K. Banerji proved this document to be in the handwriting of the Security Officer Mr. Dhand. The letter clearly states that the labourers were persecuted by Sri P. K. Banerji and his Assistant Sri Kumar for not joining in theft of stores at the Depot. The learned Advocate for the Company pointed out that Mr. Dhand was not in the service of the Company at the date of the hearing and was discharged some time back and his writing was not difficult to detect. The Union pointed out that the written statement with the details of the fact and the copy of the letter Ext. 6 as Annexure B to the written statement was filed on 12th October 1950 when the Security Officer was in the service of the Company. It is stated by the representatives of the Company that the Security Officer Mr. Dhand was discharged from the Company's service some time in the month of November 1950. It is not clear how the manuscript Ext. 6 could be secured by the dismissed employees when Mr. Banerji was in the employment of the Company.

1 and 1(a) are letters, dated 21st April 1950, by way of charge sheet P. K. Banerji and Sri B. N. Nandy respectively. Exts. 2 and 2(a) are explanations of Sri P. K. Banerji and Sri B. N. Nandy respectively in the charge sheets. Ext. 4 is the letter, dated 24th April 1950, submitted by P. K. Banerji to the General Manager of the Company at Hazra Road Calcutta, complaining about the charge of theft against himself and requested for a investigation by a selected personnel and alleging that this enquiry was necessary in the interest of the Company if large scale misappropriation of the Company's stores was to be avoided. This letter Ext. 4 gives the clear details of the accusations against honest employees of the Company were being made to undermine the administration of the Depot and to permit disloyal officials to make misappropriation of the Company's goods possible. It is the application by Sri P. K. Banerji sent on 17th March 1950 to the General Manager complaining against Mr. Dhand the Security Officer, that the latter had accused Banerji of having given vent to the story that Dhand was misappropriating petrol from the Depot. Banerji requested for an enquiry over the matter. Ext. 6 is the letter in manuscript form by Banerji to be in the handwriting of Dhand making accusation against Dhand and purported to have been drafted on the instructions of Banerji's subordinate employees. Exts. 3 and 3(a), dated 25th April 1950, are letters dismissing the two employees in question. Ext. A is a letter by M. Ganguli to P. K. Banerji asking him to see the General Manager in connection with this letter Ext. 4. Ext. B is the report of durwan Gaya in Hindi and Ext. B₁ is the English translation of the report Ext. B. Ext. B₂ is the report of the Security Officer forwarding the report Ext. B to the Depot Manager.

O.P.W. 1 durwan Gaya Singh states that on 18th April 1950 when was on duty at Post No. 2 he saw Banerji and Nandy talking together spot behind the office and on his approaching them he found some cut-articles and two carburetors on the ground near them. Nandy had his foot on do so when Banerji offered a ten-rupee note to the durwan asking him keep silent. The durwan refused to accept the money. He then made report Ext. B to the Jamadar. In cross-examination he states that Ban and Nandy left the spot in his presence and the carburetors and the cut-remained where they were. The witness further states that he did not know what happened to these articles. It appears unusual that the article question remained where they had been brought by the accused employee and the durwan could not say what happened to them.

From what has been discussed above it is clear that on a perusal of report Ext. B sent by the Security Officer with his own report Ext. C after having a talk with P. K. Banerji the General Manager of the Company thought it fit to dismiss the two employees in question and thereupon the dismissal orders in Exts. 3 and 3(a) were issued by the Depot Manager Montgomery. The Union complains that there was no proper enquiry into the charge and that the two employees were victims of the personal grudge of Mr. Dhand on a charge falsely created by him with the help of underling Gaya Singh. I accept the letter Ext. 6 to be in the handwriting of Mr. Dhand. This letter shows that the Security Officer went to the extent of joining some subordinates of the Stores Department in making accusation against the Head Store-keeper. This document clearly goes to show that the Security Officer was not in friendly terms with or favourably disposed towards the Head Store-keeper P. K. Banerji.

I do not find that there was a proper enquiry into the accusation of the durwan against P. K. Banerji and B. N. Nandy or that the affected employees were given any chance of cross-examining their accusers or examining any witnesses in their favour.

My conclusion on the evidence and circumstances of the case is that the two employees were dismissed without any proper enquiry and that the stigma of dismissal on a charge of theft attaching to these two employees is unmerited. Sri P. K. Banerji was holding an important position in the Depot, having been in charge of the store of the Depot, and Sri B. N. Nandy was also an employee in the Stores Department of the Depot. If the Company wanted to terminate the service of these two employees to be on a safer ground in view of the accusation while they were employed in the Stores department, they should have been discharged with due compensation. But, do not, however, consider that they are entitled to reinstatement. First, because no case of victimisation for trade union activities or unfair labour practice in the matter of their dismissal has been proved. Secondly, as stated by P.W. 2 B. N. Nandy, the Konnagar Depot was closed on 1st July 1950 and out of the total number of workmen, 149 in number, all 149 had left with compensation as per terms of agreement of the Company with the Sodepur staff when they were discharged on a closure of that Depot in the month of April 1950.

In view of the circumstances of the case Sri P. K. Banerji and Sri B. N. Nandy should be given proper compensation for termination of service and for each of them, shall be as follows:—

- (1) One month's emolument including dearness and other allowance way of notice money;
- (2) Basic pay for two months by way of gratuity;

- (3) Basic pay for one month by way of bonus for 1950; and
 (4) Provident Fund amount including Company's contribution, if it is awarded accordingly.

These issues are accordingly answered.

All payments as awarded above shall be made within six weeks of the date on which this Award comes into operation.

The matter of an industrial dispute between Dunbar Cotton Mills, Shamnagar, district 24-Parganas, and their employees represented by Shamnagar Cotton Mills Workers' Union regarding the question of profit-sharing bonus for 1949 and casual leave.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (RETD.), Chairman.

In Dunbar Cotton Mills: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

Shamnagar Cotton Mills Workers' Union: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate.

AWARD.

Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6814Lab., dated the 28th November 1950, this industrial dispute between Dunbar Cotton Mills, Shamnagar, district 24-Parganas, and their employees represented by Shamnagar Cotton Mills Workers' Union, Garulia, district 24-Parganas, regarding the matters specified in a schedule has been referred for adjudication. The issues in the present proceeding are the two issues which have been specified in the schedule appended to the order of reference which are as follows:—

1. Whether the workers are entitled to get profit-sharing bonus for the year 1949.
2. Whether the permanent workers are entitled to get 5 days' casual leave in a year.

A three-Judge Industrial Tribunal presided over by Sri A. Das adjudicated upon certain industrial disputes between the employers Cotton Mills in West Bengal, including Dunbar Cotton Mills and workmen and the award of that Tribunal was published in the C. Gazette by Government of West Bengal order No. 2956Lab., dated 21st August 1948. In that award the questions of "bonus" and "casual leave" were dealt with under points Nos. 5 and 7 respectively. In the award under point No. 5 the Tribunal laid down certain principles governing the question of payment of bonus and also laid down a formula to be followed out for the distribution of bonus on the principles laid down. As regards the question of casual leave under point No. 7, the Tribunal directed the granting of 10 days' privilege leave in accordance with the Factories Act and also directed that the employees would get casual leave for 5 days and sick leave for 15 days in addition. It is claimed on behalf of the workmen that the question of payment of bonus under the award of 1948 has nothing to do with the actual accrual of profits in the relevant year, but all that the Tribunal directed was that the formula laid down by it should be complied with in any case in which dividend was paid to the shareholders in a particular year. On the other hand it is contended by the Company that the award of 1948 clearly intended that the payment of bonus to employees intrinsically depended on the actual accrual of profits in the particular year irrespective of the question as to whether any dividends were paid in that year out of the reserve funds as distinguished from profits derived in the particular year. It is pointed out by the Company that no profits were derived in the year 1949 inasmuch as although profits were derived in the first half of the year, substantial losses were incurred in the second half, and the overall picture of the trading situation was that substantial losses were incurred for the year 1949 taken as a whole. As regards the question of casual leave, it is claimed by the workmen that the award of 1948 provided for 5 days' casual leave in addition to the 10 days' privilege leave which was admissible under the Factories Act, and casual leave being an entirely distinct kind of leave, the provision for 5 days' casual leave should be maintained, irrespective of the question as to whether a workman would be entitled to more than 10 days' privilege leave under the amended Factories Act. On the side of the Company, on the other hand, it is contended that the Tribunal of 1948 would not have provided for 5 days' casual leave if the amended Factories Act, under which a worker would be able to earn privilege leave up to 15 days in a year, was in existence at that time.

2. I shall take up the question of bonus for 1949 under issue No. 1 first. The award of the Cotton Textile Industry Tribunal of 1948 has ceased to be operative, and both sides are aware that this is so. The workmen, however, have a sort of tacit understanding that the provisions of that award would be maintained as far as practicable. It is on that basis that the workmen have claimed on behalf of the workers that both the issues of "bonus" and "casual leave" are to be decided by this Tribunal in the light of the provisions of the award of the Cotton Textile Industry Tribunal. Although that award has since ceased to be operative in the strictly legal sense, the sort of tacit understanding which I have just referred to cannot be brought to an end in view of the nature of the issues raised, to interpret the provisions of the award of 1948, and to adjudicate upon the points in dispute in the light of that interpretation as far as practicable. On reading the portion of the award of 1948 under point No. 5 relating to bonus I gather that the Tribunal laid down certain principles and then adopted a formula by way of enunciating a method for giving effect to those principles. Let us now investigate the principles laid down by the Tribunal were. The following extracts from the Tribunal's award serve to throw considerable light on the question, whether the Tribunal intended that the payment of bonus to the employees for a particular year would depend essentially on the factor of accrual of profits in that year.

The underlying principle for the payment of bonus is that the employee contributed by labour for the earning of profits made by the Company. If of the profits so earned which is determined at the end of the year will be the employees. Although bonus is dependent on profits and although it can be and should be linked with profits, the workers as claimants do not become shareholders or partners of the business, for they are not to be compelled to share the loss of the business."

The only just and equitable principle upon which an employer may be called upon to grant a bonus to the employees is to consider the amount of profits made by the employer in any given year and the general financial position of the concern and its capacity to bear this additional burden of paying bonus without impairing the efficiency or injuring the business as a vital matter."

The workers may equitably claim bonus for a year out of the profits of that particular year on account of their personal contribution to earn profits. Reserve funds are no doubt built out of the profits..... If reserves, if any, were set apart every year for meeting contingent future liabilities. Reserves become the property of the Company which along with the capital assets may be distributed among shareholders, at the time of its winding up. This distribution does not amount to payment of dividends but it is payment in lieu of a share in the total property of the company. It has already been noted that even if bonus is linked with profits and profits, the workers are not shareholders and are not therefore entitled to any share in the property."

In interpreting the above extracts together with other passages in the award which I have not quoted, I am quite clear in coming to the conclusion that the Tribunal laid down the principle that the payment of bonus to employees would depend essentially on the accrual of profits in the particular year, irrespective of the question as to whether any dividends were paid out of the reserve funds as distinguished from current profits. This principle is completely in accord with the principles governing the payment of bonus which have been almost universally accepted by various Tribunals throughout the country and also by the Labour Appellate Tribunal of India as per paragraphs 21, etc., of the Appellate Tribunal's decision, dated the 9th October 1950, in Appeal No. 1 of 1950 in the Mill Owners' Association, Bombay, and the Rashtreeya Mill Owners' Association, Bombay, and another. So far as the Cotton Textile Tribunal's award is concerned, I find that that Tribunal laid down the same general principles and then evolved a formula by way of enunciating a method for giving effect to those principles. With regard to the question of payment of bonus to the employees for a particular year, the question, even under the award of 1948, would be whether the employers had made any substantial profits during that year. If the answer to this question is affirmative, then the question of working out the formula governing the calculation of the quantum of bonus would arise. If the answer to the question is in the negative, no question of working out the formula can arise. In our particular case so far as the year 1949 was concerned some dividend was paid to the shareholders both in the first half and second half of the year. The dividend appears to have been paid to the reserve funds, as during the second half of the year very substantial losses were incurred. I am satisfied from an examination of the balance-sheets and profit and loss account, that substantial losses incurred during the year 1949 taken as a whole, although some profit derived during the first half of the year. Now applying the principle down in the award of 1948, which are identical with the principle down by other Tribunals, I have no difficulty in coming to the conclusion that the Company is not liable to pay any bonus for the year 1948, although certain dividends were paid to the shareholders out of the reserve fund not out of any profits actually derived during the relevant period. answer in respect of issue No. 1, therefore, must be that the workers are not entitled to get any profit-sharing bonus for the year 1949, and I award accordingly under that issue.

3. I now pass on to issue No. 2 relating to the question of 5 days' leave in a year for the permanent workers. The Union has contended that the permanent workers are entitled to 5 days' casual leave in a year in accordance of the distinct provision for the same made in the Cotton Textile Industry Tribunal's award of 1948. The relevant passage under point No. 7 relating to leave and holidays in that award runs as follows:—

“Considering all the arguments and the present tendency to ameliorate the conditions of the workers we prescribe that the workers in the cotton textile industry shall, on completion of 12 months' continuous service, get, as under the Factories Act, 10 days' privilege leave, in addition they will get casual leave for 5 days and sick leave for 15 days. There will be six festival holidays

The award thus provided for 4 kinds of leave and holidays, viz. (1) privilege leave in accordance with the provisions of the Factories Act, (2) sick leave, (3) casual leave and (4) festival holidays. At the time when the award was given, section 49B of the then existing Factories Act provided for annual holidays for a period of 10 days, and accordingly the award made a provision for 10 days' privilege leave. That provision of the Factories Act has since been amended, and section 79 of the new Factories Act of 1948 provides for annual leave with wages at the rate of one day for every 20 days of work performed by the worker during the previous period of 12 months subject to a minimum of 10 days. The contention raised by the Union is that the Tribunal recognised the principle of granting casual leave to the workers independently of the amount of privilege leave provided for by the other hand, it is contended on behalf of the Company that the provision of the new Factories Act came to the notice of the Tribunal in the form of the Bill which was waiting for enactment, and the Tribunal by providing for 5 days' casual leave really desired to fill up the gap between the provision for 10 days' annual leave under the old Factories Act and the 10 days' annual leave which a worker would be able to earn under the new Factories Act. So far as the issue before this Tribunal is concerned the matter is not merely one of interpretation of the previous award, but it involves an aspect of adjudication in the light of all the materials including the provisions in the award of 1948. It is to be borne in mind that the award of 1948 is no longer operative, although there may be a short of time standing on both sides to continue to give effect to the provisions of the award as far as practicable. There has been a distinct change in the circumstances since the award was given in 1948, in so far as the provision for compulsory annual leave has undergone considerable modification. In that view of the matter, it will not be proper merely to read the provisions days' casual leave in the award of 1948, independently of all other considerations, including the substantial change in the provision for annual leave. The present position regarding annual leave is that a diligent and hard worker is capable of earning 15 days' annual leave as against a minimum of 10 days. The average worker of moderate diligence and regularity perhaps earn 12 or 13 days' annual leave. It is difficult to say what provision for casual leave for the workers the Tribunal of 1948 would have made if the new provisions for compulsory annual leave had been in existence at that time. At the same time it appears that that Tribunal recognised the principle of casual leave which is certainly very different from the concept of privilege leave. The issue regarding casual leave has been brought before this Tribunal on behalf of the workers of only one Cotton Mill and it seems to me somewhat embarrassing to deal with a question of this kind in respect of only one of the 36 units which were dealt with by the Tribunal of 1948. I feel that a controversy like this should be placed before a Tribunal authorised to deal with all the Cotton Mill units, and it is desirable to avoid the introduction of separate provisions in respect of one unit. The issue regarding casual leave in respect of only one Cotton Mill has, however, been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication, and it has got to be dealt with in the light of all the circumstances. It is notable that the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's award of 1948 did not contain any provision for casual leave for manual workers and that award also the Engineering Industry Tribunal's award of 1948 provided for workers' sick leave on half pay as against 15 days' sick leave on full pay which was provided in the Cotton Textile Industry Tribunal's award. The provision of compulsory annual leave has since undergone an increase under the new Factories Act. The entire structure of leave and holidays for the workers of all the Cotton Mills perhaps calls for reconsideration. That, however, is not within the purview of the present reference to this Tribunal. I think it would be just and fair under the existing circumstances if I decide that the permanent workers in the particular Cotton Mill I am dealing with should be granted two days' casual leave in a year in addition to their annual leave otherwise called privilege leave, which is permissible under the new Factories Act. This, however, in my opinion, should be subject to modification in the light of any award relating to leave and holidays which may eventually be given by a Tribunal dealing with all the units of the Cotton Textile Industry. In the result, I answer the question by deciding that the permanent workers in Dunbar Cotton Mills are entitled to get two days' casual leave in a year, subject to any provision regarding leave and holidays which may in future be made by any Industrial Tribunal dealing with all the units of the Cotton Textile Industry. I make this award accordingly under issue No. 2.

By order of the Governor,

ORDER.

No. 950Lab.—13th February 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5211Lab., dated the 12th September 1950, the industrial dispute between Angus Engineering Works, post office Angus, Hooghly (Managing Agents: Messrs. Thomas Duff & Co., 3, Clive Row, Calcutta), and their workers represented by the Angus Engineering Works Employees' Union, post office Angus, Hooghly, referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has submitted the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Angus Engineering Works (Managing Agents: Messrs. Thomas Duff & Co., 3, Clive Row, Calcutta), post office Angus, Hooghly, and their workers represented by Angus Engineering Works Employees' Union, post office Angus, Hooghly.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, assisted by Sri Byomraj Majumdar, Secretary of the Union.

For the Company: Sri K. B. Basu, Counsel of Messrs. Orr, Dignam & Co., Solicitors, assisted by Mr. J. K. Thompson, Manager.

1. By an order No. 5211Lab., dated the 12th September 1950 the Government of West Bengal had constituted a Tribunal of one Judge in pursuance of sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947) referred the said dispute to me for adjudication. The order of reference was received here on the 18th September 1950. There were several amendments as the Union moved Government for amendment. On 1st November 1950, Government order No. 6000Lab., dated the 12th October 1950, received. In place of "mistries" in Issue No. 1 contained in the schedule of the Order of Reference, the word "workmen" was substituted. There was a further amendment received from Government on the 14th November 1950. Two more issues were added by Government order No. 6403, dated 10th November 1950. No further issues were framed. The case taken up for hearing on 3rd January 1951 and evidence was concluded the following day. Argument was heard on the 13th January 1951 and award was reserved.

2. The issues, as finally recast by these two orders of amendment, are as follows:—

- (1) Whether there should be any grades, scales of pay and an increment for the different classes of workmen.
- (2) If so, what should be the grades and rate of annual increment for the different grades?

- 3) Whether the workers of Angus Engineering Works should be given enhanced dearness allowance as well as holidays as awarded by the General Engineering Tribunal under order No. 5160Lab., dated the 9th September 1950. If so, from what date?
- 4) Whether workmen should get any Puja bonus for the year 1950. If so, what should be the amount?

AWARD.

Issue No. 4.

This issue is taken up first for the sake of convenience. The Union's Puja bonus for the year 1950 equivalent to one month's wages. Demand is based on the ground that the scale of wages in this concern is particularly low. The claim is resisted by the Company. On the evidence before me I do not find that the scale of wages obtaining in this concern is unusually low. This Company has implemented the award of the General Engineering Tribunal presided over by Sri S. K. Sen. Exhibit A shows that the scale of pay compares not unfavourably with the scales given in other Engineering Works, viz., Britannia Engineering Works, & Farmer and Parry & Co., Ltd. Besides, there was no practice in the Company to give Puja bonus in the past. So the claim for Puja bonus for 1950 is turned down. The question of its amount does not arise.

Issue No. 3.

The Union claims enhanced dearness allowance as awarded by the General Engineering Tribunal presided over by Sri S. N. Modak. The Company wants to adhere to the scale granted by the previous Major Engineering Tribunal presided over by Sri S. K. Sen. I, for one, do not understand why the dearness allowance awarded by Sri S. K. Sen should be followed in preference to the more recent Tribunal of Sri S. N. Modak if that the dearness allowance granted by the former is lower. Sri Sen based his award for dearness allowance on the cost of living index number at 310 points for the working classes. That was in 1948. The cost of living index has considerably increased during these years and it be questioned. So the dearness allowance prescribed by the last Engineering Tribunal of Sri S. N. Modak is entitled to more preference. I accordingly accept it for this case. It is not up to the Company to contend that it is not capable of paying this increased dearness allowance. Profit and Loss Account submitted by the Company—marked Ext. 1—clearly shows that the profits have gone on increasing in course of time up to 1949. In 1949 the profits were very nearly doubled than those in 1948.

The learned Counsel of the Company tried to make much of the fact that there is increase in foreign competition and of the special handicap to which the Company is subject to. But such outlook is practically before every business concern. In spite of that the Major Engineering Tribunal presided over by Sri S. N. Modak granted this increased dearness allowance next to the actual scale of dearness allowance, I find from the evidence of Sri S. K. Sen already referred to that the employees of this concern receive some subsidised foodstuff. That has been estimated at Rs. 8 per month (vide the award as per order No. 2263Lab., dated 6th July 1948, published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, on the 8th July 1948).

So the scale of dearness allowance allowed by the last Engineering Tribunal of Sri S. N. Modak is liable to be reduced to the extent of Rs. 8 per month. This reduction will operate as long as this food concession subsists. Else it will be restored. Sri S. K. Sen allowed the dearness allowance of the Company amounting to Rs. 27-8 per month to continue in respect of the pay range up to Rs. 50. I also do the same for the very same reason because it will be more than what the employees should be entitled to get under the scale formulated by Sri S. N. Modak. Making allowance for this food concession estimated at Rs. 8 per month I fix the dearness allowance as below:—

Basic pay range.			Dearness allowance
			Rs.
Rs. 51 to Rs. 100 34
Rs. 101 to Rs. 150 40
Rs. 151 to Rs. 200 46
Rs. 201 and upwards 52

I do not, however, accept the Union's contention that the increased dearness allowance should be retroactive. I make it prospective. It will go into operation within one month of the award becoming operative.

5. Regarding the second branch of this issue, I mean about holidays I prefer to accept 10 days' festival holidays as granted by the last General Engineering Tribunal presided over by Sri S. N. Modak. The present General Engineering Tribunal granted 8 festival holidays. But I prefer to grant 10 days' holidays in view of four National holidays being included.

6. Regarding leave with pay, on which both sides addressed the Tribunal, I award that it would be 15 days in a year of continuous service as prescribed under the Factories Act (Act LXIII of 1948) in section 80. This New Factories Act was introduced shortly after the award of the original General Engineering Tribunal of Sri S. K. Sen. That is why Sri S. K. Sen made a provision for 4 or 5 extra days of leave over and above 10 days of statutory leave under the Factories Act. But when the New Factories Act made provision for leave which was equal to that found no reason to keep any extra provision of leave for 4 or 5 days. Dr. R. K. Mukherjee, the practical economist, recommends 22 days of leave in a year of continuous service. This provision about leave is also prospective. There is one objection raised by the learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the Company that the Government Order of Reference in respect of this issue and the previous issue is bad. The claim accorded ceases to be an industrial dispute. Of course, in the Conciliation Officer's report I do not meet with any clear indication that these matters were mooted before him. The Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, provides a remedy to the Industrial Tribunal by some sort of conciliation, either through the Conciliation Officer or through a Board appointed for the purpose. But that is only a matter of procedure. If it is not meticulously observed there is just an irregularity, but nothing more than that. It does not take away the jurisdiction of the Tribunal to go into this question when the matter is contained in the Order of Reference. So I find that the reference in this case might be a bit irregular, but it is not bad or without jurisdiction. At all events the matter in issue does not cease to be an industrial dispute for that reason. If it is an industrial dispute, it is so, no matter whether the Order of Reference in respect of it is irregular or not.

Issues Nos. 1 and 2.

7. These two issues are taken up together for the sake of convenience as the matter is more or less allied and inter-dependent. Regarding the claim for annual increment, the contention of the Union is that it is ue all along. It has been withdrawn since the award of the Tribunal sided over by Sri S. K. Sen in July 1948. That is not correct. It is contradicted by the service-cards, as per Ext. C series. These cards will w that there is no hard-and-fast rule about annual increment. Some- es it was granted twice or more in a year. At other times it was not ted in two or three years. The Union does not challenge the correct- of the entries in those service-cards. But as I find from the Conciliation cet's report that the Company in the final stage of discussion conceded . matter It was prepared to grant annual increment only at a lower le So the Company cannot now be allowed to go back upon it and tend that it is opposed to annual increment on principle.

The Company, however, stoutly opposes the granting of automatic annual increment. It wants to make increment dependent on efficiency all the rungs of the ladder. The Union contends that there is efficiency at the end of each grade. From the "C" grade nobody can be promoted be "B" grade or from "B" grade to "A" grade except on proved efficiency. according to the Union, there is no point in fixing efficiency at every re The learned Counsel of the Company argues that there is nothing automatic annual increment in the Western countries. He also refers certain passages in the Labour Gazette, Volume XXVII, January 1948 page 583. He contends that if such increment is allowed, it will set a minimum on indolence. It will also react in raising the prices and tend to e rise to inflation. I am unable to accept the learned Counsel's argu- at on its face value. Even if I accept his statement as correct in respect the Western countries, that cannot be accepted as such here in view of wages given to the employees in this country. It is well known that this country the current wage falls far short of the living wage and also, some extent, of the fair wage. The current wage is practically on a erty level. Dearness allowance is being granted to neutralise the lag of current wages behind the fair wage. So what is true in the West is not ally true here, considering the different conditions under which a umer works here. Besides, I find that such system is in vogue substan- ly in the Britannia Engineering Works, Saxby & Farmer and Parry & . Ltd. and other Engineering Works in this country. If the yearly rement is hedged round with restriction like the test of efficiency, then increment might prove illusory in many cases. From my experience this Tribunal I cannot say that in every case the Company grants incre- at ungrudgingly. At least in some cases I found that increment is, as etter of fact, extorted. If the scale of the grades is looked into, it will eat that the increment per year is almost negligible—either 1½ pies hour or 2 pies per hour. Within this small range or compass or nation I think I may make this annual increment automatic. I have led into the passage of the Labour Gazette referred to above. Annual rement will raise the prices provided there is no corresponding rise in . matter of production. In the present case I find no reason why the does with more experience will not learn to do the work in less time than on. That will increase production. So the annual increment does not e surely in the present case lead to the increase of prices of the produce. ads this little rise in the wage rate is bound to make for contentment ing the workers that may result in putting down turnovers. Curtail- of absenteeism is bound to increase production. So I am inclined to nk that this automatic annual increment will be beneficial in the end to employers and the employees alike. I can never think that it will tend nile active workers lazy and lazy workers more lazy, as the Company as no to believe. So I award automatic annual increment, but as for rate of increment I accept the rates of 1½ pies and 2 pies per hour, pectively for "C" and "B" and "A" grades. The Company will always control with an eye to efficiency the promotion from one grade to the next higher grade. The scales of pay which the Union has suggested are rather fantastic. I accept the Company's scheme in this respect about grade and increment. Regarding the number of Charge Hands and Head Mistries the Union's contention is rather far too numerous. I accept the Company's scheme regarding their number after a careful scrutiny. So the whole position stands as follows regarding grades, classification, scales of pay and increments:—

For the benefit of grading I suggest that there be "A", "B" and "C" grades with an approximate percentage as under in each grade—

"A" Grade—30 per cent.

"B" Grade—40 per cent.

"C" Grade—30 per cent.

In addition to the above grades there are a number of specialist mistries whose wage rate is at the discretion of the management but is definitely greater than the maximum rate of "A" grade. Similarly Charge Hands and Head Mistries will be in a separate category with a fixed rate of wages.

A complete list showing the nomenclature and classification of mistries and others within each grade are incorporated in this scheme.

8. It will appear that in "C", "B" and "A" grades I have adjusted increment to 1½ pies and 2 pies per hour as already stated. But I have accepted the initial salary at the beginning of each grade as given by the Company. So the scheme that I accept slightly varies in this respect from the Company's scheme in that it is not a continuous whole. I do not accept the Union's controversy regarding the starting pay of the "C" grade workers. The workers in this grade comprise either Moulder Boys, or, adult, they never do an adult's job. The Company was prepared to pay a higher initial rate provided the workers did do an adult's job. That was not accepted. So I retain the starting salary of this grade as it now stands.

The Union contends that these scales of pay should be retrospective. I do not like to place this burden on the Company from a past date. It may upset its balance of finance. I need hardly point out that "C", "B" and "A" grade, respectively, represents unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled categories of workers. I have given the nomenclature of different categories and also outlined the presence of these grades therein. I do not include others whose cases did not figure in the conciliation stage.

ORDER.

No. 956Lab.—13th February 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5521Lab., dated the 25th September 1950, read with its corrigendum No. 6892Lab., dated the 29th September 1950, the industrial disputes that existed or were apprehended in the Jute Textile Industry in West Bengal, between the Jute Mills mentioned in the list attached with the said order, dated the 25th September 1950, and represented by the Indian Jute Mills Association, Royal Exchange, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Trade Unions mentioned in the said order, dated the 25th September 1950, read with the corrigendum, dated the 29th November 1950, regarding the matters mentioned in the schedule to the said order, dated the 25th September 1950, referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal consisting of Sri S. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), as Chairman and Sri P. R. Mukherji and M. C. Banerji, District Judges, as members;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, Howrah Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union, 3, 1, Kali Banerji Lane, Howrah, on behalf of Sri Pandav Samal, a workman of National Jute Mill, Rajgunj, office Sankrail, Howrah, being item 12 under the head "Howrah" of the said list, made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal, alleging that the said company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workman, conditions of service applicable to him immediately before the said proceedings.

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has decided upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

The matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made by Howrah Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union on behalf of a workman named Pandav Samal against National Jute Mill in connection with Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950, referring certain industrial disputes between 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal including National Jute Mill and their workmen.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (Retd.), Chairman.

SRI P. R. MUKHERJI, District Judge, Member.

SRI M. C. BANERJI, District Judge, Member.

Workman: Janab Shafaat Ullah Khan, representative of Howrah Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union.

National Jute Mill: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 16th November 1950 (registered as Case No. 44 of 1950 under section 33A) by Howrah Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union on behalf of a workman Pandav Samal against National Jute Mill which is one (No. 12 under Howrah district in the list) of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal, which are concerned in the industrial disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950. The original adjudication proceedings which commenced on 25th September 1950 are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines. On 9th November 1950 during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings the mill authorities recorded a warning against the workman Pandav Samal owing to alleged bad beaming. Such warning was a punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act and the employers were not entitled to inflict this punishment without seeking the express permission in writing of the Tribunal in that regard. In so far as the punishment of warning was recorded illegally, the record of such warning should be directed to be deleted. The contentions raised on behalf of the Jute Mill are on the following lines. Pandav Samal was previously warned for bad beaming on some occasions and a warning was justifiably recorded against him for very bad beaming. Such an order of warning does not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Act and there was no contravention of the provisions of section 33 and therefore the complaint under section 33A of the Act is not maintainable.

2. The vital question in this case is whether an order of recording warning of this kind amounts to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. For the reasons stated elaborately in paragraph 2 of our award, dated 27th January 1951, in connection with the complaint of Januruddin Sardar under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act against National Jute Mill (Case No. 42 of 1950 under section 33A), we come to the conclusion that in the present case of warning the action of the mill authorities did not amount to punishment within the meaning of the law and therefore the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were not contravened. The complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on behalf of Pandav Samal is therefore not maintainable and we hold that the workman is not entitled to any relief on the basis of this petition of complaint. We make our award accordingly. Under the particular circumstances of the case we make no order as to costs.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 3 of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 15th November 1950 (registered as Case No. 41 of 1950 under section 33A) by Howrah Zilla Charkai Mazd Union representing a workman named Lalit Chandra Paul against National Jute Mill, which is one (No. 12 under Howrah district in the list of 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the industrial dispute referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950). The original adjudication proceedings which commenced on 20th September 1950, are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines: The workman Lalit Chandra Paul was dismissed on or about 2nd November 1950 on allegation that he had committed theft of a hobbin of salvage cotton. It is contended in the petition of complaint that the order of dismissal passed by the management during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings before this Tribunal without its express permission in writing is consequently the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened, and the action taken by the employers, being illegal, the order in question should be set aside. The contentions raised on behalf of National Jute Mill are on the following lines: Lalit Chandra Paul was not actually dismissed as alleged. He was apprehended by a durwan the morning of 2nd November 1950, when he was leaving the main gate of the mill with a hobbin of salvage cotton concealed in a napkin and a charge sheet was given to him for an explanation, he admitted his guilt and prayed for forgiveness. It is contended on behalf of the mill that the order of dismissal was actually passed by the management, but it was decided that he should be dismissed, and pending the permission of the Tribunal in respect of an order of dismissal he was suspended as a security measure, and such order of suspension did not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, and therefore no contravention of the provisions of that section, and the present complaint under section 33A is not maintainable.

2. The order passed by the Manager in this case was as follows: "After full enquiry my decision is that you are dismissed but under the permission of the Tribunal has been obtained, you will continue to be suspended." The management appears to have held an enquiry and it passed the order in question. The language used in the order appears to be somewhat inappropriate, but we are prepared to interpret it in a reasonable manner in the light of the particular circumstances. If the management used the words "should be dismissed" instead of the words "dismissed", the language would correctly reflect what was actually intended. The management had the idea of seeking the permission of the Tribunal in respect of a contemplated order of dismissal, and we are satisfied that the management really passed an order of suspension pending the permission of the Tribunal with regard to an order of dismissal which was being contemplated. Although an enquiry was held by the management for its own satisfaction, the decision in the enquiry was intended to be subject to the scrutiny of the Tribunal whose permission was to be sought. It appears therefore that the enquiry was not really completed at the time when the management passed its order of suspension. As to whether a misconduct had been committed by the workman concerned and whether such misconduct, if found, would be met by an order of dismissal, a decision was to be arrived at by the Tribunal, although a preliminary enquiry was in fact held by the management. We are of opinion that in this particular case there was not yet an order of dismissal and the workman it Chandra Paul was suspended pending an enquiry by the Tribunal in regard to the question of permission under section 33. In that view of the matter, the order of suspension cannot be said to have amounted to punishment under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. In this connection we refer to the reasoning set forth in paragraph 6 of the Award of the Engineering Firms Tribunal consisting of Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S., and Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, Member, in connection with a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act against the Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., as published in the Calcutta Gazette of 28th September 1950 by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5335Lab., dated 16th September 1950. As pointed out in that award, the ordinary dictionary meaning of the word "punish" is "to cause offender to suffer for offence," "to inflict penalty for offence." The word "punish" presupposes or signifies some offence committed by the person who is punished. In so far as an enquiry pending the commission of an offence is yet to be made by the Tribunal, cannot be said to have been established that the workman committed an offence. In our particular case, the order of suspension pending the final decision of the Tribunal was taken as a security measure and did not amount to substantive punishment. In that view of the matter, we are of opinion that no permission of the Tribunal was required in respect of such an order of suspension and the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were not contravened.

The complainant Lalit Chandra Paul as represented by Howrah and Chittakal Mazdoor Union has thus failed to establish that the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened. The present complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is therefore not maintainable, and we hold that Lalit Chandra Paul is not entitled to relief on the basis of this petition of complaint. We make our award accordingly. Under the particular circumstances we make no order as to costs.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 16th November 1950 (registered as Case No. 43 of 1950 under section 33A) by Howrah Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union on behalf of a workman Sahadat Shekh against National Jute Mill which is one (No. 12 under Howrah district in the list) of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the industrial disputes referred to Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950. The original adjudication proceedings, which commenced on 25th September 1950, are pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines. On 8th November 1950 the pendency of the adjudication proceedings the mill authorities issued a warning against the workman Sahadot Shekh on the allegation that his production was low. Such warning was a punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act and the employers are not entitled to inflict this punishment without seeking the express permission in writing of the Tribunal in that regard. In so far as the punishment of warning was recorded illegally, the record of such warning should be directed to be deleted. The contentions raised on behalf of the Mill are on the following lines. Sahadot Shekh was found continuously giving low production in spite of his having been verbally warned for similar faults on several previous occasions, and a warning was justifiably issued against him for his continuously giving low production. Such an order of warning does not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Act and there was no contravention of the provisions of section 33, and therefore the complaint under section 33A of the Act is not maintainable.

The vital question in this case is whether an order of recording a warning of this kind amounts to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. For the reasons stated elaborately in paragraph 2 of our award, dated 27th January 1951, in connection with the complaint of Januruddin Sardar under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act against National Jute Mill (Case No. 42 of 1950 under section 33A), we come to the conclusion that in the present case of warning the action of the Mill authorities did not amount to punishment within the meaning of the Act and therefore the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were not contravened. The complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on behalf of Sahadot Shekh is therefore not maintainable and we hold that the workman is not entitled to any relief on the basis of this petition of complaint. We make our award accordingly. In the particular circumstances of the case we make no order as to costs.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 16th November 1950 (registered as Case No. 42 of 1950 under section 33A) by Howrah Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union on behalf of a workman named Januruddin Sardar against National Jute Mill, which is one (No. 12 under Howrah district in the list of the Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the industrial disputes tried to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950. The original adjudication proceedings which commenced on 25th September 1950 are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines. On 9th November 1950 during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings the mill authorities recorded a warning against the workman Januruddin Sarder on account of an alleged offence of very bad behaviour. Such warning was not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, and the employers were not entitled to inflict this punishment without the express permission in writing of the Tribunal in that regard. So far as the punishment of warning was recorded illegally, the record of such warning should be directed to be deleted. The contentions raised on behalf of the Jute Mill are on the following lines. Januruddin's bad work was often found to be very bad and he had been previously warned without any effect. A warning was justifiably recorded against him on 9th November 1950. Such an order of warning is not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Act and there was no contravention of the provisions of section 33, and hence the complaint under section 33A of the Act is not maintainable.

The vital question in this case is whether an order for recording a warning of this kind amounts to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. In this connection we may usefully refer to the observations we made in paragraph 2 of our recent award, dated 14 January 1951, in the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made on behalf of one Bejoy Singh and two others against Bally Jute Mill, which are as follows: "The normal dictionary meaning of the word 'warn' is to put a person on his guard as regards something happening in the future. The action which leads to an act of warning relates no doubt to some fault or default committed. But the authority who prefers to administer a warning entertains essentially the idea that he does not intend to meet the particular fault or default with a kind of punishment, but he prefers to put the offending person on his guard with regard to a possible repetition of the fault or default in the future. The essential idea involved in an act of warning is that the action taken is of a preventive nature with regard to the future as distinguished from any act of punitive action in respect of a fault or default committed in the past. It is possible that an accumulation of two or more warnings may lead to a more punitive action in the future in case of repetition. But such punishment depends on the contingency of a repetition which may or may not take place. Looking at the matter from all points of view, we have arrived at the conclusion that a warning does not amount to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act." The only disputed factor which has been brought to our notice in the present case on behalf of the workman is that the warning was recorded in Form P1, which is intended to be used as a form for recording punishment, and the language used in the form indicates that a warning is recorded as a punishment by the authorities. With regard to this matter, we would point out that this Tribunal is concerned with the question of "punishment" within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, and not with the question as to whether any particular kind of action is loosely treated as punishment either by the employers or by the employees. Looking at the matter from all points of view we have come to the conclusion that there is no reason for our deviating from the conclusion which we arrived at in the case of Bally Jute Mill. We hold therefore that in the present case the action of the mill authorities did not amount to punishment.

within the meaning of the law and therefore the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were not contravened.

3. The complainant Januruddin Sardar as represented by Howrah Zi Chutkal Mazdoor Union has failed to establish that the provisions of section 33 of the Act were contravened. The complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is therefore not maintainable, and we hold that the workman is not entitled to any relief on the basis of this petition of complaint. We make our award accordingly. Under the particular circumstances we make no order as to costs.

the Government of West Bengal in the Department of Labour by order 2188Lab., dated 3rd May 1950, referred, under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the industrial dispute between Messrs. Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 107, Prince Anwar Road, post office Dhakuria, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Workers' Union, 9A, Haralal Das Road, Calcutta, regarding the matters specified in the following schedule for adjudication :—

Schedule.

1. Whether the dismissal of (a) Sudhangshu Mahapatra, (b) Basanta Lal, (c) Kushi Das, (d) Ashutosh Paul, (e) Sheikh Ali, (f) Banamali Naskar, (g) B. C. Chandra, (h) Janaki Banerji, (i) Panna, (j) Sonatan Das, (k) Sudhir Kumar Majumdar, (l) Sibu, and (m) Bhushan Banerjee was justified.

2. If they are entitled to reinstatement and/or compensation.

^a Award of this proceedings was published by the Government in the Gazette, dated 30th November 1950.

^b present application purporting to be under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act was filed by the Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Co. Workers' Union on 7th September 1950, on the allegations that during the course of the proceedings before the Tribunal on the reference under No. 2188Lab., dated 3rd May 1950, the Company in contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, discharged 3 workmen, namely, (1) Samaj, (2) Gadbur and (3) Ram Kesto Das, without any justification or way of victimisation and unfair labour practice. It is also stated that Samaj was discharged on 28th June 1950 while he came to join the company on leave of one month and was insisted upon to dissociate himself from the Union, that Gadbur was discharged on 29th June 1950 for agitating the workers for an accident in course of his employment in the factory and that Ram Kesto Das was discharged on 10th August 1950 for his refusal to put his signature on a blank paper. The Union prayed for reinstatement of these workmen to their posts with full wages for the period of their non-employment. The Union also claimed on behalf of each of these workmen compensation to the extent of full wages for a period of 30 months for unjustified termination of service, in case they were not reinstated to their posts.

The Company in its written statement filed on 3rd October 1950, stated that Ram Samaj did not take any leave from the Factory Manager, alleged, that it is reported that during this time he worked in the Rum Distillery at Tollygunge and that when he came to join after the expiry of this period, the Manager could not take him back as his post was already filled in. With regard to Ram Kesto Das, the Company's statement was that this employee stole some machinery parts and was caught red-handed and the case has been taken up by the Tollygunge Police. With regard to Gadhur, the Company states that this employee received injuries due to wilful disobedience of the directions and rules of the Company, that on the accident the Company paid his dues and wages all along and also made necessary arrangements for his food and medical treatment and he was fully satisfied. It is further stated that Gadhur took leave for going home and he expressed his inability to do the work he was doing before and the Company. The Company also states that it has since been served with a notice from the Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation, West Bengal on a claim of compensation, etc., by Gadhur.

On 17th November 1950 the Company filed an additional written statement stating that the dispute referred to before the Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, under order No. 2188Lab., dated 3rd May 1950 was in connection with and concerning dismissal of some specified persons other than the persons mentioned in this petition of the Union, and these persons were not concerned in the said dispute and, therefore, the present petition under section 33A was not maintainable in law. It is next stated that there was neither any victimisation nor unfair labour practice as alleged in respect of the persons mentioned in the Union's petition.

The points that arise for decision of this case are as follows:

- (1) Is the application of the Union under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act competent?
- (2) Were the dismissals of Ram Samaj, Gadhur or Ram Kesto Das instances of victimisation or unfair labour practice on the part of the Company?
- (3) Are the workmen mentioned in issue No. 2 entitled to reinstatement? Are they entitled to any compensation?

Decisions.

Point No. 1—Ext. 1 is the copy of the order of reference No. 2188Lab. dated 3rd May 1950, that was served upon the Union by the appropriate Government when the reference was made to the Tribunal. It shows that there was an industrial dispute between Messrs. Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Co., Ltd., and their workmen represented by Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Workers' Union, regarding the matters specified in the Schedule. The Schedule involves two questions: firstly, whether the dismissal of 13 persons named therein was justified, and, secondly, whether they were entitled to reinstatement and/or compensation? It was argued by the learned Pleader for the Company that Ram Samaj, Gadhur and Ram Kesto Das, the three workmen whose employment or non-employment was in question in this case, were not workmen concerned in the dispute referred to the Tribunal by order No. 2188Lab., dated 3rd May 1950, and as such dismissal of these three persons was not hit by section 33 of the Act. In support of this contention the learned Pleader for the Company filed a copy of the Award made by my learned colleague Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, Tribunal, under section 33A of the Act, which was ordered to be issued by Government order No. 7509Lab., dated 29th December 1950. Government order is Ext. A and the Award Ext. A₁. This Award was in support of the contention that although all the workmen of the Company were parties to the previous adjudication, they were not persons who were concerned in the dispute regarding the reinstatement of the 13 men and that it was those 13 men only and not others who were really concerned in the dispute. I have bestowed my anxious considerations on the Award Ext. A₁. With due respect to the learned Judge, I do not, however, find my way to accept the conclusion that although the dispute was between the Company and their workmen represented by the Union, these workmen were not persons concerned in the dispute. A party to a dispute cannot be one concerned in the dispute. Under section 18 of the Act the Award binding upon both the parties including those workmen. The order of reference clearly states that the dispute was between the Company and their workmen represented by the Union. The workmen represented by the Union were, therefore, parties to the dispute. The Union's case is that the workmen in question were also represented by the Union in the previous dispute. There is nothing to show to the contrary. I am, therefore, of opinion that the workmen of the Company represented by the Union in the dispute referred to under order No. 2188Lab., dated 3rd May 1950.

The proceedings before the Tribunal in respect of the previous dispute pending from 3rd May 1950 to 30th November 1950. All the disputes in question in the present proceeding were effected during this period. It is not denied that no express permission in writing of the Tribunal was secured by the Company to dismiss these three men. I have, therefore, no other alternative than to hold that the Company, in dismissing these three persons during the pendency of the proceedings before the Tribunal in respect of the industrial dispute under order No. 2188Lab., dated 3rd May 1950, without the express permission in writing of the Tribunal, contravened section 33 of the Act. The present application under section 33A of the Act by the Union presented on behalf of the aggrieved workmen is, therefore, competent.

Facts Nos. 2 and 3.—The Union's case is that the three workmen in question were dismissed during the pendency of the proceedings before the Tribunal from 3rd May 1950 to 30th November 1950 without the express permission in writing of the Tribunal and that they were dismissed by way of termination and unfair labour practice and, therefore, they were entitled to reinstatement and compensation as claimed. The Company in its written statement justified the termination of service of the employees so mentioned therein. The three employees examined themselves were cross-examined by the Union. P.W. 1 is Gadhur, P.W. 2 is Sonaj and P.W. 3 is Ram Kesto Das. The witnesses were cross-examined by the Company. The Company did not examine any witness. I take up the case of the three workmen individually here below.

Gadhur—He was in the service of the Company for two years and was discharged in June 1950. He was employed in the saw machine for the entire period of his service. On 27th February 1950 three of his fingers, right hand were chopped off in the saw machine by an accident. He was taken to the Lake Hospital where he was detained for one month and ten days. He came back to the factory and worked there till 27th June 1950. On the 28th of June 1950 the Manager sent him to the gadi of the proprietors at Khengrapatti, Burrabazar. On 29th July 1950 he was taken to Howrah Station by a Babu of the gadi. The Babu gave him a tick and wanted him to board the train which he refused to do and there was a row over the matter that attracted the Police. On the arrival of the Police the Babu slipped away and Gadhur came back to the factory, but the factory Manager turned him out directing him to go home. His home is in Fyzabad district. He stated that he would not be able to handle saw machine any more but would be able to work with the other machine or to carry things from one place to another. He has not received any compensation and it is an admitted fact that he has applied to the Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation for receiving compensation for his injury. In cross-examination he admitted that he did not submit an application to the Company stating which sort of work he could do. It however, appears that after his discharge from the hospital in the first week of April he worked for about two months in the factory. The management of the Company are, therefore, well aware of the kind of work that he would be able to do. There is clear evidence of an attempt on the part of the Company to send away this man from Calcutta and that must have been with a view to avoid payment of any compensation for the injuries sustained by him under the Workmen's Compensation Act. The discharge of the workman was, therefore, made with an ulterior motive, that is, to avoid payment of compensation and was clearly an instance of unfair labour practice. It is, therefore, decided that Gadhur is entitled to be reinstated. The Company is directed to appoint him in a suitable job, may be on slightly lower salary, and it is awarded accordingly. In view of the fact that this workman has been kept out of employment for a period of more than 6 months he should be paid Rs. 80 by way of compensation for the period of his non-employment, and it is awarded accordingly. The period of non-employment should be counted to be leave on compensation as alleged above.

2. Ram Samaj.—He was a carpenter at a monthly pay of Rs. 55 at the date of his discharge. The Union's case is "that Ram Samaj was discharged on 28th June 1950 while he came to join after the expiry of leave of one month and was insisted upon to dissociate with the Union." The Company's case on the written statement is that Ram Samaj did not take verbal leave for one month from the factory Manager on medical grounds that it is reported that during this period he worked at Russa Distillery at Tollygunge and consequently when he came to join after the expiry of this period the Manager could not take him back as his post was already filled in.

In evidence Ram Samaj stated that he worked in this factory for 1 years and since the time of Dost Muhammad. He worked in the factory when it was owned by Nandaram Babu and was also working after it has been taken over by Kusiram Babu and others. He further states that he went on leave on 22nd May 1950 and was on leave till 27th July 1950, and when he came back to join on the 28th July 1950 the Manager Najab Ali asked him whether he was a member of the Union. He answered in the affirmative when Najab Ali directed him to sign on a blank paper for dissociating from the Union and told him that if he did not do so he would not be taken back. As he refused to do so he was turned out of the factory. He denied that he went away without leave or that he worked in the Russa Distillery during the period of leave. He further states that the Manager allowed him leave orally and asked him to join on the 28th of July 1950. In cross-examination he states that he has no witness to show that Najab Ali asked him to sign on a blank sheet of paper and that he was not an important member of the Union. The Company did not examine any

The Company did not also file any books to show that he was without leave. No attempt was also made to show that this workman was in the Russa Distillery at Tollygunge during the period from 22nd July to 27th July 1950. No evidence has been adduced by the Company to show that it keeps records of leave applications or of employees on leave. In the regular administration of the establishment there should be books to show the names of the employees who were on leave on any particular date. The Company also did not prove by its books as to whether the other workman was employed in place of Ram Samaj although such an arrangement was made in its written statement.

The Award of this Tribunal between the Company and the Union published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, dated 5th April 1949, shows the manufacture of plywood in this factory was started by one Dost Muhammad in 1939 and Mr. Sriram Nandaram purchased the concern from Muhammad in 1942 and continued to run the factory till 3rd November 1949 on which date he sold the concern to the present Company. It may be mentioned that Sriram Nandaram is the father of Sri Kashiram Agarwala, Managing Director of the Company. The fact that this workman has been working since the time of Dost Muhammad is not denied by the Company.

He had been, therefore, in the service of the Company for about 12 years. I consider it to be unlikely that this employee would remain without leave for more than 2 months at a time when a case before the Tribunal for reinstatement of as many as 13 dismissed workmen was pending. It, therefore, appears to me worthy of credit that this employee applied for leave in writing as stated by him and was granted the leave by order of the Manager. I do not believe the statement to the effect that on 28th July 1950 when he went to join the Manager asked him to sign on a blank sheet of paper with the intention of severing him from the Company. In the circumstances, it is decided that Ram Samaj was discharged on an ulterior motive and it is awarded that he should be taken back to his former post and should be paid Rs. 55 by way of compensation for the period of his non-employment. The period of his non-employment shall be deemed to be leave on such emoluments as allowed above.

Ram Kesto Das.—He was a Head Mistry on a salary of Rs. 100 per month before his dismissal. The Union's case is that Ram Kesto Das was dismissed on 10th August 1950 for his refusal to put his signature on a paper as desired by Nandaram Agarwala and other officers of the Company. The Company states in its written statement that this employee stole some machinery parts and was caught red-handed and the case has been taken up by the Tollygunge Thana and the matter is under Police investigation. In evidence Ram Kesto Das also states that he served the Company during the time of Dost Muhammad and he was in service for 15 or 16 years.

He states that on 10th of August Nandaram Babu came to the factory and asked him to sign on a written paper asking him to endorse on that paper to the effect that he was not a member of the Union. He refused to sign and was immediately discharged. He further states that he was a member of the Executive Committee of the Union and was a Head Mistry of the Company.

He denied that he stole any machinery parts of the Company and that there was no criminal case for theft against him. In cross-examination he states that he was not aware if there was any theft in the factory on the day he was discharged or if the Company lodged any ejahar (statement) that day. He was turned out of the factory on 10th August 1950 at about 9 a.m. before he could commence his work. His work had normally commenced at 8 a.m. in the morning.

It appears that there is an allegation of theft of machinery parts against the workman as set up in the written statement of the Company. No charge sheet has yet been submitted over the case of theft and there is criminal case over the matter yet. No evidence was adduced on the of the Company on this point. The circumstances set up by the workman to the cause of his dismissal, viz., his refusal to write that he was a member of the Union and that at the instance of Sriram Nandaram, appeared to be unworthy of credit. In view of the circumstances of the case, I am of opinion that this workman was dismissed following an occurrence of theft and that the management lost confidence in him. I do not consider it proper to force this workman on the Company and it is, therefore, decided that this employee should not be reinstated. But it appears fit and proper that this employee should be paid some compensation for termination of service. As stated above the factory was purchased by Sriram Nandaram in 1942 and the present Company purchased the concern in November 1947. No liability for payment of gratuity can be saddled upon this Company for service for a period prior to their acquiring interest in the concern. In the circumstances I am of opinion that this employee should be given a compensation of Rs. 200, i.e., equal to two months' emoluments, for termination of service, and it is awarded accordingly.

All payments allowed under this Award shall be made within six weeks of the date on which this Award comes into operation.

ORDER.

No. 10241ab.—15th February 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 47211ab., dated the 1st August 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Kusum Hosiery Mills, 81, Talpukur Road, Beliaghata, Calcutta, and their workmen, as represented by Kusum Hosiery Workers' Union, 27/1, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta, over the question of scale of pay, permanency of service, Provident Fund, leave and medical facilities, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal constituted by Sri P. R. Mukherji, District Judge.

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Sri P. Mukherji, District Judge, the Secretary of the Kusum Hosiery Workers' Union, on behalf of the workers of Messrs. Kusum Hosiery Mills, made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings, and victimising some 32 workmen for their active association with the Union.

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Sri P. R. Mukherji, District Judge, has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted an award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Kusum Hosiery Mills, 51, Talpukur Road, Beliaghata, Calcutta, and their employees as represented by Kusum Hosiery Workers' Union, 27/1, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta, and in the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made by the Secretary, Kusum Hosiery Workers' Union on behalf of the workers of the Company.

PRESENT :

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

the Company : Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader.

the Union : Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

AWARD.

The main industrial dispute between the employer and the employees enamed had been referred to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, as per order No. 4721Lab., dated the 25th August 1950, and while case was pending, this application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act had been filed by the Secretary of the Union on behalf of the workmen alleging that the Company on false and malicious pretexts dismissed some 32 workers for their active association with the Union. It was alleged that no permission of the Tribunal having been obtained under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, an award may be made against the Company directing the reinstatement of the workers and compensation for the period of forced unemployment.

Before the Company had filed their written statement, an application was filed by the Secretary of the Union on behalf of the workers stating that they had amicably settled their dispute with the Company and, as such, there was nothing to adjudicate. I am satisfied that there has been such amicable settlement and, as such, there is nothing to adjudicate. I make an award accordingly.

ORDER.

No. 1025Lab.—15th February 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4721Lab., dated the 25th August 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Kusum Hosiery Mills, Talpukur Road, Beliaghata, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Kusum Hosiery Workers' Union, 27/1, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta, and the question of scale of pay, permanency of service, Provident Fund, and medical facilities, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal constituted by Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, the Secretary, Kusum Hosiery Workers' Union on behalf of the workers of Messrs. Kusum Hosiery Mills, made an application in writing before the said Tribunal, alleging that the said Commission had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings, by granting Puja bonus to the workers;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee District Judge, has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted his award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Kusum Hosiery Mills, 81, Talpukur Road, Beliaghata, Calcutta, and their employees, represented by Kusum Hosiery Workers' Union, 27/1, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta, and in the matter of an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act made by the Secretary, Kusum Hosiery Workers' Union on behalf of the workers of the Company.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader.

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

AWARD.

The main industrial dispute between the employer and the employee abovenamed had been referred to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, as per order No. 47211ab., dated the 25th August 1950, and while this case was pending, this application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act had been filed by the workers to the effect that the Company had been all along paying a bonus of one month's pay every year, irrespective of loss or profit, to the workmen as Puja bonus on the eve of the Puja, and that the workers have been refused Puja bonus this year. The Union urges that this was an alteration in the condition of service to the prejudice of the workmen during the pendency of the proceeding before a Tribunal and as such, the Company is guilty of violating the mandatory provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The Company appeared and asserted that the payment of Puja bonus was never a condition of service and that, as such, there had been no contravention as alleged.

After several dates of hearing, I am pleased to record that the Secretary of the Union filed a petition to the effect that they have amicably settled their dispute and there is no dispute now pending for adjudication.

The matter having been settled outside the Tribunal, there is at present nothing to adjudicate. I make an award accordingly.

P. R. MUKHERJEE,
Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

AWARD.

The points which have been referred to for adjudication by the order of reference Nos. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950 and 4065Lab., dated the 26th July 1950, are detailed below:—

Points under the order of reference No. 2200Lab.

- (1) Whether minimum wages and grades and scales fixed in previous award enforced under Government order No. 1487Lab., dated 11th May 1948, should continue or whether they should be modified in any respect and how the workers should be fitted into the time-scales prescribed.
- (2) Dearness allowance.
- (3) Gratuity.
- (4) Standing Order regarding termination of employment

Points under order of reference No. 4065Lab.

- (1) Scales of pay and fixation of pay.
- (2) Dearness allowance.
- (3) Gratuity and/or Provident Fund.
- (4) Leave.
- (5) Working hours.
- (6) Security of service.
- (7) Bonus.

Before I take up the different points referred to for adjudication I propose to give a short history of the dispute between printing presses Calcutta and Howrah and their employees. Prior to the present reference there had been an omnibus reference under Government of West Bengal Labour Department, No. 249Lab., dated the 27th June 1947, for adjudication of industrial disputes between 169 printing presses of Calcutta Howrah and their employees. The award which followed was published in the Calcutta Gazette under order No. 1487Lab., dated the 11th May 1948. Besides this omnibus reference, there had been several references in respect of the industrial disputes in some individual presses. The award was published under order No. 1487Lab., dated 11th May 1948, covering almost all the points referred to me by the present orders of reference. During the adjudication proceedings which led to the said award, the parties amicably settled the rules about the service conditions of the employees including security of service and the grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance for the different categories of workmen other than clerical who were left outside adjudication by an amicable arrangement among the parties. The rules about the service conditions and the grades of pay, the maximum and minimum of each grade which were settled amicably, the parties were incorporated in the award and formed part thereof. The award was given by me. Although I laid down scales of increment of pay of each grade, through sheer oversight no rule was laid down for fitting the then existing employees into the revised grades and scales of pay. When this omission was brought to my notice, I held an informal conference with the representatives of the printing press owners and the employees and suggested some alternative rules which were being adopted at that time by the Industrial Tribunals, according to the circumstances of each case. These suggestions had legally no binding force and did not in any way improve the situation. The result was that some of the printing presses refused their workmen it of the grades and scales of pay under the award while others fitted existing workmen into the revised grades and scales in a way which did satisfy the workmen. Eventually the Press Employees' Association asked to get a fresh order of reference from the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, for fitting the employees into the grades and scales laid down by the omnibus award published under Government of Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 14871Lab. This was order No. 14871Lab. dated the 16th February 1949, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department. Thereafter the Navana Printing Works, one of the printing presses involved, moved the Hon'ble High Court for writ of prohibition and certiorari and a rule nisi was issued. The rule was suspended. The said rule was discharged about the 7th July 1949. By which time the award published under Government of Bengal, dated the 11th May 1948, ceased to have any force. The grades and scales laid down in the previous award were no longer enforceable, no useful purpose would be served in giving any direction to fit the then existing employees into those grades and scales of pay. An award accordingly with the recommendation that if the employees are aggrieved on this point, they might seek relief by an application to the Government to set up a new Tribunal. The grievances of the employees of the printing presses who were parties to the omnibus reference of 1947 remained unsettled. There is nothing on record to show that the printing presses removed this grievance of the employees to satisfaction. An industrial dispute may be terminated either by agreement or by amicable settlement or by conciliation or by compulsory arbitration. A mere reference does not terminate the dispute. It has not been suggested that the industrial dispute in respect of fixation of the grades and scales of pay as laid down in the award was terminated in any of the aforesaid possible ways.

A note in this connection that immediately after the order of reference No. 14871Lab., the Saraswaty Press, Ltd., and the Crown Printing Works moved the Hon'ble High Court for an order compelling the Government of Bengal either to withdraw or to cancel the said order of reference. It was contended before the Hon'ble High Court that there was no existence of an industrial dispute to justify the reference. The Hon'ble Mr. Justice who heard the application examined the contention of the applicant and found that the order of reference was fully justified. The applicant was accordingly rejected. His Lordship observed, "If it was necessary to fix the grades, it was necessary to fit the individual worker into the award. Solving the one without the other is solving only half the problem." His Lordship also found that there was an industrial dispute between the Press and one Kalipada Sarkar, an employee of the Crown Printing Press.

An preliminary objection has been taken on behalf of the printing presses who were parties to the omnibus reference that no dispute was raised by the employees of their respective employees before the Management. In the statement of the Press Employees' Association filed in the adjudication proceedings started under order of reference No. 2200Lab., there is no statement that any demands were placed before different printing presses on behalf of their employees. The Press Employees' Association has not filed a dispute case before the Labour Commissioner. In the absence of any such demand and refusal, there cannot be an industrial dispute. In the absence of any such demand and refusal, there cannot be an industrial dispute, and this demand must be fairly definite and substantial. This demand and refusal need not be in writing, although to avoid future controversy, it is desirable that the demand refusal must be in writing. Mere addressing letters to the Commissioner of Labour or to the Secretary of the Government does not in any way constitute an industrial dispute. I have gone through the file of the Labour Commissioner very scrutinisingly and I do not find any indication that any demands were placed before the Printing Presses which were parties to the omnibus award, although the Press Employees' Association had a volume of correspondence with the Labour Commissioner, and in fact not a single copy of such correspondence could be produced before me to show that such demands were formulated and were submitted before the Management of these presses except copies of some resolutions and a demand for Puja bonus. There was a meeting of the press employees on the 5th August 1949 in the Park where the employees recorded a great dissatisfaction on account of non-implementation of the omnibus award. The result was that the press workers had been left where they had been before the award—low wages, long hours of work, insecurity of tenure of office, made or no provision for old age and various other difficulties and hardship was resolved that the Government might be moved to appoint a tribunal. There was another meeting of the press employees on the 16th September 1949. In this meeting the press employees discussed the order of reference No. 654Lab., dated the 16th February 1949. They felt very much aggrieved for the denial of the benefit of scales laid down in the omnibus award and felt very much concerned about the policy adopted by the employers for retrenchment and discharge of workmen. They also placed on record their claim for one month's bonus. Copies of these resolutions are said to have been forwarded to the Government. Specific demand for bonus appears to have been placed before the Owners' Association by a letter, dated 7th September 1949. The letter was produced before me by the Printing Press Owners' Association and it was returned on the said Association furnishing a copy of the letter to the Government. I have looked into the file of the Labour Commissioner as also in the Government file and I am satisfied that the Government applied its mind and was satisfied about the existence of an industrial dispute before the order of reference was made, although all the points mentioned under the order of reference might not be construed as industrial disputes in their strict sense. I have been referred to some of the correspondences that passed between the Secretaries of the Government on one side and the Secretary of the Press Owners' Association as also the Management of some of the presses. The individual presses as also the Secretary of the Press Owners' Association disputed the existence of any industrial dispute with the employees. In the last letter which was addressed by the Assistant Secretary to the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, to the Secretary of the Press Owners' Association as also to the individual presses, it was made clear that it would be open to each concern to convene a Tribunal that there was no dispute in existence in any of the printing presses concerned (vide Ext. V series). So far as reference No. 2200Lab. concerned I find that the longstanding dispute about pay of the employees could not be fully settled and the grievance still remained. Several disputes appear to have been raised over the discharge of employees either by way of dismissal or retrenchment and adjudications had been made for from time to time since after the publication of the last omnibus award. The employees had thus occasion to think that the existing rules about security of service were not sufficient safeguard against victimisation and unfair labour practice. I accordingly hold that items 1 and 4 of the order of reference specified in the order of reference exist and call for a settlement by adjudication. About items 2 and 3, viz., dearness allowance and gratuity, no specific demand having been placed before the Management of presses, it cannot be said, by any stress of imagination that there is industrial dispute over these points between the printing presses mentioned in the order of reference No. 2200Lab., and their employees. The grievance of the employees against the press covered by the last award was that the employers were slow to adopt the said award. I consider this grievance when I take up the specific points and shall see what relief can be given to the employees on account of this in such instances.

reference No. 4065Lab., relates to the industrial dispute of 11 printing presses. Out of which only 3 presses, viz., the Fine Art Press, the Stone Press and Protiva Press were parties to the last omnibus award. These three presses the Fine Art Press has been included in the order of reference No. 2200Lab. The remaining eight presses were not covered by the last omnibus award. A charter of demands appears to have been placed before the Management of 66 presses not covered by the said award including the aforesaid 8 presses. This charter of demands is said to have been placed before the employers in August 1948. The Press Employees' Association called upon these 66 presses in the first instance to follow the charter and in the event of their unwillingness to adopt the award the Press Employees' Association proposed to take recourse to a strike or to move for arbitration or adjudication and in that event the demands of the employees were for (1) a substantial increase in the basic wage and dearness allowance ensuring a minimum wage of Rs. 45 and full compensation for cost of living, with suitable grades and scales of increment for different categories of workers with due regard to nature of work, and risk involved; (2) Abolition of piece system; (3) fixing the normal working hours at 48 hours a week with a provision for extra allowance and overtime allowance at 25 per cent. and 100 per cent. normal wages respectively for the works at night and overtime work beyond day time; (4) security of service with provision for adequate compensation in the form of gratuity for wrongful dismissal, victimisation, dismissal and retirement due to old age or ill-health on medical ground at rate of one month's wage for each completed year of service or part thereof; (5) one month's privilege leave, fifteen days casual leave, one month's sick leave and holidays as declared by the Government; (6) Provident Fund with contribution on either side at 12½ per cent. of the employees; (7) three months' wages as profit bonus; (8) medical aid; (9) recognition of the Press Employees' Association. It is clear that all the points referred to by the order No. 4065Lab. for arbitration are covered by the charter of demands.

The financial and economic position of the printing industry is an important factor for consideration in connection with relief involving financial commitments. The lawyer for the Employees' Association was asked to inspect the accounts of the 11 printing presses involved in the order of reference No. 4065Lab. The inspection report which the learned lawyer has submitted after inspection of some papers is not of much assistance to this Tribunal, for forming an idea about the financial position of the presses which the learned lawyer had inspected. The learned lawyer stated that some of the presses did not produce stock books, cash memos, books and order books. The inspection report is Ext. A. Affidavits have been filed on behalf of Jnanodaya Press, Lahit Press and Gladstone Press in which they have denied to have any such paper. The Printing Owners' Association has filed a statement of account for 18 printing presses and a statement for the Government works done by five presses. These are Exts. I and II. The statements are prepared by the Printing Owners' Association on informations received from individual presses.

They were not supported by any account book kept in the ordinary course of business. No implicit reliance can be placed on these statements. Although all the 18 presses mentioned in Ext. I are alleged to have added the last omnibus award in respect of pay and dearness allowance, 1 of these presses did not adopt the direction in the said award about Contributory Provident Fund. The Saraswati Press, Limited, has its audited balance sheet for three years ending on 1947, 1948 and 1949. And Probartak Printing and Halftone, Ltd., has filed its audited balance sheet for three years 1354, 1355 and 1356 B.S. The financial position of the Saraswati Press, Limited, and Probartak Printing and Halftone, is quite satisfactory. I had occasion to look into the accounts of Gladstone Press for 1354 to 1356 B.S. in connection with an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950. The Printing Press Owners' Association has filed a copy of the order [Ext. 1(c)]. The financial position of the Gladstone Press in 1356 B.S. was far from satisfactory. Annexed to this award is an abstract about the financial position of the Saraswati Press, Probartak Printing & Halftone, Limited, and the Gladstone Press. Copies of the returns filed by the Bijoya Press before the Income-tax Department for 1946-47 and 1947-48 and the orders of the Income-tax Officer have been filed before me. In the returns losses amounting to Rs. 242 Rs. 477 for the two years were shown. Income-tax Officers did not allow some of the items of expenditure which were inadmissible on account of absence of proper vouchers and other reasons. He found that the presses had an income of Rs. 1,593 and Rs. 2,587 in the two years. [Exts. 1(d), 1(d)(1).] It was urged on behalf of the Printing Press Owners' Association that there has been a fall in the works of the printing industry in Bengal on account of the following reasons: -

(1) A good number of text-books which were being printed in the form of Classes III and IV of primary schools have been replaced by one Departmental Publication, Kishalay, Parts I and II. This fact is proved by the notification of the Government of West Bengal, Education Department, published in the Calcutta Gazette on December 14, 1950. It has been contended that by the said notification a number of textbooks on History, Geography and Natural Science for Class IV and for Classes I and II have also been reduced.

(2) By partition of Bengal nearly two-thirds of the total number of schools in undivided Bengal are said to be in Pakistan. That there has been a substantial reduction in the number of schools on account of partition cannot be disputed, although the number may not be as contended by the learned Advocate for the Press Owners' Association. It may be stated in this connection that the refugees from East Bengal have added to the strength in different schools in the pre-partition days. The question is whether the loss sustained by the printing industry on account of reduction in the number of schools was compensated by the influx of new students from East Bengal. Printing a large number of one particular book is not considered so much profitable as printing an equal number of different books. Printing a particular book involves works of the various departments of the printing industry, and for printing a particular book the initial charge is for all these varieties of work. For additional copies the cost of printing is charged. If instead of printing the additional copies a printing press is required to print a different book, unlike printing additional copies of the first book it will involve works of the various departments of the printing press. Thus it will supply work to the various departments of the printing press. In these circumstances it cannot be denied that partition of Bengal has affected the printing industry at some extent. General depression has undoubtedly affected the sale of books. In this connection the report of the Secretary of the Publishers' Association of Bengal and the letters of the Manager Udhbodhan Office and Managing Director, Eastern Law House, Limited, to their printers Messrs. Krishna Printing Works may be referred to. (Exts. III series.) A good number of printing presses have come down to Calcutta from East Bengal. The Calcutta Printing Press Owners' Association has filed a list containing the names and addresses of 104 of such printing presses. This list is disputed by the Press Employees' Association. There may be some mistakes in the list but it cannot be denied that a good number of presses have come down to Calcutta from East Bengal. I have been referred to an editorial comment in the daily newspaper Jugantar of the 25th November 1950 about the hardships of such presses. It has further been contended on behalf of the Printing Press Owners' Association that there has been a reduction in the works for banks on account of the fact that a good number of banks collapsed under the partition. That a number of banks collapsed after the partition cannot be disputed. But there is nothing to say as to what extent the works of the printing industry was affected.

The Printing Press Employees' Association has on the other hand placed before me a list of University publication printed in private presses in Calcutta and also a list of publications of Pakistan books printed in the presses in Calcutta. The Employees' Association has also filed some posters, covers, reports and rules of Pakistan industrial concern printed in Calcutta. It has also been contended that banks and industrial concerns which have branches in Pakistan get their papers printed in Calcutta. Evidence has been placed before me in support of these contentions of the Press Employees' Association (vide Annexures to the Affidavits filed by the Press Employees' Association.) It has also been contended that there has been an increase in the number of periodicals during the last few years.

The Printing Press Owners' Association has filed before me some evidence to show how the printing industry has been adversely affected by the partition of Bengal, general economic depression and reduction of text-books for primary schools and influx of printing presses from East Bengal. On the other hand the Printing Press Employees' Association has on the other hand placed before me some evidence in support of its contention that the printing industry and hence its financial position has improved. The circumstances which both parties have placed before me support their respective contentions. But nothing was placed before me to indicate the result of all these circumstances taken together. Thus I am not in a position to assess the exact financial and economic position of the printing industry in Calcutta and Howrah.

So far as the reference No. 2200Lab. of the 3rd May 1950 is concerned, my duty will be to fix the employees into the grades and scales of pay laid down in the last omnibus award, and to revise the rules relating to seniority of service. These points do not involve any substantial financial commitments. It was contended on behalf of the Press Employees' Association that in the absence of any rule for fixing the employees into grades and scales of pay laid down in an award, the grades and scales awarded were of no value. According to the learned Advocate for the Press Employees' Association, the last omnibus award did not settle the industrial dispute in respect of grades and scales of pay. The industrial dispute at this point as the learned Advocate contends, remained unsettled and the industrial dispute not having been settled in any way is still alive. It has further been contended by the learned Advocate for the Press Employees' Association that even if the grades and scales of pay laid down by the last omnibus award have any value, this should not be taken as conclusive all times to come. Revision of a previous award about wages is permissible so long as the living wage is not assured to the workmen. Reference was made to the award of the major Engineering Tribunal in which it was held that although an Adjudicator should not change the previous award except without sufficient justification, it was laid down that change of circumstances since passing of the last award, the principle of gradual advance to the living wage standard and anomalies and errors in previous award causing hardships to any party were some of the grounds which could justify revision of service conditions laid down in the previous award. On the authority of this principle enunciated in the last major Engineering award, the learned Advocate for the employees contended that the wages should be revised so as to ensure the minimum living wage to each and every employee. The principle of gradual advance undoubtedly justifies revision of wages laid down in the previous award provided it is found that the industry concerned is able to bear the additional burden, or in other words if it be found that the reaction of the previous award on the financial resources of an industry was not so very prejudicial as to threaten the existence of the industry altogether. We were told by the Press Employees' Association that a majority of the printing presses did not adopt the last omnibus award, and in fact from the statement filed by the Printing Press Owners' Association we could understand that only a very few of the printing presses in Calcutta and Howrah implemented the last omnibus award. It was for the Government to enforce implementation of the award by criminal prosecution or otherwise. As an Adjudicator I am to act upon the circumstances as they are. Thus I am not in a position to ascertain what the reaction of the last award would have been if it was implemented by the majority of the presses in Calcutta and Howrah. Besides, the wage-scales and grades incorporated in the last award are the result of an amicable settlement between the parties. It is presumed that they settled the points with due reference to the financial position of the industry as also of individual presses involved. Although certain circumstances have been placed before me by the Printing Press Employees' Association to show an improvement in the financial and economic position of the printing industry in West Bengal while the Press Owners' Association has placed before me certain circumstances to show that the industry has been adversely affected since the last award, no materials have been placed before me to indicate the total result of these circumstances taken together. In these circumstances I cannot increase the wage-scales of different grades of employees of printing presses laid down in the last award. This is for the printing presses who were parties to the last award.

Next about the presses who were not parties to the last award and whose wage scale different from that for the employees which were parties to the last award is likely to create discontent in the industry. My primary duty being to establish industrial peace, I cannot lay down any scheme which may be likely to create discontent among the employees and thereby disturb peace of the industry. Against these backgrounds I shall settle the points of dispute referred to for adjudication by the two orders of reference.

Of the presses which are not represented by any Association of Printers, the Press Owners' Automatic Printing Works and Young Printers (serial No. 76 and 78 of the order of reference No. 2200(Lab.)) could not be served with notice. The Press Employees' Association has no objection to these presses being left out of adjudication. Messrs. Gordon & Co. (serial No. 29 of the said order of reference was being represented by Messrs. Orr, Dignam & Co., Solicitors. Subsequently on 21st December 1950, Messrs. Batliboi & Co. were appointed receivers on application of of India under section 46(2) of the Indian Income-tax Act. Notice since been issued to the Receiver. No award can be given against firm without hearing the Receiver. This is likely to involve some delay. The parties do not like that the award in respect of other printing presses should be delayed on this account. I accordingly propose to leave firm of Messrs. Gordon & Co. for the present. A separate award will be given for this firm. The following presses although duly served with notice did not file any written statement:—

Order of reference No. 2200Lab.

Basumati Press.
 Mercantile Printing Works.
 Milan Printing Works.
 Sahita Press.
 Tapash Press.
 Aishov Press.
 Metropolitan Printing and Publishing House, Ltd.
 Dhana Printing Works.

Order of reference No. 4065Lab.

Omega Press.
 Protiva Press.
 Lalabani Printers.
 etc. Printers

The notice issued was refused by the Management of City Printers. (amounts to service of notice.) These presses shall be bound by the award which will be given in pursuance of the two orders of reference.

In some of the presses, under the two orders of reference, statements were submitted to indicate that there was no dispute between the employers and employees of the presses.

Order of reference No. 2200Lab.

Art Press (serial No. 2).—A "No-dispute" statement has been filed, signed by the entire body of workmen. This is in Bengali and is dated May 1950. Subsequently on 3rd October 1950 a statement in English was put over the signatures of some of these workmen in which the above no-dispute statement was challenged as incorrect and without any foundation. The signatures under the no-dispute statement, dated 21st October 1950 were not disputed, nor was it suggested that the signatures were obtained by coercion or undue influence. On the other hand, I doubt whether these workmen, some of whom were illiterate and some half literate, could understand the purport of the statement drafted in English. I strongly hold that there is no dispute between the Management and the workmen of the Art Press.

2. Dorchester Printing Works (serial No. 20) and (3) Modern Art Press (serial No. 49). These two presses pleaded in their letters addressed to the Management that there was no dispute between the Management and the workmen. This statement was not supported by any signed statement of the workmen. I cannot therefore rely upon the uncorroborated statement of the Management and hold that they will be bound by the award that follows.

(4) I.S.S.D. Press.—A no-dispute statement signed by the entire body of workmen has been filed. The Printing Press Employees' Association has no objection to the I.S.S.D. Press being taken out outside adjudication. I accordingly leave this press outside adjudication.

(5) New India Press (serial No. 76).—The dispute between the Management and the employees of this press has been amicably settled and a statement of no dispute signed by the Management of the press and countersigned by Sri Indu Bhushan Sarkar, Secretary of the Press Employees' Association, has been filed. This press shall also be left outside adjudication.

Order of reference No. 4085Lab.

(6) Dhanantari Press (serial No. 9).—The dispute which the employees had against the Management appears to have been settled 2nd April 1949, through the intervention of the Conciliation Officer. Since then no fresh dispute appears to have been raised and in fact a no-dispute statement signed by the entire body of workmen has been filed. This shall also be left outside adjudication. I accordingly leave outside adjudication Art Press, I.S.S.D. Press, New India Press and Dhanantari Press on the ground that the industrial dispute between the Management of these Presses and their employees have been settled amicably and the Yoda Printers, and the Automatic Printing Works on the ground that they could not be served with notice.

Points 1 and 2.—Minimum Wages, grades and scales of pay and fitting employees into the revised grades and scales and dearness allowance.

After expiry of the operative period of the last omnibus award no fresh demands about grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance of different workmen appear to have been placed before the Management. Any of the presses covered by the said award, although from time to time a dispute was raised that the employees were not fitted into the revised grades and scales and the last award was not implemented and that workmen were left where they were with low wages and dearness allowance. The whole dispute was that the last award was not implemented. The absence of any fresh specific demands is the main ground why I can lay down revised grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance. Financial and economic position is undoubtedly an important factor for consideration in laying down grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance in conformity with the concept of the living wage. The grades and scales of pay of different workers and the dearness allowance were laid down in the last omnibus award on an amicable agreement between the parties. It is presumed that the parties settled these points amicably after consideration of the financial and economic position of the industry. If evidence could be placed before me to show that the financial and economic position of the industry has improved since then, and as majority of printing presses did not, according to the Press Employees' Association, implement the award, I am not in a position to examine what the reason of the last award was. On principle a previous award should not be changed except on sound justifiable grounds. Some of these justifiable grounds are: (1) Change of circumstances; (2) the principle of gradual advance to living wage; (3) anomaly, mistake or error in the last award involving hardships to either party or to both. I am not called upon to enquire whether any of these grounds exist in the present case to justify revision of the grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance for the different workmen, inasmuch as the sheet anchor, namely, a fresh demand, is absent. Still I propose to discuss the point briefly. About age of circumstances, both parties have placed before me some materials make out a change of circumstances in their own way but the materials are not definite and I am not in a position to assess the total value of the age of circumstances taken together. About the principle of gradual advance to the living wage, it cannot be disputed that the wages laid down the last award is below the living wage standard accepted by Industrial Tribunals, and the dearness allowance does not substantially compensate the normal rise of essential goods. Gradual advance to the living wage standard is dependent on the financial and economic position of an industry, in fact, in the major industries, e.g., Jute Textile and Cotton Textile and engineering the unskilled workmen were awarded less than Rs. 30 as minimum basic salary. The Engineering Tribunal awarded in 1948 Rs. 25 as minimum basic salary and Rs. 25 as dearness allowance for the unskilled workers. The dearness allowance has however been recently increased. Though I feel for the workmen of the printing industry, I have fully discussed the reasons why I am not in a position to give adequate relief to the workmen of this industry. About the third point nothing could be shown except that through oversight no rule was laid down to fit the workmen into grades and scales of pay laid down by the last omnibus award.

In the circumstances already discussed I adopt the grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance laid down by the last omnibus award. They will be for the workmen of the presses covered by the last omnibus award.

Then about the presses which were not covered by the last omnibus award I cannot lay down any grades and scales of pay or dearness allowance except from what have been laid down for the majority of the printing presses which are covered by the last omnibus award, for that will create discontent among the workmen of those presses. During the last adjudication proceedings the clerks were left outside adjudication by mutual agreement there were no separate grades and scales of pay for Letter Press Machine-men, Colour and Half-tone Colour Etcher, and junior compositor working in a number of intricate jobs, although not fit to be a senior compositor and members of the lower subordinate staff. A Letter Press Machine-man (Colour) shall be given a higher start (not exceeding four years' experience) on the scales for the Letter Press Machineman (Ordinary), according to success in the trade test, provided he knows mixing of colour. A Half-tone Colour Etcher has been given an intermediate scale of Rs. 75—200. A compositor who specialises in four of the intricate jobs—viz., (i) colour page make up; (ii) ranging and justifying the lines; (iii) line work; (iv) display works; (v) Advertisement works; (vi) catalogue works and (vii) cheque, shall get Rs. 50—90. For the clerical staff I have shown three grades:—

Special grade—Over Rs. 200, ceiling and rates of increment at the discretion of the employers.

Senior grade—Rs. 75—200.

Junior grade—Rs. 40—3—70.

For the lower subordinate staff I have laid down the following three grades:

Head Durwans—Rs. 40—55.

Durwan—Rs. 30—45.

Beaters—Rs. 25—35.

For Commercial Artists the basic salary shall be settled by negotiation according to the qualification of the workers. The clerks shall get dearness allowance at Rs. 40 per month. Other adult workmen shall get at the rate of Rs. 22. Adolescents shall get Rs. 12.

The grades and scales of pay of different categories of workmen have been detailed in Annexure D to this award. The scales and increments are to be found in Annexure E.

Grading the employees of different categories upon proper job evaluation is the exclusive function of the employers. For proper assessment of the value of a job, the work load attached to it, the skill, intricacy, strain, and time involved in it must be known. This is possible only by a close study of a workman for a considerable length of time which is not possible for a Judge of the Tribunal. However I may lay down some principles for grading the employees of different categories—

(a) Those of the adolescents who have been granted a certificate of fitness to work as an adult under section 52, sub-section 2(b) of the Factories Act shall get the wages and dearness allowance prescribed for an adult worker. Those who have not been granted such a certificate of fitness shall be considered as child notwithstanding his age.

(b) In small presses where works do not permit employment of different workers for different jobs of allied nature, any worker who does two or more jobs shall get his salary for the job which carries the highest salary.

(c) The duty of supervisors, foremen and section-holders is mainly supervision work. They are responsible to the Proprietors or the Managers of a firm for the works of all the workers of their respective departments. A person to whom the principal work is allotted, and is not raised to the status of a supervisor, foreman or a section-holder simply because by virtue of his office as a principal worker he has some control over the work of other men in the department who assist him to finish his work, inasmuch as the finished work depends on the assistance he receives from the other workmen of the department. Head of the department does not convey the idea of any supervision. A workman who has been allotted the prime work of a department may have some control over the works of his assistants. But the final control is of the Management. The control which he has over the works of his assistants is limited to what is necessary for executing his own work.

(d) A probationer shall get the minimum salary prescribed for the work for which he is appointed.

(e) The allowance and the term for an apprentice shall be settled by negotiation. It is not possible to lay down any rigid rule inasmuch as the entire thing depends upon the nature of the job and aptitude of the person who comes to learn the work. A trained man shall not be appointed as an apprentice.

Although there was no demand for the members of the clerical staff and subordinate staff as also for three or four categories of workmen in the presses before the presses which are covered by the last omnibus award, we recommend that these presses should, in the interest of industrial peace, adopt the grades and scales of pay for these categories of workmen as laid down in this award. The grades and scales of pay and the dearness allowance laid down in this award are meant for uneconomic and marginal units. It is hoped that the economic units will not grudge their workmen high of pay and dearness allowance. Those who are at present paying a higher rate of pay and dearness allowance to the workmen shall not withdraw the benefit.

Now I take up the point of fitting the employees into the different grades and scales of pay. The scales and increments have been detailed in Annexure
